The book of Kings includes the history of Israel and Judah from the time of Solomon to the Babylonian Exile. It covers the reigns of various kings who ruled these two kingdoms. The text is rich with tales of military conquests, political alliances, and religious events. The chapters detail the rise and fall of many kings, often highlighting their moral and ethical failures. The book ends with the capture of Jerusalem and the theft of the Ark by Nebuchadnezzar, which marks the end of the Kingdom of Judah for a century and a half. The end of the book reflects the author's concerns for the fate of Israel and Judah, warning of the consequences of disobedience and calling for repentance.

F all the sentences pronounced by our favour Christe in his whole doctrine, none is more furious or more worthy to be borne in remembrance, then that which he spake openly in his Gospell, sayeing: Seventymini scripturae, quis vos putetis in ipse vivum eternum habere, etille furo uxor, et famum parvus de me. Search ye the scriptures, for in them ye think to have eternal lyfe, and those they be which beare witnesse of me.
These words were first spokne vnto the lewes by our fauiour, but by hym in his doctrine ment to all: for they concerne all, of what nation, of what tongue, of what profession focueray man be. For to all belongeth it to be called vnto eternall lyfe, so many as by the witnesse of the scriptures defire to finde eternall lyfe. No man, woman, or chylde, is excluded from this fuluation, and therefor to every of them is this spake proportionally yet, and in their degrees and ages, and as the reques and contrite of their vocation may feke. For so lych it in charge to the worldlie artificer to searche, or to any other private man to exquisitely to studies, as it lyth to the charge of the publike reader to searche in the scriptures, to be the more able to the Establishing of the true doctrine of the fame, and to the impugnyng of the falfe.
And though whatsoever difference there may be betwixt the preachers in office, and the auditor in his vocation, yet to both it is faid, Search ye the scriptures, whereby ye may fynde eternall lyfe, and gather witnesse of that fuluation which is in Chistie Scriptures our Lorde. For although the prophanes of God Moyses, bydeth the kyng when he is once set in the throne of his kynsdome, to describe before his eyes the volume of Gods lawe, according to the example whiche he shoold receave of the prifetes of the leuitical tribe, to haue it with hym, and to reade in it all the dayes of his lyfe, to thende that he might learne to feare the Lorde his God, and to obtynue his lawes, that his heart be not aduancd in pryde ouer his brethren, not to sworne etheer on the right hande or on the left: yet the reason of this precept for that it concerneth all men, may reasonably be thought to be commanded to all men, and all men may take it to be spokne to them felie in their degree. Though al-mightie God him selfe spake to his captayne lofue in prescribe werdes, Yn necem volumen legis sinistre, ut reuare vitam sua. Let not the volume of this booke depart from thy mouth, but mule therein both dayes and nyghtes, that thou mayest kepe and performe all things which be written in it, that thou mayest direct well thy way and vsnderfande the fame: yet aswell spake almighty God this precept to all his people in the directions of their wayes to himwarde, as he ment it to Iofue: For that he hath care of all, he accepteth no mans perion, his kyng is that all men shoule be faued, his wyll is that all men shoule come to the way of trueth. Howe coulde this be more conueniently declared by God to man, then when Christe his wel-beloued fonne our moist loving sauiour, the way, the trueth, and the lyfe of vs all, dyd hyd vs openly Search the scriptures, affuruing vs herein to finde eternall lyfe, to finde full teffification of all his graces and befites towardes vs in the treure thereof. Therefore it is most conuenient that we shoulde all suppos that Christe spake to vs all in this his precept of searchinge the scriptures. If this celebittall doctour (so authorized by the father of heauen, and commanded as his one fonne, to be hearde of vs all) biddech vs buffly to Search the scriptures, of what spiritue can it procede to forbidden the reading and studying of the scriptures?
If the grosse lewes vied to reade them, as some men thinke that our fauiour Christe dyd feke by such kynde of speaking, their viage, with their opinion they had therein to finde eternall lyfe, and were not of Christe rebuked or disproved, either for their searching, or for the opinion they had, howe superficly or superficell seeker fome of them vied to expende the scriptures? Howe muche more nuaudely do fuche as bothe them felle to be either Christies vicars, or be of his garde, to lothe chilren men from reading, by their couer slau-derous reproches of the scriptures, or in their authoritie by lawe or fauite to contraft this libertie of studyng the worde of eternall saluation? Christe callet them not onlye to the single reading of scriptures (faith Christofrome) but sendeth them to the exquisite searchinge of them, for in them is eternall lyfe to be found, and they be (faith hym felle) the witnesse of me: for they declare out his office, they commend his beneuolence towardes ys, they recorde his whole workes wrought for vs to our fuluation. Anecrifihe therefore he must be, that vnder whatsoever colour woulde gone contrary precept or confaylie, to that whereof Christe dyd, vs vnto vs. Very little do they remembre Christes loving spiritue movynge to vs to searche for our comfort, that wyll discourage vs from suche searchinge, or that woulde wilfully and forgetful nesse of his benefite to rainge in vs, so that they might by our ignorance raise the more frankly in our consciencis, the danger of our fuluation. VWho can take the light from vs in this miserable vale of blind nesse, and meanes not to haue vs humble to the paths of perdicion to the ruine of our foules? Who will coin-vinc vs this bread of lyfe prepared and set on the table for our eternall salulance, and meanes not to familize ys, or in seede thereof with their corrupt traditions and artifices of man, to infect vs? All the whole scripture, faith the holy apostile Saint Paul inspired from God above, is profitable to teache, to reprove, to re-faire, to instruct in rightouesnesse, that the man of God may be founde and perfect, instructed in every good workes.

Searche therefore good reader (on Gods name) as Christe bydeth thee the holy scripture, wherein

thou mayest finde thy salvation: Let not the volume of this booke (by Gods owne warrant) depart from thee, but occupie thy selfe therein in the whole journey of this thy worldly pilgrimage, to understand thy way howe to walke rightely before him all the daies of thy lyfe. Remember that the prophete David pronounced hym the bleued man which wyll mule in the lawe of God both day and night, remember that he calleth him bleued whiche walkeith in the way of the Lord, which wyll search diligently his testimonies, and wyll in their whole heart fecke the same. Let not the courte supsitious insinuations of the aduersaries drive thee from the searcche of the holy scripture, either for the obscurte which they say is in them, or for the inferuent hidden miseries they talke to be comprised in them, or for the straungnes and homlynes of the phraies they woulde charge Gods booke with. Christe exhorteth thee therefore the rather for the dificullte of the same, to searche them diligently. Saint Paul wyllth thee to haue thy fenes exercised in them, and not to be a chylde in thy fenes, but in malice. Though many things may be difficult to thee to understand, impute it rather to thy dull heareing and reading, then to thinke that the scriptures be ininterpretable, to them which with diligent searcing labour to difterra the euill from the good. Only seare with an humble spirite, aske in continuall prayer, fecke with puritie of life, knocke with perpitu of perseverance, and crye to that good spirite of Christe the comforter: and surely as euery fuche after it wyll be open, such searchers must needs finde, to them it wyll be open. Christe hum felle wyll open the fene of the scriptures, not to the proud, or to the wyse of the world, but to the lowly and contrite in heart: for he hath the key of David, who openth and no man shutteth, who shutteth and no man openth. For as this spirit is a bening and liberall spirite, and wyll be euyilly founde of them whiche wyll wyll early in carefull and stille to fecke hym, and as he promiseth he wyll be the comforter from above to receaue vs, and to leade vs into all the wayes of the truth, and in an humilitie we bowe vnto hym, denying our owne natural fenes, our carnall wittes and reason, so is he the spirite of puritie and cleaneines, and will reece from him, whose confidence is subject to flabynesse of lyfe. In处置 a fuche souernly wyffode wyll not enter, for all percerte cogitations wil separate vs from God: and then hewe bufully fouer we finde this holy table of the scripture, yet wyll it then be a table to fuche to their owne share, a trap, a fumbling rocke, and a recompence to them felse. VV e ought therefore to searce to finde out the trueth, not to opprise it, we ought to searce Christe, not as Herode did vnder the pretense of worshipping hym to desyre hym, or as the Pharisees searched the scriptures to diisprase Christe, and to decerdtie him, and not to folowe him: but to embrace the salvation which we may learne by them. Nor yet is it enough so to acknowledge the scriptures as some of the leaves dyd, of the holye felfe, who voded suche diligence, that they could number precisely, not only euery verie, but euery wood and fillable, how of euery letter of the alphabete was repeated in the whole scriptures: they had some of them suche reverence to that booke, that they woulde not sufer in a great heape of booke, any other to lay ouer them, they woulde not sufer that booke to fall to the grounde as nye as they coulde, they woulde softly bynde the bookes of holye scriptures, and cause them to be exquisitely and ornately written. VVhiche deuotion yet though it was not to be discommended, yet was not it for that intent, why Christe comendd the scriptures, nor they thereof alowed before God: For they did not call vpon God in a true fayth, they were not charitiable to their neighbours, but in the middles of all this deuotion, they didstate, they were adulterers, they were flandurers and backbiters, euyn muche like many of our christian men and women nowe a days, who glory much that they seare the scriptures, that they seare them and loue them, that they frequett the publique sermones in an outwarde thewo of all honestie and perfecction, yea they canrike out of the scriptures vertuous fetences and godlye preceptes to lay before other men. And though these maner of men do not muche erre for suche searcing and fluddiyng, yet they see not the scope and the principal flate of the scriptures, which is as Christe declareth it, to finde Christe as their fayth, to cleaze to his saluation and merite, to be brought to the lowe repentance of their lyues, and to amende them felle, to rayfe vp their fayth to Christe spirite, for to think of him as the scriptures do teuffte of hym. Thefe be the principal cauys why Christe did ende the leues to searce the scriptures: for to this ende were they wriuen, faith Saint John, His scripta sunt vsi et credita, et vs credentia, usque ad annum. Thefe were writtyn to this intent, that ye shoulde beleue, and that through your belife ye shoulde haue euerylating life. And here good readere, great cauys we haue to extoll the wondorous wforme of God, and with great thankes to proyce his prudence, conferring howe he hath preferued and renued from age to age by specciall miracle, the incomparable treasure of his Churche. For first he did inspire Moyyes, as John Chriftolome doth teuffte, to faire the fonic tables, and kept him in the mountayne foutrie dayes to geue hym his lawe: after him he sent the prophete, but they suffred many thousande aduersaries, for battayles did folowe, all were layane, all were destroyed, booke was brenpt vp. He then inspired agayne another man to repaire thes miraculous scriptures, Edras I meane, who of their leauings fet them agayne togethe: after that, he proued that the fuentrie interpreters should take them in hande: at the last came Christe hym felle, the Apo- stles did receaue them, and spread them throughout all nations. Christe wrought his miracles and wonders: and what folowed after these great volumes the Apostles also did wriue as Saint Paul doth fay, They be wriuen to the instruction of vs that he came into the ende of the world: and Christe doth fay, Ye therefore erre, because ye knowe not the scriptures nor the power of God: and Paul dyd fay, Let fay, and the worde of Christe be plentifull amonget you: and agayne faith David, Oh howe sweete be thy wordes to my throte: he faide not to my hearing, but to my throte, aboute my honye or the honeye to my mouth. Yea Moyyes faith, Thou shalt meditate in them euermore when thou reveilest, when thou fettest downe, when thou goest to fleape, contynue in them hee and a thousande places more. And yet after so many testimonies this spoken, there be some perons that do not yet so much as knowe what the scriptures be: whereupon nothing is in good fayth amongst vs, nothing worthy is done amongst vs: in this whiche pertayne to this lyfe, we make very great hale, but of spirituall goodes we haue no regard. Thus were John Chrifti. It must notes signifie some great thing to our underlynder, that almightie God hath had such cary to prescriue thes bookees thus vnto vs: I lye not to prescriue them only, but to maintaine them and defende them against the maligneit of the devell and his minterers, who alwaye went to destroy them: and yet could these never be so destroyed, but but that he would have them continue whole and perfect to this day, to our singular comfort and instruction, where other books of mortal wise men have perished in great numbers. It is recorded that Porlemus, Philadelphus, Kyng of Egypt, had gathered together in one library at Alexandria by his great coherent diligence, seven hundred thousand books, whereof the principal were the books of Moyle, which he refused not much more, then by the space of two hundred years, were all burnt and consumed in that battle, when Caesar restored Cleopatra againe after her expulsion. At Constantinople perished under Zenon by one common fire, a hundred and twentieth thousand books. At Rome when Lucas Aurelius Antonius dyd raigne, his notable library by a lightning from heaven was quite consumed: ye it is recorded that Gregory the first, did cause a library of Rome containing only certaine Pagans works to be burned, to thenthe the scriptures of God should be more read and studied. What other great libraries have there been consumed but of late days? And what libraries have of olde throughout this realme almost in evry abbey of the same, been destroyed at sundry ages, besides the lote of other mens private studyes, it were to long to rehearse. Whereupon feying almighty God by his deuine pouitendence, hath preferred these books of the scriptures faire and safe, and that in their natural languages they were written, in the great ignorance that reigned in their tongues, and contrary to all other caualities, chaunted upon all other books in mauger of all worldly wittes, which would so fayne have had them destroyed, and yet he by his mightie hande, would have them extant as witneses and interpreters of his will towards mankind: we may loone feye cause most reuerently to embrace these deuine testimonies of his wyll, to study them, and to fearch them, to instruc our blinde nature to fore corruped and fallen from the knowledge in which we first were created. Yet having occasion seuen some what to recover our fall, and to returne againe to that deuine nature wherein we were once made, and at the leat to be inheritors in the celestiall habitation with God almightie, after the ende of our mortalitie here brought to his duff agayne: These books I say beying of fuchs estimation and authentictie, so much reuerenced of them who had any meane talle of them, coulde never be put out of the way, neither by the fpyre of any taint, as that taint Maximian destroyed all the holy scriptures whereofsoever they could be foung, and burnt them in the maddes of the market, neither the hatred either of any Porphirian phi- losopher or Rhetoritian, neither by the enui of the romanyfles, and of such hypocrites, who from tymes to time did euer harke against them, some of them not in open for of condempnation: but more cunningly vnder little pretences, for that as they say, they were so harde to vnderstande, and especially for that they affirme it to be a perillous matter to tranflate the text of the holy scripture, and therefore it can not be well tranlated.

And here we may beholde the end euour of some mens caualities, who labour all they can to flaundr the trallators, to finde fault in some wordes of the translacion: but them leefe will never fet pen to the book, to fet out any translacion at all. They can in their constitution pointe vnder payne of excommunication, inhibit all other men to translate them without the ordinaries or the pro vinciall countayle agree thereunto: But they will be well ware never to agree or to geue countayle to set them out. Vhiche the stille cample in effect, and eth but to bewray what inwardly they meane, if they could bring it about, that is, vterly to suppreffe them: being in this their judgement, farre unlike the olde fathers in the primatique Church, who hath exhorted in indifferently all persons, alweell men as women, to excercize them felues in the scriptures, which by Saint Hieroms authentictie bee the scriptures of the people. Yea they be farre unlike their olde forefathers, who haue ruled in this realme, who in their times, and in diuers ages did their diligence to tranflate the whole books of the scriptures, to the erudition of the laytie, as yet this day be to to bee seene diuers books translated into the vulgar tongue, some by kynges of the realme, some by bishoppes, some by abbottes, some by other denout godly fathers: so defirous they were of olde tymes to haue the lay fort edifie in godlynes by reading in their vulgar tongue, that very many books be yet extant, though for the age of the speachie and traungeneice of the charect of many of them almoat wrene out of knowledge. In which books may he seene evidently howe it was vfed among the Saxons, to haue in their Churches read the fome goptes, so distributed and piked out in the body of the euangellatic books, that to euery Sunday and festiall day in the yeare, they were forset out to the common ministers of the Church in their common prayers to be read to their people. Nowe as of the most auntient fathers the prophetes, Saint Peter telleth that these holy men of God had the impulsion of the holy ghost, to speake out these deuine testimonies: so it is not to be doubted but that these latter holy fathers of the englishe Church, had the impulsion of the holy ghost, to fet our seene fared bookes in their vulgar language, to the edification of the people, by the helpe whereof they might the better folowe the example of the godly Christians, in the beginning of the Church, who not only receivd the worde withal redenece of heart, but also did fearche diligently in the scriptures, whether the doctrine of the Apostles were agreeable to the fame scriptures. And therof were not of the raffe call (faith the deuine facie) but they were of the belf and of molte noble byth and the Theffalonians, Brethrenes by name: Yea the prophetes them selues in their dyes, saith the S. Peter, were diligent searchers to inquire out this faulatly by Christ, searchong with wyse and exacte article of time this grace of Christes dispensation shold appeare to the world. What meere the fathers of the Church in their writings, but the aduancing of these holy bookes, where fome do attribute no certaineitie of vndoubted veritie, but to the canonical scriptures. Some doe affirme it to be a foolish rate holden to believe hym, who prooueth not by the scriptures that which he affirme in his worde. Some doe accuse all that is delivere by tradition, not foung in the legall and euangellatic scriptures. Some fay that our faith must needs flgger, if it be not grounded upon the authentictie of the scripture. Some telleth that Christe and his Church ought to be adouched out of the scriptures, and do contend in disputacion, that the true Churche can not be known, but only by the holy scriptures: For all other things (faith the same author) may be founde among the heretikes. Some affirme it to be a sinfull tradition that is obtruded without the scripture. Some playnely pronounce, that not to knowe the scriptures, is not to knowe Christe. Wherfore let men extoll the our Church practices as highly as they can, and let them set for out their traditions and customes, their decisions in synodes and countayles, with vaunting the presence of the holy ghost among them really, as some doe affirme in it writing, let their groundes and their foundations be as stable and as strong as they be.
them out: Yet will we be bold to say with the present Saint Peter, Hades eum fcribae quemam prophetiam, VVc haue for our part a more flable grounde, the prophetical words (of the scriptures) and doubt not to be commended therefore of the fame Saint Peter with thefe worde: Co dies admittere cani horne orrert in nostris facie, tale faclia danc dicasfa, etc. Whereunto faith he, where ye do attende as to a light thinning in a dark place, ye do well until the day light appear, and till the bright farce do arife into our hearts: For this we know, that al the prophetical scripture handeth not in any private interpretation of vayne names, of feuerall Churches, of catholique and vniverall fings, of singular and wylfull heads, where he will chalenge by cufmome all decision to pertayne to them only, who be working fo muche for their vayne superiortie, that they be not al睇ned now to be of that number, Qui diem uniam fortis in tempus admodum, habeas teum autem deorum deum. For: Whiche haue fayd, with our tongue wyll we preface, we are they that ought to speake, who is lordυer vs. And whyle they shall thus contende for their frauge clamyd authoritative, we will procede in the reformation begin, and no more by the help of Chriftis his grace of the true vinitie to Chriftes catholique Church, and of the vrightneffe of our fhy in this prouidence, then theSpanifhe clerge once gathered together in counfaile, only by the commandment of the king, before where the Pope was not so acknowledged in hisauthortie which he now clayneth with. Lay we surelye dare we truff, as they dyd truff of their fayth and vinitie. Ye no leffe confidence have to profeft that, which the fathers of the vnierall counfaile at Carthage in Afrike as they wrythe therelfe did profeft in their epiftle writte to Pope Celeftine, laying before his face, the foule corruption of him felfe (as two other of his predicetours did the like errore in falsifying the canons of Niccun counfaile, for his wrong chalenge of newe clamyd authoritative: Thus wrytynge, Praediconatum consu neffissimque providentia, Nicen et Africano lateque necnon in fai locis (obi area fuit) finiendo, pro preripuo prouiciatione gratia fuis istiusdem, qui quoniam, quae pro flace publice auctoris, et constantia teneatur, maxima, quod unguicibus cunctis ad fini dominus offerat, fdi definat offens aire scriptura, ad causas cuiusfolem prodeat, et istam manuere prouence. That the Nicen and African decrees haue most prouidently and profuffly profefted for all manner of matters to be ended in their territories where they had their beginning, and they trueth that not to any one prouince shoulde want the grace of the holy ghoft, whereby both the truth or equitie might prouently be scene of the chrifian prelates of Chriftis, and might be also by them most confidently defended, specially for that it is grantted to every man (if he be greeued) by the judgement of the caufe once known, to appeale to the counfailes of his owne prouince, or els to the vnierall. Except there be any man, which may beleue that our Lord God would inspire the righteousneffe of examination, to any one singular perfon, and to denies the fame to prifetes gathered together into counfaile without number, &c. And there they do require the bishop of Rome to send none of his clarkes to execute such prounciional caufes, left els fay they, ought to be brought in the vayne pride of the worlde into the Church of Chriftis. In this antiquitie may we in this chrifian catholique Church of Englande, repofe our felfe, knowing by our owne annales of auncient recorde, that kyng Lucius whoes confidence was muche touched with the miracles which the fervantes of Chrift wrought in divers nations, thereupon beyng in vayne fayth, fent vnto Eleutherius then byfhop of Rome, requiring of hym the chrifian religion. But Eleutherius did redely geue out that care to king Lucius in his epiftle, for that the king as he wyrthe, the vircer of God in his owne kingdome, and for that he had reuoced the fayth of Chriftis: And for that he had alfo both refenteams in his realme, he wynted him to drawe out of them by the grace of God, and by the counfaile of his wifemen, his lawes, and by that lawe of God to gourne his realme of Britanie, and not to muche to defirc the Romane and Emperours lawes, in the which fome default might be founde crafte, but in the lawes of God nothing at all. WThrice with sunwarre the kinges legates, Eluanus and Medminus fent as meffengers by the king to the Pope, returned to Britanie agayne, Eluanus beyng made a byfhop, and Medminde made a publike teacher: who for the eloquence and knowledge they had in the holy scriptures, they repayed home agayne to kyng Lucius, and by their holy preachings, Lucius and the noble men of the whole Britaine receaved their baptisme.&c. Thus farre in the florice. Nowe therefore knowing and beleuynge with Saint Paul, Et quodcumque prefcripta sunt et normam delinici praefcripta sunt, ut per pacificationem confitutionem scripturum, from Adamus: Whatfoever is afoe writh, is written before for our instruction, that we through the paciencie and comfort of scriptures might haue hope, the only furetie to our fayth and confidence, is to ficke to the scriptures. Whereupon whyteth this eternall wordes of God be our rocke and anker to flique vnto, we will haue pacience with all the vayne inventions of men, who labour so highly to magnifie their tongues, to exalt them felues above all that is God. WThrice will take comfort by the holy scriptures against the malenditions of the aduersaries, and doubt not to pertayne to the elec number of Chrites Churche, howe farre foever we be excommunicated out of the synagogue of fuche who fuppose them felues to be the vnierall lorde of all the world, Lordses of our fayth and confidences, at pleasure. Finally to commend furtherly unto you, and to reader the caufe in part before intertacted, it shalbe the leffe needful, hauing to nyce folowing, that learned faynt, whereof sometime was fet out by the diligence of that godly father Thomas Cranmer, late byfhop in the fee of Canterbury, is to be conuerted before the translation of that Byffe that was then fet out. And for that the coperes thereof be fo wafted, that very many Churches do want their conuenient Byffles, it was thought good to some well defcriued men, to reconuene the fame Byffe agayne into this founme as it is nowe come out, with some further diligence in the printing, and with some more light added, partly in the translation, and partly in the order of the text, not as condemning the former translation, which was followed mofty of any other translation, excepting the original text from which as little variance was made as was thought meete to such as toke paynes therein: defining the good reader if ought be escaped, cyther by fuch as had the expendeing of the booke, or by the ouerprint of the printer, to correct the fame in the fpirite of charite, calling to remembrance what diuerfitie hath been scene in mens judgements in the translation of thefe bookes before these dayes, though all directed their labours to the glory of God, to the dedication of the Churche, to the comfort of their chrifian brethren, and alwayes as God dyd further open vynto them, fo euer more defirous they were to reforme their former humane ouersights, rather then in a stubborne wyulfullneffe to refilt the gyft of the holy gyft, who from tymc to tymc is refulent as that heauenly.
The Preface.

uenly teacher and leader into all truth, by whose direction the Church is ruled and governed. And let all men remember in themselfe how ever errour and ignoraunce is created with our naturall frailty man confesse with that great wyse man, that the cogitations and inuentiones of mortall men be very weak, and our opinions fone decreed: For the body so subject to corrupcio doth opprifle the foule, that it cannot aspire to lyse as of dutie it ought. Men we be all, and that which we know, is not the thouldan part of that we knowe not.

Whereupon faith Aften, other wyse to judge then the truth is, this temptation ryseth of the frailte of man. A man so to loue and sticke to his owne judgement, or to enuie his brothers, to the perill of diffoluing the christian communion, or to the perill of schisme, and of heretike, this is diobolical preumption: but to that end may be well allured nothing to be done in this translacion of malice or wylfull meaning in altering the text, eyther by putting more or lesse to the same, as of purpose to byng in any private judgement by falsification of the wordes, as some certaine men hath ben oute bodle fo to do, as farre regarding the majestie of God his scripture: but so to make it serve to their corrupt error, as in alleging the sentence of Saint Paul to the Romaines the <s>, one certaine wyter to prove his falsification, was bold to turne the words of satisfaction into the word of satisfaction, Thus: Saint Paulis honesta menta nostra sinceritate miraculis et iniquitatis, de diebus nostris memoria nostra sinceritate in satisfactione. That is, as we have geuen our members to vneloysse, from iniquite to iniquite: euen fo from henceforth let vs geue our members to seruerighteounfe into satisfaction: where the true wordes, is into satisfaction. Even so likewise for the advantagge of that may have in his prayer wyth oute faintes, corruptly allureth Saint Pauls text, Ad philomemos. Thus: Fidelis guam habes in domino lege & in omnium fratris, leaving out the worde Charitatem, which would haue rightlie been distributed into Omnes fratres, As fidelis in domino lege. Wherethe the text is, Audite charitatis tuum & fidelis guam habes in domino lege & in omnium fratris: etc. It were to long to byng in many examples, as may be openly founde in some mens wrytynes in these dayes, which would be counted the chiefie pilers of the Catholique fayth, or to note how corruptly they of purpose abuse the text to the commoditie of their cause. What manner of translation may men think to lokke for at their handes, if they should translate the scripture to the comfort of Gods ecle, which they never did, nor be not like to purpose it, but rather studious only to seeke quarrels in mens wylles doynges, to picke fault where none is: And where any is etchewed through humane negligence, there to crye out with their tragical exclamations, but in no wyse to amende by the spirit of charitie and lenite, that where might be more aptly sett. Wherupon for frayle man (compasse hym selfe with inffinitie) it is most reaonable not to be tooe increacinge his brothers knowledge or diligence where he doth err, not of malice, but of simplicitie, and specially in handeling of these fo deuine books so profounde in fentence, so faire pathing our natural vnderstanding. And with charitie if stanthed, the reader not to be offended by the dizeruities of translacions: For as Saint Aften doth witness,by Gods prouidence it is brought about, that the holy scriptures where the falses for euyry mans fore, though at the first they came from one language, and thereby might have ben sped the vulgation to the whole worlde: nowe by dizeruities of manye languages, the translacions should spred the vulgation (that is contained in them) to all nations, by suche wordes of vterance, as the reader might perceau the minde of the translacion, and so consequencly to come to the knowledge of Gods his wyll and pleasuere. And though manye of the oldie Readers be deceaued in the obscurties and ambiguities of the translaciones, while they take one thing for another, and where they we muche labour to extricate these ambiguities of the publitches of the fame: yet i think (faith he) this is not wroght without the prouidence of Gods, both to tame the proude arrogancie of man by his suche labour of searching, as also to kepe his minde from lothimomefle and contempt, where if the scripture vnuerally were to caufe, he would lesse regard them. And though (faith he) in the primatize Church the late interpreters which did tranflac the scripture, be innumerable, yet wroght this rather an helpe, then an impediment to the readers, if they be not to negligent. For faith he, divers translations have made many tymes the harder and harder scrutinyes, the more open and playne: So that of conegence, no offence can lyttle be taken for this newe labour, nothing prejudicing any other mans judgement by this doyng, nor yet hereby proffesiing this to be so absolute a translacion, as that hereafter might folowe no other that might fea that which as yet was not vnderstanded. In this poynct it is convenient to consider the judgement that Iohn, once byhoph of Rochester was in, who thus wrote: It is not vnuknown, but that many things hath ben more diiferently discoursed, and manye greatly vnderstanded by the wittes of these latter dayes, aswell concerning the gospells as other scripturees, then in olde tyme they were. The caufe whereof is (faith he) for that to the oldie men the nyse was not broken, for that there age was not sufficiente expediency to expende the whole mayne fea of the scripturees, or els for that in this large field of the scripturees, a many may gather some eares untoouched after the haruest men, howe diligent fentenc they were. For there be yet (faith he) in the gospells very manye darke places, which without all doubt to the poellerite shall be made more open. For why should we diplyare herein, feing the gospell (wryteth he) was delivered to this intent, that it might be vnderstanded of vs, yea to the very inche. Wherfore, if we could make Charite the newe leffe love to his Church now, then hitherto he hath done, the authoritie wherof is as yet no whit diminished, and forasmuch as that holy spirit the perpetuall keeper and gardener of the fame Church, whose gytes and graces do flowes as continually and as abundantly as from the beginning: who can doubt, but that fuch thinges can remaine yet vnknown in the gospell,shall be hereafter made open to the latter wittes of our poellerite, to their clear vnderstanding. (Thus farre this wryteth.) Only good readers let vs oft call upon the holy spirit of God our heauenly father, by the mediation of our Lorde and fauour, with the wordes of the ouerigne plathe of David, who did so inopportune crue of God to haue the vnderstanding of his lawes and reflemet: Let vs humbly on our knees pray to almighty God, with that wyse kyng Solomon in his very worde, saying thus.
God of my fathers, and Lorde of mercies (thou that hast made all thynges with thy worde, and didst ordayne man through thy wisdom, that he should have dominion ouer thy creatures which thou hast made, and that he should order the world according to holinesse and righteousness, and that he should execute judgement with a true heart) geue me wisdome which is ever about thy seate, and put me not out from amongst thy children: For I thy seruaunt and sonne of thy hand mayden am a feeble person, of a short time, and to weake to the vnderstanding of thy judgementes and lawes. And though a man be never so perfect among the children of men, yet if thy wisdome be not with him, he shalbe of no value. O sende her out therfore from thy holy heauens, and from the throne of thy maieftie, that she may be with me, and labour with me, that I may knowe what is acceptable in thy fight: for she knoweth and vnderstandeth all thynges, and she shall leade me soberly in my workes, and preserue me in her power. So shall my workes be acceptable by Christe our Lorde, To whom with the father and the holy ghost, be all honour and glorie, worlde without ende.

Amen.
The prologue.

A prologue or preface made by Thomas Cranmer, late Archbishop of CANTERBURY.

Concerning two sundry sorts of people, it seems much necessarie that some thing be said in the entrie of this book by the way of a prologue, whereby hereafter it may be both the better accepted of them which hitherto could not well hear it, and also the better understood of them which heretofore have misused it.
For surely some there are that to slowe and neede the spurt, some other seeme to quench, and neede more of the hydrate: some lose their game by hoot shooting, some by over shooting, some walke to much on the left hande, some to much on the right. In the former lost be all they that refuse to reade, or to heare rede the scripture in the bulgar tongue, much worse they that also let or discourage the other from the reading or hearing their-self. In the latter lost be they which by their inordinate reading, undiscerte speaking, contentious disputing, or otherwise by their licentious lyuing, wondre and hinder the wordes of God most of all other, whereof they would seeme to be greatest furtheres. These two sortes, albeit they be most farre unlike the one to the other, yet they both defeare in effect the reproche.
Neither can I well tell whether of them I may judge the more offendour, hym that doth obstinately refuse to godly and goodly knowledge: or hym that doth ungodly and to ungodly both abuse the same. And as touching the former, I would maruaile much that any man should be so mad, as to refuse in darknesse. Light: in hunger, food: in colde, fire: for the wordes of God is light: Lucerna pedibus meis, verbum tuum. Ty poode is a lanterne into my feete, It is tooke: Non in solo pacei viuit homo, sed in omni verbo dei. Dan shall not lyte by bread only, but by every wordes of God. It is fire: Igem veni mistere in terra, & quid volo nifi vt aedare: I am come to sende fire on the earth, and what is my desire but that it be kindled: I would maruaile (I lay at this) sure that I consider how much custome a visage may do. So that if there were a people as some wise of Cymreis, which never knewe the Sunne, by reason that they be situated farre to the North pole, and be inclosed and overcharged with ye mountaynes: it is credible and like enough, that if by the power and will of God, the mountaines shoulde incline downe and Gene place, that the lyght of the Sunne might have entrance to them, at the first some of them would be offended therewith. And the oyle prophetic aftermyth, that after tillage of corn was first founde, many delite more to seeke of mail and acorns wherewith they had ben accustomed, then to care had made of good corn. Such is the nature of custome, that it cautheth us to heare al things shows and easly otherwhat we have ben ac-compused, and to be offended with all things thereof contrary. And therefore I can well thinke them worthy of pardon, which at the comming thereof scripture doubted and we bekehe. But such as will purpil the in their willfulness I must needs judge not only foolish, but ood, and obstinate: but also preudie, peruerse, and indurate. And yet, if the matter should be tryed by custome, we might also to allest custome for the reading of the scripture in the bulgar tongue, and prescribe the more ancient custome. For it is not muche above one hundred years ago, since scripture hath not been accustomed to be read in the bulgar tongue within this realm, and many hundrerd years before that, it was translated and red in the Sarbones tongue, which at that time was our mother tongue, whereof there remaine yet bourn coppes founde lately in olde abates, of suche antique matter of writing and speaking, that seve men nowe not able to reade and understand them. In this language wasd old and out of common stile, because thoughne could not the fruite of reading, it was again translated into the newen language, whereof yet also many coppes remaine and be daily found. But nowe to let passe custome, and to passe as wise men couter shoule, the thing in his owne nature: let us here discuss what it appertene scripture to be bad and rede of the lap and bulgar people. And to this question I intende here to say nothinge: but that was spoken and written by the noble doctor and most noyable divine, saint John Chistolome in his third seramon de Lazarre, albeit, I will be some thinge shorter and gather the matter into fewer words and seie romne then he didde ther, because I woulde not be cetic ous, he chooseth there his audience, that every man shoule reade by himselfe at home in the mean dayses and time, because the same be not many coppes remaine, nor be dayly founde. But nowe to let passe custome, and to passe as wise men couter shoule, the thing in his owne nature: let us here discuss what it appertene scripture to be bad and rede of the lap and bulgar people. And to this question I

And that I ereth you (faith be) and ever have a will ereth you, that you (not only here in the Church) gete care to that is said by the preacher: but that also when ye be at home in your houses, ye apply your felon from tyne to tyne to the reading of holy scriptures: which thing also I never lin to beate into the cotes of them that be my familiars, and with whom I have private acquaintance and conversation. Let no man make creuse and lye (faith be) I am biiled about matters of the commonwealth, I hear this office, so that I am a craised man. I must apply mine occupation, I have a wife, my children must be fed, my household must I provide for: Briefly, I am a man of the world, it is not for me to read the scriptures, that belongeth to those that have bene the world farwell, which true in solitirene and contemplation, and have ben bought by and continually notilit in learning and religy. So this sunweying: what sapill thou man (faith be) it is not for thee to lude and to read the scripture, because thou art a curte and dilett she makes and businesse: So much the more it is not behout for thee to have defence of scriptures, howe much thou art the more disstered in thy damnys. They that be free and farre from trouble and entermedy of worldly thinges, true in safegarde and tranquilliy, and in the calme, or within a cire.hauen. Thou art in the midst of the sea of worldly wickednes, and therefore thon needest the more of godly surcy and comfort: They sit farre from the strokes of bataille, and farre out of gunne shotte, and therefore they be fulse wounded. Thou that handest in the facefront of the hoat, and need to thyme enemies, must needes take note and then may strokes, and be greciously wounded, and therefore thou hast most need to haue thy remedies and medicines at hande. Thoke forbreneth thee to anger, the chide gueuth thee occasion to take care, in seriton and penitentwi, thyme enemies take in wayte for the, thy fiendeth (as thou thebl hyr) sentryme emniet thee, thy neighbour mistrreporteth thee or picketh quarrels against thee, thy mate or parter underneatheth thee, thy lode, ludge, or justice, througheth thee, pouerfull is pappafull unto thee, the lode of thy deare and wellbeloved causeth thee to mourne, prospereth or underthe thee, adverite bingeth thee lowe: Briefly, to divers and to manifele occasions of cares, tribulations, and temptations, befteth thee and beleive thee rounde about, where cant thou haue armour or foresitter against thine assaties? where cant thou haue fales for the foxes, but of holy scripture: Thy sthieh must needes be gone and subject to sleeshy lukes, which dayly waketh and art conuerfaunt amonge woman, feel their beauties set loose to the eye, heare their nice and wanton wodes, smellest their baune, er, and,amuthe, with many other lye provocation and stirrings: except thou bale in a redline seer where to supprese and aduodhe them, which can not elsewhere he had, but only out of the holy scriptures. Let us reade and feke all remedies that we can, and all shame little enough. Thou shalt we then do, if we suffer and take dayly wountes, and when we have done, willest thou spill and searche for no medicines? Well shal not marke and confider howe he the knite, maon, or carpenter, or any other hande craftaman, what needes fosterer he be in, what other thing to este he make, he will not tell no lay to plegde the tooles of his occupation: for then shoude he do, of his state, o get his lyping thereby? Of the mynde and assefion ought we to be towards holy scripture, for as anathels, hammeres, awes, cheralls, are, and hatchets, be the tooles of their occupation: So be the bookes of the prophets, and Apollises, and all holy writers inspired by the holy goost, the instrumentes of our saluation, wherefore let us not stche to de and poude by the Bible, that is to say, the bookes of holy scripture: and let us think therof that it is a better itewell in oure house then other golde or siluer. For he that has thes there he shal to all prive an house where they know to be good armoure and artillerie: so whenever these holy and godly bookes be occupied, there neither the devyl no one of his angels dare come. And they that occupy them be in much safegarde, and have a great conflation, and be the redier unto all goodnes, the flower unto all clee, and if we have don any thing amisse, any one by the lye of the books their confections be admonished, and they were longe and adownd of the fact: peradventure they wille lay into me: hoave and ye vis onde not that we reade, that is contented in the books:what ther? Suppose thou understandest not the deepest and profound mesteries of scriptures, yet can it not be but that much fruite and holiness must come and growe by the reading: lo it can not be that shoudst be ignorant in all thinges a lyfe, for the holy goost hath so ordered and attempted the scriptures, that in them as well publimack, fysters, and sheepeartes, may fynde their edification, as great doctours their erudition. For those bookes were not made to varye gaiete, lyke as were the laboures of the gentel philosphers and sapitios, to the intent the makers houlde be in admiration for their lyke syluer and obscure maner and writing, whereof nothing can be underlanded without a maister or an expostitor: But the Apollises prophets wrote their books so, that their special intent and purpose might be underlanded and perceaved of every reader, which was nothing but the edification of amendment of the lyfe of them that reade or hearde it, who is it reade or heareing read in the Gofpel. Blessed are they that be mecke, Blessed are they that be mercifull, Blessed are they that be of cleane heart, and much other lyke places, can perceave nothing except he have a maister to teach him what it meaneth: Lyske the chylde's miracles with all other hystories of the bynges of Christe or his Apollises, who is there of so simple wits capacitie, but he may be able to perceave and underlande them? These be but creuse and clkes for the rayne, the coveringes of their owne lyke shoutfulness: But spill ye will lay I can not understande it. What maister? I have houlebl thou understande, if thou wilt not reade, no forsooke it take: The bookes into thyre hands reade the whole hop, and that thou understandest, kepe it well in memoirie: that thou understandest not read it againe, and agayne: if thou can neither to come by it, consuplye with some other that is better learned. So to the cite a preacher, hee the fez felt to be destre to know a learnere, and I doubt not but God tryng the diligence and readeynesse (if no man els teach thee) will hym telie bouchfyl with his holy spirite to illuminate thee, to open unto thee that which was locked of theh.
Remember the Launch of Candace Nune of Ethiopia, which albeit he was a man of a Wolfe and barbarous country, and one occupied with worldly care and continence, yet rising in his chariot, he was reading the scripture. Whereof considcr, if this man passing in his journey was so diligent as to read the scriptures: what then shall thou of lyke be he not to do penance at home? Again he that letteth not to read, albeit he did not understand: what did he then read ther, that at what time he had learned and gotten understanding, for that thou makest well known that he understandeth not what he readeth, heereth what Philip there faith unto him, understandest thou what thou readest? And he nothing attained to confess his ignorance, answered: How should I understandeth these things to body to thee the way? Lo, when he lacked one to show him the way, and to expound to him the scriptures, yet did he read, and therefore God the rather provided for him a guide of the way, that taught him to understandeth it, God perceavd his willing and towarde impende, and therefore he sent him a teacher by a sherefore let no man be negligent about his own health and salvation: Though thou have not Philip alaways when thou wouldest, the holy ghost when then moued and stirred by Philip, will be reedy and not faple ye shou shall do thy diligence accordingly. All these things be written into by for our education and amendment, which be borne towards the latter ende of the world. The reading of the scriptures is a great and strong buttwarke or f Locator against fame: the ignorance of the same, is a greater ruine and destruction of them that will not know it. That is the thing that hyppeth in helcke, that is it that causeth all corrupt and perverse lyuyng, that is it that hyppeth all lynges out of good order. Dittoeth all that I have saue, I have taken and gathered out of the holy scripture of this holy doctor saint John Chrystophorne: How so it shoulde in lyke manner byng tooth what the saile fayour doctor speaketh in other places, and what other doctors and writeres say concerning the same purpose, I might seeme to you to write another Bible, rather then to make a preface to the Bible. Wherein in we wordes to comprehend the large and britishe of the scripture, how it contraynteth fruitfull instruction and erudtion for every man, ye any thinge neeeth to be necessary to erudtion of the holy scripture we may learn it. If childhood halbe receiued, the self we may gather nderwthall. If any thinge be to be corrected and amended, ye there neede any exhaltation or consolation of the scripture we may well learn, in the scriptures be the fat pastures of the soule, therin is no venimous meate, no unprofetible thinge, they be the bemaistie and pure feedinge. Be that is ignoane, shalle yarde what he shoulde learne. Be that his peruerse lyter, shall there trope his damnation to make hym to tremble for feare. Be that laboureth to serve God, shall stonde there his glode, and the pretensions of ethernal lyfe, expecting hym more diligently to labour. Herein may pannes learn howe to governe their subdued: Subiectes obedience, love, and neede to their prince: Husbandes shoude shoulde behalle them unto their wifes, howe to educare their children and servante: And contrary the wixes, children, and servante, may knowe their duttie to their husbandes, parents, and maisters. Here may all manner of persons, men, women, young, olde, learned, unlearned, rich, poor, plues, laymen, lords, ladies, officeres, servante, and mean men, bering, wixes, widows, lawyers, marchante, artificers, husbandmen, and all manner of persons of what estate or condition they be, may in this bookes learn all lynges what they ought to declare, what they ought to do, what they should do, at well concerning allmighty God, as also concerning them selues and all other. Sicely, to the reading of the scripture none can be enemie, but that either be so fylele that they loye not to hare of any medicine, or else be so ignoane that they knowe not scripture to be the most healthfull medicine. Therefore as touching this former part, I will heare conclude, and take it as a conclusion: sufficiently determined appointed that it is convenient and good the scriptures to be redde of all yope and kindes of people, and in the bulgar tonge, without further allegations or probations for the same, which shall not neede, since that this one place of John Chrystophorne is enough and sufficient to perswade all them that be not seowardly a peruerse lyter in their owne ownw full opinion specially note that the hinges hightene being suprime head next under Chistle of this Church of England, hath appoynted with his royal attent the letting forth thereof, which only to all true and sobred bixitices ought to be a sufficient reason for the allowing of the same, without further delay, reclamation, or refustance, although there were no preface no other reason herein expresed. Herefore nowe to come to the seconde and latter part of my purpose: there is nothing to good in this world, but it may be abused, and turned from unhurtlefull woldomke, to hurtefull and noyforme. What is there above better then the fume, the income, and the farres? Yet was there that toke occasion by the great beautie and brete of them, to desyonge God, and to dede them selues with holode, gerying the honour of the hynging God and creature of all lynges, to such lynges as he had created. What is there here beneathe better then fire, water, meates, druykes, metals of gold, silver, iron, and steel? Yet we fee dayly great harme and much mischief done by every one of these, at well for lacke of volomke a presongence of them that shee cupil, as by the malice of them that wokde the cupil. Thus to them that to cupil of them selues, every lyng stetter forwearde and increaseth the cupil, be it of his owne natur a lyng not to godly, as contraryly, to them that libbe and endeavoure them selues to godlynes, very thing tynguely them, and perfitely into good, be it of his owne natur a lyng not to bad, as S. Paul saith, His qui diligent demen in cooperacn in bonum, Il faut ouir de bon voyage successe, to such as do love God, even as out of motor busous wordes, that was traduce, the most soutereigne medicine for the beneficentia of mans healeth in time of nauage, wherefore I would advise you at one time to the reading of bearing of this booke, which is the woode of God, the most precious wold and most holy relique that remainythe upon earth; that ye bying with you the fear of God, and that ye do it with all due reuerence, and so your knowledge thereof, not to baine glode of frivoulus disputacne; but to the honour of God, increas of vertue, and educacion both of their selues and other. And to the intent that my wordes may be the more more regarded, I will be in this part the author of the sermons of Saint Gregory Nazianzen, as well as the other Iob of Saint John Chrysostome. It appeared that in his time there were some (as I fear me there be also now at these days a great number, which are idle babblers, and talkers of the discourse out of reason and all good order, and without any increase of virtue, or example of good living: to them he wrote all his first book, de theologia, whereof I shall briefly gather the whole effect, and reduce it hereunto. There be some (faith he) whole not only cares and tongues, but also their spirits be heated and they bent all to contention and impossible disputations, whom I would wise as he be benevolent and earnest to reason the matter with tongue, so they were all redy and practice to do good deeds. But so much as they subvert such the order of the godly, have respect only to this thing, how they may unde and loose subtle questions, so that no one every market place, every alehouse and tavern, every fast house, briefly every company of men, every assembly of women, is filled with such talk: Since the matter is so (faith he) and that our faith and holy religion of Christ be degenerated to wear out nothing; but as it were a sophistry or a talking craft. I can no more do but say some thing thereby. It is not yet (faith he) for every man to dispute the high questions of doctrine, neither is it to be done at all times, neither in every assembly we must we discourse every double; but we must know when, to whom, and how we are to enter into such matters. First it is not for every man, but it is for such alone of exact and exquisite imaginations, and such as have spent their time before in study and contemplation, and such as before have cleaned them selves as well in style as body, as at the least endured themselves to be made clean. For it is dangerous (faith he) for the harken to those that do thing that is not clean, like as the eye takeeth colour by lying upon the sunne. Secondly, not at all times, but when we be resolved, and at rest from all our warde dregges and trouble, and when that our heads be not encumbered with other worldly and wandering imaginations: as p.s a man shoule mingle balme and dirt together, for he that shall judge and determine such matters and doubtes of scriptures, must take his time when he may apply his wittes therunto, that he may therby the better see and discern what is truth. Thirdly, where, and in what audience. There and among those that have been studious to learne; And not among such as have pleasure to trifle with such matters, as with other things of palitance, which repute for their chere delicacies, the disputations of high questions, to heave their wittes learning, and eloquence in reasoning of high matters. Fourthly, it is to be considered how farre to wade in such matters of difficulties. So further (faith he) but as every mans owne capacitie will ferue him, and agayne no further then the weaknesses of the other audience may beare. For he as to great nopest hurte the ear, to much meate hurteth the mans body, heavy hurtheth the hearers of them, to much raphe both much more then good to the ground, briefly in all things, to much is report, even so, weak wittes and waine confinements may be oppossed with our hard questions. I say not this to diswade men from the knowledge of God, and reading of; studying of the scriptures: For I say that it is as necessary for the life of mans soule, as for the body to heale. And if it were possible so to line, I wold think it good for a man to spend all his life in that, and to do no other thing. I commend the lawe which bideth to meditate and finde the scriptures alwaies both night and day, and sermons a pleasure to be made both morning, noon, and euentide, and God to be lauded and blessed in all times, to bed, awarde from bed, in our journeys, and all our other works. I forby not to reade, but I forby to reason. Neither forby I to reason so farre as is good and godly: but I allowe not that is done out of leaon, and out of measure and good order. I man may rate to much of honpe be it never so werte, and ther is time for every thing, and that thing that is good, is not godly it be ungodly done. Even as a flower in winter is out of leaon, and as a wameleon apparel becometh not a man, neither contrarily, the mans the woman, neither is peevening convenient at a bridale, neither lauging at a barstall. Now ye we can observe and hope that he is come, and temporal in all other thinges:shall not we then the rather do the same in the holy scriptures. Let us not rumme booth as it were idle holies, that can flatter neither hide in their mouthes, nor sitter on their backes. Let us be hope by us in our bodies, and neither let us be goe to farre on the one side lest we returne into Egypt, neither to farre over the other, lest we be carried away to Babylon. Let us not sing the song of our Loide in a strange lande, that is to say, let us not dispute the wordes of God at all adventures, as well where it is not to be reason, as where it is, and atwells in the cares of them that be not therfore, as of them that be, if we can in no wise forbear but that we must needs dispute, let us forbear thus much at the least, to do it out of time and place convenient. And let us entreate of these thinges which be holy, holyly; and upon those things that be mulctall, mulctally; and not to utter the deumine mysteries in the cares unworthy to heare them, but let us knowe what is come, atwell in our silence and talking, as in our garments weareing, in our feeding, in our gowinge, in all our other behaunting. This contention and debates about scriptures and doubts thereof (properly when such) do prentend to be the fauouers and studebtes thereof can not agree within them selves, both mowe hurt to our selves, and to the furthering of the cause and quarrells that we would haue furthered above all other thinges. And we in this (faith he) be not unlike to them that be making, set their owne houses on fire, and that slay their owne children, or beate their owne parents. I maraung much (faith he) to recount whereof commeth all this desire of vain glory, whereas commeth all this tongue tite, that we have so much delight to talke and clatter? And wherein is our communication? Not in the commendation of berthous and good deeds, of hospitalitie, of love between christian brother and brother, of love between man and wive, of virginitie and chastitie, and of almes to wade the poore. Not in praiames and godly songes, not in lamenting for our times, not in reproving the affection of the body, not in prayers to God, we talke of scripture, but in the meanie tyme we subdue not.

not our slothe by fasting, watching, and weeping, we make not this life a meditation of death, we do not strive to be lobsers over our appetites and affections, we go not about to pull downe our proude and hygh myndes, to subdue our carnifich and ranonous stomackes, to retnayre our lustes and boddy deludations, our unisaftere foredes, our lasciuos mirth, our moderate fasting, our insatiable hea-rying of vanities, our speaching without measure, our inconvenient thoughts, and briefly to reforme our life and maners: but all this holiness consisteth in taliyng. And we pardon ene other from all good lying, so that we may fiche fall together in argumentation, as though there were no noares to heauen but this alone, the way of speculation and knowledge (as they take it) but in very deed it is rather the way of superstitious contention and sophification. Richard have I recited the mynde of Gregorie Nazianzen in that booke whiche I spake of before. The fame authour faith also in an other place, that the learning of a christian man ought to begin by the feare of God, to end it matters of hye speculation; and not contrarily to begin with speculation, and to end in seare. For speculation (faith he) either hye cunning or knowledge, let it be not stayd with the blade of seare to offende God, is dangerous, and enough to tumble a man headlong downe the hell. Therfore faith he, the seare of God must be the first beginning, and as it were an A. B. C. of an introduction to all them that shall enter into the very true and most fruitful knowledge of holy scriptures, where as is the seare of God, there is (faith he) the keping of the commandements: and where as is the keping of the commandements, there is the cleansing of the sliche: which sliche is a cloude before the soules eye, and falseth it not purely to see the beam of the heavenly light, where as is the cleansing of the sliche, there is the illumination of the holy ghost, the ende of all our desires, and the very light whereby the berrie of scriptures is seen and perceaved. This is the mynde and almost the woordes of Gregorie Nazianzen doctour of the Greeche Churche, of whom saith Jerome saith: that unto his time the late Churche had no writer able to be compared and to make an equall mate with him. Therfore to conclude this latter part, every man that commeth to the reading of this holy booke, ought to begin with hym first and loumoll this seare of almightie God, and then nere, a fryme and fable purpose to reforme his owne selle accordyng therunto, and so to continue, procede, and prosper from thence to thence, theruing hym selle to be a sober and fruitfull hearer and learner: which pif he do, he shall possa at the length well able to teach, though not with his mouth, yet with his lyuing and good example, which is sure the most lively and effectuoues founrie and manner of tachyng. He that otherwise intermeddieth with this booke, let hym be assured that once he shall make a count therfore, when he shall have faide to hym as it is written in the prophete David, Peccatoris dicit deus. &c. Unto the ungodly saide God: who dost thou pracheth my lawes, and takest my testament in thy mouth? Whereas thou hast not to be forreurned, and hast ben partaker with adulterers. Thou hast let thy mouth speak wickednes, and with the tongue thou hast set forth deceit. Thou lattest and speaketh against thy brother, and halt slandered thyne owne mothers soune. Thee these thynges hast thou done, and I heede my tongue, and thou thoughtest wickedly that I am even such a one as thy selle: But I will reproue thee, and set thee the thynges that thou hast done. O consider this ye that forget God, let I pruche you away, and there be none to deliter you, who so offereth me thankes and praufe, he honoureth me: and to hym that offereth his conversation right, well I shewe the salvation of God.

Praye be to God.
A description of the yeres from the creation of the world, until this present yere of 1568. drawn for the most part out of the holy Scripture, with declaration of certayne places, wherein is certayne difference of the reckening of the yeres.

From the death of Joseph, to Moses, there is (according to Philo) sixtie yeres. And from Moses till the departure of the children of Israel out of Egypt, forty and eight yeres. Acts. 7.

The people remayned in the wilderness forty yeres. Deu. 28. And then were brought into the land of Chanaan by Iosuah, who was governor over them, after they were moved by Moses thirty yeres.

Abimilech governed three yeres. Jud. 9. Then Thola, twenty yeres. Jud. 10. Thola being deceased, the people were eighteen yeres under the tyranny of the Ammonites. 1. Kings 10.

After Eli, Samuel and Saul governed fourtie yeres: but the scripture, because of Saul's royall dignity, allotted all this government to him. Acts. 7.

David raigned after Saul, forty yeres. 2. Sam. 5. Solomon his sonne raigned three yeres before the building of the temple, which is forty yeres after the departure out of Egypt. Kings 6. and raigned in all, forty yeres. 2. Kings 15.

Rehoboam the sonne of Solomon raigned, seventeen yeres. 1 Kings 12. And Abia his sonne raigned eight yeres. 2. Kings 15.

Iofaphat raigned after Afa, twenty yeres. 2. Kings 15. And Joram his sonne raigned three yeres with his father, and five yeres alone. 4. Kings 8. Above raigned after Iosiah, seven yeres. 2. Chron. 23.

Ahalia the mother of Ochozias raigned eight yeres. 4. Kings 11. Then Ochosia, Josias his sonne raigned. 2. Kings 15.

After Amahaf the people were without king eighty yeres, as we may gather by the fourteenth and fifteenth chapters of the fourth and fifth Books. 2. Kings 15. and 2. Chron. 23.

Eliachim, otherwise called Joachim raigned eleven yeres. 4. Kings 23. And after him, Jehonias three monethes, after which time he was led captive into Babyloun. 4. Kings 24.

Sedeciahs raigned eleven yeres, and then was flayne, the citie of Hierusalem with the temple rased downe, and the people led captive into Babyloun, where they remayned, seventy yeres. 4. Kings 25.

After the seventy yeres of captiuitie, Cyrus the first monarke of the Persians, let the people of Libertia againe, and suffered them to returne into their owne lande. It was revealed to Daniel the prophet, that there should be seven yeres of yeres, which is forty yeres, reckening from the commandement given to build the citie, unto Iesus Christ. Dani. 9. And this commandement was given by Darius Longimanius the twentieth yere of his empire. Nehem. 2. which was sixty yeres after the aforeside delinuance, vvherefore reckening the fayde sixty yeres after the delinuance, and adding thereto the seventy yeres of captiuitie, we shall finde that from the fayde delinuance vntill the death of Christ, there are five hundred fiftie and foure yeres.

From the nativity of Christ to this present yere, we reckenne a thousand, five hundred fiftie and eyght from which number if we substracke the yeres from his birth vntill his death (which is three and thirtie) we shall finde that from the end of the sayd fentiente yeres of Daniel, vntill this present yere, it is 1553 yeres.

All which aforeside being well examined and reckenne, ye shall finde that since the creation of the world to this present yere of 1568, the yeres amount to 5950. yeres, and fixe monethes.

He olde Testament is appointed for the first Lessons at Morning and Evening prayer, and shalle read through every verse once, except certayne books and chapters which be lead edifying, shalbe left be spared, a therefore be left unread.

The neue Testament is appointed for the second Lessons at Morning and Evening prayer, and shalle read over every verse thrice, beside the Epistles and Gospels: Except the Apocalypses, out of the which there be only certayne Lessons appointed upon divers proper feales.

To knowe what Lessons shalbe read every day: Find the day of the moneth in the Kalender following, and there ye shall perceve the books and chapters that shalbe read for the Lessons both at Morning and Evening prayer.

And here is to be noted, that whensoever there be any proper Psalmes or Lessons appointed for the Sundays, or for any feast movable or unmovable: Then the Psalmes and Lessons appointed in the Kalender, shalbe omitted for that yeare.

* An admonition to the Reader.

Wherein in this calendar be appointed all to the days of every month names of saints, as they call them; this we have done (gentle Reader) not for that we account them all for lambs, of whom we compute some not so good: as yet for that either (bawd holy secure they be), we judge any desiring worship or honor to be referred to them: but rather that they should be as notes and marks of some certain matters, wofe appointed prayer: as it may be, so much goods: that being count of saint, may so in man much hurt. And this is the reason of this spir: and purpose. Farewell.

23 And man said: this is now bone of my bones, and flesh of my flesh, the that be called Woman, because she was taken out of man.
24 *For this cause shall man leave his fa-ter and his mother, and that be joined with his wife: and they shall become one flesh.
25 And they were both naked the man and his wife, and were not ashamed.

This figure is spoken of in the x. verse of this Chapter before, and representeth the situation of God's garden.

If there be any kingdom under heaven that is excellent in beauty, in abundance of fruits, in plenteousness, in delights and other gettes: they which have written of countrees, do praise above all, the same that this figure representeth, wherefore, with the peoples of those countrees, Moses exalted this paradise, as usually belonging unto it. And it is very well lyke, that the region of kingdom of Eden hath ben situate in that countree, as it appeareth in the xxii. Chapter of Eliasias the xii. beare, and in the xiii. of Ezechiel the, xiv. beare. Wherefore, where as Moses saith that a flood dyd proceed from that place: I do interprete it, from the course of the waters, as it he should have saide that Adam dyd inhabit in the flooddes lyde, or in the lande which was watered of both lydes. However, there is no great matter in that, either that Adam hath dwelt in a place watered of waters. But the thing is not hard nor hard understande how this floodede hath ben dedide in fourthe heads. For they be two floodes which be gathered in one, then they separate them selues in divers partes.
So in theyes joining and flowinge together, it is but a floodede, whereof there is two heads into two chanels from above, and two towards the sea, when it beginneth to separate it self aboude. But to declare unto you the diversities of the rivers names, besides their usual and principal appellations, and howe they be called as they pass through the province, with the interpretations of the same. I thinke it rather tedious and commodetome, then profitable. Wherefore the simple sense of Mop-thes is, that the garden whereof Adam was the owner, was watered with waters, because the course of this floodede was there, which was dedide into four heads.
And the serpent was more subtil than any beast of the field which the Lord God had made. And he诱了 the woman, saying, 'Ye shall not die.' Then said the woman unto the serpent, 'We shall not die:' For we shall he wise, like unto God, knowing good and evil.' And the serpent said unto the woman, 'Ye shall be as gods, knowing good and evil.' So the woman诱了 the man, and he ate: and his wife also ate of the tree, and he he she, and he spake unto her: and the woman gave also unto her husband.
Because thou hast done this, thou art cursed above all cattle, and above every beast of the field: upon thy belly shalt thou go, and dust shalt thou eat all the days of thy life.

15 And I will also put enmity between thee and the woman, between thy seed and her seed: and he shall bruise thy head, and thou shalt bruise his heel.

16 But unto the woman he said: I will greatly multiply thy sorrow and thy conception; in sorrow shall thou bring forth children; and thy desire shall be for thy husband's, and he shall rule over thee.

17 Unto Adam he said: Because thou hast hearkened unto the voice of thy wife, and hast eaten of the tree concerning which I commanded thee, saying, thou shalt not eat thereof, cursed is the ground for thy sake; in sorrow shalt thou eat of it all the days of thy life.

18 Thrice also and thrice shall it bring forth sorrow to thee, and thou shalt eat of the hearbe of the field.

19 In the sweat of thy face shalt thou eat thy bread, till thou return unto the ground, for out of it wast thou taken: For dust thou art, and into dust shalt thou be turned again.

20 And Adam called his wife's name Eve, because she was the mother of all living.

21 Unto Adam also and to his wife dyed the Lord God all trees of the garden, to be food for Adam, and to all the beasts of the field, and to all the fowls of the air.

22 And the Lord God said: Behold, the man is become as one of us, in knowing good and evil: and now it is hid from his face, afraid to put forth his hand to touch the fruit of the tree, and eat, and to increase knowledge of good and evil.

23 Therefore the Lord God sent forth the man, to till the garden, and to keep it.

24 And he said: I will not make thee to till the earth any more; and to the east of the garden of Eden he put the angel, and with sword of flame, to keep the way of the tree of life.
Habiel also brought of the firstlings of his sheepe, & of the fatte thereof: and the Lord had respect (11) unto Habel, and to his oblation.

But unto Cain and to his offering he had no respect: (2) for the which cause Cain was exceeding wroth, and his countenance abated.

And the Lord saide unto Cain: Why art thou wroth: and why is thy countenance abated?

If thou do well, shalt thou not (12) receive? and if thou doest not well, though thou slay at the doores: Also unto thee shall thy desire be, and thou shalt have dominion over them.

And Cain (8) talked with Habel his brother: and it came to pass When they were at the field, Cain rose up against Habel his brother, and smote him.

And the Lord said unto Cain: Where is Habel thy brother? And he said: I know not. Am I my brothers keeper?

And he said: What hast thou done? (8) The voice of thy brethren's blood crieth unto me from the ground.

And now art thou cursed from the earth, which hath opened her mouth to receive thy brethrens blood from thy hand.

If thou tille the ground, the shall not yield thee thee strength. (8) For a fugitive and a vagabond shalt thou be in the earth.

And Cain said unto the Lord: My iniquity is more (8) then that it may be forgiven.

Beshold, thou hast cast me out this day from the upper face of the earth, & from thy face shall I be hid. (8) A fugitive and a vagabond shalt thou be in the earth: and it shall come to passe, that every one that findeth me shall slay me.

And the Lord said unto him: (8) The whirlwind shall slay Habel, he shall be punished seven fold. And the Lord set a mark before Habel, lest any man slay him. And Cain went out from the presence of the Lord, and dwelt in the land of Nod, eastward from Eden.

Cain also knew his wife, which conceived and bare Enoch, and he called the name of the same city after the name of his son Enoch.

Unto Enoch (14) was born Jared: for Enoch begat Methusael, Methusael begat Lamech.

And Lamech took unto him two wives, the name of the one was Adah, and the name of the other Zillah.

And Adah bare Habel, which was the father of such as dwelt in the tents, and of such as had cattle.

His brothers name was Japhet, which was the father of such as handled harpe and organ.

And Sela also bare Thubalaai, which brought cunningly every craft of brass and of iron, the sister of Thubalaai was Patna.

Lamech a prince regemency did not many days, for he spake unto his wives: For I have slain a man to my wounding of my selfe; & a young man to my prowess punishment.

If Cain telleth anguished seven fold, truely Lamech seventy tythes & seven tythes.

Adam knew his wife agayne, and bare a sonne, and called his name Seth: For God knew that he had appointed me another seede in stead of Habel whom Cain slue.

And unto the name Seth also there was borne a sonne, and he called his name Enos: then begann men to makke inuocation in the name of the Lord.

2. And the Lord said: "My spirit shall not always strive with man, because that he is fickle: yet his days shall be an hundred and twenty years." 4. But there were Giants in the earth: when the sons of God came into the daughters of men, and begat children of them, the same became mighty men the earth, and men of renown. 5. 9 These are the generations of Noah: Noah was a just man and perfect in his generations: and Noah walked with God.

10 Noah begat three sons, Shem, Ham, and Japheth.

11 The earth also was corrupt before God, and the same earth was fylled with cruelty.

12 And God looked upon the earth, and behelde (1) it was corrupt; for all flesh had corrupted his way upon earth.

13 And God said unto Noah: the (m) ende of all flesh is come before me, for the earth is fylled with cruelty through them, and behelde I will destroy them with the earth.

14 Make thee an Arke of (o) Pine trees: Habitations shalt thou make in the arke, and that pitch it within and without pitch it.

15 And of this fashion shalt thou make it: The length of the arke [shate] three hundred cubites, the breadth of it fyltie cubites, & the height of it thritie cubites.

17 And behelde, (g) even I do bynyn a flood of water upon the earth, to destroy all flesh wherein is the breath of lyfe under heaven, and every thyng that is in the earth shall perish.

In the six hundredth year of Noah's life, in the second month, on the seventeenth day of the same, all the fountains of the great deep were broken up, and the windows of heaven were opened. And the rain was upon the earth forty days and forty nights. In the six and twentieth day, entered Noah, and his sons, and wife, and Shem, and Ham, and Japheth the sons of Noah, and the fountains of the great deep were broken up, and the three windows of heaven were opened. And the rain was upon the earth forty days and forty nights. And they came into Noah into the ark, two and two of all flesh wherein was the breath of life. And they entered in, came male and female of all flesh, as God had commanded him: and God shut him in round about. And the fountains came forth, and the springs flowed out, and the rain was upon the earth. And the waters increased and bare up the ark, which was upon the earth. The waters also waxed strong, and were increased exceedingly upon the earth: and the ark went upon the face of the waters. And the waters prevailed exceedingly upon the earth, and all the high hills that are under the whole heavens were covered. Fifteen cubits upward did the waters prevail, so that the mountains were covered. And all flesh perished that moved upon the earth, in fowl, in cattle, in the creeping things of the earth, and in man, they were all destroyed. And every soul that was upon the face of the earth, both man, and cattle, and creeping things, and fowl of the heavens; they were all utterly destroyed from the earth. But the ark remained upon the earth, a hundred and fifty days.
And God remembered Noah and every beast, and all the fowls of heaven, which were with him in the ark; and he opened the window of the ark above.

2. And he sent forth every beast, and every fowl, and every creeping thing upon the earth; and they went forth.

3. And Noah fent forth a dove out of the ark.

4. Which returned unto him an olive leaf circled, and he knew that the waters were abated from the earth.

5. And he waited yet after the end of the fit- teeny month; and he opened the ark window again, and looked; and, behold, the fowls were on the face of the ground.

6. And he sent forth a dove the second time; and she returned to him, circled with an olive leaf, and he knew that the waters had abated from the earth; and she could not find a place to set her foot.

7. And he waited yet after the end of the eighteenth month; and he opened the ark window again, and he took out a raven. And the raven went forth早晨, and every evening returned to him; for it had nothing to eat.

8. But the waters continued yet upon the earth eighty days.

9. And it came to pass in the six hundred and first year, on the first day of the first month, the waters were abated from the earth.

10. And Noah removed the covering of the ark, and looked; and, behold, the fountains of the earth were opened, and the springs of every flooding river did stream.

11. And all the earth was dry. And Noah removed the covering of the ark, and went out of the ark.

12. And he brought forth out of the ark his wife, and his sons, and his sons' wives with him.

13. And every beast, and every fowl, and every creeping thing that creepeth upon the face of the earth, came forth from the ark.

14. And Noah built an altar unto the Lord, and offered burnt offerings upon it.

15. And the Lord smelled a sweet savour, and said in his heart, I will not again curse the ground any more for man's sake, because that the imagination of man's heart is evil from his youth. Nevertheless, I will not blot out every living creature from the face of the ground.

16. But God remembered Noah, and all the animals, and the fowls, and brought a raven, and a dove forth into the ark; which returned unto him with an olive leaf circled, to certify that the waters were abated from the earth.

Noah.

And God blessed Noah, and his sonnes, and daide unto them, be fruitful and multiply, and replenish the earth.

3 (w) God spake also unto Noah, and to his sonnes with hym, saying:

9 Beholde, I, euery covenant with you, and with euery living creature that is with you, in soule, in catell, and euery beast of the earth.

10 And euery living creature that is with you, in soule, in catell, and euery beast of the earth which is with you, of all that go out of the arke, whatsoever living thing of the earth be.

11 And euery covenant I make with you, that from henceforth euery felle be not rooted out with the waters of a flood, neither shall there be a flood to destroy the earth any more.

12 And God layde: this is the token of the covenant which I make betwene me and you, and euery living creature that is with you, for ever.

13 I do set my bowe in the cloude, and it shall be a token betwene me and the earth.

14 And it shall come to passe, that when I brynge a cloude upon the earth, the bowe als halfe scene in euery cloude.

15 And I will thinke upon euery covenant whiche is betwene me and you, and euery living creature in all felle; and it shall no more come to passe, that waters waters make a flood to destroy all flesh.

16 And the bowe shalbe in the cloude, and I will take it vp, that I may thinke upon the everlasting covenant, betwene God and every living creature in all flesh that is upon the earth.

17 And God spake unto Noah, This is the token of the covenant which I have made betwene me and all flesh that is upon earth.

18 The sons of Noah going south of the arke, were Sem, Ham, & Japheth: and Ham is the father of Canaan.

19 These are the three sons of Noah, of them was the whole earth overspread.

20 Noah also began to be an husbandman, and planted a vineyard.

21 And he dinkynge of the wine, was drunken, and uncovered (a) within his tent.

22 And Ham the father of Canaan, seeing the nakedness of his father, told his two brethren without.

23 And Sem and Japheth (b) taking a garment, layde it upon their shoulders, and cunning backward, covered the nakedness of their father, namely their faces being turned abaye, lest they should see their fathers nakedness.

24 And Noah awoke from his wine, and knewe what his (c) younger sone had done vpnt him.

25 And he sayde: (d) cursed be Canaan, a servant of servaunts shall he be unto his brethren.

26 He sayde moreover: (e) blessed be the Lord God of Sem, and Canaan shall be his servaunt.

27 God shall enlarge Japheth: and he shall dwell in the tentes of Sem, and (f) Canaan shall be his servaunt.

28 Noah lived after (g) the flood three hundred and fifteen years, and dyed.

29 And all the days of Noah were nine hundred and fifteen years, and he dyed.

The x. Chapter.

Here are the generations of the sons of Noah, Sem, Ham, and Japheth: and unto them were sholden home after the flood.

The children of Japheth: (h) Gomer, and Magog, and Madai, and Javan, and Tubal, and Meshech, and Tiras.

3 The children of Gomer: Asher, and Arpad, and Seba.

4 The children of Javan: Elishah, Tarshish, and the Kittim, and Ludim.

5 Of these were the (i) Jites of the gentiles decribed in their tongues, euery one after his tongue, and after his environ, in their nations.

6 The children of Ham, Chus: and Cush, and Peiram, and Phut, and Canaan.

7 And the children of Chus: Seba, and Havilah, and Sabtah, and Raamah, and Sabthera.

8 And the children of Raamah: Seba, and Dedan, Chus also begat Nimrod.

9 The same began (j) to be mightie in the earth, fowre he was a mighty hunter before the Lord: wherefore it is said (k) Even as Nimrod the mighty hunter before the Lord.

10 The beginnyng of his kingdome was Babel, and Erech, and Akkad, and Calneh, in the lande of Shinar.

11 Out of that lande came Assur, and builded Ninive, and the cite Rechobeth, and Calah.

12 Rezen also betweene Ninive & Calah, and it is a great cite.

13 Phraim begat (l) Ludim, and Anam, and Lehabim, and Naphehem, and Pathouim also, and Kalneh, (out of whom came Phutihum) & Capthaim.

15 (m) Canaan begat Sidon his first borne, and (n) Heth.

16 And Jebus, and Gomor, and Srigah.

17 And Gimra, and Arpad, and Semeir, and Hama.

18 And Arvad, and Semir, and Hamath: and afterwarde were the kinredes of the Chanaanites spread adobe.

19 The border of the Chanaanites was, from Sidon as thou commest to Gerar, unto Azjah, and as thou goest unto Sodom,
And all the whole earth was of one language and like speech.

And when they said one to another: Come, let us make brick, and burn them in the fire. And they had brick for stones, and slime had they in abundance.

And they said: Go to, let us build us a city, and a tower, whose top may reach unto heaven; and let us make us a name, lest we be scattered abroad upon the face of the whole earth.

But the Lord said: Behold, the people is one, and they have all one language; and this they begin to do: nothing is yet to be done.

Come, let us go down, and there confound their language, that they may be scattered abroad upon the face of all the earth.

One language in the world; the tower Babel is built. 7 The miseric of the trinitie. 8 The cunton of tongues. 9 Babel. 10 The age of Sem, Arpharad.

Arpharad begat Selah, and Selah begat Heber.

Unto Heber also were born two sons: the name of the one was Peleg; for in his days was the earth divided, and his brothers name was Jachin.

Jachin begat Amodad, and Salih, Hazarmaveth, and Jerah.

And Japheth, and Uzal, and Dila.

Obal also, and Abunael, and Seba.

And Phir, and Hamlah, and Jobab, all these were the children of Japheth.

And their dwelling was from Babel, as thou goest unto Sapher, a mount of the east.

There are the children of Sem after their hircleds and tongues, in their landes and nations.

And so these are the hircleds of the children of Noah after their generations in their peoples; and of these were the nations deended in the earth after the flood.
And the Lord had hayde upob Abam: y get thee out of the countrey, and out of thy nation, and from thy fathers house, into a lande that I wyll helpe thee:
And I will make of thee a great people, and wyll bleste thee, and make thy name great, that thou shalt be [even] a blessing.
I wyll also bleste them that bleste thee, and curse the cursed them: and in thee shall all kinredes of the earth be blest.
And so Abam departed, even as the Lord had spoken binto hym, and Lot went with hym: and Abam was feuentie and fuy peres old when he departed out of Haran.
And Abam toke Sarai his wyfe, and Lot his brothres somme, all their substamne that they had in possession, and the soules that they had begotten in Haran, and they departed, that they mought come into the lande of Chanaan: and into the lande of Chanaan they came.
Abam passed through the lande, binto the place of Schiem, binto the plaunte of Dosch. And the Chanaunic [was] then in the lande.
And the Lord appeareth upob Abam, and to the seide wyll I gyve this lande: And there [buideth he an aultere] into the Lorde whiche appeared binto hym.
And renooing thereunto into a mountayne that was eastward from Bethel, he pitched his tent, beinge [bop] by the east, and there he buideth an aultere into the Lord, dyde [call] upon the name of the Lord.
And Abam toke his journey, going and journeying towards the southe.
Genesis.

10 And there was (a) a famine in that lande, and therefore went Abram doone into Egypt, that he might sojourn there, for there was a greevous famine in the lande.

11 And when he was come near to enter into Egypt, he syped unto Sarai his wife: behold, I knowe that thou art a (b) faire woman to take upon you:

12 Therefore shall it come to passe, that when the Egyptians see thee, they shall say, this is his wyfe, and they will kill me, but they will save thee alive:

13 (c) Say I pray thee, that thou art my sister, that I may fare well for thy sake, and that my soule may live through this occasion.

14 And so when Abram was come into Egypt, the Egyptians beholde the woman; for she was very faire.

15 The princes also of Pharaoh saue her, and contended her before Pharaoh, and the woman was taken into Pharaohs house.

16 And (d) he entreated Abram well for her sake: and he had sheere and oxe, and he akes, menummautes, and maydeummautes, she akes and cannies.

17 But the (e) Lord plagued Pharaoh and his house with great plagues, because of Sarai Abrams wyfe.

18 And Pharaoh calleth Abram, and sayde: why hast thou done this unto me? why diddest thou not tell me, that she was thy wyfe? why saydest thou, she is my sister, and so I might have taken her to be my wyfe? Lord therefore behold, there is thy wyfe, take her, and go thy way.

19 And Pharaoh gave his men commandemente concerning him: and they remayed him forth, and his wyfe, and all that he had.

Lot also Wyshe went with Abram, had sheere, cattell, and teuces.

And (d) the lande was not able to bear them, that they might dwell together: for their substance was great, so that they could not (e) dwell together.

And there fell a stryke betwene (f) the headmen of Abrahams cattell, and the headmen of Lotes cattell: Boccus, the Chanaanites, and Pherecutes wibled at that tyne in the lande.

3 Then sayde (g) Abram unto Lot: let there be no stryke I pray thee betwene thee and me, and betwene my headmen and thyne, for we (h) be brethren.

9 Is not the whole lande before thee? Separate thyself I pray thee from me: Phó thou wilt take the left hande, (i) I wyll go to the righte: or Phó thou depart to the right hande, I wyll go to the left.

10 And to Lott sayyng by his eyes, behold all the country of Jodane, which was well waret in every where before the Lord destroyed Sodome and Gonorr, even as the garden of the Lord, lyke the lande of Egypt as thou commytted into Sare.

11 Then Lot (i) chose all the playne of Jodane, and took his journey from the east, and so departed the one brother from the other.

12 Abram dwelmed in the lande of Chanaan, and Lot abode in the cities of the playne, and putthey his tent untill Sodome.

And the bale of Sodoun was full of hymn pyttes: and (the) kings of Sodome and Gomorpha fledde, and fell there, and they that remained, fledde to the mountayne.

And they takyn all the goddes of Sodome and Gomorpha, and all their bittables, went there day.

And they tarried alway (Lot) and Abham (brothers some) of his goddes, (for he dwelled in Sodome) and departed.

And there came one that had escaped and tolde Abham the begleve, which dwelled in the playne of Manne the Amorite, brother of Elclol, and brother of Aner, which were (confedrate) with Abham.

When Abham hearde that his brother was taken, he armed his exercised (seruantes) which were borne in his owne house, three hundred seyghteen, and followed them in their dialy.

And he and his seruantes were parted (in companies) against the by night, and smote them, and purfued them unto lybra, which lyth on the left hand of Damasus.
And recovered all the goods, and also brought again his brother Lot; and his goods, the women also, and the people.

After that he returned againe from the slaughter of Chedorlaomer, and of the kings that were with him, came the king of Sodome unto me in the vale of Simeon, which is the valley of Sodom.

And the king of Sodome said unto him, Bring out thy poor, thy naked, thy beft clenched hand, and thy poor beft ablam.

And he sayde: Lo, I the Lord what will I shew thee in a vision, Slaying: Fear not Amn thy thy sfielde (and the thy exceeding great) reiwlde.

And beholde, the vision of the Lord came unto Amn, saying, he shall not be thine here: but set thee out of this town bowels, and thine here.

And he brought him out, and sayde: Loke vnto heauen, and tell the smite, if thou be able to number them, and layde vnto hym: even so shall thy seede be.

And (Amn) beteem the Lord, a that counted he to hym for: righteounfeulle.

6 And the angel of the Lord found she beside a fountain in ? Wilbernens, [even] by the well that is in the way to Sur, and the "Gauthies.

8 And he said: hagar (c) Sarai mayde, whence camest thou and whither wilt thou go? She sayde: I sée for the face of my mistresse Sarai.
9 And the angell of the Lodge layde unto her: (b) Returne to thy mistresse a daugay, and submite thy selfe under her handes.
10 And a daugay (a) the angell of the Lord sayde unto her: If wilt multiple thy selfe in such sort, that it shall not be number for multitude.
11 And the Lodges angell said unto her: See, thou art with child, and shalt beare a forme, and shalt name his name Ismael; because the Lodge hath heard thy tribulation.
12 He also will be a wytche man, and his hande shall be agaynstr every man, and every mans hande against hym: and he shall dwell in the presence of all his brethren.

13 And she calleth the name of the Lodge that shaketh her, Thou God lykes not on me: for the layde, I am not also looked after hym that feeleth me.
14 Wherefore ? well was calleth the well of hym that lyketh and feeleth me: and it is (d) between Cades and Bared, And Hagar bare Abrahame a forme, and Abrahame called his formes name which Hagar bare unto hym, Ismael. And Abrahame was fourc yere and she yeres olde, when (e) Hagar bare Ismael to hym.
And the Lord appeared unto him in the plains of Mamre, and he sat in the tent doore in the heat of the day.

And he lift vp his eyes and looked, and loe, (8) three men stode by hym: And when he saw them, he came to meete them from the tent doore, and (9) bowed hym selfe towards the ground.

And layde: LORD, IF I have not founde favour in thy sight, (8) passe not

And Abraham bowed himselfe towards them: And the men rose from off the place: but Abraham layde him selfe againe.

And he said, I know not why I have founde favour in thy sight, (8) seeing I am a stranger: and why hast thou shewed me kindness?

And Abraham said, I am a stranger and a sojourner: (20) Give me some victual, I pray thee, that I may feed mine eyes with some morsel of bread.

And the men said, How is it this day that we have founde favour in thy sight? (20) For thy name is great: we have seen it.

And Abraham made it before his face: and the men stande vp to depart: and Abraham said, Stay ye now, for I pray you, that I may make hostes for you.

And they said, Draw water, and give us meat, that we may eat, and we will tell thee all that thou enquiredst of us.

And Abraham hasted, and ran to the herd, and fetched a bullock young, (22) and gave it regardlesse, and made it ready, and put pates before them: and they did eat: and he himselfe sat downe before them.

And they said, Where is thy wife Sarah? (23) And he said, Behold, she standeth behinde thee.

And he said, I will surely returne to thee according to the time of life: and Sarai shall have a sonne.

And Sarah heard it at her lords doore in the tent.

And Abraham said unto Sarah, Behold, I will now returne unto thee according to the time of life, and Sarah shall have a sonne.

And the man took bread, and wass둔: and after that he took wine, and gave unto Abraham, and unto Sarai his wife.

And they rose vp early in the morrowe, and gave unto Abraham bread and wine, and sent him on his way: and he returned unto his place.

And the Lord said, Wherefore did Sarah laugh, (29) saying, Shall I of a surety bring forth an child, seeing I am old?

And Sarah heard it at the doore of her lords house.

And Eliezer said unto Abraham, (31) What hast thou done unto me, that I should do so for thee? And Abraham said unto him, I have bought thee a bondmaid for Sarah, and she is eight years old: but she is not yet able to make me children: and Eliezer bowed himselfe towards the ground.

And Abraham said unto Eliezer, I take thee to be a witness unto me, (32) saying, If my sonne are not left unto thee, take thou my sonne for an heire.

And he bowed himselfe towards the ground, and said, Blessed be the Lord God of Abraham: and many generations shall thy race be blessed.

And Eliezer prayed to the Lord God of his master Abraham, (33) saying, O Lord God of Abraham thy servant, give me Children, that I may carry on the name of my master.

And God said, Sarah shall be of age to conceive, (34) and shalt bring forth a sonne: and Eliezer shall see it, and he shall give the blessing of the Lord God of Abraham unto his sonne.
not away I pray thee from thy servant.

4. Let a little water, I pray you, be set, and wash your feet, and refresh your faces under the tree.

5. And I will set a morsel of bread to comfort your hearts, and then shall you go over the ways: (c) for even therefore are ye come to your father's house.

And they said: do even so as thou hast said.

6. And (a) Abraham ranned up to the beast, let (c) calves tender and good, and gave it unto a young man, and he hasted to make it ready at once.

7. And he took butter and milk, and the calf which he had prepared, and set it before them, and bound hymself by them under the tree: (b) they dyed cear.

And they said unto him: Where is Sara thy wife? he answered, behold, in the tent.

8. And be said: *I will certainly return unto thee (d) according to the time of life: (c) and, lo, Sara thy wife shall have a son. That heard Sara in the tent, which was beside hym.

9. Abraham and Sara were both old, and well stricken in age: and it ceased to be with Sara after the manner as it is with women.

10. Therefore Sara (e) laughed within her self, saying: No, I am dried old that I have my face to lift, and my Lord beye also.

And God said unto Abraham: Wherefore dyd Sara laugh, saying, shall I of a fruitie bear a childe, which is oldie?

14. Is a any thing impossible to God: According to the time appointed with hym I will return unto the even according to the time of life: (a) Sara shall have a son.

15. The Sara denied it, saying: I laughed not: (c) for she was afraid. And he said: it is not so, but thou hast laughed.

16. And the men rising up from thence, looked toward Sodome: and Abraham went with them to praying them on the way.

17. And the Lord said: Shall I (c) hide from Abraham that thing which I do,

18. Seeing that Abraham shall live by a great and my righteous nation, and all the nations of the earth shall be blessed in him;

19. I know this also, that he will con

20. And the Lord said: (c) because the eye of Sodome and Gomorhe is great, and because their sin is exceeding grievous:

21. I will go down now, and see whether they have done altogether according to the cry which is come unto me; and if not, I will know.

22. And the men departed from thence, to go to Sodom: but Abraham stood yet before the Lord.

23. And Abraham bowed downwards, and said: Whyl thou also dispatch the righteous with the wicked?

24. "If there be (e) fiftie righteous within in the city, whyl thou dispatch and not spare the city for the sake of fiftie righteous that are therein;

25. That be farre from thee that thou shouldst do after this manner, and slaye the righteous with the wicked, (c) that the righteous should be as the wicked, that be farre from thee: Shall not the judge of all the world do according to right?

26. And the Lord said: If I fynde in Sodome fiftie righteous within in the city, whyl I (b) spare all the place for their sakes.

27. And Abraham answered, and said: (b) behold, I have taken upon me to speake unto the Lord, which am but dust and ashes.

28. If there shall lacke fite of fiftie righteous, whyl thou destroy all the city for fite of fure: And he said: If I fynde there fiftie and fure I whyl not destroy them.

29. And he proceeded to speake unto hym againe, and said: What ye fher shall be fource founde there: he amswered: I whyl not do it for fecretes fake.

30. He layde unto hym againe: Or let not my lord be angry that I speake: what ye fher shall be fource founde there: he amswered: I whyl not do nothing of I whyl not do nothing.

31. He layde againe: Or see I have taken upon me to speake nothe also unto Bis my my Lord: what if there shall be ten found there? he answered, I will not destroy (them) for tenes sake.

32 And he said: O let not my Lord be angry, and I will speak yet but this once: What if (ten) halfe found there?

33 And the Lord went his way astone as he had left commyning with Abraham, and Abraham [also] turned unto his place.

q The xix. Chapter.

1 And there came two angels to Sodom at even, and (Lot) late at the gate of Sodom; and Lot being (them) rose up to meete them, and he bowed himself with his face toward the ground.

2 And he said: O Lord, turn in, I pray you, into your seruauntes house, and tarry all night, and I will wash your feet, and ye shall rise by early to go in your wayes. Wash the ladie, nay: but the wyll byde in the streates all night.

3 And he pressed upon them exceeding harte: and they returnung to 2nto hym, entered into his house, he made them a feast, and did bake unleauened bread, and they did eate.

4 And before they went to rest, the men of the citie [even] the men of Sodome compassed the house round about, both olde and young, all people two [all quarters.

5 And they rallying into Lot, sayde unto hym: (2) Where are the men which came in to thee this nighte? byng them out unto us, that we may know them.

6 And Lot went out at the doore unto them, and shut the doores after hym.

7 And sayde: Nay, for Gods sake he them, do not (3) wickedly.

8 Behold, I have two daughters which have known no man, then will I bring out nodre unto you, and (3) do with them as it seemeth good in pone eyes: only unto these men do nothing, for therefore cause they under the hou- dowe of my roofe.

9 (4) And they sayde, stande backe: And they fled again, he came in as one to Sarcoune, and y'will be noble a nothe: y'will surely deale wise with thee then with them. And they pressed him upon the man; even Lot, and came to break by the door.

10 But the men put forth their hand, and pulled Lot into the house to them, and shut to the door.

11 And the men that were at the door of the house (a) they smote with blindnessnece both small and great, so that they were weeped in lying the door.

12 And the men said unto Lot: hast thou here any besides? (b) some in lathe, and the somes, and thy daughters, and whatsoever thou hast in this city, bring them out of this place:

13 For we will destroy this place, because the eyes of them is great before the face of God: for the Lord hath sent (c) to destroy it.

14 And Lot went out, and spake unto his (b) somes in lathe which marked his daughters, saying: Stand up, get ye out of this place, for the Lord will overthrow this city. But he seemed as though he had motioned unto his somes in lathe.

15 And when the morning arose, the angels called Lot to (d) speede him, saying: Stand up, take thy wife, and thy two somes which be at hand, lest thou perish in the same of the city.

16 And as he prolonged the time, *the men caught both him, his wife, and his two somes by the handes, (e) the Lord being mercyfull unto hym: and they brought him forth, and set hym without the city.

17 And when he had brought them out, he (f) said: (g) Save thy selues, and take not beholden thee, neither tarry thou in all this playne [country] *Save thy selues in the mountaine, lest thou perish.

18 And Lot sayde unto them: O do not to my Lordes.

19 Behold, thy servaunt hath found grace in the sight, and thou hast magnified thy mercy which thou hast shewed unto me in sparing my life: (g) Behold I can not be saved in the mountayne, lest some harne fall upon me, and I dye.

20 Behold here is a citie by to see duto, even ponder tite one: Observe me escape thyself: Is it not a little one, and my 21 And he sayde to hym: See, I have receaved thy request as concerning this thing, that I will not overthrow this citie for the which thou hast spoken.

22 Prasse thee, and be *sauid there: for (g) I can do nothing trypt thou become thyself, and therefore the name of the citie is Sow.

23 And the somes was not sown upon the earth, and Lot was entred into the other.

24 Then the Lord *tayed vpon Sodome and Gomorrah (b) hymstone and fire, from the Lord out of heaven:

25 And overthrowe those citie, and all that plaine region, and all that dwelld in the cities, and that greve upon the earth.

26 But Lots lyfse folowing hym, loked belythe her, (f) (h) was turned into a pillar of fal.

27 Abraham ryshng by early, gote hym to the place where he sowed before the presence of God, and looked towarde Sodome and Gomorrah, and towarde all the lande of that playne country.

28 And beholde, and to the smoke of the country arrose, as the smoke of a furnace.

29 And it came to passe, that when God destroyd the citiess of that region, (h) he thought upon Abraham, and lent Lot out from the middest of the overthrow, when he overthrowe the citiess in one of the which Lord dwelled.

30 And Lot departed out of Sow, and dwelled in the mountayne with his two somes: (g) for he feared to tarry in Sow, but dwelled in a tace, he and his two somes.

31 And the eider fad unto the younger: (g) our father is old, and there is not a man in the earth to come in unto us after the manner of all the world.

32 Come, let vs gese our father wone to drinke, and lyfse with hym, that we may "sace seede of our father.

33 And so they gane their father wone to drinke that night: and the eider daugh- ter went and lay with her father, and (g) he perceaved it not neither when the laye downe, nepher when the rofe up.

34 And on the mornowe the elder sayde unto the younger: behold, yesterneight, 25 till lap.
Thus were both the daughters of Lot with child by their father.

And the elder bare a son, and called his name Moab: the same is the father of the Moabites unto this day.

And the younger bare a son also, and called his name Benammi: the same is the father of the children of Ammon unto this day.

Abraham is a sojourner in Gerar, where his wife is taken by force. 9 Abimelech is a prudent, 4 his paper. 7 God saith Abimelech from being amiss. Abraham a prophet. 9 Abimelech exceedeth Abraham himself. 1 Sara the niece of Thare by his sonne, the niece of Abraham by his brother. 14 Abimelech renderrceth the wife with gifts.

Abraham departed thence forward to the south country, and dwelled between Eades and Sur, and sojourned in Gerar.

And Abraham sayde of Sara his wife, (b) she is my sister. And Abimelech lieing of Gerar sent, and set Sara away. 1

But God came to Abimelech by night in a dreame, and saide to hym: See (c) thou art but a dead man for the woman's sake which thou hast taken at a way, for the is a mans wife. 2

But Abimelech had not yet touched her: and he sayde, Lorde wyte thou mayeguilty people: 3

Sade not he bnte me, she is my sister; ye and the her serf sayde, he is my brother: with (d) a single heart, and innocent hands have I done this: 4

And God sayde unto him in a dreame: I wote well that thou dydest it in the singleness of thy heart. I kept thee also that thou shouldest not saine (e) against me, and therefore suffered I thee not to touch her. 5

Now therefore deluer the man his wife agayne, for he is a prophet, and he shall pray for thee, that thou mayest lyue: (f) But and if thou deluer her not agayne, be sure that thou shalt by the death, [both them] and all that thou hast. 6

Therefore, Abimelech rypping by betimes in the morning, calleth all his servants, and tode all these saynges in their ears: and (g) the men were sore afraid. 7

Then Abimelech called Abraham, & sayde unto hym: what haue I offended thee, that thou haft brought on me & on my kingdom? 8 [g] great a sinne thou haft done desto me that ought not to be done. 9

And Abimelech saide unto Abraham: what failest thou that thou haft done this thing? 10

Abahah amused: For I thought [thus] surely (h) the fear of God is not in this place, and they shall slaye me for my wyves sake. 11

Yet in very deede she is my sister, for she is my daughter of my father, though she be not the daughter of my mother, and the beame my wyfe. 12

And after God cauled me to wande out of my fathers house, I sayde unto her: this bynde beed I thought shee wende unto me, in all places where we come, that thou say me, he is my brother. 13

Then (i) take Abimelech shepe and oren, men seruantes and women seruantes, & gane (them) unto Abraham, and deluyerd hym Sara his wyfe agayne. 14

And Abimelech sayde: beholde my lande lyeth before thee, dwell where it pleaseth thee best. 15

But unto Sara he saide: See I haue given thy brother a thousand pieces of siluer: beholde, (k) it is as a concering of thynge eyes into all that are with thee, and to all (other) and thus the was reproved. 16

And to Abraham sayde unto God, (l) God (m) heales Abimelech, and his wife, and his maidens, & they bare chyldren. 17

For the Lord had closed by all the womenes of the house of Abimelech, because of Abrahames wyfe. 18

Abraham.
1 Then the Lord visited Sarra as he had promised, and did unto her according as he had spoken. For Sarra conceived, and bare Abraham a son in his old age, even the same season which the Lord had appointed.

2 And Abraham (b) called his son's name that was born unto him, Whiche Sarra bare him, "Isaac." And Abraham uncircumcised his son Isaac, when he was eight days old, as God commanded him.

3 And Abraham was an hundred years old and seven, when his son Isaac was born unto him.

4 But (c) Sara said: God hath made me to be as one that hath a husband. Therefore this day shall I laugh, and I shall sing, for I have gotten my mother a son at an age of old age.

5 And the Lord was good unto Sara, and she bare Abraham a son in his old age, at the set time of which God had spoken.

6 And Abraham called the name of his son that was born unto him, Whiche Sara bare unto him, "Isaac." (c)

7 And he was a child, and he went out into the field with his father's bow.

8 And Sara said, "Who would have thought that I should have seen such a day as this? God hath made me to laugh so that I am become young again." (c)

9 And Sarah said: God hath made me to laugh. And she said: At an age of old age, will I have a child? (d)

10 For wherefore should God do such a thing unto me? (e)

11 And the thing was very grievous in Abraham's sight, because of his wife. Also Sarah said unto Abraham: Be not angry, because of the maid.

12 And Abraham said: (f) I will not be held guilty, if thou make the maid to live of the house of my lord.

13 Moreover, Sarah, (g) the maid, heard when Abraham spake unto his servant, and heard even to the words which Abraham had spoken unto the maid.

14 And the maid said to Abraham: Behold, I will do as thou saidst: nevertheless the boy shall not be thy servant, because I will not consent to give him up to thy servant.

15 And also, (h) the boy rose early in the morning, and took bread, and gave it unto his mother, and she gave it unto her son.

27 And Abraham took the wood and eke, and gave them unto Abimelech: and they made both of them a league together.
28 And Abraham set seven eke lambes by them withes.
29 And Abimelech said unto Abraham: What means these seven eke lambes which thou hast set by them withes?
30 He answered: For these seven eke lambes that thou takest of my hand, that they may be a witness unto me, that I have digged this well.

31 Wherefore the place is called Beer-seba, because that there they sware both of them.
32 Thus made they a league together at Beer-seba; and Abimelech and Phichol his chief eaptayne rose up, and turned againe into the lande of the Philistines.
33 And Abraham planted a wood in Beer-seba, and called there on the name of the Lord the everlasting God.
34 And Abraham sojourned in the Philistines lande a long season.

After these sayings, God doth tempt Abraham, and abide unto him Abraham, which answered, here I am. And he said: Take thy sonne, thine only sonne Isaac whom thou loueest, get thee into the lande of the Philistines, and offer him there for a burnt offering upon one of the mountains which I will shewe thee.

Then Abraham rose up early in the morning, and saddled his ass, and took two of his young men with him, and Isaac his sonne, and cloude wood for the burnt offering, and rode by, and got hym to the place where God had appointed hym.

14 And Abraham stood by the light of his cocke, and talked with the sones of hebreps saying:

9 And Abraham bowed himself before the people of the land.

10 And spake unto Ephron in the audience of the people of the country, saying: If thou wilt give the field, I will give the price thereof.

11 And Ephron answered Abraham, saying, unto thee be the field, and I will give it thee, and in the presence of the children of my people I will give it thee. 12 And Abraham bowed himself before the people of the land.

13 And spake unto Ephron in the audience of the people of the country, saying: If thou wilt give the field, I will give the price thereof.

14 And Ephron answered Abraham, saying, unto thee be the field, and I will give it thee.

15 And by the land is worth four hundred shekels of silver.

16 And Abraham hearkened unto Ephron, and became his servant, and took his land, and his field, and his serventes, and his servants, and his cattle, and his asses, and his camels, and his goods.

17 And the field of Ephron in Machpelah, which was before Mamre, cen the field and the cave that was therein, and all the trees that were in the field, and that were in all the borders round about, was made sure.

19 After this dyd Abraham bury Sarah his wife in the double cave of the field which he bought of Mamre the king of Mamre, in the land of Canaan.

20 And so both the field and the cave that is therein, was made unto Abraham a sure possession to bury in, by the sons of Israel.

And the servant set out with these words in his heart: and the Lord blessed him on his journey.

And the servant took ten camels of his master's property, and departed; and he took with him all the choice articles of the household of his master.

And he made the camels drink at a brook of water in the wilderness; and he sat down to rest opposite the city.

And the Lord, the God of Abraham, his master, had appeared to the servant of his master, Isaac, while he was sitting in a medow by Bethel, opposite the city of Salem.

some amongst the daughters of the Chanaanites, in whose lande I dwell.

38 But thou shalt go into my father's house, and to my kindred, and take a wife unto my sonne.

39 And I sayde unto my maister: peradventure the woman will not folowe me.

40 And he answered me: the Lord before whom I walke, will send his angel with thee, and prosper thy journey, and thou shalt take a wife for my sonne of my kindred, and of my fathers house.

41 Then shalt thou be free from this oath [made] to me, when thou comnest to my kindred: and if they gene not thee [one] that shall be free from this oath [made] to me.

42 And so I came this day unto the wel, and sayde: O Lord be the God of my maister Abrahame, if it be to notice that thou makest my journey where I go prosperous.

43 Beholde, I stande by the well of water: and when a beginneth compasseth to drawe water, and I lay to her, Giv me [I pray thee] a little water of thy pitcher to drinke:

44 And she sayde to me, Drinke thou, and I will also drawe thy Camelles: let the same be the woman whom the Lorde hath prepared for my masters sonne.

45 And before I had made an end of speaking in myne heart, behold, Rebecca came forth, and her pitcher on her shoulder, and the went downe to the well, and drewe water, and I sayde unto her, Giv me drinke I pray thee.

46 And the made haste, and take doune her pitcher from her [shouder] and saide: Drinke, and I will geue thy Camelles drinke also. So I dranke, and she gave the Camelles drinke also.

47 And I asked her, saying: Whose daughter art thou? She answered: the doughter of Bethuel Nahor's sonne, whom Milchah bare unto hym: and I putte the earing upon her face, and the bracelett upon her handes.

48 And I bowed my selfe, and worshipped the Lorde, and blessed the Lorde, God of my maister Abraham, which had brought me the right way, to take my masters brothers daughter unto his sonne.

49 And I sayde also, if the Lorde will cordeously and truly with my mater, tell me. And if not, tell me also, that I may turne me to the right hande, or

50 Then answere Laban and Re-cchel, saying: This saying is proced even [of] the Lorde, we can not therefore lay unto thee esther good or bad.

51 Beholde, Rebecca [is] before thee, [1] take her, and go, that she may be thy masters sones wife, even as god hath sayde.

52 And when Abrahame's surname heard they voxdes, he worshipped the Lorde, bowing hym selfe toward the earth.

53 And the surname took stooth [all] ettles of silver, and etiellers of golde, and rayment, and gave them to Rebecae: and to her brother, and to her mo-ter he gave [costly gysters]

54 And they did eate and drinke, both he and the men that were with hym, and taried all night: and when they rose up in the morning, he said: let me depart unto my maister.

55 Her brother and her mother answereet: let the damself abyde with us, and it be but even ten dayes, and then shall the go.

56 He sayde unto them: hynder me not, behold, the Lorde hath prospered my journey, sende me away therefore, that I may go to my maister.

57 And they sayde: [2] We will call the damself, and enquire [at] her mouth.

58 And they called forth Rebecca, and sayde unto her: Whist thou go with this man? And the answere, I will go.

59 So they let Rebecca theys sister go, and her nurse, & Abrahame's surname, and his men.

60 And they blessed Rebecca, and sayde unto her: thou art our sister, growe in to thousande thousandes, and thy seede pustesst the gate of his enemies.

61 And Rebecca arose, and her daughtelles, and got them up on the Cam-ellles, and folowed the man: and the surname take toke, and went his waye.

62 And the Lorde was comuning from the waye of the well of the hypping and seeing me: for he dwelt in the South country.
63 And Issaac (2) was gone out to pray in the field at the even tide, and he lift up his eyes, and saw the Camelles com-ming.
64 And Rebecca lift up her eyes, and saw saide, it is my master: therefore the toke

66 And the servaunt tolde Issaac all things that he had done.
67 And Issaac brought her into his mo-ter Sarais tent, and toile Rebecca, and the became his wife, and he loved her: and so Issaac receaved comfort after his mother.

8 And after he had been there a long time, Abimelech king of the Philistines looked out at a window, 10 and said: Behold, the is of a fruitful wife, and why hast thou said, she is my sister, for whom 6 dwelt in Gerar, because I thought that I might peradventure have died for her sake.

And the Lord appeared unto him the same night, and said: "I am the God of Abraham thy father, fear not, for I am with thee, and will bless thee and multiply thy seed for my servant Abraham's sake."

And he built an altar there, and called upon the name of the Lord, and pitched his tent: and there Japheth and his mother Camla dwelt in tents.

Then came Japheth to him from Gerar, and Abimelech his friend, and Phichol the captain of his army. And Japheth laid beth into Japheth: wherefore came ye to me, saying ye hate me, and have put me away from you: which he answered: "We have not certainly that the Lord was with thee, and we beth: lest there be noth other bethwee, even bethwee us and thee, and let us make a league bethwee:" Thence he shouldest do us no hurt, as we have not touched thee, and as we have done unto thee nothing but good, and sent thee away in peace: for thou art noth the blessed of the Lord. And he answered, "Here I am, father." 31 And he said, "Bring me some of the wild game, and make me eat, that I may bless you before I die." 32 And Esau went to the field and gathered game, and brought it and set it before his father. 33 And Isaac said to Esau, "My son." The xxvii. Chapter.

1 Isaac gave his blessing to Jacob, and (c) blessed him, and charged him, and laid him on his bosom: See thou take not a wife of the daughters of Chanaan, whereinto Jacob obeyeth. 2 Esau against his father's will taketh a wife of the daughters of Canaan, whereinto Jacob goeth into Haran, seeks a ladder in a dream, 3 Chanaan is promised to Jacob, 4 God comforteth Jacob. 5 The house of God. 6 Bethel, Lura. 7 The bowe of Jacob. 8 He aketh food and clothing.
And God Almighty blessed Jacob, and made him increase, and made him multiply, so that he became the head of a multitude of people.

And he made the blessing of Abraham be upon him, and made him to be the head of the seed with the seed, that he should become the head of the seed of Abraham, and the seed of Isaac, and the seed of Jacob.

And thus Jacob went forth, and he went toward Mesopotamia, into Laban, son of Bethuel the Syrian, and brother to Rebecca, the mother of Jacob and Esau.

And when Elaibah that Ishah had blessed Jacob, and sent him to Mesopotamia to see him a wife from thence, and as he blessed him, he gave him a charge, saying, thou shalt not take a wife of the daughters of Canaan: and that Jacob had obeyed his father and mother, and was gone to Mesopotamia.

And Elaibah longed that the daughters of Canaan pleased not Ishah his father:

Then went Elaibah unto Ismael, and took unto him the wives which he had, Halelah the daughter of Ismael, Abraham's son, the sister of Nebaioth, to be his wife.

And Jacob departed from Beer-leba, and went toward Haran.

And he came into a certain place, and tarried there all night, because the sunne was downe: and took of the stones of the place, and put under his head, and layde hym downe in the same place to sleepe.

And he dreamed, and beholde there stood one, and the toppe of it reached up to heaven, and he perceived the angels of God went by and downe upon it.

And we, and God from above leaned upon it, and sayde: I am the Lord God of Abraham thy father, and the God of Ishah, the land which thou sleepest upon, wyll I give thee and thy seed.

And thy seed shalbe as the dust of the earth, and thou shalt spreade abroad to the west, to the east, to the north, and to the south; and in thee, and in thy seed, shall all the kyndredes of the earth be blessed.

And see, I am with thee, and wyll be thy kepper in all places: whyther thou goest, and wyll byng thee agayne into this lande: For I wyll not, (b) leave thee, wyll I haue made good that I have promised.

When Jacob was awaked out of his sleepe, he layde: Surely the Lord is in this place, and I knew it not.

And he was a sleepe, and faide: howe dreadful is this place? it is none other but even the (c) house of God, (d) it is the gate of heaven.

And Jacob rose up early in the mornynge, and took the stone that he had layed layed under his head, and (b) pitched it upon an rude, and polished up in the top of it.

19 And he called the name of the place Bethel: but the name of the(1) was called Luz, before time.

20 And Jacob vowed a vowe, saying: (m) of God will be with me, and will keep me in this journey in which I go, and will give me bread to eate, and clothes to put on:

21 So that I come againe into my fathers house in peace: then that the Lord be my God.

22 And this stone where I have set up an ende, shall be Gods house: and of all that thou shalt gene me, I will surely gene the tenth unto thee.

6 And he saide unto them: Is "he in good health? And they saide: he is in good health, and behold his daughter Rachel committeth with the shep.

7 And he saide: loe [it is] yet a great while to night, neither is it tyne that the carrell shoulde be gathered together: water ye the sheppee, (c) and goe and feede them.

11 And Jacob kyseth Rachel, and lift up his boype and wept.

12 And Jacob tolde Rachel that he was her fathers (c) brother, and that he was Rebeccaes sonne: Therefore ranne she and tolde her father.

And when Laban hearde certaney tell of Jacon his sisters sonne, he came to mete hym, and unbraed hym, and kyseth hym, and bought hym to his house: And he tolde Laban (d) all these thyngeges.

15 And Laban said unto Jacob: Though thou be my brother, shouldest thou therefore (c) serue me for naught? Tell me what shalt thy wages be?

16 Laban had two daughters, the elder called Lea, and the younger Rachel.

17 Lea was tender eyed: but Rachel was beautifull and well favoured.

18 And Jacob loved Rachel, and saide: I wyll serue thee seven yere for Rachel thy younger daughter.

19 Laban amnysbered: (f) It is better that I gue her into thee, then that I shoule gue her to another man: abide with me.

20 And Jacob serued seven yere for Rachel: and they seemed unto hym but a feide yapes, for the love he hadde to her.
3 And God Almighty blessed him, and made him fruitful and multiplied him, that he should become a multitude of people.

4 And he gave him the blessing of Abraham, the father of nations, and sent him away from his father's house.

5 Thus Ishmael went to his father Abraham, and to his mother Sarah, and to his brother Isaac, and to his mother Rebekah, and to his brother Esau, and to his father's house.

6 (a) When Isaac was ninety years old, he went to Shechem, and hears that he is in the land of Canaan.

12 And he dreamed, and beheld there a vision of God, and the angel of God went by him, and said, I am the angel of God, who is to go with thee, and thou shalt not take a wife of the daughters of Canaan.

13 And he went to Haran, and he built a house and a chapel, and he heard that he was in the land of Haran.

14 And he went to Bethel, and he built a house and a chapel, and he heard that he was in the land of Bethel.

15 And he went to Shechem, and he built a house and a chapel, and he heard that he was in the land of Shechem.

16 When Jacob was awake, he said, Surely the Lord is in this place, and I knew it not.

17 And he said, Surely the Lord is in this place, and I knew it not.

18 And Jacob rose up early in the morning, and took the stone that he had laid Jacob layed under his head, and (b) pitched it upon an end, and put the oile in the toppe of it.
19 And he called the name of the place Bethel: but the name of the (a) citty was called Luz, before time.
20 And Jacob vowed a vowe, saying:
(a) If God will be with me, and will keep me in this journey in which I go, and will give me bread to eat, and clothes to put on:
21 So that I come againe into my fathers house in faicture: then will the Lord be my God.
22 And this stone whiche I have set up on an end, shall be Gods house: and of all that thou shalt give me, I will surely people of the east.

And (a) he looked a-

was a well in the field, and loe, three flockes of sheepe lay there the well mouth.

3 And thither were all the flockes brought, and they rouled the stone fro the welles mouth, & watered the sheepe, & put the stone agayene upon the welles mouth into his place.
4 And Jacob faide unto them: My brethren, whence be ye: And they syde: of Parran are we.
5 And he syde unto them: Knowe ye Laban the (a) name of Rachoz: They syde: we knowe hym.
6 And he syde unto them: Is it (a) he in good health: And they syde: he is in good health, and behold his daughter Rachel commeth with the sheepe.
7 And he syde: loe (a) yet a great the cattell should be gathered together:

water ye the sheepe, (a) and go and seeke

8 And they syde: we may not oupen all the flockes be brought together, and by they roule the stone from the welles mouth, and so we water our sheepe.
9 Whyle he yet talke with them, (a) Rachel came with her fathers sheepe: fo she kept them.
10 Andone as Jacob sawe Rachel the daughter of Laban his mothers brother, the sheepe of Laban his mothers brother, Jacob went & rouled the stone from the welles mouth, watered the sheepe of Laban his mothers brother.
11 And Jacob byseth Rachel, and l rdf by his booke and lpt.
12 And Jacob tolde Rachel that he was her fathers (a) brother, and that he was Rebecesta sonne: Therefore rame the and tolde her father.
13 And when Laban hearde certaynely tell of Jacob his sisters sonne, he came to meete hym, and imbrace hym, and kysed hym, and brought hym to his house: And he tolde Laban (a) all these thinges.
14 To whom Laban syde: well, thou art my bone & my fleshe. And he abode with hym in the space of a moneth.
15 And Laban said unto Jacob: Though thou be my brother, shouldst thou therfore (a) sure me for naught: Tell me what shall thy wages be?
16 Laban had two daughters, the elder named Lea, and the younger Rachel.
17 Lea was tender eyed: but Rachel was beautifull and well favourd.
18 And Jacob touch Rachel, and syde:
I will serve thee seven yere for Rachel the younger daughter.
19 Laban answered: (a) It is better that I gve her into thee, then that I should gve her to another man: abde

20 And Jacob servd seven yere for Rachel: and they sermde unto hym but a fewe bydes, for the love he hadde to her.

Cis 21And
And Jacob said unto Leban: 1. Laban, give my wife that I may have with her, for my days are fulfilled.

Then Laban gathered together all the men of that place, and made a feast.

And when even was come, he took Leah his daughter, and brought her to him, and he went in to her.

And Laban gave unto his daughter Leah Zilpah his maid (to be) her servant.

And when the morning was come, behold it was Leah. Then Laban said to Leah: Wherefore hast thou played thus with me? by not I serve thee for Rachel: wherefore then hast thou beguiled me?

Laban answered: 1. It is not the maner of this place, to marry younger before the first borne.

Passe out this weeke, & then we will give thee this also (o) for the servcie where thou shalt serve me yet seven peres more.

And Jacob dyed even so, and passed out his daughter: and then he gave hym Rachel his daughter to wyse also.

And Laban gave to Rachel his daughter Sirva his handmaid, to be her servant.

So lay he by Rachel also, and loved Rachel more then Leah, and seared hym yet seven peres more.

When the Lord saw that Leah was despised, he made her fruitful, and Rachel remained barren.

And Laban conceaved and bare a sonne, and he called his name Rueben: for the Lord hath looked upon my tribulation: now therefore my husband will love me.

And the conceaved againe, and bare a sonne, & Laban: for the Lord had heard that I was desitified, and that therefore given me this sonne also: and he called his name Simeon.

And the conceaved yet, & bare a sonne, & Laban: for this once will my husbande kepe me company, because I have borne him these three sonnes: and therefore was his name called Leum.

And the conceaved yet againe, and bare hym a sonne, saying: Laban would I (o) paye the Lord. Therefore she called his name Juda, & left bearing.

The xxx. Chapter.

Rachel complained to her husbande of barrenmesse.

Rachel goteth Zelpha for a wyfe unto Jacob.

Then saide Rachel: God hath given sentence on my side, and hath also heard my wyfe, and hath given me a sonne: therefore called she the sonne "Dan.

And Belah & Rachels servant conceaved againe, & bare Jacob another sonne.

And Rachel said: with godly & trusty geshe have I waxt with my sister, she hath gotten the upper hand, and I am counted a reproch.

When Leah saw that she had left bearing children (o) she ture Zelpha her maid, and gave her Jacob to wyse.

And Zelpha Leas mayde bare Jacob a sonne.

Then sayde Leah, "Good muke: and called called his name "God.

12 And Zilpha Lea's servant bare Jacob an other sonne.

13 Then said Lea: happy am I, for the daughters will call me blessed: and called his name "Aer.

14 And Ruben went out in the days of the wheat harvest, and found [14] Paddigazas in the field, and brought them unto his mother Lea. Then said Rachel to Lea: Give me thy sonne Paddigazas.

15 To whom Lea answered: Is it not enough that thou hast taken away my husband, [15] but dostest take away my sonnes Paddigazas also? Then said Rachel: Well, let thy dampe with thee this night for thy sonnes Paddigazas.

16 And Jacob came from the field at even, and Lea went out to meet him, and said: thou shalt come in to me, for I have bought thee in beede with my sonne Paddigazas. And he slept with her that same night.

17 And God heard Lea, that she conceaved, and bare Jacob the sixth sonne.

18 Then said Lea: [18] God hath given me a reward, because I gave my maidservant to my husband: and she called him "Jachar.

19 And Lea conceaved yet again, and bare Jacob the seventh sonne.

20 And Lea said: God hath denied me but a good doome, yet will my husband dwell with me, because I have borne my sonnes: and called his name "Zebulon.

21 After that, the bare a daughter, and called her name Dinah.

22 And God remembered Rachel, and God [22] heard her, and made her fruite full.

23 So that the conceaved bare a sonne: and said, God hath taken away my rebuke.

24 And she called his name "Joseph, saying: the Lord will give me yet another sonne.

25 (1) As soon as Joseph had borne Jo- seph, Jacob said to Laban: Send me away, that I may go unto my own place, and to my country.

26 Give me my lyves and my epiphon for whom I have serv'd thee, and let me go: for [26] thou knowest what service I have done thee.

27 To whom Laban answered: I pay thee, if I have found favour in thy sight (tary): for I have proved that (1) the Lord blessed me for thy sake.

28 Also he said: Appoynt what thy reward shalbe, and I will give it thee.

29 But he said unto him: Thou knowest what service I have done thee, and in what manner thy cattle have ben under me:

30 For that sake which thou hast done before, when I came, is not increased into a multitude, and the Lord hath blessed [29] with all his substance: but he said unto him: "My face, (m) all the income of our labors is to be given to my God."
And Jacob beheld the countenance of Laban, and beheld, it was not towards him; as it was wont to be.

And the Lord spake unto Jacob: "Turn again unto the land of thy fathers, and to thy kindred, and I will be with thee."

4 Therefore Jacob went, and Laban the shepherd put his men before him into the land of Canaan.

And they parted from each other.

5 And Jacob said unto his servants: "I have served your father twenty years, and I have served your fathers. And now put I locus before you, and carry me out of here.

6 And ye know how I have served your father with all my might.

7 But Jacob knew Laban's wrath was waxed very sore, because of his daughters, because they were not fruitful."
7 But your father hath decaued me, and charged my wages (c) ten tymes: but God suftered hym not to hurt me.

8 When he sayde, the spotted shalbe thy wages: then at the sheepe bare spotte.
And when he sayde, the ringfraked shalbe thy rewarde: then bare all the sheepe ringfraked.

9 Thus hath God taken away the increase of your fathers flocke, and given it to me.

10 But in rampyng tymes, I lifted up mine eyes, and saw in a dreame, and beholde, the "Rammes leaped upon the sheepe that were ringfraked, spotted, and parte.

11 And the angel of God spake unto me in a dreame, saying: Jacob: And I answered: Here am I.

12 And he sayd: Lift vp nothyng thyne eyes, and fee all the Rammes leaping upon the sheepe that were ringfraked, spotted, and parte; fo I haue (d) scene all that Laban both doth unto thee.

13 I am the God of Bethel, where thou anointest the stone lep by on an ende, and where thou boyledst a bole unto me: nothe therefore arype, and get thee out of this country, and returne vnto the lande where thou walkest bonde.

14 Then answered Rachel, and Lea, and laid vnto him: have we not as yet any portion or inheritance in our fathers houe?

15 Dost not he count us euen as strangers: for he hath solde vs, & hath quight devourd also (e) our money.

16 Therefore all the pottes which God hath taken from our father, that is ours and our childrens: nowe then (f) whatsoever God hath layde vnto thee, that doe.

17 Then Jacob rose vp, & set his sones & wyues vppon cainettes.

18 And carried away all his stocke, and all his subsance whereon he had pour ore, the increas of his cattle which he had gotten in (g) Cephotamne, for to go to Laban his father vnto the lande of Chanaan.

19 But Laban (h) was gone to sheare his sheepe: and Rachel had stolen her fathers (i) images.

20 And Jacob haste away the herte of Laban the Syrman, in that he tolde him not that he fled.

21 So fled he, and all that he had, and made hym selfe redy, and passed over the ruer, and let his face straighte to 22 Upon the thirde day after, was it told Laban that Jacob fled.

23 Then he toke (b) his brethren with hym, and solwed after him seven dailes journey, & overtook him at the mounte Gilcad.

24 And (i) God came to Laban the Syrman in a dreame by night, and sayd vnto him: take heed that thou speake not to Jacob ought (j) true good.

25 And Laban overtook Jacob, and Jacob had pitched his tent in the mounte: And Laban with his brethren, pitched also vpon the mounte Gilcad.

26 And Laban said to Jacob: what hast thou done? for thou hast stolen away my heart, and caried away my daughters as though they had been taken captiue with the sword.

27 Wherefore wentest thou alwaies secretly (k) unknowen to me, and dyddest not tell me, that I might have let thee go thy way with wealth and tongues, with tyndrell and harpe.

28 And hast not suffred me to kisse my children and my daughteres: thou wast a fool, & didest in so wpurpse.

29 For it is (l) in my hand, though God do you hurt: But the God of your father spake vnto me yesternight, saying: Take heed that thou speake not to Jacob ought true good.

30 And nothe though thou wouldest needes be gone away, because thou for longest after thy fathers house, yet wherefore hast thou stolen my (m) gods.

31 And answered Laban and said to Laban: because I was afraid, I thought that peradventure thou wouldest take away thy daughters from me.

32 But with Whomsoever thou findest thy gods, (b) let him die. Here before our brethren, seeke that thyne be by me, and take it to thee: But Jacob dyd not that Rachel (n) had stolen them.

33 Then went Laban into Jacobs tent, and into Leahs tent, and into the two maydefraunts tentes: but found them not. Then went he out of Leas tent, and entred into Rachels tent:

34 And Rachel had taken the images, and put them in the cainettes strake, & sete downe upon them: And Laban (o) touse by all fent, but found them not.

35 Then
35. Then said he to her father: why dost thou 36. And Jacob was wroth, and chode with Laban. Jacob also answered and said to him: What have I trespassed? or what have I offended thee, that thou dost live pursueth after me? 37. Thou hast tolled up all my stuff, and what hast thou found not of all thy household stuff: put it here before thy brethren and thy father, and they may judge betwixt us both. 38. Behold, this二十 Ev a have I ben with thee, thy sheep and thy goats have not ben harem, and the camises of thy flocke have I not eaten. 39. Whateuer was tane of beasts I brought it not unto thee, but made it good my selfe: of my hands diddest thou require it that was stolen by day or night. 40. I was as such case, that by day the heare confounded me, and the froot by night, and my stepe departed from mine eyes. 41. Thus have I ben twenty years in thy house, and served thee fourteen years for the two daughters, and four years for thy sheepe, and thou hast changed my reward for thy servitude. 42. And except the God of my father, he had not made great thy wealth and brought thee up. 43. And Laban answered and said unto Jacob: these daughters are my daughters, and these children are my children, and these sheepe are my sheepe, and all that thou hast is mine; and what can I do this day unto these my daughters, or unto their children which they have borne? 44. Rothe therefore come on, and let us make a league betwixt thee and me. 45. Then took Jacob a stone, and let it be on ende. 46. And Jacob gave his brethren, gather stones, and they took stones, and made an heape: and they dyd eate there upon the heape.
At Jacob went south on his journey, and the angel of God came and met him. And when Jacob saw him, he said: "This is God's house, and called the name of the place, "Mahanaam." And Jacob sent messengers before him to Esau his brother, into the land of Seir, the field of Edom:

And he commanded them, saying: "Thus shall ye speak to my Lord Esau, thy servant Jacob saith thus: I have been a stranger with Laban, and have stayed there unto this time. And have opened, faced, and shepheard, and served thy father Laban. And he said: "What shall I do to thee, my son?"

And he said unto them: Hear I pray you this dream which I have dreamed.

Behold, we were binding sheaves in the field: and lo, thy sheaf arose and stood upright; and behold, thy sheaf stood round about, and made obeisance to my sheaf.

And when his brethren saw that, they and his father rebuked him, and said: What is this dream which thou hast dreamed?

And his brethren envied him: but his father noted the saying.

And when he had told it to his father and his brethren, his father rebuked him, and said: What is this dream which thou hast dreamed? Shalt thou surely be set over us and dominion over us?

And they hated him yet more, because of his dreams and because of his words.

And he dreamed yet another dream, and told it to his brethren, saying: Behold I have had one dream more, and behold, the sun was my sheaf, and the sons of my father were sheaves; and, behold, the sun stood upright in my sheaf.

And his brethren envied him: but his father noted the saying.

And his brethren also went to keep his father's flocks in Shechem.

And (1) Israel said unto Joseph: Do not thy brethren keep in Shechem? come, and I will send thee to them.

And he answered: here am I. And he said by him: Go, I pray thee, and see whether it be well with thy brethren and the flocks, and bring me word of the condition of Joseph, his brother.

And a certain man found him, and behold he was wandering out of his way in the field. And the man asked him: What hast thou done?

And he answered: I sought my brethren, but I found them not.

And the man said: They are departed hence: for I heard them say, let us go down into Dothan.

And when they saw him, a scion of before he came at them, they took counsel against him to slay him.

For one man said: Behold this dream of which he hath told us.

Come now therefore and let us slay him, and let us say, Some naughtie beast hath devoured him: and we shall see what will come of his dreams.

And Ruben heard that, and he took his hand and said: let us not kill him, but let us sell him to be a bondmen to an Egyptian.

And Ruben said: let us sell him into Egypt, not that we should sin against him; and let us take him and sell him into Egypt, and let him be our bondman.

And when Joseph was come into his brethren, they spied upon him, that they might do him evil, and strowed him in their midst.

And they took him, and cast him into an empty pit, whose mouth was without water.

And they laid their hands upon him, and took him and cast him into the pit.

And they sat down to eat bread: and as they lifted up their eyes they saw a company of Ishmaelites coming from Gilead, with their camels laden with balm and balsam, and they were going down to carry it to Egypt.

And Judah said: let us sell him, that we may have money, and we can bring him down to us.

Come on, and let us sell him to the Ishmaelites; and let not our hand be upon him, lest we repent of our evil heart.

Then as the Ishmaelites came down, they spread the sheet, and lifted up Joseph out of the pit, and gave money for him to the Ishmaelites for twenty pieces of silver. And they bought Joseph into Egypt,

Then Ruben came and spake unto them, Joseph was not in the pit: then they rent his clothes.

And they came into his brethren and said: the lad is not; render the man his clothes, whether he be guilty thereof.

And they took Joseph's coat, and killed a kid, and dipped the coat in the blood.

And they rent that partie coloured coat, and caused it to be brought into their father and said: This have we found: see whether it be thy son's coat, or no.

And he knew it, saying: It is my sonne's coat, a naughtie beast hath devoured him, Joseph is without doubt rent in pieces.
34. And Jacob, rent his clothes, and put sackcloth about his loins, and mourned for his son a long season.

35. But all his sons and all his daughters rose up to comfort him; nevertheless he would not be comforted, but layeth, I will go down to the grave unto my son, mourning: And thus his father wept for him.

9. And (b) Joseph heard and said: this is the interpretation thereof. The three baskets are three dayes:

10. For within three dayes shall Pharaoh take thy head from thee, and shall hang thee on a tree, and the Wycker shall eate thy flesh from thee. Which was Pharaoh's birth day, the he made a feast unto all his seruantes;

11. And Joseph sayde buto him, this is the interpretation of it. The three branches are three dayes.

12. For within three dayes shall Pharaoh lyve by thine head, and firste thee into thine ofic ce office agayne, and then shalt deliver Pharaoh cup into his hande after the olde maner when thou bact his butler.

13. But (b) thyne on me when thou art in good cafe, and shewe mercy (I pray thee) unto me, and make mention of me to Pharaoh, & bring me out of this house;

14. For I was prouly by deceit taken away out of the lande of the Hebrewes: and here also have I done nothing at all wherefore they shoulde haue put me into this dungeon.

15. When the chiefe baker sate that the interpretation was good, he layd buto Joseph: I thought also in my beame that I had thee. Whereby wycker baskets on my head,

16. And in the uppermost basket there was of all manner bake meetes for Pharaoh, and the birds byd caste them out of the basket, was upon my head.

17. And (b) Joseph heard and said: this is the interpretation thereof. The three baskets are three dayes:

18. For within three dayes shall Pharaoh take thy head from thee, and shall hang thee on a tree, and the Wycker shall eate thy flesh from thee. Which was Pharaoh's birth day, the he made a feast unto all his seruantes;

19. And Joseph sayde to him, this is the interpretation of it. The three branches are three dayes.

20. For within three dayes shall Pharaoh lyve by thine head, and firste thee into thine ofic ce office agayne, and then shalt deliver Pharaoh cup into his hande after the olde maner when thou bact his butler.

21. But (b) thyne on me when thou art in good cafe, and shewe mercy (I pray thee) unto me, and make mention of me to Pharaoh, & bring me out of this house;

22. And in the uppermost basket there was of all manner bake meetes for Pharaoh, and the birds byd caste them out of the basket, was upon my head.

23. And (b) Joseph heard and said: this is the interpretation thereof. The three baskets are three dayes:

24. For within three dayes shall Pharaoh take thy head from thee, and shall hang thee on a tree, and the Wycker shall eate thy flesh from thee. Which was Pharaoh's birth day, the he made a feast unto all his seruantes;
And he slept againe, and dreamed the seconde tyne: and beholde, seven cares of corn grewe vpon one stalke, ranke and goodly.

7 And againe, seven thine cares, blasted with the east wind spang by after them.

8 And the seven thine cares devoured the seven ranke full cares. And Pharaoh awaked, and se (it was) a dreeame.

9 And when the morning came, his spirit was troubled, and he sent and called for all the soothsayers of Egypt, and all the wise men thereof: and Pharaoh tolde them his dreeame, but there was none of them that could interprete it unto Pharaoh.

10 The spake the chief butler unto Pharaoh, saying: I do remember my faunte this day:

11 Pharaoh being angry with his saunteers, put in warde in the chief stewardes house both me, and the chief baker.

12 And we dreamed both of vs in one night, and the mans dreeame of a surdi interpretation.

13 And there was with vs (c) a young man, an Hebrew boone, seruante into the chief stewardes towne: to whom when we tolde them, he declared our dreeames to vs, according to cyther of our dreeames.

14 And as he declared them to vs, even so it came to passe: For he restored me to myne office agayne, and hanged hym.

15 Pharaoh sent therefore and called Joseph: and they brought him hastily out of the dungeon. And he shewed himselfe and chaunged his rayment, and came into Pharaoh.

17 And Pharaoh sayde unto Joseph: I sayd that I have dreamed a dreeame, no man can interprete it: and I have heard saye of thee that assoone as thou hearest a dreeame, thou canst interprete it.

18 Joseph answereed Pharaoh, saying: If it please thee, let me knowe at vs.

19 And then seven other dreeame came out after them, poore, and very pli favourled and leane fleshed, such as I never saw in all the lande of Egypt, they were to pli favourled.

20 And the seven leane and pli favourled dreeame, did eate by the first seven fat dreeame:

21 And when they had "eaten them", a man could not perceiue that they had eaten them, but they were still pli favourled as they were at the beginning: and I awoke.

22 And I had againe in my dreeame, and I sayd, beholde, behind, seven ears sprang out of one stalk, full and f齐e.
23. And behind, seven ears sprang up "withered, thin, and blasted with the east wind, sprang by after them.
24. And the thin ear ears decreed the seven good ears: and I have told the four chief officers, but there was no man that could tell what it meant.
25. And Joseph answered Pharaoh: [...] one, God hath shelved Pharaoh what he is about to do.
26. The seven good lyes, are seven years, and the seven ears good ears also: and it is but one dream.
27. Lykewise the seven thinne and withered thinnes, sprang up that came by after them, are seven years, and the seven empty and blasted cares with the east wind, shal be seven years of famine.
28. This wode which I have layde unto Pharaoh, is it that God is about to do, and the wode it unto Pharaoh.
29. Behold there come seven years of great plenty and plentiousness throughout all the land of Egypt.
30. And againe, there shall arise after them seven years of famine, and all the plenty and plentiousness shall be forgotten in the land of Egypt: and the famine shall consume the land.
31. Neither shall the plentiousness be known in the lande, by reason of that famine that shall come after: for it shall exceede and exceede.
32. And as concerning that the dream was doubled unto Pharaoh the seconde time: behold, the thyng is certainly prepared of God, and God glad that he Qing to passe.
33. And therefore let Pharaoh provide for a man of understanding, and wise, & let him over the land of Egypt.
34. And let Pharaoh do this also, that he make officers over all the lande, & take by the fift part of the inherecence in all land of Egypt in the seven plentious years.
35. And let them gather all the fode of these good yearres that come: and laye by come under the hande of Pharaoh, and lef them kepe fode in the citie.
36. And to shal that fode be for store in the lande against the seuen yearres of famine, which shall come in the lande of Egypt, that lande perisse the not through famine.
37. And the saying seemed good in the eyes of Pharaoh, and in the eyes of all his servants.
38. Then spake Pharaoh unto his servants: May there be found a man wise, as this is, in whom the spirit of God is.
39. And Pharaoh spake unto Joseph: Forsake thy father and thy brethren, and come hither, I will set thee in all the lande of Egypt.
40. Thou shalt be over my house, and according to thy word shall all my people be ruled: only in the kinges seat am I above thee.
41. And Pharaoh spake againe unto Joseph: behold, I have set thee over all the lande of Egypt.
42. And Pharaoh took of his sons, and spake unto Joseph, hande: I will eare him in cloth of rupes, and put a golden chaine about his neck.
43. And let him beon the best charect he had since one: and they eared before him, and tender father, and made hym rule over all the lande of Egypt.
44. And no sooner Pharaoh said unto Joseph: I am Pharaoh, and without thee there shall no man lift up his hande or foote in all the lande of Egypt.
45. And Pharaoh called Josephes name Zaphnath Paaneach, & he gave hym to (uplye) Anath the daughter of Potipherah priest of On. Then went Joseph over the lande of Egypt.
46. (And he was s)hirte peres olde when he was before Pharaoh king of Egypt, and Joseph departing from the presence of Pharaoh, went through all the lande of Egypt.
47. And in the seven plentious yearres, the earth brought forth great store for to lay up.
48. And he gathered by all the fode of the seven plentious yearres which were in the lande of Egypt, and laye by in the fode in the citie: the fode of the fode that grew rounde about every cite, laped he by in the same.
49. And Joseph laye by come in store lyke unto the fode of the sea, i multitude out of measure, until they left number, for it was without number.
50. And into Joseph were borne two sonnes before the yearres of famine came: which Asnath the daughter of Potipherah priest of On, bare unto hym.
And Joseph called the name of the firstborn, "Manasseh; for God hath made me forget all my labour, and all my fathers' housethould.

The name of the second he called "Ephraim, for he hath caused me to be fruitful in the land of my trouble.

And when the seven years of plenteousness were ended, then came the seven years of dearth; and it came to pass, because there was famine in the land of Egypt, that Joseph opened all the barnes which were in the land of Egypt; and he gathered unto Joseph all the fall from the face of all the land.

And Joseph stored up in the five first years of plenty, even in the barnes, all the store of corn, even as the sand of the sea, which thou canst not measure:

And when all the land of Egypt was famished, the people cried unto the Lord: and they turned unto Joseph, and said unto him, Art thou a God, or are thy brethren? show us that thou mightiest give us bread, that we may live, and that our children may live, and that we may not die.

And Joseph said, It is not for thee to say, I have made all the land famished: there are three years more, and then there shall be famine; and all the goodness of the good year which thou hast stored shall be wasted.

And Joseph gathered corn as the sand of the sea, unto all the lands of Egypt; and he gathered corn, and stored up corn as the sand of the sea, for all the lands of Egypt.

And Joseph gathered corn in abundance, so much that he stopped up all the entrances of ships that they should not come into Egypt.

And it came to pass after these things, that the seven years of plenteousness were ended; and, lo, famine was in all lands; and Joseph had opened all the barnes of Egypt, which were in the land of Egypt.

And it came to pass, when Joseph was come unto his brethren, they bare him word, saying, Joseph is yet alive, and that he is in Egypt: and with him was the chariot of Pharaoh.

And his brethren were sore at heart when they came to Joseph to show him, and, behold, Joseph was in the midst of them; and he said, Is there any man here of you that shall show true kindness unto his brethren? and show me kindness, I pray you, unto Joseph.

And they said, Art thou indeed Joseph? and, behold, is the face of the Lord's servant now hid from his brethren?

And Joseph made ready his chariot, and went up unto Pharaoh king of Egypt.

And Joseph said unto Pharaoh, I beseech thee, let Pharaoh look upon me, and see if there be skill in such a man as I am.

And Pharaoh said unto Joseph, I have commanded to put every chariot in Egypt; only, with respect to thy father's house, do not go out of this place.

And Joseph went up unto Pharaoh, and said, Behold, my father and my brethren, and their flocks and their herds, are in the land of Canaan; and, behold, they came to the end of all the land of Egypt.

And Pharaoh said unto Joseph, Thy father and thy brethren have come unto thee; since much fruitfulness is in the land of Canaan, come and dwell in the land of Egypt, and consummate the fruitfulness of the land.

And Joseph said unto Pharaoh, It is not for me to set forth all my kindred: the God of my fathers made me to conceive in my father's house, and brought me forth from the land of my fathers, and when I said unto him, Why hast thou brought me away from the face of the land of my fathers, to bring me, and set me down in the midst of the land of Canaan?

And he said unto him, I know that thy kindred are a great multitude, and that thou hast in truth said, It is not for me to set forth all my kindred: come, I will show thee the place where they shall abide.

And Joseph went up unto Egypt, and he called his father's house: and when Joseph went to Pharaoh, he said, I beseech thee, let Pharaoh show me kindliness, and shew me kindness, and let him set his countenance upon his bondmen, and upon all his father's house, and give me bread, to make me to live, I beseech thee, in the land of Egypt.

And Pharaoh said unto Joseph, Say unto thy father, I am Pharaoh: come unto me, and reside in the land of Egypt, thou, and thy kindred, and enjoy the goodness of the land.

And Joseph said unto his father, If now I have found grace in thy sight, then shew kindness unto my kindred, and shew kindness unto the house of my fathers, and carry me out of the land of Egypt: for I am Pharaoh's bondman.

And Pharaoh said unto Joseph, I will do this; I will give thee Pharaoh's chariot, and will take thy father out of the land of Egypt, and will set all thy kindred, and all thy father's house, in the land of Egypt, and will nourish thee, that thou mayest be fruitful, and it may increase, and become a multitude.

And Joseph fetched his father's house, and brought them out into Egypt, and set their eyes upon goodly sustenance in the land of Egypt.
to me, and so that your words be tried true, and ye shall not dye: they dyed so.

21 And one said unto another: We have heard a dream from our brother, 22 And Ruben answered them, saying: say not unto you, that ye should not tinge against the lad, and ye would not hear him: and therefore is this trouble come upon us.

23 They were not aware that Joseph understood them: for he spake unto them by an interpreter.

24 And he turned from them, and wept; and turned to them again, and communed with them, and took out Simeon from amonge them, and bound him before their eyes.

25 And Joseph commandeth to fill their sacks with corn, and to put every man's money in his sack, and to give them victual to spend by the way: and thus dyed he unto them.

26 And they laded them, and departed that place.

27 And as one of them opened his sack, he found his money in his sack, and he said: it was in my sack.

28 And he said unto his brethren, my money is restored in my sack, for it is even in mine sack.

29 And they came unto Jacob their father, into the land of Canaan, and told him all that befell unto them, saying:

30 The man, even the Lord of the land, spake roughly to us, and took us for spies of the country.

31 And we spake unto him: we mean truly, we never were spies.

32 We be twelve brethren, sons of our father: one is away, and the youngest is this day with our father in the lande of Chanaan.

33 And the Lord of the country spake agayne unto us, hereby shall I know that ye mean truely: leave one of your brethren here with me, and take (Joseph) to put alway the famine for your houses, and get you alway.

34 And bring your youngest brother unto me, that I may knowe that you are no spie, but mean truely: so will I deliver you your brother, and ye shall occupie in the lande of Egypt.

35 And as they emptied they; sakes, he holde, every mans bundell of money was in his sacke: and when both they and their (father) sate the bundelles of money, they were asapnde.

36 And Jacob they father sayde unto them: he have ye robbed of my children, Joseph is alway, and Simeon is alway, ye will take Benjamin alway: all these things are against me.

37 Ruben said unto his father: he may my two sons, if I bring hym not to thee agayne: deliever him to me, and I will bring him to thee agayne.

38 And he said: By sonne shall (not) go downe with you, for his brother is dead, and he is left alone: if destruction come upon hym by the way where ye go, ye shall bring my gray head with sorrow into the grave.

The. xlii. Chapter.

1 The brethren of Joseph are sent backe with Benjamin, and ysestes. The troubles of Jacob. Joseph commandeth a basket to be made redge for his brethren in his house.

2 Simeon is brought out of prison. The feate of Joseph's brethren be washed. Joseph weepeth. His brethren doe eate with him. It is unlawful for the Egyptians to eate with the Hebrew.

ND the deareth was great in the lande. And it came to passe (when) they had eaten by the corn which they had brought out of the lande of Egypt, they father sayde unto them: go agayne (and) bye vs a little fode.

3 Juda auwered him, and sayde, The man did solemnly protest unto us saying: we shall not see ny face, except your brother be with you.

4 If thou wilt sende our brother with vs, we will go downe, and bye the fode.

5 But
5 But ye shall not go downe: for the man sayde unto vs, ye shall not see my face, except your brother be with you.

6 And Israel sayde: Wherefore dealt ye so cruelly with (G) me, as to telle the man that ye had yet a brother?

7 They answered, The man asked vs strapecly of our (fate) and of our kinde, saying: Is your father yet alive? have ye (not another) brother? And we told him accordingly to the tenour of these words: Could we by any meanes have that he would say, by your brother downe with you:

8 The said Juba unto Israel his father: send the lad with me, that we may arise and go, and that we may live, and not dye, yea both we and thou, and also our (mamie).

9 (a) I will be strect for hym, of my handes that thou require hym: if I byng hym not to thee agayne, and set him before thine eyes, then let me høre the blame for ever.

10 Truly except we had made this tarying, by this we had returned the second time.

11 And their father Israel sayde unto them: if it must needs be so, nodbe them therfore. Take of the "best fruites of the lande in your vessells, and byng (G) man) a present, a curtey of balowe, and a curtey of hony, ryces and murre, nuts and almondes.

12 And take double (G) money in your hande, the money that was bought agayne in your sakes, take it agayne with you, peradventure it was some oversight.

13 Take also your brother with you, and arise and go agayne unto the man.

14 And (G) God almightie geue you merce in the sight of the man, that he may deluer you your other brother, (S) this Beniamin: and thus I am as one that is quite robbed of his childe.

15 Thus take they the present, and wyppe to muche more money in their hande, with Rachel and Rachel, and rofe up, and went downe to Egypt, (G) before Joseph.

16 When Joseph sawe Beniamin with them, he sayde to the ruler of his house: byng these men home, and slay, and make redy, for these men shall (G) dyne with me at noone.

17 And the man did as Joseph bad, and brought them into Josephes house.

18 When the men were brought into Josephes house, (G) they were asstrayde, and said: because of the money that came in our sakes mouthes at the first tyne, are we brought in, that he may (G) seke occasion against vs, and violently lay handes upon vs, to byng vs in bondage, and our asses also.

19 Therefore came they to the man that was the ruler over Josephes house, and communed with him at the doore of the house,

20 And sayde: oh sir, (G) we came downe hyther at the first tyne to bye foode.

21 And as we came to Aniim, we opened our sakes, and beheld, every mans money was in the mouth of his facke, (G) even our money in full bawinge, and we haue brought it againe in our bannes.

22 And other money haue we brought also in our bannes to bye foode: but we cannot tell who put our money in our sakes.

23 And he sayde: peace be vnto vowe, fear not: your (G) God, and the God of your father, hath geue you that treasure in your sakes: I had your money. And he brought Simeon out to them.

24 And the man led them into Josephes house, and gaue them water to wash their feete, and gave their asses poueringe.

25 And they made redy their present against Joseph came at noone: so they hearde (G) that they should eate bread there.

26 When Joseph came home, they brought the present into the house to hym, which was in their handes, and bowd them leines to the grombe before him.

27 And he asked them of their (G) welfare, and sayde: Is your father, that old man which ye tolde me of, in good health; and is he yet alive?

28 They answered: Thy seruant our father is in good health, and is yet alive. And they (G) bowinge them felues, made they obeys naunce.

29 And he lifting up his eyes, beheld his brother Beniamin his mothers sonne, and sayd: is this your younger brother, of whom ye spake unto me? And he said: God be (G) mercifull vnto thee vowe.

30 And Joseph made haste (G) for his (G) heart did melt upon his brother) and fought (G) where to weeppe, and entered into his his chamber and went there.

31 And he washed his face, and came out, and refreshed himself, and layed: set bread on the table.

32 And they prepared for him by himself, and for them by them, and for the Egyptians which dyd eat with him, by them selues, because of the Egyptians may not eat bread with the Hebrews: for that is an abomination to the Egyptians.

33 And they set before him the first born, according to his age, and the younger according to his youth: and the men mercieled among them selues.

34 And he sent rewardes unto them from before him selues: but Benjamin part was five times as much as any of theirs: and they drank, and were made merry with him.

The xliij. Chapter.

1 Joseph commanded his cuppe to be put in the lachke of Benjamin. 2 The cuppe is attached in the lachke of Benjamin. 3 Joseph accurst his brethren of these. 4 The nation of Judas into Joseph.

1 And he commanded the ruler of his house, saying: fill the mens lachses with foode, as much as they can carie, and put every mans money in his lachses mouth:

2 And put my cup, my bluer cup in the lachers mouth of the youngest, and his come money also. And he did according to the word that Joseph had saide.

3 And in the morning all done as it was light, the men were let go, they, and their asses.

4 And when they were out of the citie, and not yet farre away, Joseph saide unto the ruler of his house, up, and saide after the men: When thou doest overtake them, thou shalt say unto them, wherefore haue ye rewarded cup for good:

5 Is not that the cuppe in the Which my Lord drinketh? and for the Which he saith, Wherefore haue ye done this? and haue ye done this.

6 And when he overtook them, he said the same wordes unto them.

7 And they answered him, Wherefore saist thou my Lord drinketh: and thou sayest, Wherefore haue ye done this, and haue ye done this.

8 Beholde the money which we founde in our lachses mouthes, we brought againe into the, out of the land of Chanaan: howe then shoulde we steale out of the Lordes house, esyer bluer of golde.

9 With whomsoever of the servauntes it be founde, let him die, and we all be my Lordes bondmen.

10 And he said, Soole also let it be according unto your wordes: he with whom it is founde, shall he my servaunt, and ye shall be blamelesse.

11 And at once every man tooke downe his lachke to the ground, and euery man opened his lachke.

12 And he searched, and began at the eldest, and left at the youngest: and the cuppe was founde in Beniamins lachke, 13 Then they rent their clothes, and laced every man his sife, and went againe into the citie.

14 And Judah and his brethren came to Josephes house (for he was yet there, and they fell before him on the ground.

15 And Joseph saide vnto them: What decea is this that ye haue done? wote ye not that suche a man as I do consult with (prophete)".

16 Then saide Judah: what shall we say unto my lord? what shall we speake: or howe saith we, or howe shall we, or howe shall we, or howe shall we. (Ye) God hath founde out the wickednes of thy servauntes: beholde, we are thy lodes servauntes, both we, pe, and he also with whom the cup is founde.

17 And he answered, God saith that I shoulde do so: but the man with whom the cup is founde, he shalbe my servaunt, and get ye hence vp in peace into your father.

18 Then Juda went vnto him, and said: Oh my lord, let thy servaunt (I pray thee) speake a word in my lodes ears, and be not inflamed with wrath agaynst thy servaunt, "for (thy art even as Pharaoh).

19 By my lode asked his servauntes, saying: haue ye a father, or a brother.

20 And he answered my lord: we have a father that is olde, and a young lad, which he begat in his age: and the brother brother of the sabbath is dead, and he is all that is left of his mother, and his father loueth him.

21 And thou saidst unto thy servants: bringing him unto me, that I may see my eyes upon him.

22 And we answered our Lord, that the lad could not go from his father, for if he should leave his father, he were but dead.

23 Then saidst thou: (b) thou unto thy servants: except your youngest brother come with you, you shall not see my face no more.

24 And when we came unto thy father, we showed him the words of thy Lord.

25 And thy father saith unto us: go away, and bye vs a little food.

26 And we answered, we can not go downe: nevertheless, if our youngest brother be with vs, then will we go downe, for we may not see the face, except our youngest brother be with vs.

27 And thy father saith unto us: ye know that my wyse bare me two sons.

28 And the one went out from me, and I said, (c) of a suretie he is come in pieces, and I have him not fine.

29 And if ye take this also away from me, and destruction come unto you, ye shall bring my gray head with sorrow into the grave,

30 No doubt therefore when I come to thy suretie my father, and the lad be not with us (being that his (d) life is hanged by the laddest life.)

31 Then shall it come to pass, that assone as he feareth that the lad is not come, he will bye: so shall we thy servants bring your gray head with sorrow into the grave.

32 For I thy servants became suretie for the lad before my father, and said: If thy servant bring not the money, thou shalt bear the blame unto my father.

33 No doubt therefore I pray thee, let me thy servants bring heire for the lad, and be my lodges (e) bondman, and let the lad go with his brethren.

34 For no doubt I go up to my father, if the lad be not with me: lest I would see (f) the brethresness that shall come on my father.

(j) The xlv. Chapter.

2 He commandeth. (t) But the both not come selye that there be, but also erect on them flame.
9 Hast thou and go up to my father, and tell him: thus saith thy son Joseph, God hath made me lord of all Egypt; come down therefore unto me, tarry not.
10 And thou shalt dwell in the land of Egypt; Gofen 11 and be a stay to me, thou, thy children, and thy childrens children, thy shepheard, and thy beasts, and all that thou hast.
11 And there will I provide thee sustenance (for there remaineth yet five years of labor), lest thou and thy household, all that thou hast come (a) to poverty.
12 And behold your eyes and see, and the eyes also of my brother Benjamin, that (c) none own mouth speakest unto you.

16 And the same (b) thereof was heard in Pharaoh's house, that so they spake: Joseph's brethren are come. And it pleased Pharaoh well, and all his servants.
17 And (b) Pharaoh spake unto Joseph: Lay unto thy brethren this, do ye: Lade your beasts, and go (a) and return unto the land of Canaan:
18 Take your father, and your households, and come unto me, and I will give you the good of the land of Egypt, and ye shall eat the fat of the land.
19 And thou also shalt command them to bring every man the fruit of the vineyard as the year goeth on. (b) this do ye (a) take charrets with you out of the land of Egypt for your children, and for your wives, and buying your father, and come.
20 Also (a) regard not your stuff, for the good of all the land of Egypt is yours.
21 And the children of Israel did even so: and Joseph gave them charrettes, according to the commandment of Pharaoh, and gave them provision also to spend by the way.
22 (b) And he gave unto each of the charge of ramen: but unto Benjamin he gave three hundred pieces of silver, and fine charge of ramen.

and her maidens walked along by the daughters of Jethro, his father in law: 2 And God in the midst of a bush he spake to Moses of delivering Israel. 3 The earth holp. 4 God with Moses. 5 The name of God. 6 God teacheth Moses how and in what sort he would that he should deliver his people.

Moses kept the sheape of Jethro his father in law, priest of Midian: and he drove the sheep to the backside of the desert, and came to the mountayne of God. 2 And the angel of the Lord appeared unto him in a flame of fire out of a bush: And he looked, and behold the bush burnt with fire, and the bush was not consumed.

25 And God spake unto the children of Israel, and God had respect unto them.
And when the Lord saw that he came for to see, God called unto him out of the midst of the bush, and said: Moses, Moses! And he answered, here am I.

And he said: Draw not nigh hither, put thy bare feet from this place, for the place where thou standest, is holy ground.

And he said: I am the God of thy father, the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob. And Moses hid his face, for he was afraid to take upon God.

And the Lord said: I have surely seen the trouble of my people which are in Egypt, and have heard their cry from the face of their taskmasters: for I know their afflictions.

And am come down to deliver the out of the hands of the Egyptians, and to bring them out of that land, unto a good land & a large, unto a land that floweth with milk and honey, even unto the place of the Chanaanites, and Amorites, and Hethites, and Phrivites, and Jebusites.

And God therefore beheld the complaint of the children of Israel is come unto me: and I have also seen the oppressions wherewith the Egyptians oppressed them.

Come then therefore, and I will send thee unto Pharaoh, that thou mayest bring my people the children of Israel out of Egypt.

And Moses said unto God: What shall I go unto Pharaoh, and to bring the children of Israel out of Egypt?

And he answered, I will be with thee: and this shall be a token unto thee that I have sent thee. After that thou hast brought out the people of Egypt, pe shall know God upon this mount.

And Moses said unto God: Behold, when I come unto the children of Israel, and shall say unto them the God of your fathers hath sent me unto you. And if they say unto me, what is thy name? what answere shall I give thee?

And God answered Moses: I am that I am, and he said: This shall thou say unto the children of Israel: I am hath sent me unto you.

And God spake further unto Moses, Thus shall thou say unto the children of Israel: The Lord God of your fathers, the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob hath sent me unto you: This is my name forever, and this is my memorial throughout generation and generation.

And God, and gather the elders of Israel together, and thou shalt say unto them, The Lord God of your fathers, the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob appeared unto me, and said: In bitterness, have I visited you, and know that which is done to you in Egypt.

And I have said: I will bring you out of the tribulation of Egypt, unto the land of the Chanaanites, and the Amorites, and the Phrivites, and the Hethites, and the Jebusites, even into a land which floweth with milk and honey, and they shall hear thy voice: Then both thou and the elders of Israel shall go unto the king of Egypt, and say unto him: The Lord God of the heavens hath mer with us, and now let us go we beseech thee three days journey into the wilderness, and do sacrifice unto the Lord our God.

And I am sure that the king of Egypt will not let you go, no not in a mighty hand.

And I will stretch out my hand, and smite Egypt with all my wonders which I will do in the midst thereof, and after that he will let you go.

And I will get this people favour in the sight of the Egyptians, so that when ye go, ye shall not go empty:

But a white shall boodle of her neighbour, and of her that sojourneth in her house, "belts of flippers, and beltes of gobe, and rayment: and ye shall put them on your sons and daughters, and shall robbe the Egyptians.
And the Lord said unto him: What is that which is in thine hand? He answered: A rod. And he said: Cast it on the ground. And he cast it on the ground, (b) and it became a serpent: and Moses fled from the sight of it.

And the Lord said unto Moses: Put forth thy hand, and take by the yoke. And therefore he put forth his hand, and caught it: and it became a rod in his hand.

(b) By this thing shall they believe that the Lord God of their fathers, the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, & the God of Jacob hath appeared unto thee.

And the Lord said furthermore unto him: Thou shalt not believe thee, neither hearst thou of the first sign, yet wilt thou believe for the bose of the second sign.

bason: none of you go out at the doore of his house but by the morning.
23 For the Lord will passe over to smyte the Egyptians: and when he seeth the blood upon the upper doore poest and the two lybe poeses, he will passe over the doore, and will not suffer the destroyer to come into your houses to plague you.
24 Therefore shall ye observe this epyning for an ordinance to thee & thy loones forever.
25 And when ye be come to the lande which the Lord will geue you, according as he hath promisde, ye shall kepe this terme.
26 And when your children aske you, what manner of terme is this ye do:
27 Ye shall saye, it is the sacrifice of the Lodges passover, which passed over the houses of the children of Israel in Egypt, and he smote the Egyptians, and faued our houses. And the people boyled them selves, and worshipped.
28 And the children of Israel went and dip as the Lord had commanded Peoples and Aar.e, even to dip they.
29 And at myboche the Lord smote the first borne in the lande of Egypt, fro the first borne of Phareo that late on his seate, but ye the first borne of the capture that was in prison, and all the first gendered of cattell.
30 And Phareo rose in the night, he and his seruantes, and all the Egyptians, and there was a great epy in Egypt:
for there was not a house where there was not one dead.
31 And he called unto Peoples and Aar.e
by nyght, saying: Ryfe up, and get you out from amongf my people, both you and also the children of Israel: and go, and serue the Lord as ye haue sayde.
32 And take your shepe and your doones with you as ye haue sayde: and depart, and blesse me.
33 And the Egyptians were sere upon the people, that they might slue them out of the lande in hase: for they sayde,
We be all (but) dead men.
34 And the people toke there bread before it was soure, where they had in store, being bounded in clothes upon their shoulders.
35 And the chyldebe of Israel dyb ac-ording to the sayng of Peoples: and they bozned of the Egyptians jewels of silver, and jewels of golde, and cayment.
36 And the Lord gave the people bavours in the light of the Egyptians, so that they graunted bich epynes as they required: And they robbed the Egyptians.
37 (d) And the children of Israel toke their journey from Rameles to Sochoth, five hundred thousand men of foote, beyde chyldebe.
38 And a great multitude of sundry other nations wer also with them, and thepe and ore, and exceeding much cattell.
39 And they baken unleavened cakes of the doogy which they brought out of Egypt, for it was not soure: For they were shuut out of Egypt, and could not bary, neither had they prepared for them selves any promision of meate.
40 The dwelling of the chyldebe of Israel which they dwelled in Egypt, was four hundred and thirtie yeares.
41 And when the four hundred & thirtie yeares were expired, even the selte same day departed at the hoaues of the Lord out of the lande of Egypt.
42 It is a nyght to be obserued unto the Lodbe, in the whiche he brought them out of the lande of Egypt: This is that nyght of the Lodbe, whiche all the chyl-debe of Israel must kepe throughout Their generations.
43 And the Lord sayde unto Peoples and Aar.e.
This is the lawe of passo-uer: there shall no stranger eate thereof.
44. But every seruannt that is bought for money, after that thou hast circumcised by, shall eate thereof.

Chapter 12.

The first-born are to be sanctified unto God, and the remembrance of the departure must be celebrated. 8 Children must be taught that they were delivered from the tyranny of Pharaoh. 12 All first-born are to be given unto God. 13 Children must be taught why children first-born are to be separate unto the Lord, while the Lord will take the children of Egypt by the head. 19 Hopes are carved on the bones of Joseph. 21 The pillar of cloud and fire.

No the Lord spoke unto Moses, saying: Sanctify unto me all the first-born, whatsoever is the womb among the children of Israel, aswell of man as of beast, for it is mine.

And Moses said unto the people: Ye ought to remember this day in which ye came out of Egypt out of house of bondage; for through a mighty hand the Lord brought you from thence: there shall no leavened bread be eaten.

This day came ye out, in the month Abib.

When the Lord hath brought thee into the land of the Chanaanites, he-thiles, Amorites, heites, and Jebusites, which he交付 unto thy fathers that he would give thee, a land wherein the Lord thy God hath given thee inheritance, keep this feast in this month.

Seven days thou shalt eat unleavened bread, and in the seventh day it is the feast of the Lord.

Unleavened bread shall be eaten seven days, and there shall no leavened bread be seen nor yet seen with thee in all thy quarters.

And thou shalt shew thy son in that day, saying: This is done because of that which the Lord did unto me when I came out of Egypt.
The xiii. Chapter.

1 God commanded to pitch their pavilions in a dangerous place, that he may be the more glorified. 2 God hardened the heart of Pharaoh. 3 Pharaoh pursueth Israel. 4 The Israelites dispersing of themselves do go Judge. 5 Moses promises them that their safety be. 6 The angel following the tenets of Israel, they pass through the middle of the sea. 7 God brought Pharaoh with his army. 8 The Israelites do fear God when they see the miracle.

And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying: 9 And the Egyptians followed after the, and all the chariots and charioteers of Pharaoh, and his horsemen, and his host overtook them pitchying of their tent by the sea beside their harketh before Baal-sephon.

10 And when Pharaoh drew near, the children of Israel lift up their eyes, and behold, the Egyptians followed after them, and they were sore afraid: and the children of Israel repaid out into the Lord.

11 But they layde into Moses: because there were so great in Egypt, fast thou therefore bought us way for to dye in the wilderness: wherefore hast thou troubled us this day, to carry us out of Egypt?

12 Did not we tell thee this in Egypt, saying, let us be red, that we may serue the Egyptians? for it had ben better for us to have served the Egyptians, than to dye in the wilderness.

13 (b) And Moses spake unto the people: 14 Ye feared not, stand up, and behold the salvation of the Lord which he shall shew to you this day: For ye that have seen the Egyptians this day, shall see them no more for ever.

15 (c) And Moses shewed his courage and strength in a manner of his power and might, beyond the power of Pharaoh and all his army.

Exodus. xliii.
14. "The Lord shall fight for you, and ye shall hold your peace.

15. And the Lord said unto Moses: Wherefore criest thou unto me? Speak unto the children of Israel, that they go forward.

16. But lift thou up thine hand, and stretch out thy hand over the sea, and divide it unto the children of Israel, that they may go through the midst of the sea.

17. And the Egyptians shall know that I am the Lord, when I have hardened mine honour upon Pharaoh, upon his chariots, and upon his horsemen.

18. And the Egyptians shall know that I am the Lord, when I have hardened my hand upon Pharaoh, and upon his chariots, and upon his horsemen.

19. And the angel of God, who went before the children of Israel, moved on from the pillar of cloud, and went behind them, and did not move from before them.

20. And came between the camp of the Egyptians, and the camp of Israel, and it was a cloud, and it was darkness: and the Lord went before them by day, and behind them by night.

21. And the Lord stretched out his hand over the sea; and the sea returned backward, and the Egyptians went into the sea after their chariots, and into their horsemen.

22. And the waters became dry ground in the midst of the sea. And the waters were dry before the children of Israel, who went in the sea after them; and the waters of the sea returned upon the Egyptians upon their right hand and upon their left hand.

23. And the Egyptians pursued after them, and all the host of Pharaoh, his chariots, and his horsemen.

24. And the Lord said unto Moses: Stretch out thy hand over the sea, that the waters may come again over the Egyptians, upon their chariots, and upon their horsemen.

25. And Moses stretched out his hand over the sea; and the waters returned upon the sea, and covered the chariots, and the horsemen, and all the host of Pharaoh that were in the sea after them, and there remained not one of them.
Egyptians: and Israel saw the Egyptians dead upon the sea side.

31 And Israel saw that mighty power which the Lord exerted upon the Egyptians: and the people feared the Lord, and believed the Lord and his servant Moses.

2 Thou stretchedst out thy right hand; the earth swallowed them.

3 Thou in thy mercies hast saved this people which thou hast redeemed, and hast brought them in thy strength unto thy holy habitation.

4 The nations that hear shall be afraid,遂or shall come upon Palestina.

5 Then the dukes of the Edomites shall be amazed, and the mighty men of the Moabites trembling shall come upon them, at the inhabitants of Chanaan that bare fable heart.

6 Fear and haste that fall upon them, in the greatness of thine arm they shall as strong as a stone, yea, thy people passtho through, O Lord, while thy people passtho through which thou hast gotten.

7 Thou shalt bying them in, and plant them in the mountain of thine inheritance, the place Lord which thou hast made for to dwell in, the sanctuary, O Lord, which thy hands have prepared.

8 The Lord shall reign for ever and ever.

9 For Pharaoh on horseback went in with his chariots and horsemen into the sea, and the Lord brought the waters of the sea upon them: But the children of Israel went on dry land in the midst of the sea.

10 The enemie said, I will follow, [on the] I will overtake (them) I will devour the holy, and my last halfe fatilised upon them: I will dyalle my holy, nyne halfe shall destroy them.

11 Thou diddest blode with thy blode, the sea coure the, they sakte as leade in the myghtie waters.

23 And when they came to Marah, they could not drink of the waters of Marah; for they were bitter: therefore the name of the place was called Marah.

24 Then the people murmured against Moses, saying: What shall we drink? And he cried unto the Lord; and the Lord showed him a tree, which, when he had cast into the waters, the waters were made sweet: there he made them an ordinance and a laver.

25 And he spake unto the Lord, saying: If thou wilt hearken unto the voice of their complaining, as I hear the murmuring of the children of Israel, when they say: Who shall give us flesh to eat?

26 And the Lord said unto Moses: I will rain manna unto thee, and the children of Israel shall go out and gather a certain rate every day, that I may prove them whether they will take that which I have given unto them in the sight of all the congregation.

27 And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying: I have heard the murmur of the children of Israel: speak unto them, saying: Moreover the Lord spake unto Moses: Behold, I will cause my rain to come down unto thee, and the waters shall flow from the ground, and shall go into the tents: and thou shalt gather it every man according to his family, according to the number of the souls, that they may eat.

28 And Moses said unto the Lord: How shall I prove this people, and how shall I prove them, that they believe thee in the land of Canaan?

29 And the Lord said unto Moses: Take of the manna, which they shall eat according to the number of the days wherein ye shall be lit a journey, upon the twentieth day of the month, and hide it in the co做一个 comp of dry embers, and it shall keep thee from wanting bread.

30 And Moses took the manna, and put it in a co做 of dry embers, which he had taken, even the co做的 of the calabbash, which he had gathered. And it did preserve the bread from becoming corrupt.

31 Then Moses said unto Aaron: Take a co做 of Aaron's flesh, and put it before the Lord, to be burneth upon the altar, being an offering made by fire, a sweet incense.

32 And he took the co做 of Aaron's flesh, and put it before the Lord for a burnt offering, being an offering made by fire, a sweet incense.

33 Then said Moses unto Aaron: This is it which was spoken: Behold, I have called the name of the Lord, and it is a sweet incense before the Lord; and the gift is acceptable, because it is a sweet incense: therefore the name of it is called an incense offering before the Lord, to be burneth upon the altar for a perpetual burnt offering.

34 And Aaron did according to the word of Moses; and he took the incense burnt offering, and carried it into the tabernacle of the congregation: and Aaron cast thereof upon the altar, and he burneth fire upon the altar. And Aaron cast thereof upon the altar, and he burneth fire upon the altar. And Aaron cast thereof upon the altar, and he burneth fire upon the altar.

35 And Moses said unto Aaron and to all the congregation of the children of Israel: This is it which the Lord spake, saying, When the Lord shall come from among you, and when ye shall see his cloud, and the sound of the trumpet, then ye shall come forth to meet the Lord.

36 And Moses said unto Aaron: Take a co做 of the manna, which shall be kept for a token: this is for a纪念 of the children of Israel, for their generations, that they may know that I am the Lord that brought them out of the land of Egypt.
5. The first day they shall prepare for them sicles that which they will hang in, and let it be tible as much as they gather in dayly.

6. And Moses and Aaron spoke unto the children of Israel: At even ye shall know that it is the Lord which brought you out of the land of Egypt.

7. And in the morning ye shall see the glory of the Lord, because he hath heard your grudgings against the Lord: And what are we, that ye have murmured against us?

8. And Moses spake unto Aaron: Say unto all the congregation of the children of Israel, come forth before the Lord: for he hath heard your grudgings.

9. And as Aaron spake unto the whole congregation of the children of Israel, they looked towards the wilderness, and beheld, the glory of the Lord appeared in the cloud.

10. And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying:

11. I have heard the murmuring of the children of Israel, tell them therefore, and say: at even ye shall eat flesh, and in the morning ye shall be filled with bread, and ye shall know that I am the Lord your God.

12. And at even the quails came up by and covered the tents, and in the morning the dew laid round about them.

13. And when the dew was gone up, behold, upon the ground there lay a small round thing, as small as the hoare frost on the ground.

14. And when the children of Israel saw it, they said one to his neighbour, it is manna: for they knew not what it was. And Moses laid unto the: This is the bread which the Lord hath given you to eat.

15. This is the word which the Lord hath commanded: Gather of it every one, for he eateth of it every man, according to the number of your souls, and take every man for them which are in his tents.

16. And the children of Israel did even so, and gathered some more, some less.

19. And Moses spake unto them: (c) see that no man let ought remaine to the morning.

20. Notwithstanding, (d) they hearkened not unto Moses: but some of them kept of it until the morning, and it waxed full of worms, and corrupted: and Moses was angry with them.

21. And they gathered all mornygens every man as much as suffis for his eating, and as ittome as the heat of the sunne came, it mould.

22. And the first day they gathered twice as much as suffis for his eating, and as ittome as the heat of the sunne came, it mould.

23. He spake unto them, This is that whiche the Lord hath said: To morowe is the rest of the holy sabbath unto the Lord, bake that where with you will bake to day, and sethe that ye will sethe, and that where remaineth, lay till the morning.

24. (b) And they laid it by till the morning, as Moses had: and it did not corrupt, neither bred there any worme therein.

25. And Moses spake: eat that to day, for it is the sabbath unto the Lord, to day ye shall not finde it in the field.

26. Sixt dayes ye shall gather it, and in the sabbath day where is the sabbath, in it there shalbe none.

27. (d) Notwithstanding, there went out none of the people in the sabbath day for to gather, and they founde none.

28. And the Lord spake unto Moses: Holy (b) long refuse ye to keep my commandements and my laves.

29. See, the Lord hath given you a sabbath, therefore he giveth you the sabbath day bread for two dayes: by he therefore every man at home, and let no man go out of his place the sabbath day.

30. And the people rested the sabbath day.

31. And the house of Israel called the name thereof (b) manna: and it was like coriander seed, but yet white, and the taste of it was like wafers made with honey.

32. And Moses spake: this is that whiche the Lord hath spoken to me for you.
the Lord commanded, fill a gomer of it, which may be kept for your children after you, that they may see the bread whereby I have fed you in the w旷erness; when I brought you out of the land of Egypt.

33 And Moses took unto Aaron: Take a pot, and put a gomer full of Manna therein, and lay it by before the Lord, to be kept for your children after you.

34 As the Lord commanded Moses, so Aaron laid it by before the testimo-nee to be kept.

35 And the children of Israel dyed Manna (a) fourteen years, until they came to a land inhabited, and so they did eat Manna, even until they came into the borders of the land of Chanaan.

And five people dyed chyde with with me? Wherefore do ye tempt the Lord?

There the people thirsted for water, and five people murmured against Moses, and said:
Wherefore hast thou thus brought us out of Egypt, to kill me, and my children, and my cattle with thirst?

And Moses cried unto the Lord, saying: What shall I do unto this people, they be almost ready to stone me?

And the Lord said unto Moses:
Go before the people, and take with thee of the elders of Israel: and the rod wherein thou smitest the rock take in thine hand, and go.

Behold, I stand before thee upon the rock that is in Horeb, and thou shalt smite the rock, and there shall come water out of it for the people to drink. And Moses dyed even so before the eyes of the elders of Israel.

And he called the name of the place
Massah, and Meribah, because of the quarreling of the children of Israel, and because they tempted the Lord, saying:
Is the Lord among us, or no?

Then came Amalec and fought with Israel in Raphshim.

And Moses laid him down: Joshua.

12 But Moses hands were heaunc, and therefore they take a stone and put it under him, and he sat downe thereon: and Aaron and Hur stayed by his handes, the one on the one side, and the other on the other side: And his handes remayned stode, untill the going downe of the sunne.

13 And Josia discourfeted Amelec and his people with the edge of the sword.

14 And the Lord deale into Moses: wypse (b) this for a remembrance in a booke, and commit it into the cates of Josia, so, I will utterly put out the remembrance of (c) Amelec from under heaven.

15 And Moses made an auter, and called the name of it: 'The Lord is he that dothetly miracles for me.'

16 For he said: the hande is on the sake of God, the Lord will have warre with Amelec fro generation to generation.

The xix. Chapter.

1 They came to mount Sinai, 1 The people of Israel, the people of God. 6 A priestly kingdom, an holy nation. 7 Moses declared the words of God. 9 God would that his credit should be given to Moses' words. 10 He is the people is commanded to be sanctified. 1: Be that toucheth the mountaine, is stoned. 14 The people is sanctified. 16 God appeared in thunder and lightニング, to be feared of the people. 22 The priests are sanctified. 24 The people and priests may not touch the hilt.

They came to mount Sinai, and the children of Israel were gone out of the land of Egypt. And the same day came they into the wilderness of Sinai. For they were departed from Raphidim, and were come to the desert of Sinai, and had pitched their tents in the wilderness, and there Israel camped before the mountaine. But Moses went up into God, and the Lord calleth into hyme out of the mountaine, saying: Thus saith he (a) thy house of Israel, and tell the children of Israel. He saith (c) feene what I did unto the Egyptians, and take you up by (b) Eagles byrynes, and haue brought you into my selle.

5 Neither therefore ye shall hear my byrynes in beede, and hope my couenaunt, ye shall be as a deare (d) treasure unto me above all nations: (c) for at the earth is mine. 6 Be halve unto me also a (c) kingdom of priests, an holy people: And these are the words which thou shalt lay unto the children of Israel.

7 Moses came and called for the elders of the people, and laye before them faces all these words whiche the Lord commanded. 8 And the people answered altogether, and laye: (c) All that the Lord hath said, we will do. And Moses brought the words of the people unto the Lord. 9 And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying: I come unto thee in a thick cloade, that the people may not see me talking with thee, and believe thee for euere. 10 And Moses spake unto the people: Go unto the people, and (c) sanctifie the to day and to morrow, and let them gather the mannes clothes.
And be ready against the third day, for the third day the Lord will come down in the sight of all the people upon Mount Sinai.

And thou shalt set bounds round about the people round about, a: lay: take heede to your selves that ye go not up into the mount, lest the border of it: whatsoever toucheth the mount, shall sure dye.

There shall not an hande touch it, els he halfe stoned, or shot through: whether he be beast, or man, it shall not live: when the "trumpet bloudeth" long, then may they come by into the mountayne.

And the people came unto the mount, and sanctified themselves, and they washed their clothes.

And he said unto the people: be ready against the third day, and come not at (your) wishes.

And the third day in the morning there was (m) thunder and lightning, and a thick cloud upon the mount, and the boose of the trumpet exceeding loud, so that all the people that was in the boose was asayed.

And Moses brought the people out of the tents to meet with God, and the boose at the farther part of the hill.

And Mount Sinai was altogether on a booke, because the Lord descended downe upon it in fire, and the smoke thereof, ascended by as the smoke of a furnace, and all the mount quaked exceedyng.

And when the booe of the trumpet bloud long, and wared louder and louder, Moses spake, and God answered him by a booke.

And the Lord (c) came down upon Mount Sinai, even in the toppe of the hill: when the Lord called Moses by into the top of the hill, Moses went by.

And the Lord spake unto Moses: (g)
Go downe, charge the people, lest they break out from their boundes to see the Lord, and so (c) many of them perished.

And let the priests also whiche come to the Lord sanctifie them leues, lest the Lord destroy them.

And Moses said unto the Lord: The people can not come into the mount Sinai, for thou chargest vs, saying: let boundes about the hill, and sanctifie it.

And the Lord spake unto Moses: (d) Arise, and get thee boowe, (e) thou shalt come by, thou and Aaron with thee: but let not the (f) priests and the people presume to come by into the Lord, lest he destroy them.

And so Moses went downe into the people, and tolde them.
20 And Moses layde unto the people: fear not, for God is come to prove you, and that his fear may be before your eyes, that ye be a trembling.

21 And the people (c) stood a face to face, and Moses went into the (d) thick cloud where God was.

22 And the Lord spake unto Moses, Thus thou shalt say unto the children of Israel: Ye have seen that (c) I have talked with you from out of the heavens.

23 Ye shall not make thee gods of silver, nor ye shall make ye gods of gold.

24 (d) An altar of earth thou shalt make unto me, and thereon offer thy burnt offerings, and thy peace offerings, thy milk offerings, and thy burnt offerings, where I shall put the remembrance of my name, the altar I will come into, and blest be thee.

25 And if thou wilt make me an altar of stone, fete thou make it not of heben stone: cli if thou wilt make thy toake upon thee, it shall holde it.

26 Neither shalt thou go vp by steps upon my pomeanitor, that thy hand be not thebed heron.

(98) Wherefore the Hittites have on their day, God wouldent one altar among them, that might be quickly, by he be called, lest many altars might be set up for every family, and being left so other, he might have brought superstition. 11 And thou shalt kill hym before the Lord, by the doore of the tabernacle of witnesse.

12 And take of the blood of the calfe, and put it upon the hones of the aulte with thy fingeer: and pour all the rest of the blood beside the bottome of the aulte.

13 And take all the fat that couereth the inwarbes, and the hale [that is] on the luyer, anf the two hydneys, and the fat that is upon them, and burne them upon the aulte.

14 But the fiche of the calfe, and his skyn, and his bounge, shalt thou burne with fire without the hoaste: it is a fume offering.

15 Thou shalt also take one Ramme, and Aaron and his sones shal put they handes upon the head of the Ramme.

16 And when thou haile the Kaine, thou shalt take his blood, and fpuinkle it rounde about upon the aulte:

17 And cut the Ramme in peeces, and wafe the inwarbes of hym, and his legges, and put them into the peeces, and into his hede.

18 And then burne the whole Ramme vpon the aulte: for it is a burn offering vnto the Lorde for a liuerete faveur, a facrifice made by fire vnto the Lorde.

19 And take the other Ramme, and Aaron & his sones shal put they handes vpon his hede.

20 Then shalt thou kill hym, and take of his blood, and put it vpon the tip of the right care of Aaron, and vpon the tip of the right care of his sones, and vpon the chonide of they right handes, and vpon the great toe of they right foot, and fpuinkle the blood vpon the aulte rounde about.

21 And thou shalt take of the blood that is vpon the aulte, & of the anointing oyle, and fpuinkle it vpon Aaron & his velumentes, and vpon his sones and vpon they gaumentes, with hym, and he shalbe fhalowed and his clothes, and his sones and they clothes, with hym.

22 And thou shalt take the fat of the Ramme, & his rynke, and the fat that couereth the inwarbes, and the hale of the luyer, and the two hydneys, and the fat

23 And a shewem of bread, and a cake of oiled bread, and a wafer out of the ba

the Lord.

24 And put all vp the hands of Aaron, and on the hands of his sones, and 26 And thou shalt take the best of the Rammie of Aarones consecration, and 27 And thou shalt sanctifie the best of 29 And the holy garments of Aaron

33 And they shall eate them, because the atonement was made therewith to kill they handes and to consecrate them:
but a stranger shall not eate thereof, be taue they are holy.

34 And of the flesh of the consecration, or of the bread, remayne unfo fire: and it shall not be eaten, because it is holy.

35 Therefore shalt thou do unto Aaron and his sones such, according to all things which I have commanded thee: seven daies shalt thou kill they handes.

36 And thou shalt offer euerday a calfe for a suene offering: to resolue with all: and thou shalt cleanse the aultur e anompute it, to sanctifie it.

37 Seven daues thou shalt reconsecrate by the aultur, and sanctifie it, it shall bee

Lord.

42 And I will bee a continual burning of offering amongst your children after you, before the doore of my tabernacle of wit nesse before the Lord, where I will meet you, to speake thereunto thee.

43 There I will meete the children of Israel, and (1) the place shall bee sancti

44 And I will sanctifie the tabernacle of wytneffe and the aultur: and I will sanctifie also both Aaron & his sones, to be my pneeties.

45 And I will dwell amongst the chil dren of Israel, and will be their God:

46 And they shall knowe that I am the Lord they: God, that brought them out

q The xxxj. Chapter.

God gave his spirit to Bezaleel and Oلال the workemen, to invent all things which appertaine to the framing making of the tabernacle. 11 What signe the Sabboth is, is Tables of stone written with the finger of God.

And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying: Beholde, I have called by name Bezaleel the sonne of Uri, the sonne of Hur, of the tribe of Juda,

And I have spytten him with the spirit of God, in wisdom and understanding, in knowledge, and in all maner worke,

To dyde out witty devises, and to worke in golde, sylver, and in basse,

And in the craft to let stones, and to carve in tymber, and to worke in all maner workmanship.

And beholde, I have given hym to be his companion: Dovilab the sonne of Achifame, of the tribe of Dan: and in the hearts of all that are wise hearted I have put wiselye, to make all that I have commaunded thee:

The tabernacle of the congregation, the arke of the testimonie, & the mercue feate that is theruppon, and all the furniture of the tabernacle:

And the table and his furniture, and the pure candlestick with all his furniture, and the vultur of incense,

And the vultur of burnt offering and all his furniture, and the lauer with his foot,

The vestements to minister in, and the holy garments for Aaron the priest, and the garments of his sonnes to minister in:

And the anointyng oyle, and sweete incense for the sanctuary: according to all that I have commaunded thee, that they do.

And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying:

Speake unto the children of Israel, and say, In any lyke see that ye kepe [me] Sabbothes: for it is a signe betweene me & you in your generations, for to knowe that I the Lord am he that doth sanctifie you.

Exodus.

The golden calf.

14. Repe my Sabbath therefore, for it is holy unto you. For that defileth it shall be put to death; for whosoever worketh therein, the same soul shall be rooted out from amongst his people.
15. Six days shall men work; and in the seventh day is the Sabbath of the holy rest of the Lord: whosoever doth any work in the Sabbath day shall die the death.
16. Wherefore let the children of Israel keep the Sabbath, that they observe the Sabbath throughout their generations: it is a perpetuall covenant.

17. For it is a signe betwene me and the children of Israel for ever: for in six days the Lord made heaven and earth, and in the seventh day he rested, and was refreshed.
18. And when the Lord had made an end of communing with Moses upon the mount Sinai, he gave him two tables of witnesse, even tables of stone, written (6) with the finger of God.

The xxxii. Chapter.

Moses interreateth God for Israel, citing his promises. 5. Moses descryeth by the hill, the tables described of God. 6. Moses beynge angered breaketh the tables and the calfe. 7. He chideth his brother Aaron. 8. The Idolaters be murdered of the Leuites at Moses commandement. 9. Moses rebuketh the offence of the people. 10. He wyll be putten out of the booke olf lyfe, and have the peoples offence pardoned. 11. They that be written in the booke of God.

And when they people sate that it was loge of Moses came downe out of the mountaine, they gathered them selves together unto Aaron, and sayd unto hym, UP, make vs Gods to go before vs: for we vowe not what is become of this Moses, the man that brought vs out of the lande of Egypt.

2. And Aaron sayd unto them: Plucke of the golden earings which are in the ears of your wives, of your sons, of your daughters, and bring them unto me.
3. And all the people pluckèd of the golden earings which they had in their ears, and brought them unto Aaron.
4. And he receaued them of their hands, and fashioned it with a grauer, and made of it a calfe of molten mettall: and they said, These be thy gods O Israel, which brought thee out of the lande of Egypt.
5. And when Aaron sate that, he made an altar before it, and Aaron made proclamation, saying: Lo, Moses is the holy day of the Lord.
6 And they rose up in the morning, and offered burnt offerings, and brought peace offerings also: and the people ate dough and drinke, and rose up against to play.

7 And the Lord said unto Moses: Go get thee out of the land of Egypt, that thou mayest be a minister of my people.
8 They are turned quickly out of the way which I commanded them: for they have made them a calf of molten mettal, and have worshipped it, and have offered their burnt-offering, saying: These be thy gods, O Israel, which have brought thee out of the land of Egypt.
9 And the Lord said unto Moses: I have seen this people: and behold, it is a stiffnecked people.
10 And now, lest I smite them with a stroke in my envy, and consume them, and make thee a nation more mighty than they.
11 And Moses besought the Lord his God, and said: O Lord, why dost thou the wrath of thy people which thou hast brought out of the land of Egypt with great power, and with a mighty hand:
12 Wherefore should the Egyptians speak, saying: For a mischief they be beying them out, even for to slay them in the mountains, to consume them from the face of the earth: Turn from thy fierce wrath, and repent of this evil which thou hast wrought unto the people.
13 Remember Abraham, Isaac, and Israel thy servants, to whom thou shewedst thy holy seed, and hastordained them unto thee.
14 And Moses restrained him, saying: Who is the Lord, that I should go? and who is he that shall return him? and what is his name, that I may speak unto the people: for I am but a man.
15 And Moses turned his back, and went down from the hill, and the two tables of the covenant were in his hand.
16 And the same tables were written in both the tables, even on the one side, and on the other: Were they written: And these tables were the worke of God, and the writing was the writing of God, graven in the tables.
17 And when Joshua heard the noise of the people as they shouted, he spake unto the Lord: There is a noise of warre in the land.
18 And he answered: It is not the voice of them that have the mastery; but that have the voice: but I do hear the noise of them that shouting.
19 And as he came nigh into the land, he faw the caufe, and the bauntings: and Moses's wrath waxed hot with him, and he cast the tables out of his handes, and brake them beneath the hill.
20 And he took the altar of burnt-offering, and fluthe it in the fire, cast it into in the fire, flent it into in the fire, made the children of Israel drunk of it.
21 And Moses said unto Aaron: What did this people unto thee, that thou hast brought so great a shame upon them?
22 And Aaron answered, Lest the wrath of my Lord be fierce: thou knowest the people that they are even set on mischief.
23 For they have said: Make us gods: as gods did go to go before us, for we have not what is become of Apelles, the man that brought us out of the land of Egypt.
24 And I said unto them: Let there be gold, pluck it of: And they brought it unto me, and I did cast it into the fire, and thereof came this call.
25 And Moses therefore spake that the people were naked: and that Aaron had made them naked unto their shame, amongst their enemies.
26 And Moses said in the gate of the land, and said: Who are the men, that hath the image of God, the Lord his God, is in the gate to enter into it. And all the strangers that are in the gates gathered the steines together unto hyn.
27 And he said unto them: Thus spake the Lord God of Israel: Put every man his bowe by his side, and go in and out from gate to gate throughout the land, and say every one his brother, even his companion, and every man his neighbour.
28 And the childe of Levi yd: as Popes had lain: And there fell of the people the same day about three thousand men.
29 And Moses said: Fill your hands with fire unto the Lord: this day, every man his bowe, and every bowe his sonne, and every bowe his brother, and that there may be seen you a blessing this day.
30 And on the morowe Moses said unto the people: Ye have smitten a great saine: And
And now I will go up into the Lord, peradventure I may purchase an atonement for your name.

31 Moses therefore went againe vnto the Lord, and saide: O Lord, this people haue sinned a great sinne, and haue made them gods of golde.

32 And nowe I sorgene them their name: if thou wyl not, wippe me I pray thee out of thy booke whiche thou haft written.

33 And the Lord sayde vnto Moses: I will put hym out of my booke that hath sinned against me.

34 And nowe go thou, hyng the people vnto the place whiche I said vnto thee, before, and, none angell shall goe before thee: Neuerthelesse, in that day when I shewe I wyll shewe their sinne vnto them.

35 And the Lord plagued the people, because they made the cale which Aaron made.

And the Lord sayde vnto Moses: Depart and goe hence, thou and the people whiche thou hast brought out of the land of Egypt, into the land which I haue vnto Abraham, Isaac, & Jacob, saying, vnto thy seede wyll I give it.

2 And I will lend an angell before thee, and I will call out the Chanaanites, the Amorites, the Hitites, the Peresites, the Hethites, the Jebusites;

3 Unto a lande that floweth with mylke and honey. For I wyll not go amongst youpsn selue: for ye are a hyckneked people, let I continue thee in the way.

4 And when the people hearde this cust tidinges, they sowerd: and no man byd put on his best rayment.

5 And the Lord spake vnto Moses: Say vnto the children of Israel, ye are a hyckneked people: I must come one sodainly vpon you, and make an ende of you: therefore no vnde put thy goodly rayment from thee, that I may wyll what to do vnto thee.

6 And the children of Israel layde their goodly rayment from them, euen by the mount horeb.

7 And Moses toke the tabernacle, and pitched it without the hoaste a farre of from the hoaste, and called it the tabernacle of the congregation; And so it came to passe that every one whiche woulde prate vnto the Lord, went out into the tabernacle of the congregation which was without the hoaste.

8 And when Moses went out into the tabernacle, all the people rode vp, and stode every man at his tent doore, and lookt after Moses, vntill he was gone into the tabernacle.

9 And as one as Moses was entred into the tabernacle, the cloudie pillar descended, and stode at the dooe of the tabernacle, and he talke with Moses.

10 And all the people sawe the cloudie pillar stand at the tabernacle doore, and they rode vp and Worshipped every man in his tent doore.

11 And the Lord spake vnto Moses: Depart face to face, as a man speaketh vnto his frende, and he turned agayn into the hoaste: but the young man Joshua his seruaunt the sonne of Nun, departed not out of the tabernacle.

12 And Moses laid vnto the Lord: See, thou spakest vnto me, Leade this people sooth: 2 thou hast not shewed me who thou wyll send with me. And thou hast sayd moreover, I knowe thee by name, 3 thou hast also found grace in my light.

13 And wherefore, if I haue founde fauour in thy light, then I pray thee shew me thy 4 way, that I may know thee, and that I may finde grace in thy light, and confinde alfo that this nation is thy people.

14 And he said: By presence shall goe with thee, and I wyll geve thee rest.

15 He spake vnto hyn: If by presence go not with me, cary vs not hence.
Exodus.

16 For howe shall it be known here, that I and thy people have founde favour in thy sight, but in that thou goest with us: If thou goest with us, shall not I and thy people have preeminence before all the people that are upon the face of the earth?

17 And the Lord said unto Moses: I will do this also that thou hast said, so thou hast found grace in my sight, and I know thee by name.

18 And he said: I believe thee, thee wile me thy glorie.

19 Who answered: I will make all my good go before thee, and I will call in the name of Jehovah before thee: and I will shewe mercy upon him whom I will shewe mercy, and I will have compassion, on whom I will have compassion.

20 And he said furthermore, Thou mayest not see my face: for there shall no man see me, and live.

21 And the Lord said: Behold, there is a place by me, and thou shalt stande upon a rocke.

22 And While my glory goeth forth, I will put thee in a cloud of the rocke, and will put my hand upon thee, while I passe by.

23 And I will take away mine hande, and thou shalt see my backe partes: but my face shall not be seene.

And keeping mercy in sore for thousandes, forerring wickednes, ungodly

3 And Moses made haste, and bowed hym selfe to the earth, and worshipped,

And layd: If I haue founde grace in thy sight, O Lorde, then let my Lorde I pray thee go in the middest of vs, for it is a stynched people: and thou shalt haue mercy upon our wickednes and our sinne, and shalt take vs for thine inheritance.

And he said: Behold, I make a concordant before all thy people, & I will do mercies, such as haue not ben done in all the woyde, neither in all nations: 4 all the people amongst which thou art, shall see the woyde of the Lorde: for it is a terrible thing that I will do with thee.

Speak unto the children of Israel, and saye, If a soul shall hunte through ignorance in any of the commandements of the Lord which ought not to be done, but shall do contrary to any of them:

As if the priest that is annointed, do hunte according to the same of the people, let hym burne for his hunte which he hath hunte, a young bullocke without blemisle, into the Loide for a same offering.

And he shall burne the young bullocke into the doore of the tabernacle of the congregation before the Lord: and shall put his hand upon the young bullockes head, and kill the young bullocke before the Loide.

And the priest that is annointed shall take of the young bullockes blood, and burne it into the tabernacle of the congregation.

And the priest shall dippe his finger in the blood, and sprinkle thereof seven tymes before the Loide, even before the baple of the sanctuarie.

And the priest shall put some of the blood before the Lord, upon the hones of the altar of sweete incence, which is in the tabernacle of the congregation, and shall poeze all the blood of the young bullocke into the bottome of the altar of burnt offering, which is at the doore of the tabernacle of the congregation.

And he shall take away all the fat of the bullocke for the same offering, the fat that couereth the inwarde, and all the fat that is about the inwarde.

And the two kindeis, and the fat that is upon them, and the fat that is upon the flankeis, and the hale upon the huer shall he take away with the kindeis.

13 If the whole congregation of Israel, sone through ignorance, the thing be hid from the eyes of the multitude, and have done somewhat against any of the commandments of God, which should not be done, and have offended:

14 Wherewith the sinne which they have sinned is known, the congregation shall bring a young bullocke for the sinne, bring him before the tabernacle of the congregation,

15 And the elders of the multitude shall put their hands upon the head of the bullocke before the Lord: And the bullocke shall be slain before the Lord.

16 And the priest that is appointed, shall bring of the bullockes blood into the tabernacle of the congregation.

17 And the priest shall dippe his finger in the blood, and sprinkle it seven times before the Lord, even before the vayle.

21 And he shall bring this bullocke without the holy, burne hym as he burned the first bullocke: For it is an oblation for the sinne of the congregation.

22 When a Lord his wrath, and comitteth through ignorance any of these things which the Lord his God hath forbidden to be done in his commandements, and hath offended:

23 And if his sinne be hidde into hym which he hath done, he shall bring his offering, even an hee goate without blemishe,

24 And lay his hande upon his head of the hee goate, and kill it in the place where the burnt offering is bled to be Killed before the Lord: For it is a sinne offering.

25 And let the priest take of the blood of the sinne offering with his finger, put it upon the hoomes of the burnt offering aultar, and poaze his blood into the bottome of the burnt offering aultar.

26 And burne all his fat upon the aultar, as the fat of the peace offering: And the priest that make an attonement for him as conning his sinne, shall be forgiven him.

27 If one of the common people of the land sone through ignorance, commit any of the thynge which the Lord hath forbidden in his commandements, to be done, and so hath re República:

28 If his sinne which he hath sinned come to his knowledge, he shall bring for his offering a hee goate from among the stocches without blemishe for his sinne which he hath sinned,

29 And lay his hande upon the head of the sinne offering, and slay the sinne offering in the place of burnt offerings.

30 And the priest shall take of the blood thereof with his finger, and put it upon the hoomes of the burnt offering aultar, poaze all the blood into the bottome of the aultar,

31 And shall take away all his fat, as the fat of the peace offering is taken away: And the priest shall burne it upon the altar, that it may be a sweete savour into the Lord, and the priest shall make an attonement for hym, and it shall be forgiven hym.

32 And if he burne a sheepe for a sinne offering, he shall burne a female without blemishe, 33 And lay his hande upon the head of the sinne offering, and slay it for a sinne offering in the place where they kill the burnt offering.

34 And the priest shall take of the blood of the sinne offering with his finger, put it upon the hoomes of the burnt offering altar, and shall poaze the blood there of into the bottome of the aultar.

35 And he shall take away all the fat thereof, as the fat of the sheepe of the peace offering is wont to be taken away: And the priest shall burne it upon the altar, that it may be the Lords burnt sacrifice, and the priest shall make an attonement for his sinne that he hath committed, and it shall be forgiven hym.

6 The amputing of Aaron and his sons.

7 And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying:

3 Take Aaron and his sons, and the vestures, and the amputing bale, and a bullocke for a time offering, and two Barannes, and a basket of unleavened bread:

4 And gather thou all the congregation together unto the dooz of the tabernacle of the congregation.

5 And
And Moses said unto the congregation: This is the thing which the Lord commanded to be done.

6 And Moses bought Aaron and his sons, and washed them with water:
7 And put upon him the coat, and girded him with a girdle, and put upon him the robe, and put the ephod thereon, whereby he girded him with the broad ephod girdle that was in the ephod, and bound it upon him therewith.
8 And he put the breastplate thereon, and put in the breastplate the Urim and the Thummim.
9 And he put the cap of estate upon his head, and put upon the cap, even upon the forehead, the golden plate, the holy crown, as the Lord commanded Moses.

10 And Moses took the anointing oyle, and anointed the tabernacle and all that was therein, and sanctified them.

11 And sprinkled therewith of the anointing oyle upon the altar seven times, and anointed the altar, and all his vessels, the laver and his foot, to sanctify them.

12 And he put of the anointing oyle upon Aaron's head, and anointed him to sanctify him.

13 And Moses brought Aaron's sons, and put coats upon them, and girded them with girdles, and put bonettes upon their heads, as the Lord commanded Moses.

14 And he brought the Bullocke for the same offering: and Aaron and his sons put their hands upon the head of the Bullocke for the same offering.

15 And Moses said, etc. And Moses sprinkled him, and took the blood which he put upon the horns of the altar rounde about with his finger, and sprinkled the altar, and poured the blood at the bottome of the altar: and sanctified it, to make reconcilement by it.

16 And he took all the fat that was upon the inwards, and upon the hauk, and the hauk, and the two kidneys and their fat, and Moses burned it upon the altar.

17 But the Bullocke, and his hide, his flesh, and his bowes, he burnt with fire without the hauk, as the Lord commanded Moses.

18 And he brought the Ramme for the burnt offering, and Aaron and his sons put their hands upon the head of the Ramme, 19 Which Moses killed, and sprinkled the blood upon the altar rounde about.

20 And Moses cut the Ramme into his peeces, and burnt the head, the peeces, and the fat.

21 And Moses took the inwards and the legs in water, etc. Moses burnt the Ramme everybody upon the altar: for it was a burnt sacrifice for a sweete favour, and an offering made by fire unto the Lord, as the Lord commanded Moses.

22 And he brought the other Ramme, namely the Ramme of consecrations: and Aaron and his sons put their hands upon the head of the Ramme.

23 Which Moses sprinkled, and took of the blood of it, and put it upon the tip of Aaron's right ear, and upon the thumb of his right hande, and upon the great toe of his right foot.

24 And Moses brought Aaron's sons, and put of the blood on the tippe of the right ear of them, and upon the thumbs of they right handes, and upon the great toes of their right foote: and Moses sprinkled the blood upon the altar rounde about.

25 And he took the fat, and the rump, and all the fat that was upon the inwards, and the hauk of the laver, and the two kidneys with their fat, and the right shouder.

26 And out of the barley of unleauened bread that was before the Lord, he took one unleauened cake, and a cake of oiled bread, and one watter, and put them on the fat, and upon the right shouder.

27 And put altogether upon Aaron's hauck, and upon his hauck handes, and waied it a wave offering before the Lord.

28 And Moses took them from of their handes, and burnt them upon the altar for a burnt offering: These were consecrations for a sweete favour and sacrifice made by fire unto the Lord.

29 And Moses took the breast, and waied it for a wave offering before the Lord: for of the Ramme of consecrations, it was Moses part, as the Lord commanded Moses.

30 And Moses took of the anointing oyle, and of the blood which was upon the altar, and sprinkled it upon Aaron and his garments, and upon his sonnes, and on his sons garments, with him: and sanctified Aaron and his vestures, and his sonnes and his sonnes vestures with hym.
And Moses said unto Aaron and his sons: Ye shall offer the flesh the firstling at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation, and there ye shall offer it with the buns that is in the basket of consecration, and as I commanded, saying, Aaron and his sons shall eat it.

And ye shall not depart from the door of the tabernacle of the congregation seven days, until the days of your consecrations be at an end: for seven days shall he fill your hande.

As he did this day: even so the Lord hath commanded to do, to make an atonement for you.

Therefore shall ye abide at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation day and night seven days long, and keep the watch of the Lord, and ye shall not dye: for so I am commanded.

And so Aaron and his sons, by all things which the Lord commanded by the hande of Moses.

The ix. Chapter.

The first offerings of Aaron. § Aaron blesteth the people. § The slaine of the Lord is showed.

And in the right day, Moses called Aaron and his sons, and the elders of Israel, and he laid hands upon Aaron, and a Ramme for a burnt offering, and a Bulloche and a Ramme for peace offerings, to offer before the Lord, and a meat offering mingled with oil: for to day the Lord will appeare unto you.

And they brought that which Moses commanded, before the tabernacle of the congregation: and all the congregation came and stood before the Lord.

And Moses said: This is the thing which the Lord commanded that ye should do: the glory of the Lord shall appeare unto you.

And Moses said unto Aaron: Go into the anointer, and offer the sacrifice for thy sinne, the burnt offering, and make an atonement for thee and for the people: and thou shalt offer the offering of the people, and make an atonement for them, as I Lord commanded.

Aaron therefore went unto the anointer, and stowe the Calfe of the sinne offering, which was for him selfe.

And the buns of Aaron brought the blood into him, and he dypt his finger in the blood, and put it upon the buns of the aulters, and poured the blood at the botome of the aulters.

But the fat and the two shewbrea, and the half of the laver of the same offering, he burnt upon the aultor, as the Lord commanded Moses.

The flesh and the hyde he burnt without the houle.

And he smote the burnt offering, and Aaron buns brought into hym the blood, which he sprinkelde rounde about upon the aultor.

And they brought the burnt offering into hym with the pieces thereof: and he burnt them upon the aultor.

And he dyd waethe the inwards and the legges, and burnt them upon the burnt offering in the aultor.

And then he brought the peoplees offering, taking the Calfe which he was the same offering for the people, he stowe it, and offered it for him, as he dyde the first.

And brought the burnt offering, and offered it as the manner was.

* And he brought the meat offering, and filled his hande thereof, and burnt it upon the aultor, beside the burnt sacrifice of the morning.

He smote also the Bulloche and the Ramme for the peace offering, which was for the people: and Aaron buns brought into hym the blood, which he sprinkelde upon the aultor round about:

And the fat of the Bulloche, and of the Ramme, the rumpes, and that which concreth the inwards, and the kidneyes, and the tail of the tier.

And they put the fat upon the brestes, and he burnt the fat upon the aultor.

But the brestes and the rght shoulder.
And the people, and blessed them, and gave them the tables of the congregation, and came out, and blessed the people: and the glory of the Lord appeared unto all the people.

4. And Moses took the tabernacle of the congregation, and pitched it without the camp, and put a veil upon it; and there Moses did go in before the Lord unto the tent of meeting, and came out, and called upon the Name of the Lord.

5. And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying:

6. Thou shalt not drink wine nor strong drink, thou nor thy sons that are with thee, when ye go into the tabernacle of the congregation, lest it be a snare unto thee: for the Lord is among the congregation.

7. And Aaron spake unto Moses, saying: Thus it is written, that the Lord spake, saying: I will sanctify them in me that come near me: before all the people I will make my glory known.

14. And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying:
And the Lord spake unto Moses and Aaron, and said unto them:

Speak unto the children of Israel, and say: These are the beasts which ye shall eat, among all the beasts that are on the earth.

Whatsoever parteth the hooves, and is cloven footed, and cheweth the cud among the beasts, that shall ye eat.

Neither these, these shall ye not eat, of them that chew the cud, and deteinth the hooves: *[i.e.,] as is the camel, which cheweth the cud, but he deteinth not the hooves, therefore is he unclean unto you.

Even to the conie which cheweth the cud, but deteinth not the hooves, he is unclean to you.

And the hare, though he cheweth the cud, yet because he deteinth not the hooves, he is therefore unclean to you.

And again the shewyn, though he deteinth the hooves, and is cloven footed, yet he cheweth not the cud, he is unclean to you.

And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying:

Of their flesh ye shall not eat, and their carcases shall ye not touch: but let them be unclean unto you.

These shall ye eat, of all that are in the waters: whatsoever hath fins, and scales in the waters, teats, and rivers, that shall ye eat.

And all that have not fins and scales in the sea and rivers, of all that moveth and lieth in the waters, let them be abomination unto you.

They shall be an abomination unto you: ye shall not eat of their flesh, but abhorre their carcases.

Let all that have no fins and scales in the waters, be abominable unto you.

These are they which ye shall abhorre among the fowls, and that ought not to be eaten, for they are an abomination: [i.e.,] the egle, the gothauke, and the opypry.

The chylur, and the byte after his kinde.

And all Rauens after their kinde,

The estrich, the night Crowe, the Cothoide, and the Hauke after his kynde, 17 The Falcon, the Cormorant, the great Dove.
18 The Bate, the Pellicane, the Pea,
19 The Stoake, the Jay after his kinde, 20 Let all soules that creepe and go upon all foure, be an abomination unto you.
21 Ye shall not eate, of every creeping thing that hath wynges, and go upon foure [fette] euery those that have not bodynges aboue their fette, to leafe whilfhal upon the earth.
22 Even these of them ye may eate: the 23 And he that eateith the carcase of them, haal walthe his clothes, and be bucreane buntill the euem:
24 And whatfouer goeth vpon his palves, among all maner beasts that go on all foure [fette] such are bucreane unto you: and who so doth touche their carcase* shall be bucreane buntill
the euem.
25 And whatfover toucheth the carfalle of them, shall walthe his clothes, and be bucreane buntill the euem:
26 And euery beast that hath hoone, and is not cloven footed, nor chaweth cud, such are bucreane vnto you: euery one that toucheth them, shall be bucreane, 27 And whatsoever goeth vpon his pales, among all maner beasts that go on all foure [fette] such are bucreane unto you: and whoe so doth touche their carfalle* shall be bucreane buntill
the euem.
28 And he that eateith the carfalle of them, shall walthe his clothes, and be bucreane buntill the euem: for such are bucreane vnto you.
29 Let these also be bucreane to you, among the thynge that creeppe vpon
the earth: the weafele, and the Houfe, and the Locow after their kinde:
30 The Hedhogge, the Stelio, the Lacert, the Snaple, and the Doodle.
31 These are bucreane to you among all that crepe: whatsoever doth touche them when they be dead, shall be bucreane buntill the euem.
32 And whatsoever any of the dead carfalles of them doth fall vpon, shall be bucreane, whether it be vsettell of wood, or rayment, or clanne, or facade, or whatsoever vsettell it be that any worke is brought in: and it must be plunged in the water, and it shall be bucreane buntill the euem, and to shal it be cleansed.
33 All maner of earthen vsettell whereto any of them falleth, shall be bucreane with all that tharein is, and it shall be broken.
34 All maner meate also that is vset to be eaten, of any fuch water come vnto it shall be bucreane: And all maner drinke that is vset to be drinke in all maner such vsettell, shall be bucreane.
35 And euery thynge that their carfalle fallith upon, shall be bucreane, whether it be cuen or kettle, let it be broken: for they are bucreane, and shall be bucreane unto you.
36 Nevertheless, yet the countynes and welle, and collection of waters, shall be cleanly vpyll: but that which touched their carfalle, shall be bucreane.
37 If the dead carfalle of any fuch fall upon any fede vset to yfte, it shall yet be cleanly vpyll:
38 But and fany water be vpoind vpon the fede, and a dead carfalle fall to thare, it shall be bucreane vnto you.
39 If any beast of which ye may eate fit, and any man touche the dead car-falle therof, he shall be bucreane vntil
the euem.
40 He that eateith the dead carfalle of it, shall walthe his clothes, and be bucreane buntill the euem. And he also that beareth the carfalle of it, shall walthe his clothes, and be bucreane buntill the euem.
41 Let euery crepping thynge that creep fit uppon the earth be an abomination, and not be eaten.
42 Whatsoever goeth vpon the beest, and whatsoever goeth vpon foure, of that hath no feete among all crepping thynge that crepe vpon the earth: of that leye ye eate, not, for they are abominable.
43 Ye shall not make your soules abhominable with any thing that creepeth, nether make your foules bucreane with them, that ye should be deyled thereby.
44 Fo? I am the Lord your God. Be sanctified therefore, and ye shalbe holy.
Fo? I am holy: and ye shall not deyle your soules with any maner of crepping thynge that creepeth vpon the earth.
45 Fo?
offeringes of the children of Israel.
15 The heauie shouder & the waue best shall they buyng in, with the sacrifies made by fire of the fat, to waue it for a waue offering before the Lorde: and it shalbe thynge and thy sonnes with thee by a laide for euer, as the Lorde hath commanded.
16 And Popeles bought the goate that was offerd for some, & eie, it was burnt.
And he was angry with Eleazar and Pihnar the sonnes of Aaron whiche were left alue, saying:
17 Wherefore haue ye not eaten the same offering in the holy place: for it is most holie, & God hath geuen it you, to beare the same of the congregation, to make agreement for them before the Lorde.
18 Beholde, if blood of it was not brought in within the holy place: ye shoulde haue eaten it in the holy place, as I commanded.
19 And Aaron sayde vnto Popeles: Beholde, this day haue they offerd their same offering, and their burnt offering before the Lorde: (b) and suche things are come vnto me, if I had eaten the same offering to day, shoulde it have been accepted in the sight of the Lorde; 20 And when Popeles hearde that, he was content.

2 And the Lorde spake unto Popeles and Aa-

the beastes that are on the earth.

4 Whateuer parteth the hoose, and is glavenfooted, and chalveth cut among the beastes, that shal le eate.

5 Nevertheless, these shal not eate, of them that chalve cut, and deuoure
the hoose: (as ye are the Camell, whiche chalveth cut, but he deuoure not the hoose, therefore is he uncieane unto you.

6 Even to the Cume where chalveth the cut, but deuoure not the hoose, he is uncieane to you.

7 And the haue, though he chalveth the cut, yet because he deuoure not the hoose, he is therefore buicelane to you.

8 Of their steele shall ye not eate, and their carcaseles shall ye not touche: but let them be uncieane to you.

9 These shall ye eate, of all that are in the waters: whatsoever hath fishe and skales in the waters, fea, and riuers, that shall ye eate.

10 And all that have not fishe nor skales in the sea and riuers, of all that mov and live in the waters, let them be ab-

12 Let all that have no fishe nor skales in the waters, be abhomination vnto you.

13 These are they whiche ye shall adthe Oxym.

14 The Canary, and the Kype after his

32. and the Hagab after his kind.

33. All other fowles that crepe and have

34. foure feete, halbe abhominati-

38. them, shall wash his clothes, and be

39. uncleece byttill the euene.

40. And whosoever beareth the carcasse

41. of them, shall wash his clothes, and be

69. uncleece, whether it be bestell of wood,

125. thyng that crepeth bypon the earth: 45 For,
For I am the Loard that brought you out of the land of Egypt, to be your God: ye shall be holy therefore, for I am holy.

This is the law of beasts and fowles, and of every (uying creature that may be eaten.

46 And the Loard spake unto Moses, saying: Speak unto the children of Israel, and say: Ye shall have a woman that hath conceived seed, and borne a man child, the child becleane seven days: even according to the days of the separation of her infirmity shall she be clean.

And in the eighth day, the child's foreskin shall be cut away.

And she shall then continue in her purifying three and thirty days: She shall touch no (alowed thing, nor come into the sanctuary, until the time of her purifying be out.

If she bear a maiden child, the child becleane two weedes, according as in her separation: and she shall continue in the blood of her purifying three score and six days.

The priests must have a consideration, and judge who are lepers.

And when the days of her purifying are out, whether it be for a (omme or for a daughter, she shall bring a lamb of one (ele (ide for a burnt offering, and a young pigeon or a turtle dove for a (inne offering, unto the door of the tabernacle of the congregation, unto the priest:

Which shall offer them before the Loard, and make an atonement for her, and the child becleane of the issue of her body. And this is the law for her that hath borne a male or a female.

But and if the be not able to bring a lamb, she shall bring two (urtles or two young pigeons, the one for a burnt offering, and the other for a (inne offering:

And the priest shall make an atonement for her, and the child becleane.

And the priest shall take of the soze and make the (ume of his flesh, it is a plague of leprosie: and the priests shall (oke on hym, and judge hym becleane.

4 If there be a white piece in his skime, and seeme not to be (ower then the skime of his flesh, no the heere thereof is turned unto white, the priest shall shut by [hym that hath] the plague seven days.

And the priest shall take one of his sons the priests.

And the priest shall take the soze in the skime of his flesh: and when the heere in the soze is turned to white, and the soze also seeme to be lower then the skime of his flesh, it is a plague of leprosie: and the priests shall take one of his sons the priests.

And the priest shall take of the soze in the skime of his flesh: and when the heere in the soze is turned to white, Leuiticus.

1. And the priest shall take on him agayne the seventh day: Then if the plague be darker, and not groved in the skynne, the priest shall judge hym clean; for it is but a leprous: And he shall wash his clothes and be clean.

2. But if the leprous growe in the skynne after that he is seene of the priest and judged clean, he shall seene of the priest agayne.

3. If the priest see that the leprous growe abode in the same, the priest shall make hym bunclean: for it is a leprous.

4. And the priest shall see hym: And if the avlevyling be dry in the skynne, and haue made the herte drye, and there be rable skelte in the avlevyling, it is an old leprous in the skynne of his skelte, and the priest shall make hym bunclean, and shall not that hym by seyng he is bunclean.

5. If a leprous break out abode in the skynne, and cover all the skynne from his head to his footes whereabout the priest loketh,

6. Then the priest shall consider: and if the leprous haue covered all his skelte, he shall judge the plague to be cleane, because it is all turned into whytencille, and he shall cleane.

7. But and if there be rable skelte on hym when he is seene, he haue bunclean.

8. And the priest shall see the rable skelte, and declare hym to be bunclean; for the rable skelte is bunclean, seyng it is a leprous.

9. Drye the rable skelte turned agayne and change into whyte, he shall come to the priest:

10. And the priest shall see him: a behold, if the skelte be changed into whyte, the priest shall judge the plague cleane, and he shall cleane.

11. The skelte also in whyte skynne there is a bylde, and is healed,

12. And in the place of the bylde there appear a whyte rysing, either a skynning whyte and somewhat reddish, it shall be seene of the priest.

13. And if when the priest seete hym, it appeare lower then the skynne, and the herte thereof be changed into whyte, the priest shall judge hym bunclean: for it is a plague of leprous, broken out of the bylde.

14. But and if the priest seete hym, and there be no whyte rysing therein, and if it be not lower then the skynne, but be darker, the priest shall shut hym by seven daies.

15. And if it spread abode in the skynne, the priest shall make hym bunclean, seyng it is a forse.

16. But and if the spot flande whyte and groved not, it is a seare of a bylde, and therefore the priest shall declare hym to be cleane.

17. If there be any fleche in whyte skynne there is a hotte burning, and the quiche skelte that burneth have a whyte spot, somewhat reddish or whyte,

18. The priest shall take upon it: and if the heree in that bright spot be changed to whyte, and it appeare lower then the skynne, it is a leprous broken out of the burning, and therefore the priest shall judge hym bunclean, seyng it is a plague of leprous.

19. But if the priest take upon it, and there be no whyte heree in the byght spot, and be no lower then the other skynne, but be darker, the priest shall shut hym by seven daies.

20. And the priest shall take on hym the seventh day: and if it be groved abode in the skynne, the priest shall judge hym bunclean, seyng it is a plague of leprous.

21. And if the spot flande whyte in it, and groved not in the skynne, but is darke, it is a rising of the burning, and the priest shall therefore declare hym bunclean, seyng it is a seare of the burning.

22. What man or womane hath a forse upon the head or the bearde,

23. The priest shall see the forse: and if it appeare lower then the skynne, and there be in it a pellowe here and skynne, the priest shall judge hym bunclean, seyng that the same seetleysing is a token of leprous upon the head or bearde.

24. And if the priest take upon the forse of the feet, and it sene not lower then the skynne, and that the heree is not blakke, the priest shall shut by the seetleysing for seven daies.

25. And in the seventh day the priest shall take on the forse: and if the feet be not groved, and there be in it no pellowe here and, and the feet scene not lower then the skynne,

26. He shall shewe, but the feet shall be not shawe: and the priest shall shut by the the feet seven days no.

34. And in the seventh day the priest shall loke on the feet: and if the feet be not grown in the skinne, nor scene louber then the other skinne, the priest shall clena him: he shall whase his clothes, and be cleane.

35. But if the feet grove in the skinne after his cleuynge.

36. The priest shall loke on hym: and if the feet be groved in the skinne, the priest shall not seke for yeoldove here, she is becleane.

37. But if he see the feet stande stille, if that there is blacke here groved here in, the feet is healed, she shalbe cleane,
the priest shall declare him to be cleane.

38. If there be many white spotses in the skynne of the skynes of man or woman, the priest shall loke upon it: and if these spottes in the skinne of their skynes be somewhat darke and byynge withal, it is a ffeelk groving in the skinne:
therefore he is cleane.

39. And the man whose herte is fallen of his head, he is vanab, yet cleane.

40. And he that hath his herte fallen of the part of his head towardes his face, is sole head bauib, yet cleane.

41. If there be in his bauib head or bauib sole head a white redde little sore, there is leprose sproung up in his bauib head or bauib sole head.

42. And the priest shall loke upon hym: if of the yIZE of the sore be whire redddike in his bauib head or bauib sole head, after the maner of leprose which is in the skinne of the skynes.

43. Then he is a leprose man: he is

And the priest that make him unclean,

44. If the leper in whom the plague is, had have his clothes rent, or his head bare, she shall put a courynge upon his lippes, and shall crye: unclean, unclean.

45. And as long as the diseases lasteth up-he shall dwell alone, even without the ranche that his habitation be.

46. The garment also that the plague of leprose is in, whether it be a woollen garment or a lymen garment,
whether it be in the Warpe or Woose:

47. Whatever it be in the Warpe or Woose of lymen or of woollen, either in a skin, or any thing made of skynne;

48. If the disealle be light greene, or some:

49. Whether it be in the Warpe or Woose, or any thing that is made of skynne:
thenn it is a plague of leprose, shalbe shewed unto the priest.

50. The priest therefore shall see the plague, and shalbe shewed unto the priest.

51. And he shall loke on the plague the seventh day: Which, if it be increased in the garment, whether it be in the Warpe:
or Woose, or in a skynne, or in any thing that is made of skynne, it is the leprose of a frettck fowe, it is bncieane.

52. And he shall burne that garment, either Warpe or Woose, whether it be woollen or lymen, or any thing that is made of skynne wherein the plague is:
so is it a frettck leprose, it shalbe burne in the fire.

53. If the priest see that the plague is not grown in the garment, either in the Warpe or Woose, in whatsoever thing of skynne it be.

54. The priest shall commande them to wash the thing wherein the plague is,
and he shall shew it by seven days no.

55. And the priest shall loke on the plague againe after that it is washyed: and if, the plague have not changed his col-tour, and is spread no further abroad, it is bncieane, thou shalt burne it in the fire: for it is inewward: whether be bauib behind in the head or before.

56. And if the priest see that the plague is darker after that it is washyed: he shal cut it out of the garment or out of the skynne, or out of the Warpe, or out of the Woose.

57. And if it appeare shall in the garment, plague be departed thereof, it shalbe washyed once againe, and then it shall be cleane.

59. This is the labe of the plague of le-prose in a garment whether it be wooll or lymen, either in the Warpe or Woose, or in any thing of skynnes, to make it cleane or bncieane.
And the Lorde shalke into Soplys sayyng:
* This is the lade of the leper in the day of his clensing: he shalbe bought into the priest,
And the priest shal go out without the camp, and the priest shal take upon hym, and of the plague of leprous be heald in the leper, Then shall the priest commande to take for hym that is clenfed, two lyue birdes and cleane, and ceder wood, and a scarlet [safe] and ype.
And the priest shal commande that one of the birdes be killed in an earthen besell, and upon running water,
And he shal take the lyning birc/h, with the ceder wood, the scarlet [safe] and the ype, and shal dippe them, and biude upon the running water.

And he shall spinklle upon hym that must be clenfed of his leprous seuen tymes, and clen hym, and shal let the lyning bird goe free into the field.
And he that is clenfed shal waft his dresses, and shawe of all his herte, and waft hym selfe in water, that he may be cleane: And after that shal he come into the hote, and shal tary without

Then shall he kip the goate that is the peoples fume offering, bying his blood within the baple, and with that blood as he dyd with the blood of the bullocke, sprinkel it upon the mercy seat, and before the mercy seat.

The xviij. Chapter.

4. All sacrifice must be brought to the door of the tabernacle. 7. To deputys may they not offer, the door of the tabernacle of the congregation to be cut off from among his people.

And the Lord sware unto Moses, saying: Speak unto Aaron and unto his sons, and unto all the children of Israel, and say unto them: This is the thing whereof the Lord hath charged, saying:

What man soever of the house of Israel killeth an ox, or a lamb, or goat in the feast, or that killeth it out of the hoof, and bringeth it not unto the door of the tabernacle of the congregation, to offer an offering unto the Lord before the dwelling place of the Lord, (blood shall be imputed unto that man, he hath shed blood, and that man shall be cut off from among his people.

Wherefore, when the children of Israel bring their offerings that they offer in the wavy sabbath, they shall bring them into the Lord, even unto the door of the tabernacle of the congregation by the priest, to offer them for peace offerings unto the Lord.

And the priest shall sprinkle the blood upon the altar of the Lord, which is before the door of the tabernacle of the congregation, and burn the fat for a sweet sacrifice unto the Lord.

And let them no more offer their offerings unto deputys, after whom they have gone a whoring. This shall be an ordinance for ever unto them in their generations.

And thou shalt say unto them: Whatsoever man it be of the house of Israel, or of the strangers which sojourn among you, that offereth a burnt offering, ring or sacrifice,

And bringeth it not unto the door of the tabernacle of the congregation to offer it unto the Lord: that man shall be cut off from among his people.

And whatsoever man it be of the house of Israel, or of the strangers that sojourn among you, that eateth any manner of blood, I will set my face against that soul that eateth blood, and will cut him of from among his people:

For the life of the flesh is in the blood, and I have given it unto you upon the altar, to make an atonement for your souls: so this blood shall make an atonement for the soul.

Therefore I said unto the children of Israel: Let no soul of you eat blood, neither let any stranger that sojourneth among you, eat blood.

And whatsoever man it be of the children of Israel, or of the strangers that sojourn among you, which eateth any beast of blood, that may be eaten, let him pour out the blood thereof, and cover it with dust.

For the life of the flesh is the blood; it is the life of the flesh: therefore I said unto the children of Israel, ye shall eat the blood of no manner of flesh: for the life of all flesh is the blood thereof; whosoever eateth it shall be cut off.

And every soul that eateth it shall be cut off, whether it be one of thy own country, or a stranger, he shall wash his clothes, and bathe himself in water, and be unclean; to the evening and then shall he be clean.

If he washeth them not, he bathe his flesh, he shall bear his sin.

And the man that lyeth with his daughters lyke, and uncoverteth his fathers nakednes, let them both die, their blood be upon them.

*If a man lyke with his daughter in lawe, let them dye both of them: they haue brought abomination, their blood be upon them.

If a man also pe with mankinde after the manner as with women bynde, they have both committed an abhorration: let them dye, their blood be upon them.

And if a man take a wyfe, and her mother also, it is wickednesse: They shall burne with fire both hym and them, that are no wickednesse among you.

And* if a man lyke with a beast, let hym dye, and ye shall teach the beast also.

If a woman goe unto any beast, and lyke Likewise therewith, thou shalt kill the woman and the beast also; let them dye, their blood be upon them.

If a man take his sister, his fathers daughter, or his mothers daughter, see her nakedness, and the his nakedness, it is a wicked thing, they shall both be cut of in the sight of their people: he hath uncouereth his sisters nakednesse, he shall bear his sinne.

*If a man be with a woman having her natural decease, and uncouereth her nakedness, and open her fountain, and she also open the fountain of her blood, they shall both be cut of from among their people.

*Thou shalt not uncouereth the nakednesse of thy mothers sister, *no of thy fathers sister: for he that doth so, hath uncouereth his next byn, they shall bear their misdoing.

If a man be with his bynes wyfe, and uncouereth his bynes nakedness, they shall bear their sinne, and shall dye chylbliese.

If a man take his brothers wyfe, it is an bndeane thing: he hath uncouereth his brothers nakedness, they haue chylbliese.

Ve shall kepe therefore all myne ordinances, and all my judgments, and do them: that the lande whether I bring you to dwelle therein, speche you not out.

Ve shall not walke in the maners of this nation, whereof I take out before you: For they committed all these thinges, and therefore I abhorrer the.

The xxj. Chapter.

A lawe for the priests.

And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying:

1 Speak unto Aaron, and say: Whosoever of thy seed in their generations hath any deformity, let him not appear to offer bread unto his God:

2 Neither shall he go out of the sanctuary, nor pollute the holy place of his God, for the crown of the anointing unction of his God is upon him: I am the Lord.

3 He shall take a maidie unto his wife:

4 But a dyvulde, a deuered woman, or a polluted, or a harlot, these shall he not marrie: but shall take a maide of his owne people to wyfe.

5 Neither shall he defile his seed among his people: for I am the Lord which sanctifie hym.

6 And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying:

7 Speak unto Aaron, and say: Whosoever of thy seed in their generations hath any deformity, let him not appear to offer bread unto his God:

8 For whosoever hath any blemish, shall not come nere: as he be blind, or lame, or that hath a burred note, or that hath any misshapen member:

9 Or is broken footed, or broken handed:

10 Or is crooke backt, or beare eyed, or have a wobbe or other blemish in his eyes, or be scurief, or shabbad, or hath his stones broken:

11 And no man that hath a blemish, is of the seed of Aaron the priest, shall come nere to offer the sacrifices of the Lord made by fire: when he hath a deformity, let him not appeare to offer the bread of his God.

12 Let him eate the bread of his God, even of the most holy, and of the holy:

13 Only let him not go in unto the bapse, nor come nere the aitner, because he is deformed, that he pollute not my sanctuarie:

14 For I am the Lord that sanctifie them.

15 And Moses tolde it unto Aaron and to his sons, and unto all the children of Israel.
As the Lord spake unto Moses, saying:

Speak unto Aaron and his sons, that they be separate from the holy things of the children of Israel, and that they pollute not my holy name in those things whiche they halode unto me: I am the Lord.

Say unto them: Whosoever he be of all your seed among your generations after you, that goeth into the holy thinges whiche the children of Israel halode unto the Lord, haung his vnecleanes upon hym, that sole shall be cut off from out of my light: I am the Lord.

What man soever of the seed of Aaron is a leper, or hath a running issue, he shall not eate of the holy thinges, but he be cleane: And who so toucheth any man that is vneclean by leproz, or a man by whom he may take vnecleanes, whosoever toucheth he hath:

The sole that hath touched any lufe, halbe vneclean vntil even, and shall not eate of the holy thinges, vntil he have washed his skete with water.

And when the sole is downe, he shall be cleane, and shall afterwarde eate of the holy thinges, soasse he as it is his foode.

Of a beast that dyeth alone, or is rent with hyde beasts, wherby he may be defiled, he shall not eate: I am the Lord.

Let them kepe therefore myne ordinaunce, lest they for the same taze hyme upon them, and dye for it, if they defile it: I the Lord sanctifie them.

There shall no straungere eate of the holy thing, neither a ghost of pizestes, neither shall an hyred servaunt eate of the holy thing.

But if the pizest dye any sole with money, he shall eate of it, like as he that is borne in his house: they shall eate of his meate.

If the pizestes daughter also be married unto a straunger, she may not eate of the halode holy eare offerings:

Notwithstanding, if pizestes daughter be a hydeowe or divorced, and have no childe, but is returned unto her fatheres house againe, she shall eate of her fathers meate, as well as the dyd in her youth: But there shall no straunger eate thereof.

If a man eate of the holy thynges without wittingly, he shall put the fifth parte thereof, and give it unto the pizest with the halode thyng.

And the pizestes shall not defile the holy thinges of the children of Israel, whiche they offer unto the Lord:

To tande them fleshes with unbope and trespass while they eate their holy thinges: for I the Lord do halode them.

And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying:

Speak unto Aaron and his sons, and unto all the children of Israel, and say unto them: Whosoever he be of the house of Israel, or straunger in Israel, that wyl offer his sacrifice for all his bodyes, and for all his freyde offeringes which they wyl offer unto the Lord for a burnt offering:

Ye shall offer at your pleasure, a male without blemisse, of the beekest, of the shepe, or of the goates.

But whosoever hast a blemisse, that shall ye not offer: for it shall not be acceptable for you.

And whosoever byngeth a peace offering unto the Lord, to accomplishe his holde, or a freyde offering in beekest or shepe, it shalbe perishe to be accepted, there shalbe al no blemisse therein.

Blonde, or broken, or lame, or having a wen, or swarme, or stabbet, ye shall not offer lufe unto the Lord, nor put a burnt offering of any lufe upon the aufter unto the Lord.

A bullocke or a shepe that hath any member hiperflous or lacking, mayest thou offer for a freyde offering, but for a holde it shall not be accepted.

Leuiticus.

And whether it be calve or ewe, ye shall not burn it and her young both in one day.

When ye shall offer a thank offering unto the Lord, offer it with joyfully:

And the same day it must be eaten by, so that ye leave none of it unto the morrow: I am the Lord.

Therefore shall ye keep my commandments and do them: I am the Lord.

Neither shall ye pollute my holy name, but I will be hallowed among the children of Israel: I am the Lord, which hallowed you.

And that brought you out of the land of Egypt to be your God: I am the Lord.

The xxiii. Chapter.

24 And ye shall not offer unto the Lord that which is biled, or crushed, or broken, or cut away, neither that thou make any offering thereof in your land.

25 Neither of a strange woman's hande shall ye offer the bread of your God of any such, because their corruption is in the, and they have defouitie in the leues: and therefore shall they not be accepted for you.

26 And the Lord spake unto Moses: saying,

When a bullocke, or a sheepe, or a goat which is bought forth, if halfe seven daies under the damne: And from the eight day and therecomforth, it shall be accepted for a burnt sacrifice into the Lord.

27 And the Lord spake unto Moses: saying,

Spleke unto the children of Israel, and say unto them: The seales of the Lord, which ye shall call holy convocations, even these are my seales.

* Sire daies ye shall worke: but the seventh day is the Sabbath of rest, an holy convocation, so that ye do no worke therein: it is the Sabbath of the Lord in all your dwellings.

4. There are the seales of the Lord, even holy convocations, which ye shall proclame in their seasons.

5. In the fourteenth day of the first month at even, is the Lord's_Passouer:

And on the fifteenth day of the same month, is the feast of unleavened bread into the Lord: seven daies ye must cate unleavened bread.

7. * In the first day ye shall have an holy convocation: ye shall do no servile worke therein.

8. But ye shall offer sacrifices made by fire unto the Lord throughout seven daies: and in the seventh day is an holy convocation, ye shall do no servile worke therein.

9. And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying:

Spleke unto the children of Israel, and say unto them: When ye be come into the lande which I geue unto you, and reape downe the harvest therof, ye shall bring a sheafe of the first fruits of your harvest unto the priest:

11. Which shall waue the sheafe before the Lord, to be accepted for you; and even the mazowe after the Sabbath the priest shall waue it.

12. And ye shall offer that day when ye waue the sheafe, an hee lambe without blemish of a yere olde, for a burnt offering unto the Lord:

13. And the meate offering thereof, halfe made of two tenth deales of fine flour mungled with ople, to be a sacrifice made by fire unto the Lord for a sweete savour: and the dyske offering thereof shall be of ynde, even the fourth deale of an ynn.

14. And ye shall eat neither bread nor parched comne, nor greene cures, until the lisse day that ye haue brought an offering into your God: Let this be a lawe for euer in your generations, and in all your dwellings.

15. And ye shall count unto you from the mazowe after the Sabbath, even from the day that ye brought the sheafe of the waue offering, seven Sabbobthes: they shall be complet:

16. Even unto the mazowe after seventh: Sabbath shall ye number five daies: and ye shall bring a newe meate offering unto the Lord.

Solemn feates.

17 And ye shall bying out of your habitations two wave loaves made of two tenth beales of fine flour, and that are made with leauen, for first fruities unto
the Lord.

18 And ye shall brynge with the bread seen lambs without desomitie, of one yre of age, and one young bullocke, and two rammes, which shall sere for a burnt offering unto the Lord, with their meat offeringes and their drinke offeringes, to be a sacrifice made by fire for a libation labour unto the Lord.

19 Then ye shall prepare an hee goatte for a sinne offering, and two lambs of one yre old, for peace offeringes.

20 And the priest shall brynge them with the bread of the first fruities for a wave offering before the Lord, and with the two lambs: they shall be holy to the Lord for the priestes.

21 And ye shall proclayme the same day, that it may be an holy convocation unto you: ye shall do no servile worke therein, let it be a labour for euer in all your dispensalges throughout your generations.

22 And whiche tyme you shall reape downe the harvest of your lande, then shalt not make eelane riddance of the corners of thy fieldde when thou reapest, neither shalt thou make any after gathering of thy harvest, but that leave them: I am the Lord your God.

23 And the Lord spake unto Moses,
saying:

24. Speake unto the children of Israel, and say: In the seuenteenth day, in the first day of the moneth shall ye have Sabbath, even the seenebdaume of blowing of trumpettes, an holy convocation.

25 Ye shall do no servile worke therin, but offer sacrifice made by fire unto the Lord.

26 And the Lord spake unto Moses,
saying:

27 The tenth day also of the seelie se-enteenth moneth is a day of reconiling,therefor shall it be an holy convocation unto you:
ye shall humble your soules, and of-er sacrifice made by fire unto the Lord,

28 Ye shall do no worke, for it is a day of reconiling, to make an atton-ement for you before the Lord your God,

29 For whatsoever soule it be that humblyth not hym selfe that day, he shall be cut off from among his people.

30 And whatsoever soule do any worke that day, the same soule shall I destroy from among his people.

31 Ye shall do no maner worke therefore, let it be a labor for euer in your generations, and in all your dwellyinges.

32 Let it be unto you a Sabbath of rest, and ye shall humble your soules in the ninth day of the moneth at euen: from euen to euen shall ye celebate your Sabbath.

33 And the Lord spake unto Moses,
saying:

34 Speake unto the children of Israel, and say: The seenteenth day of the same, seenteenth moneth is the feast of tabernacles seuen daies unto the Lord.

35 The first day is an holy convocation;
ye shall do no servile worke.

36 Seven daies ye shall offer sacrifice made by fire unto the Lord, and in the eight day sall he be holy an holy convocation unto you, and ye shall offer sacrifices made by fire unto the Lord: It is the solempne assembly, and ye shall do no servile worke therin.

37 These are the feastes of the Lord, which ye shall call holy convocations, for to offer sacrifice made by fire unto the Lord, burnt offering, meat offering, sacrifices, and drink offeringes,
every thyng upon his day:

38 Beside the Sabbathiues of the Lord, and beside your giffes, besides all your bowes, and all your tree offeringes, which ye gave unto the Lord.

39 Moreover, in the seenteenth day of the se-enteenth moneth when ye have gathered in the fruit of the lande, ye shall kepe holy day unto the Lord seuen daies:
The first day shall be a Sabbath, by-wise in the eigh day shall be a Sabbath.

40 And ye shall take you in the first day the fruities of goodly trees, branches of polume trees, and the bowes of thicke trees, and willows of the brooke, and shall reioyce before the Lord your God seven daies.

41 And ye shall kepe this feast unto the Lord seuen daies in the yerre: It shall be a laboure for euer in your generations, that ye kepe it in the seenteenth moneth.

42 Ye shall dwelle in booths seuen daies, euen all that are Israelites home shall

And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying:

* Commande the children of Israel that they bring into the pure oyle blue beaten for the light, to cause the lampes to burne continually,

Without the vayle of Witnesss in the tabernacle of the congregation shall Aaron and his sons among the children of Israel always: Let it be a lade foreuer in your generations.

And they shall drie the lampes upon pure candlestike before the Lord perpetually.

And thou shalt take fine flour, and bake twelve cakes therof, two tenth deales shallbe in one cake.

And thou shalt set the in two rowses, s rebut on a rowe, upon the pure table before the Lord.

And put pure frankincense upon the rowses, that they may be brede of remembrance, and an offering made by fire into the Lord.

Every Sabbath he shall put them in rows before the Lord everywoke, of the children of Israel shall they be offered for an everlastryng covenante.

And they shallbe Aaron and his sons, which shall eate them in the holy place: For they are most holy unto the Lord made by fire, by a perpetuall statute.

And the some of an Israelitish wife, whose father was an Egypt, went out among the children of Israel: And this some of the Israelitish wife and a man of Israel stroue together in the hoake.

And the Israelitish women some (b) blaspheme the name of the Lord, and cursed, and they brought hym but to Moses: His mothers name was Selomith, which was the daughter of Dibri, of the tribe of Dan.

And they put hym in barde, that the mind of the Lord might be heeded the.

And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying:

And the Lord spake unto Moses in mount Sinai, saying:

Speak unto the children of Israel, and say unto them: When ye be come into the land which I give you, the land shall rest and keepye Sabbath unto the Lord.

Six sabbaths thou shalt give thy sabbaths, and six sabbaths thou shalt cut thy sabbaths, and gather in the sabbaths thereof. But the sabbath of the seventh ye shall give unto the Lord, the Lord shall be thereunto. Thou shalt neither give thy sabbaths, nor cut thy sabbaths.

That which groweth of the sabbaths of the Lord shall be for you, even for thee, for thy servant, for thy maidservant, for thy hired servant, and for the stranger that sojourneth with thee:

And for thy raiment, and for the beauties that are in thy lande, shall all the increase thereof be meate.

And thou shalt number seven Sabbaths of years unto thee, even seven times seven years, and the space of the seven Sabbaths of years by ye unto the nine and fourtie yeeres.

And then thou shalt cause to blowe the trumpet of the Jubilee in the tenth day of the seventh moneth, even in the day of atonement, that ye make the trumpet blowe throughout all your lande.

And ye shall hallowed that yeere, even the sabbath yeere, and proclaim liberty throughout all the lande unto all the inhabitants thereof: for it shall be a Jubilee unto you, and ye shall returne every man into his possession, and every man into his inheritance.

A sabbath of jubilee shall ye be unto you: ye shall not sowe, neither reap that which groweth of it, neither gather the grapes that are left.

For that yeere of jubilee shall ye hallow unto: but ye shall eat of the increase thereof out of the field.

In the yeere of this jubilee ye shall returne every man into his possession againe.

If thou seluest ought unto thy neighbour, or buyest ought of thy neighbour's hande, ye shall not oppresse one another.

But according to the number of yeeres after the Jubilee yeere thou shalt hale ye of thy neighbour: and according unto the number of yeeres of the fruites he shall fell unto thee.

According unto the multitude of yeeres he shall encrease the pure thereof, and according to the seldome of yeeres, he shall diminish the price of it: for the number of fruites doth he fell unto thee.

Oppresse not ye therefore every man his neighbour: as he hath done, so shall it be done to hym.
Leuiticus.

his neighbour, but thou shalt fear thy God: for I am the Loard your God.
18 Wherefore ye shall do after mine ordinances, and keep my judgments, and do them: and ye shall dwell in the land in safety.

19 And the land shall give her fruit, and ye shall eat your fill, and dwell therein in safety.

And ye shall eat the eighth year, and eat yet of old fruit until the ninth year: even until her fruits come: then ye shall eat of old fruit.

The land shall not be sold to (a) waster: for the land is mine: ye are but strangers and sojourners with me.

In all the land of your possession, ye shall grant a redemption for the land.

If thy brother be3 wretched, and hath sold himself unto thee, and hath sold away of his possession, and if any of his kinmen come to redeem him, let him be redeemed that which his brother sold.

And if he have no man to redeem him, and his hand hath gotten and found it as much as may be sufficient to buy it out again: the let him count the year the lost sabbath, and delver the rest unto the man to whom he sold it, that he may return to his possession again.

But and if his hand be not sufficient to restore to the other again, the that which is sold shall remain in the land of his possessor, that hath bought it, until the year of redemption: and in the Jubilee it shall come out, and he shall return into his possession again.

And if a man sell a walled city, he may buy it out again within a whole year after it is sold: within a year may he redeem it.

But and if he buy it not out again within the space of a full year, then the house that is in the walled city, shall be established, as translated to him that bought it and his successors after him; shall not go out in the Jubilee.

But the houses of the villages, which have no walles round about them, are counted as the fields of the countrie: and therefore they may be bought out again, and shall go out in the Jubilee.

32 Norwithstanding, the cities of the Levites, and the houses of the cities of their possession, may the Levites redeem at all seasons.

And ye shall purchase of the Levites, the house that was sold, and the cite of their possession, shall go out in the year of Jubilee: for the houses of the cities of the Levites, are their possession among the children of Israel.

But the field of the suburbs of their cities may not be sold: for it is their perpetual possession.

If thy brother be wretched and fallen in decay with thee, thou shalt redeem him as a stranger or sojourner, that he may live with thee.

And thou shalt take none barley of the year, or vintage: but thou shalt fear thy God, that thy brother may live with thee.

Thou shalt not give thy brother money upon barley, nor lend him thy victuals for unseal.

I am the Lord your God, which brought you out of the land of Egypt, to give you the land of Chanaan, and to be your God.

* If thy brother be wretched by thee be wretched poore, and be sold unto thee, thou shalt not compel him to servce as a bondes sernaunt:

But as an hirer sernaunt, and as a sojourner he shall be with thee, and shall serue thee unto the pere of Jubilee.

And thou shalt depart from thee, both he and his children with him, and shall return unto his owne kinred againe, and unto the possession of his fathers shall he returne.

For they are my sernauntes, which I brought out of the land of Egypt, and shall not therefore be soide as bondmen.

Then thou shalt not rule over him cruelly, but that fear thy God.

Thy bondseraunt and thy bondes mayde which thou shalt have,shalbe of the heathen that are rounde about you: of them shall ye purchase sernauntes and maydes.

Moreover, of the children of strangers that are sojourners among you, of them shall ye be, 3 of their families that are with you, which they began in your lande: these shalbe your possession.

4-6 And
And ye shall take them as inheritance for your children after you, to possess them for an inheritance, they shall be your bondmen for ever: but over your brethren the children of Israel, ye shall not rule one over another cruelly.

If a stranger dwelleth by you, and his brother that dwelleth by him die, and he hath no son, then shall ye make his daughter his wife, that his name be not put out of Israel.

After that he is sold, he may be redeemed again: one of his brethren may redeem him:

Either his uncle, or his uncle's son may redeem him: any man that is nigh of kin unto his kinsman, may redeem him: either of his handmaidens can get so much, he may be bought out.

And he shall reckon with him that bought him, from the year that he was sold unto him unto the year of jubilee: and the price of his release shall be according unto the number of years: for every year he shall be released.

If there be betwixt the number of years, according to the time of an hired servant shall he be with him.

If there be many years beyond, according unto them let him give for his redemption before the year of jubilee, for his work was with you.

If there remain but few years, then let him buy of you according to the year of jubilee, and shall be with you.

And he shall reckon with you the year of jubilee, and shall be with you as a hireling: and ye shall serve him until the year of jubilee:

And he shall be with you, and serve you, and shall be unto you as a slave.

They are blessed that keep those things that God biddeth, 14 I curse to them that break them.
And [I] will make your cities desolate, and bring your sanctuary into naught, and [I] will not smell the savour of your sweete odours.

32 And [I] will bring your lande unto a wilderness, and your enemies which dwell therein shall wonder at it.

And [I] will destroy you among the heathen, and [I] will deliver a devour after you: and your lande shall be waste, and your cities desolate.

34 Then shall the lande enjoy her Sabbaties as long as it lasteth, and ye shall in your enemies lande: even then shall the lande rest and enjoy her Sabbaties.

35 As long as it lasteth, because it dyed not rest in your Sabbaties when ye dwelt upon it.

And upon them that are left alive of you, I will send a fayntnesse into their hearts in the landes of their enemies; and the sounde of a shakynge leafe shall chale them, and they shall see as slepeyng from a devour: they shall fall, no man folowyng upon them.

37 They shall fall one upon another as it were before a devour, euyn no man folowyng upon them, and ye shall have no power to stand before your enemies.

And ye shall persecute among the heathen, and the lande of your enemies shall eate you by.

38 And they that are left of you, shall pine away in their wrighteousnesse (even) in your enemies landes, in the inuicdes of their fathers shall they consume with them.

40 And they shall confess their inuicide and the inuicides of their fathers, for their trespass which they have trespassed against me, and for that also that they have walked contrary unto me.

41 Therefore [I] also will walke contrary unto them, and [I] will bring them into the lande of their enemies: And then at the least day their withconciled hearts halfe tamed, and they shall willingly accept their sinne.

42 Then [I] will remember my couenaunt with Jacob, and my couenaunt with Abraham, and [I] will remember, and [I] will thynke on the lande.

And the Lord spake unto the people, saying:

Speak unto the children of Israel, and say unto them: If any man will make a singular vesture of a person unto the Lord, by the estimation, Then thy estimation shall be, thus: Of the male from twenty yeeres old, unto sestie, half by thy estimation sestie sesties of silver, after the sestie of the sanctuary: And if it be a female, then thy vesture shall be sestie sesties, And from sestie yeeres to sestie yeeres, thy vesture shall be of the male sesties, and of the female ten sesties, And from a moneth unto sestie yeeres, thy vesture shalt be of the male at sestie sesties of silver, and the female at three sesties of silver. And from sestie yeeres old and about, if he be a male, then thy vesture shalbe sestie sesties, and for the female ten sesties. But if he be poorer then thou hast esteemed him, he shall present byn sestie before the priest, and the priest shall value him: according as the hande of hym that bought him is able to get, even so shall the priest value hym. If it be a beast, of which men bying an offering unto the Lord, all that any man gifteth of such unto the Lord, shalbe holy, he shall not alter it, nor change it, a good for a bad, or a bad for a good: And if he change beast for beast, then both the same beast and it also wherewith it was changed, shalbe holy.

If he be any manner of unclean beast, of which men do not offer a sacrifice unto the Lord, he shall let the beast before the priest:

And the priest shall value it, whether it be good or bad: and as the priest estimeth it, so shall it be.

But if he will eleve it againe, he shall give the sestie part more about that it was set at.

If any man dedicate his house to be holy unto the Lord, the priest shall set it, whether it be good or bad: and as the priest hath set it, so shall it stand.

And when he that sanctified it will redeem his house, let hym give the sestie part of the money that it was judged at thereof, and it shalbe his.

If a man hallowe a piece of his inheritance lande unto the Lord, thou shalt value it according to the sheepe therto: An homere of barley sheepe shalbe set at sestie sesties of silver.

If he hallowe his sheepe immediately, he shall offer the sestie of Jubilee, it shalbe both according as thou doest esteeme it.

But and if he hallowe his sheepe after the Jubilee, the priest shall reckon unto him the money, according to the number of the sesties that remaine, unto the sesties of Jubilee sesties, and it shalbe abated by the estimation.

If he that consecrated the sheepe will redeem it againe, let hym put the sestie part of the price that thou didst value it, at the same, and it shalbe his.

And if he will not redeem the sheepe, but leteth the sheepe to another man: he shall be acquitted thereof no more.

But when the sheepe goeth out in the sestie
At the time of Jubilee, it shall be holy unto the Lord, even as a field separate from common bies, and it shall be the priests possession.

22. A man sanctifie unto the Lord a field which he hath bought, and is not of the grounde of his inheritance:

23. The priest shall reckon unto him what it is worth unto the time of Jubilee, and he shall give the price that it is set at the same day, as a thyng conseruate unto the Lord.

24. And in the time of Jubilee, the field shall returne unto him of whom it was bought, to hym whose inheritance of lande it was.

25. And all thy valuation shalbe according to the site of the sanctuarie: One sicle containeth twentye gerahs.

26. But the first bome of the beasts that is the Lordes first bome, may no man sanctifie, whether it be ore of sheepe, for it is the Lordes alredie.

27. If it be an unclean beast, he shall redeem it as thou shalt set it at, and give the fift part more therto: Or if it be not redeemed, it shalbe solde according to the estimation.

28. Norwithstanding, nothyng separate from the common bie that a man doth separate unto the Lord of all that he hath, whether it be man or beast, or lande of his inheritance, may be solde or redeemed: for every thyng separate from the common bie, is most holy unto the Lord.

29. Nothing separate from the common bie, which shall separate from man, shalbe redeemed, but dye the death.

30. Every tylte of the lande also, both of the field of the lande, and of the fruite of the trees, is the Lordes, and is sanctified unto the Lord.

31. And if a man wyll redeem ought of his riches, let hym add the fift part thereto.

32. And every tylte of ore and of sheepe, and of every beast that goeth under the rod, even every tenth shalbe holy unto the Lord.

The ende of the thirde booke of Moyses.

in the Hebrewe Vailedabbar, and in the Latin Numeri.

The first Chapter.

in the tabernacle.

By the Lord spake unto Moyses in the wilderness of Sinai, in the tabernacle of the congregation, the first day of the second month in the second year after they were come out of the land of Egypt, saying:

Take ye the summe of all the multitude of the children of Israel, after their kindreds and households of their fathers, with the number of their names, all that be males, head by head,

From twenty peres old and above, even all that go foorth to the warre in Israel: thou and Aaron shall number them throughout their armies.

And with you male men of every tribe, such as are the heads of the houses of their fathers,

And these are the names of the men that shall stand with you: of the tribe of Ruben, Elizur, the sonne of Sedeur.

Of Simeon,Selumiel the sonne of Suri Sedarai.

There were of great fame in the congregation, princes of the tribes of their fathers, and heads over thousandes in Israel.

And Moyses and Aaron take these men which are expressed by their names.
The number of them that were of the tribe of Issachar, was fifty and four thousand, and four hundred.
Of the children of Zabulon throughout their generations, their kine, and houses of their fathers, the number of names from twenty years and above, all which were able to go forth in the host:
The number of them that were of the tribe of Zabulon, was fifty and seven thousand and four hundred.
Of the children of Joseph (namely) of the children of Ephraim throughout their generations, and their kine, and houses of their fathers, the number of names from twenty years and above, all that went out to the warre:

The number of them that were of the tribe of Manasse, was fifty and three thousand and two hundred.
Of the children of Beniamin throughout their generations, and their kine, and houses of their fathers, the number of names from twenty years and above, all that went to the warre:

46 All they I say, were in number forty six hundred thousand and three thousand five hundred and forty five.
47 But the Levites after the tribes of their fathers, were not numbered among them.
48 For the Lord spake unto Moses, saying:

50 But thou shalt appoint the Levites over the tabernacle of the congregation, over all the vessels thereof, and over all things that are in it:

53 But the Levites shall pitch rounde about the tabernacle of the congregation, that there be no want upon the congregation of the children of Israel: and the Levites shall keepe the watche of the tabernacle of the congregation.
54 And the children of Israel byd according to all that the Lord commanded Moses, and the children of Israel dyd so byd they.

The Leuites go not to batlle, but minister in the sanctuary.

They pitch their tenentes next to the habitation.

These also are the generations of Aaron and his unles, in the day that the Lord spake with Moses in mount Sinai.

And these are the names of the sons of Aaron: Nadab, the eldest son, and Abihu, Eleazar, and Ithamar.

These are the names of the sons of Aaron which were priests appointed, and whole hande was consecrated to minister.

And Nadab and Abihu dyed before the Lord, when they offered strange fire before the Lord in the wilderness of Sinai, and had no children: And Eleazar and Ithamar ministered in the light of Aaron their father.

And the Lord spake unto Mose, saying:

Bring the tribe of Levi, and set them before Aaron the priest, that they may serve him:

And take the charge of the congregation, before the tabernacle of the congregation, to do the service of the tabernacle.

They shall have the charge of the whole congregation before the tabernacle of the congregation, to do the service of the tabernacle.

They shall have all the instruments of the tabernacle of the congregation, to do the service of the tabernacle.

And thou shalt give the Leuites unto Aaron and his sons: for they are given and delivered unto him of the children of Israel.

And thou shalt appoint Aaron and his sons to wait on their priests office: and the stranger that commeth nigh, shall be slayne.

And the Lord spake unto Mose, saying:

And the Lord spake unto Mose in the wilderness of Sinai, and said:

46 And
And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying: Command the children of Israel that they put out of the holy every leper, and every one that hath an issue, and phrofouer is defiled by the dead: Both male and female that ye put out, even out of the holy shall ye put them, that they defile not their tents, among which ye dwell. And the children of Israel dyd so, and put them out of the holy: even as the Lord spake unto Moses, to dyd the children of Israel. And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying: Speak unto the children of Israel: When a man or woman shall count any time that men come, and trespass against the Lord: When that person shall trespass, Then they shall know their sin: which they have done, and let hym restore against the hurt that he hath done, both his principal, and put the fifth part of it more thereto, and give it unto hym whom he hath trespassed against. But if the man have no bimman to restore the hurt unto, let the trespass be made good unto the Lord, and it shall the priests, before the congregation, by the ramme of the attonement, whereby an attonement shall be made for hym. And every leane offering that is made of the holy thynge of the children of Israel which they bring unto the priest, it halfe his. And every man that holde thynge halfe his: whatsoever any man geve the priest, it halfe his. And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying:

12 Speake unto the children of Israel, and lay unto them: If any man wyse, go aside, and trespass against hym,

13 So that another man ly with her freelye, and it be hid from the eyes of her husband, and is kept close that she is defiled, and there is no witness against her, neiter the taken with the wager,

14 And the spirit of goulousy commeth upon hym, so that he is goulous over his wyse which is defiled: or if the spirit of goulousy come upon hym, so that he is goulous over his wyse which is yet un-defiled:

15 Then let the man bring his wyse unto the priest, and bring his offering with her, the tenth part of an ephah of barley meal: but let hym put no oyle upon it, nor put franknessence thereon, for it is an offering of goulousy, an offering for a remembrance, causing the sinne to be thought upon.

16 And the priest shall bring her, and set her before the Lord.

17 And the priest shall take holy water in an earthen vessell, and of the dust that is in the floode of the tabernacle, the priest shall take it, and put it into water.

18 And let the priest put the woman before the Lord, and uncover the womans head, and put the offering of memorial in her handes, which is the goulousy offering: and the priest shall have better, and cursed water in his hande.

19 And the priest shall charge her by an oath, and lay unto the woman: If no man have lyen with thee, neither hast gone aside to uncleaneesse without thy husbande, then have thou no blame of this bitter and cursed water.

20 But and if thou hast gone aside from thyne husbande, and art defiled, and some man hath lyen with thee before thyne husbande:
21 (Then shall the priest charge the woman with an oath of cursing: the priest shall say unto the woman: the Lord make thee accursed andณ the curse of the Lord among the people, when the Lord doth make thy thigh to rot, and thy belly swell. 22 If these cursed waters go into the bowels of the woman, that they may make thy belly swell, and thy thigh to rot. And let the woman say, Amen, Amen. 23 And let the priest write these curses in a book, and shall blot them out with the bitter waters. 24 And give the woman those cursed waters to drink, and the cursed waters may enter into her. 25 And then the priest shall take the guilty offering out of the woman's hand, and wave it before the Lord, and burn it unto the altar. 26 And the priest shall take an handful of the offering for a memorial, and burn it upon the altar, and then make the woman drink the waters:

27 And when the priest make the woman drink the waters, & if she be cleansed and holy, then shall she be free from the curse among the people, when the Lord doth make thy thigh to rot, and thy belly swell. 28 And if the woman be not cleansed, but is guilty, the Lord shall be to her a curse among the people. 29 This is the law of jealousy, when a wife goes aside from her husband, and is defiled:

30 Or, when the spirit of jealousy cometh upon a man, and he baying jealous over his wife, both baying her before the Lord, and the priest shall do to her according unto all this law:

31 And the man shall stablish the woman, and this woman shall bear her name.

At the mouth of the Lord the cloud of Israel journeyed, and at the mouth of the Lord they pitched: And as long as the cloud abode upon the tabernacle, they lay still:

And when the cloud tarried upon the tabernacle long time, the children of Israel kept the watch of the Lord, and journeyed not.

And when the cloud abode a few days upon the tabernacle, they abode in their tents, according to the commandment of the Lord: and they journeyed also at the commandment of the Lord.

And when the cloud abode upon the tabernacle from even into the morning, it was taken up in the morning, then they journeyed: whether it was by day or by night that the cloud was taken up, they journeyed.

If the cloud tarried two days, or a month, or a year upon the tabernacle, and remained thereon, the children of Israel remained still and journeyed not: And as soon as the cloud was taken up, they journeyed.

And they journeyed after the Lord, when he moved: and were gathered together according to their armies, when he rested:

8 Unto hym will I speake mouth to mouth in a vision, not in darke speaches and similitudes of the Lord shall he see; wherefore then were ye not afraid to speake against my seruante Moses?

9 And the Lord was moved unto wrath against them, and he went his way.

10 And the cloud departed from the tabernacle, and behelde Miriam was become leprous, as it were snowe: And Aaron looked upon Miriam; and behelde, she was leprous.

11 And Aaron spake unto Moses: Alas my Lord, I beseche thee not the same upon vs Whiche the have foolishly committt and sinned.

12 Oh, let her not be as one dead, of whom the flesh is halfe consumed when he commeth out of his mothers whomb.

13 And Moses prayed unto the Lord, saying: Heal her noide, O Lord, I beseche thee.

14 And Jo the Lord spake unto Moses: If her father had not spitt in her face, should she not be ashamed five days? let her be shut out of the haast seven days, and after that, let her be recowane in again.

15 And Miriam was shut out of the haast seven days: and the people removed not, till she was brought in again.

16 And afterwarde the people removed from Hazeroth, and pitched in the wildernesse of Pharan.

And all the multitude of the people cried out, and went throughout that night.

And all the children of Israel murmured against Moses and Aaron, and the whole congregation lifted up their voices and said unto them: ‘Wondrous God, that we had dyed in the land of Egypt, either that we had dyed in this wilderness.

Wherefore hast thou brought us out of that land to fall upon the Moab, and that our yokes and our children should be a prey. Were it not better that we return unto Egypt again?

And they said one to another: ‘Let us make a rapine, and return unto Egypt again.

Then Moses and Aaron fell on their faces before all the assembly of the congregation of the children of Israel.

And Josue the son of Nun, and Caleb the son of Jephune [which were] of them that searched the land, rent their clothes;

And spake unto all the company of the children of Israel, saying: ‘The land where we walked through to search it, is a very good land.

If the Lord have a love to us, he will bring us into this land and give it us, which is such a land as floweth with milk and honey.

But in any wise rebel not ye against the Lord, neither fear the people of the land, for they are but head for us: Their shield is departed from them, and the Lord is with us, fear them not therefore.

But all the congregation rose up against them with stones: And the glory of the Lord appeared in the tabernacle of the congregation before all the children of Israel.

And the Lord spake unto Moses: ‘How long do this people provoke me, and how long shall it be before they believe me, for all the signs which I have shewed among them:

I will smite them with the pestilence and destroy them, and will make of thee a greater nation and mightier than they.

And Moses spake unto the Lord: ‘Then the Egyptians shall hear it, (for thou thoughtest this people in thy might from among them.)

And it came to pass, that the inhabitants of the land also said: for they have heard that which Israel is, that they be a great people.'

Ex. XXXII.

15 If thou shalt kill all this people as they were but one man: then the nations whiche have hearde the same of thee, will say:

16 Because the Lord is not able to bring in this people into the lande whiche he sware unto them, therefore he hath saine them in the Wildernesse.

17 And nowe I beseech thee, let the power of my Lord be great, according as thou hast spoken, sauing:

19 But wee ful I beseech thee unto the name of this people according unto thy great mercy, as thou hast forgon this people from Egypt, even by thynode.

20 And the Lord spake: I have forgonen it, according to thy request.

24 But my servant Caleb, because he had another maner of spirite, (and because he hath folowed me unto the most) myn wyll I bring into the lande which he hath walked in, and his seede shal inherit it.

25 And also the Amatechites and Cha-nanautes, remaine in the valley: To mozeode turne you, and get you into the Wildernesse, even by the way of the red sea.

26 And the Lord spake unto Moses and Aarone, saying:

27 Whyd ye long both this cuyl multitude murmur against me: I have hearde the murmurings of the children of Israel with the Whiche they murmur against me.

28 Tell them therefore: As truly as I live layeth the Lord, I wyll do unto you euyn as ye haue spoken in euyn cares:

41. Go not up therefore, for the Lord is not among you: that ye be not put to shame before your enemies.
42. For the Amalechites and the Canaanites are there before you, and shall fall upon the Lord, because ye are turned away from the Lord, the Lord will not be with you.

as ye are, so shall the stranger be before the Lord.

13. One lamb and one meate shall serve, both for you, and for the stranger that sojourneth with you.

14. And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying:

15. Speak unto the children of Israel, and say unto them: When ye be come into the land to which I bring you,

16. Then when ye shall eat of the bread of the land, ye shall offer by an heave offering unto the Lord.

17. Be shall offer by a cake of the firstfruits of your doves for an heave offering: as ye do the heave offering of the barley, even so shall heave it.

25 And the priest shall make an attonement for all the multitude of the children of Israel, and it shall be forgiven them, for it is ignorance: And they shall bring their offering, a sacrifice made by fire unto the Lord, their sin offering before the Lord for their ignorance.

26 And it shall be forgiven unto all the congregation of the children of Israel, and unto the stranger that dwelleth among you, lyeing all the people were in ignorance.

32 And while the children of Israel were in the wilderness, they found a man that gathered sticks upon the Sabbath day.

33 And they that found him gathering sticks, brought him unto Moses and Aaron, and unto all the congregation.

34 And they put him in ward, lest he should dye:

35 And the Lord spake unto Moses: Let the man dye, &c. let all the multitude stone him with stones without the camp.

36 And all the multitude brought him without the camp, and stone him with stones, and he died, as the Lord commanded Moses.

37 And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying:

38 Speak unto the children of Israel, and bid them, that they make them fringes in the borders of their garments throughout their generations, and put upon the fringe of the borders a riband.
The xvij. Chapter.

The rebellion of Coah, Dathan, and Abiram. 31 They perished with their company.

1 And Coah the son of 3sra, the son of Caah, the son of Levi, went a part with Dathan and Abiram, the sons of Eliab; and his brethren the sons of Levi, and his brother, and his sister, and his father, and his mother, and his uncle, and his aunts, and all his kindred.

2 And they rose up before Moses, with certain of the children of Israel, two hundred and fifty, and they gathered themselves together against Moses and Aaron, and said unto them: We took much upon our laden beasts, and we brought every one his tent, and we dwelt in the wilderness: why should we die the first year?

3 And when Moses hearde it, he fell upon his face, and spake unto Coah and unto all his company, saying: Lorp, the Lorde is he that chose you, and not you, and Lorp was a holy fire upon you, and upon your brethren, and upon your father's house.

4 And Coah said unto Moses: Take you firepanes, both Coah and all his company, and do for them, that they may see your respect unto them, and that they may see that I have chosen you.

5 And Moses did as Coah commanded, and they did for their brethren, and put incense in them before the Lorde into molten: And the man whom the Lorde chose, the same shalbe holy: Ye take much upon you, ye sons of Levi.

6 And Mosyes laid unto Coah: Hear ye I pray you, ye sons of Levi, that the God of Israel hath separeted you from the multitude of Israel, and brought you to be his holly, to do the service of the tabernacle of the Lorde, and to stand before the multitude, and to minister unto them.

7 But ye shall remember, and do all my commandments, and be holy unto your God.

8 I am the Lorde your God, which brought you out of the land of Egypt, for to be your God: I am the Lorde your God.
20 And the Lord spake unto Bopplae and Aaron, saying:

21 Separate your fates from among this congregation, that I may consume them at once.

22 And they fell upon their faces, and said: "O God, the God of spirits of all flesh, hath not one man sinned: wilt thou be wroth with all the multitude?"

23 And the Lord spake unto Bopplae, saying:

24 Speak unto the congregation, and say: Get you away from about the tabernacle of Cozah, Dathan, & Abiram.

25 And Bopplae rose up, and went unto Dathan and Abiram: and the elders of Israel followed him.

26 And he spake unto the congregation, saying: Depart I pray you from the tents of these wicked men, and touch not they of theirs, lest ye perish in all their sines.

27 And lo they gate them from the tabernacle of Cozah, Dathan, and Abiram, on every side: And Dathan & Abiram came out, & stood in the doore of their tents, with their wives, their sons, and their little children.

28 And Bopplae said: Hereby ye shall know that the Lord hath sent me to doall these works: for I have not done them of mine own ynde.

29 If these men dye the common death of all men, or if they be visited after the visitation of all men, then the Lord hath not sent me:

30 But if the Lord make a new thing, and the earth open her mouth, and swallow them up, and all the men that were with Cozah, and all their goods.

31 And assoue as he had made an end of speaking at these words, the ground opened under them:

32 And the earth opened her mouth, and swallowed them up, and their houses, and all the men that were with Cozah, and all their goods.

33 And they and all that they had went downe alive into the pit, and the earth closed upon them: and they perished from among the congregation.

34 And all Israel that were about them, fere at the eyle of them: And they laye, lest the earth swallowe be vp also.

35 And there came out a fire from the Lord, and consumed the two hundred and fifty men that offered incense.

36 And the Lord spake unto Bopplae, saying:

37 Speak unto Elazar the sonne of Aaron the priest, that he take up the censers out of the burning, and scater the fire here and there, for they are holoved.

38 The censers of these sinners, agaynst their owne foules: let them make of them brode plates for a courcyng of the autter: For they offered them before the Lord, and therefore they are holoved, and they shall be a signe unto the children of Israel.

39 And Elazar the priest took the blased censers, which they that were burre had offered, and made brode plates for a courcyng of the autter, 40 To be a remembrance unto the children of Israel, that no stranger which is not of the seede of Aaron, come neare to offer incense before the Lord, that he be not lyke unto Cozah and his companie, as the Lord sayde to hym by the hande of Bopplae.

41 But on the morowe, all the multitude of the children of Israel murmured agaynst Bopplae and Aaron, saying: Ye haue biled the people of the Lord.

42 And when the multitude was gathered agaynst Bopplae and Aaron, they tooke towards the tabernacle of the congregation: And beholde, the cloude covered it, and the glory of the Lord appeared.

43 And Bopplae and Aaron came before the tabernacle of the congregation.

44 And the Lord spake unto Bopplae, saying:

45 Get you from among this congregation, that I may consume the quickly, And they fell upon their faces.

46 And Bopplae layd vp the autter, and put fire therein out of the autter, and burned on incense, and go quickly unto the congregation, and make an attarment for them: For there is warre gone out from the Lord, and there is a plague begunne.

47 And Aaron took as Bopplae commanded hym, and came into the midst of the congregation: and beholde, the plague was begunne among the people, and he put on incense, and made an attarment for the people.

48 And whil he stood between the dead and and them that were alive, the plague was stayed.
49 They that dyed in the plague, were fourteen thousand and seven hundred, beside them that dyed about the con-pirate of Corday.

And Aaron went againe unto Poples before the doore of the tabernacle of the congregation, and the plague was stayed.

The xvii. Chapter.

1 And the Lord spake unto Poples, saying: Speak unto the children of Israel, and take of every one of them a roodde, after the houses of their fathers, of all their princes according to the familie of their fathers, even twelve rooddes: and write every mans name upon his roodde.

2 And write Arons name upon the roodde of Leui: for every roodde shall be for head of the house of their fathers.

3 And put them in the tabernacle of the congregation, before (the aare) of the testimonie, where I will declare my selue unto you.

4 And the mans roodde whom I chose, shall blossom: And I will make cease from me the grudgynge of the children of Israel, whereby they grudge against you.

5 And Poples spake unto the children of Israel, and all the princes gave hym a roodde, one roodde for every prince, according to their fathers houses, even twelve rooddes: and the roodde of Aaron was among their rooddes.

6 And Poples spake unto Aaron: Thou shalt have thy families, and thy fathers house with thee, that beare the inuictie of the sanctuarie: And thou and thy families with thee, shalt beare the inuictie of your priests office.

7 And Poples put the rooddes before the Lord in the tabernacle of witnesse.

8 And the roodde of Aaron for the house of Leui was budded, and brought forth buds, bare blossomes, and type almonds.

9 And Poples brought out all 5 rooddes from before the Lord, into all the children of Israel: and they toke them and toke every man his roodde.

10 And the Lord spake unto Poples: Byng Arons roodde againe before the witnesse, to be kept for a token to the rebellious children, and that their murmuring may cease from me, and that they dye not.

11 And Poples dyd as the Lord commanded hym, even to dyd he.

12 And the children of Israel spake unto Poples, saying: Beholde, we are waxed away and perished, we have come to naught.

13 Whosoever cometh icycle, or apprecheth to the tabernacle of the Lord, shall dye: Shall we utterly consume away, and dye:

3 Arons heritage.

15 And the Lord spake unto Aaron: Thou shalt have thy families, and thy fathers house with thee, that beare the inuictie of the sanctuarie: And thou and thy families with thee, shalt beare the inuictie of your priests office.

2 And thy brethren of the tribe of Leui, of thy fathers householde thou shalt byng with thee, that they may be byng unto thee, and ministre unto thee: but thou and thy soumes with thee (that minister) before the tabernacle of witnesse.

3 They shall kepe my charge, even the charge of all the tabernacle: only let them not come icycle the vessels of the sanctuarie and the aalter, that they and ye also dye not.

4 And they shalbe bynowd with thee, and kepe the charge of the tabernacle of the congregation for all the tenure of the tabernacle:
Therefore shall ye keep the charge of the tabernacle: and let no stranger come nigh unto you.

Thrice shall ye keep the charge of the tabernacle, and the charge of the altar, that there fall no more wrath upon the children of Israel:

Behold, I have taken your brethren the Levites from among the children of Israel, which as a gift of yours are given unto the Lord, to do the service of the tabernacle of the congregation.

Therefore shall thou and thy sons with thee keep your priests' office for all thynges that pertain unto the altar and within the vail: And ye shall serve, so: I have given your priests' office unto you as a gift, and therefore ye (that commit) thereof, must be holy.

And the Lord spake unto Aaron:

Behold, I have given thee the keeping of my holy of holies offerings, of all the holydod thynges of the children of Israel, unto thee I have given the for the anointynge, and to thy sons for an ordinance forever.

This shall be thine of the most holy thynges (reserved) from the fire (of the altar.) All their sacrifices for all their meat offerings, some offerings, or treaspe offerings, which they byng unto me, that shall most holy bynt thee, and to thy sons.

In the most holy place that thou eate it, and all that are males shall eate of it, let it be holy unto thee.

And this also is thine, the heave offerings of their yestes, throughout all the heave offerings of the children of Israel: I have given them unto thee, thy sons and thy daughters with thee, to be a dutie for ever: and all that are cleane in thy house, shall eate of it.

At the fat of the ox, at the fat of the yewe, at of the wheate, which they shall offer unto the Lord for first fruits, the same have I given unto thee.

And whatsoever is first ripe in their lande which they byng unto the Lord, shall be thine, and all that are cleane in thyn house shall eate of it.

All thinges separate from the common in Israel, shall be thine.

All that breaketh the matrix in all flesh that men byng unto the Lord, whether it be of men or beasts, shall be thine: Nevertheless, the first boone of man that thou redeem, the first boone of bulcke beasts that fall thou redeem.

Those that are to be redeemed, that thou redeem from the age of a moneth, according to thyne estimation, for the money of five lites, after the site of the tabernacle, which is twenty gerahs.

But the first boone of a cowe, shepe, or goate, that thou not redeem, for they are holy: therefore thou shalt sprinkle their blood upon the altar, and shall burne their fat as a sacrificie made by fire; for a sweete savour unto the Lord.

And the flesh of them is thine, as the baue heest and the right shoulder; these are thine.

All the heave offerings of holy thynges which the children of Israel offer unto the Lord, have I given thee thy sons and thy daughters with thee, to be a dutie for ever: let it be a salted onenain for ever before the Lord, both unto thee, and to the seede with thee.

And the Lord spake unto Aaron: Thou shalt have no inheritance in their lande, neither shall thou have any part among them: I am thy part and thy inheritance among the children of Israel.

Behold, I have given the children of Levi all the tenth in Israel to inherit, for the service which they serve in the tabernacle of the congregation.

Neither must the children of Israel henceforth come to the tabernacle of the congregation, lest they bear smite, thic.

But the Levites shall do service in the tabernacle of the congregation, to bear their office: it shall be a lade for ever in your generations, that among the children of Israel they possesse no inheritance.

But the tithes of the children of Israel which they pay as an heave offering unto the Lord, I have given it Levites to inherit: and therefore I have laid ite unto them, Among the children of Israel ye shall possesse no inheritance.

And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying:

Speak unto the Levites, and say unto them, When ye take of the children of Israel the tithes which I have given you of the for your inheritance, ye shall take an heave offering of them, which is the tenth part of that tith.

And this your heave offering shall be reckened unto you, even as though ye were of the conye of the baune, or as the fulfille of the vine press.
And the Lord spake unto Moses and Aaron, saying:

This is the ordinance of the law which the Lord hath commanded, saying:

Speak unto the children of Israel, that they bring thee a red heifer without blemish, and burn her out of the camp, and cause her to be flayed before his face.

And let Elisha the priest take of her blood, and sprinkle it directly before the tabernacle of the congregation seven times.

And cause the coed to be burnt in his sight, with her blood, and all the blemish of him that burneth also.

And let the priest take Cedars wood, and hyssop, and scarlet lace, and cast it in the midst of the burning of the coed.

Then let the priest wash his clothes, and he shall bathe his flesh in water, and then come into the hooft, and the priest shall be bntiled with the even.

And he that burneth it shall wash his clothes in water, and bathe his flesh in water, and be bntiled with the even.

And a man that is clean, shall gather by the ashes of the coed, and lay them without the hooft in a clean place, and it shall be kept for the multitude of the children of Israel for a water of separation: It is a holy offering.

Therefore he that gathereth the ashes of the coed, shall bathe his clothes, and remayne bntiled with the even: And it shall be unto the children of Israel, and unto the stranqer that dwelleth among them, a statute for ever.

*He that toucheth the dead body of any man, shall be bntiled seven days.

And he shall purifier himself with this water the third day, and the seventh day he shall be clean: But if he purifie not himself the third day, then the seventh day he shall not be clean.

Whosoever toucheth the dead coed of any man that is dead, and purgeth not himself from the hooft, defileth the tabernacle of the Lord, and that soul shall be cut off from Israel, because the water of separation was not sprinkled upon him: he shall therefore be bntiled, his bntilenees is yet upon him.

This is the law of a man that dieth in a tent: All that come into the tent, and all that is in the tent, shall be bntiled seven days.

And all the vessels that be open, which have no covering bemade upon them, shall be bntiled.

And whosoever toucheth one that is bntiled, with a vessel in the hooft, or a dead perfon, or a bone of a dead man, or a grave, shall be bntiled seven days.

Therefore, for an bntiled perfon they shall take of the burnt ashes of the hooft offering, and running water shall put thereof in a vessel.

And let a clean perfon take hyssop, and dippe it in the water, and sprinkle it by the tent, and upon all the vessels, and upon the persons that were therin, and upon hooft that touched a bone, or a bntile perfon, or a dead body, or a dead bone.

And
And the clean person shall sprinkle upon the braune the third day and the seventh day: And the seventh day he shall purifie him selfe, and wash his clothes, & bathe him selfe in water, and skalde clean at euem.

But the man that is braune, and purposeth not him selfe, the same soule shalbe cut of from among the congregation: because he hath defiled the sanctuary of the Lord, and the water of sepa-ration hath not been sprinkled upon him; therefoze shall he remaine braune.

And it shall be a perpetuall lawe unto them, that he that sprinckles the water of separation, shall wash his clothes: and he that toucheth the water of separation, skalde braune byplit euem.

And whatsoever the braune person toucheth, skalde braune: And the soule that toucheth (the thing that was touched of the braune person) skalde braune byplit euem.

The xx. Chapter.

And the children of Israel came with the whole multitude into the desert of Zin in the first moneth, and the people avode at Cades: And there died Miriam, and was buryed there.

But there was no water for the multitude: and they gathered them selues together against Moses and Aaron.

And the people chode with Moses, and spake, saying: Would God that we had perished when our brethren dyed before the Lord.

Why haue ye brought the congregation of the Lord into this wilderness, that both we and our cattle shoulde dye int?

Aherfore haue ye made us to come by out of Egypt, to dyng vs into this cruel place, which is no place of seabe, nor of hygges, nor vine, nor pomegranates, neither is there any water to dyne.

And Moses and Aaron went from the presence of the congregation, into the doore of the tabernacle of the congregation, and set upon their faces, and the glory of the Lord appeared unto them.

And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying:

Take the rodde, and gather thou and thy brother Aaron the congregation together, and speake unto the rodde before their eyes, and it shall gue forth his water: And thou shalt byng them water out of the rodde, to gue the com-panic dyptue, and their beasts also.

And Moses took the rodde from before the Lord, as he commanded hym.

And Moses and Aaron gathered the congregation together before the rodde, and (Moses) spake unto them: If ye beare ye rebelles, must we fetch you water out of this rodde?

And Moses spake unto Aaron, and to his hande, and with his rodde he smote the rodde two tymes, and the water came out abundantly, and the multitude dranke, and their beasts also.

And the Lord spake unto Moses and Aaron: Because ye believed me not, to sanctifie me in the eyes of the children of Israel, therefore ye shall not byng this congregation into the lande which I have given them.

This is the water of strife, because the children of Israel chode with the Lord, and he was sanctified in them.

And Moses sent messengers from Cades into the land of Edon, thus spake thy brother Israel: Thou knowest all the travaile that we have had.

Our fathers went bovente into Egypt, and we have dwelt in Egypt a long time:

And when we cried unto the Lord, he hearde our voce, and sent an angell, and punished vs by out of Egypt: And beholde, we are in Cades, euin in the bistermoste of thy boorde.

Let vs passe I pray thee through the countrey; but, we vyll not go through the fieldes oz vineyarde, neither vyll we we dynde of the water of the fountain: we will go by the kynges hape way, and neither turne vnto the right hande nor to the left, we will be past thy borders.

8 And Edom answered hym: Thou shalt not go by me, lest I come out against thee with the hwoze.

The children of Israel said vnto him, we will go by the beated way: and if I and my cattell dynde of thy water, I will pay for it: I will but only (without any harne) go through on my beste.

he answered: Thou shalt not go through. And Edom came out against hym with much people, and with a mightie power.

10 And thus Edom denied to geue Israel passaige through his countrey: wherefore Israel turned away from hym.

11 And the children of Israel departed from Cades, and came vnto mount Hore, with all the congregation.

12 And the Lord spake vnto Byples and Aaron in mount Hore, harte by the coast of the lande of Edom, saying.

24 Aaron shalbe gathered vnto his people: for he shal not come into the lande which I have geuen vnto the children of Israel, because pe disobeyd my mouth at the water of strife.

25 Take Aaron and Eleazar his sonne, and hyng them by vnto mount Hore.

26 And cause Aaron to put of his garments, and put them vpon Eleazar his sonne: and Aaron shalbe gathered vnto his people, and shall dye there.

27 And Byples dyd as the Lord commanded: and they went by vnto mount Hore, in the light of all the multitude.

28 And Byples toke of Aarons clothes, and put them vpon Eleazar his sonne, and Aaron dyed there in the toppe of the mount: And Byples and Eleazar came downe out of the mount.

29 When all the multitude sawe that Aaron was dead, they mourned for Aaron thirtie days, all the housethode of Israel.

The xxj. Chapter.

Israel vanquisheth kyng Arad. 8 The first serpentes lyng them. 24 The kynges, Sichon and Og are overcome in battaile.

No when kyng Arad the Chanaanite which dwelt towards the south, hearde tell that Israel came by the way that the hypes had founde out, he fought agaynst Israel, and toke some of them prisoners.

2 And Israel voweled a vowe unto the Lord, and sayde: If thou wilt deliver this people into my hande, I will utterly defray their cities.

3 And the Lord hearde the voype of Israel,
Israel, and delivered them the Chanaanites: And they destroyed them and their cities, and called the name of the place Horma.

4 And they departed from Mount Hor, by the way of the red sea, to compass the land of Edom: and the soul of the people was sore greased, because of the way.

5 And the people spake against God and against Moses: Wherefore hast thou brought us out of Egypt, to die in the wilderness: for here is neither bread nor water, and our soul lotheneth this light bread.

6 Wherefore the Lord sent fierce serpents among the people, which stung them: and much people of Israel dyed.

7 Therefore the people came to Moses, saying: We have sinned, for we have spoken against the Lord, and against thee: make intercession to the Lord that he take away the serpents from us. And Moses made intercession for the people.

8 And the Lord said unto Moses: Make thee a serpente, and set it upon a pole: that as many as are bitten may looke upon it, and live.

9 And Moses made a serpent of brass, and set it upon a pole: and when the serpent had bitten any man, he beheld the serpent of brass, and lived.

10 And the children of Israel departed hence, and pitched in Dibon.

11 And they departed from Dibon, and pitched at the heapes of Abarim, even in the wilderness which is before Moab, on the east side.

12 And they removed hence, and pitched upon the river of Zared.

13 And they departed hence, and pitched on the other side of Arnon, which is in the wilderness, and compassed out of the coasts of the Amorites: for Arnon is the border of Moab, between Moab and the Amorites.

14 Wherefore it was spake spoken in the booke of the vawes of the Lord, what thynge he dyed in the red sea, and in the river of Arnon.

15 And at the streame of the river, that goeth downe to the dwellyng of Ar, and lyeth upon the border of Moab.

16 From thence they returned unto Beer: for the same is the well whereof the Lord spake unto Moses: Gather the people together: and I will give them water.

17 Then Israel sang this song: Spycing up well, singing ye unto it:

18 The princes digged this well, the captaynes of the people digged it with the lade gerrer, and with their names. And from the wilderness they went to Hahahana:

19 And from Hahahana to Nahaliel, and from Nahaliel to Bamoth:

20 And from Bamoth of the valley that is in the field of Boad, unto the top of the hill that looketh toward Seiron.

21 And Israel sent messengers unto Dibon kyng of the Amorites, saying:

22 Let me passe through thy land, the way will not turne into the fields or vineyards, neither dyntke of the waters of the well: but we will go along by the bynges ype way, only'll we be past thy country.

23 But Sehon would not give Israel to passe through his country, but gathered all his people together, and went out against Israel into the wilderness: And he came to Jazer, and fought against Israel.

24 And Israel smote him in the edge of the swood: he conquered his lande from Arnon unto Jabbok, unto the children of Ammon: for the border of the children of Ammon was strong.

25 And Israel toke all these cities, and dwelt in all the cities of the Amorites in Sehon, and in all the tovnes that long therto.

26 For Sehon was the kyng of the Amorites, which fought before against the kyng of the Boadies, and toke all his lande out of his hands, even unto Arnon.

27 Wherefore they that spake in paroberes, say: Come to Sehon, and let the kyng of Sehon be built and repayed.

28 For there is a fire gone out of Sehon, and a flame from the citie of Sehon, and hath consumed Ar in Moab, and the loydes of Samoth in Arcon.

29 And the Boadies, D people of Chanaos ye are bindone: he hath sufferd his soumes to be purfue, and his daugh ters to be in captaiuing unto Sehon the kyng of the Amorites.

30 Their empire is lost from Sehon unto Dibon, and we made a wildernes euen unto Hophja, which reacheth unto Sejada.

31 And thus Israel dwelt in the lande of the Amorites.
And they turned, and went by to wade Balaam: And of the king of Balaam came out against them, he and all his people to fight at Esdraelon.
And the Lord spake unto Moses:
scare him not, for I have delivered hym into thy hande, and all his people and his lande, and thou shalt do to him as thou diddest unto Sehon the king of the Amorites which dwelt at Heshbon.
They smote hym therefore, and his sonnes, and all his people, but all there was nothing left hym, and they conquered his lande.

The xxij. Chapter.

And Balaam senteth for Balain, whose name in the Hebrew is written Bileam.
1. God forbiddeth Balaam to curse the Israelites, 2. The angel standeth in his way. 3. Balaams ale speaketh,

No the children of Israeil departed and pitched in the fields of Moab, on the other side of Jordan from Jericho.

And Balaam the sonne of Ziphor, sawe
all that Israel had done to Amorites.
And the Moabites were sore afraid of the people, because they were many,
and they were broken with fear of the children of Israel.

And Moab spake unto the elders of Midian: Bothe shall this company beheve by all that are rounde about us, as afore ticketh by the grasse off sheide.
And Balaam the sonne of Ziphor, was lying of the Moabites at that tyme, he sent messengers therefor unto

* Balaam the sonne of Beor to Petho, which is by the river of the lande of the children of his folke, to call him, saying; Beholde, there is a people come out of Egypt, and beholde they enuer the face of the earth, and enuer against me.
6. Come nothe therefore I pray thee, and curse me this people, for they are to nightie for me, to perdurance I might be able to smyte them, so to drive them out of the lande: For I note that he whom thou blessest, is blessed, and whom thou curseth is curseth.
7. And the elders of Moab, and the els of Midian departed, having the [rewards] of the south lying in their hande: And they came unto Balaam, and tolde hym the words of Balaam.
8. He answered them; Larp here this night, night, and I will bring you where, even as the Lord shall say unto me.
9 And the Lord spake unto Balaam, and said: What men are these with thee?
10 And Balaam said unto God: Balac, the king of Moab, sent me this wise, saying:
11 Behold, there is a people come out of Egypt, and of the king of the earth. Come, and curse them for me, to my soul, if so be I shall succeed in working upon their soul, and to curse them out.
12 And God said unto Balaam: Go not with them; neither curse the people: for they are blessed.
13 And Balaam rose up in the morning, and came unto Balak, and said: Balak, and the princes of Moab, have sent me to thee: come thou unto thy place, and I will curse thee.
14 And the Lord said unto Balaam: If I will do anything, will I not tell thee of it? And Balaam said: Shall I not speak according to that which the Lord speaketh?
15 So Balaam rose up early in the morning, and went unto Balak, and he said: What hast thou said unto me to do?
16 And Balak said unto Balaam: Alas! thou seest, I have brought thee in a good place: if the Lord shall do anything, shall I not know it? But hast thou not looked upon me from my youth?
17 For I will greatly magnify thee, and I will bless thee more than thy father Balak, by whom thou hast been brought up. And Balaam said to Balak: So shall it be.
18 And Balak brought Balaam into the field of Ziph, to be in company with the princes of Moab.
19 And Balak said to Balaam: Shalt thou not come again with me unto another place, and curse me?
20 And God said unto Balaam: Go with the men, and I will重重 things.
21 And Balaam rose up in the morning, and saddled his ass, and went with the princes of Moab.
22 And the Lord said unto Balaam: Go with the princes of Moab, but speak not with Balak. And Balaam said: Shall I speak according to what the Lord speaketh?
23 And when the ass saw the angel of the Lord standing in the way, and having his sword drawn in his hand, the ass turned aside out of the way, and went out into the field: And Balaam smote the ass, to turn her into the way.
24 But the angel of the Lord stood in a path between the vineyards, and there was a wall on the one side, and another on the other.
25 And when the ass saw the angel of the Lord, she turned her head to the wall, and smote Balaam upon the head, that he smote her head.
26 And the angel of the Lord went further, and stood upon a marble place, where was no way to turn either to the right hand, or to the left.
27 And when the ass saw the angel of the Lord, she went under the marble place, and turned the head of the ass to the right hand, and went by.
28 And the Lord opened the mouth of the ass, and the ass opened the mouth of Balaam: What have I done unto thee, that thou hast smitten me these three times?
29 And Balaam said to Balak: I have not seen this thy thing, that thou hast done to me: But if thou wouldest have destroyed me, thou shouldst not have come this way. And the Lord opened the mouth of Balaam, and he said:
30 And the ass opened the mouth of the Lord: What have I done unto thee? And if thou hast seen it, why hast thou done this thing to me, that thou hast smitten me these three times?
31 And Balak was angry, and he said to Balaam: What hast thou done to me, and I have put my trust in thee, and turned my back on the face of Moab, and I have brought thee into this place, and I have told thee to do that which I have told thee to do.
32 But when the angel of the Lord came to him, and set his feet upon Balaam's ass, he said to Balaam: Why hast thou done this thing to me, and I had set my heart in thee?
33 And Balaam said: I have not seen this thing, but I have set my heart in this place: for I said, I shall see this thing: that he had told him of God, and the angel of the Lord stood in the way, and smote the ass, and went out of the way, and he came in another way.
34 And Balak was angry, and he said to Balaam, and his princes: Is it not this one, that thou didst not turn from me, that thou didst not turn from me, and as I have feigned thee, and I have cursed thee, and I have set my heart in thee, and I have set my heart in this place, and I have set my heart in thee. And the angel of the Lord said to Balaam: Why didst thou not turn from me, when I had set my heart in thee? And Balaam said: I had seen him, and I had not turned from him, and I had set my heart in him, and I had set my heart in thee, and I had set my heart in this place.
Balaam caused Balaam to bless the people.

Balaam blessed the people.

AND when Balaam saw that the Lord had put a word unto him, he said, Aud not as he had done before, fo to meete a foole-saying: but fet his face towards the lyder-nesse.

2 And Balaam lift up his eyes, and looked upon Israel as he lay according to his tribes, and the spirit of God came upon him.

3 And he took by his parable and sayde, Balaam the sonne of Beor hath sayde, and the man whose eyes are open hath sayde:

4 He hath sayde which heareth the words of God, and feareth the visions of the Almighty, and calleth done with open eyes.

And Israel coupled hym self unto Baal Peor, and the indignation of the Lord was kindled against Israel.

And the Lord said unto Moses: Take all the heads of the people, and hang them before the Lord against the third sanna, that the wrath of the Lord may be turned away from Israel.

And Moses say unto the Judges of Israel: Every one slay his men that were joined unto Baal Peor.

And there was in the plague two hundred and threescore and ten souls: and the Lord said unto Moses and unto Aaron, It was for all the people that the children of Israel smote.

And for the plague ye shall make atonement: go ye unto the congregation, and make atonement for them; that there be none slain among the children of Israel.

And the Lord spake unto Moses saying: My covenant have I taken with them, that they may be men unto me, that will make atonement for them.

2 To Ruben and Gad and to half the tribe of Manasses, is promised the possession bygone Jodane eastward. The Sibnites and the Sibrites are rebuked of Works. Their promises into Mopseus.

The children of Ruben and the children of Gad had an excelling great multitude of oxen; and when they have the land of Asier, and the lande of Gilead, that it was an apt place for cattle; and the LORD stone before the congregation of Israel, is a lande mete for cattle, and we thy servants have cattle. Therefore said they: If we have found grace in thy sight, let this lande be geue unto thy servants to possesse, so that we will not go out of Jodane.

And Mopseus laye unto the children of Gab and of Ruben: Shall your brethren then go out to warre, and ye shall sit here? Wherefore discouragement ye the heart of this children of Israel, that they should not go out into the lande which the LORD hath given them? Thus do thy fathers when I sent them from Cades Zrene to see the lande.

For when they went by even into the river of Ethol, and saw the lande, they discouraged...
disencouraged the heart of the children of Israel, that they should not go into the land which the Lord had given them.
8 And the Lord's wrath was kindled, and he sware, saying:
9 None of the men that came out of Egypt, for twenty years old and above, shall see the land which I sware unto Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, because they have not wholly followed me:
10 Save Caleb the son of Jephuneh, the Kenite, and Joshua the son of Nun: so they have constantly followed the Lord.
11 And the Lord was very angry with Israel, and made them wander in the wilderness forty years, until all the generation that had done evil in the sight of the Lord, were consumed.

12 And behold, ye are risen up in our fathers' stead, as an increase of full men, to augment the fierce wrath of the Lord towards Israel:
13 For ye turn away from after your gods, which ye have chosen in your fathers' stead, and ye shall destroy all this folk:
14 And they went near by them, and said: We will build the sheepe folds here for our sheepe and for our cattell, and [walled] cities for our children:
15 But the Lord said: If ye will go up, ye shall not pass over this land, but shall eat it, and give it unto your enemies, as I have spoken:
16 But ye shall not return unto our houses, but ye shall eat it, and give it to your enemies, and shall curse you in all the cities that ye shall inhabit:
17 Neither shall ye inherit the land, which I have given unto Israel:
18 But ye shall return unto your houses, and eat it, and give it unto your enemies; and ye shall curse yourselves in it:
19 And Yeans shall return unto our houses, and eat it, and give it to your enemies.

20 And Joshua said unto them: If ye will do this thing, and if ye will go harnessed (3) before the Lord to warre, 21 And will go all of you in harnesse over Jordan before the Lord, until he have cast out his enemies from his sight,
22 And until ye shall return, and be without Sin (4) before the Lord and before Israel, and this land shall be your possession before the Lord:
23 But if ye will not so, behold, ye shall be harnessed against the Lord: and be sure (8) your sone will finde you out.
24 Holde therefore, build cittes for your children, and soldes for your sheepe, and do that ye have spoken.
26 Our children, our yunes, our sheepe, and our cattell, shall remayne here in the citie of Gilead:
27 But thy seruauntes will go all harnessed to the Warre, and into battayle before the Lord, as my Lord layeth.
28 And for their sake, Moses comanded Elazar the priest, and Joshua the son of Nun, and the chief fathers of the tribes of the children of Israel,
29 And Moses sade unto them: As the children of Gad, and the children of Ruben, will go with you over Jordan, 30 But and if they (b) will not go over with you in harnesse, they shall have their possessions among you in the land of Chanaan.
31 And the children of Gad, and the children of Ruben, amnified, saying: As (c) the Lord hath sade unto thy seruauntes, so will we do:
32 We will go harnessed before you into the land of Chanaan, that the possession of our inheritance may be given us on this side Jordan.
33 And Moses sade to the children of Gad, and to the children of Ruben, and unto half the tribe of Manasse the son of Joseph, the yngbone of Sehon yng of the (b) Amorites, and the yngbone of Og yng of Basan, the lande with the cities therof, in their coasts, and the country round about.
34 And the children of Gad built Dibon, and Aroth, and Arar, 35 And Atroth, Sophan, Jaaser, and Jogbea, 36 Bethnumara, and Betharan, fned f citie: they built solde for the sheepe:
37 And the children of Ruben built Helbon, Eleale, Kirathaim, 38 Nebo, Bashan, and turned their names, and Sidon also; and gave other names unto the cities which they built.
39 And the children of Zadok the sonne of Ithran went to Gilead and took it, and put out the Amizites that dwelt therein.
40 And Moses gave Gilead unto Zadok the sonne of Ithran, and he dwelt therein.
41 And * Jair the sonne of Manasse went and took the small towne there, and called them (b) Hauorth Jair.
42 And Nophah went and took Kenath, and the towne longyng therto, and called it Nophah, after his owne name.

The Mediterranean Sea

This Charteth the way that the people of Israel passed the space of fourteen years, from Egypt (through the desert of Arabia) till they entered into the land of Chanaan, as is mentionned in the books of Exodus, Numeri, Deuteronomium. It containeth also the fourtie and two journeys of nations, named in this thirteene and thee Chapter of Numeri, with the observations of the degrees, aswell of the longitude, as of the latitude of the places of the said journeyes, and also the order of the numbers of them.

47 And they removed from Almon Dibalathan, and pitched in the mountaines of Abarim before Pabo.
48 And they departed from the mountaines of Abarim before Pabo.
The xxxiii. Chapter.

The coasts and borders of the lande of promise. 17 Certayne men are assigned to deuide the lande.

1 And the Lorde spake unto Moses saying: Commande the children of Israel, and say unto them: When ye come into the lande of Chanaan, this is the lande that shall fall unto your inheritance, even the lande of Chanaan with her coasts.

2 And your south quarter shalbe from the wilderness Zin, along by the coast of Edom, to the coast of Judah, easterne of the mount of Edom, which is south westerne of Zin; then go you round about the coasts of Edom, and go downe along by the sea of the Philistines, to the coast of the south quarter, to the coasts of Phaena, and Tharshish, and to Goleschath, and to Hiphen, and to the coast of Joppa.

3 And set a compass from the south by to Erashim, and Rechah to Zama: And go out to the south to Edes Barnea: And go out also to Hazar Anan, and go along to Azmon.

4 And set a compass agayne from Azmon, unto the euer of Egypt, and shall go out at the sea.

5 And let your west quarter be the great sea, let the same sea be your west coast.

6 And this shalbe your north quarter: ye shall compass your border from the great sea, unto (a) mount Hoz.

7 And from mount Hoz, ye shall describe your border, till it come unto Hezemoth, the end of the coast shalbe at Zedad.

8 And the coast shall reach out to Ziphon, and go out at Hazar Enan: This shalbe your north quarter.

9 And ye shall describe your east quarter from Hazar Enan to Sepham.

10 And the coast shall go doone from Sepham to Riblah on the east side of Ain: And the same border shall descende and go out at the side of (b) the sea of Chinnereth eastward.

11 And then go doone along by Hoz dane, and leave at the salt sea: And this shalbe your land, with the coasts thereof of rounde about.

12 And Moses commanded the children of Israel saying: This is the land, which ye shall inherit by lot, and which the Lorde commanded to geue unto you out of the inheritance of the children of Israel.

13 And Moses measured the coasts of Israel, according to the commandment of the Lorde.

14 For the tribe of the children of Ribben, according to the housethsholdes of their fathers, and the tribe of the children of Saba, according to the housethholdes, and also the tribe of Manasse, have receaund their inheritance.
The.xxxv. Chapter.

1. And the Lord spake unto Moses in the plains of Moab by the love of Jericho, saying:

2. Command the children of Israel, that they give unto the Levites of the inheritance of their possession. cities to dwell in: And ye shall give also unto the cities of the Levites, suburbs by their cities round about them.

3. The cities they have to dwell in, and the suburbs for their cattle, and for their possession, as manner of beastes of theirs.

4. And the suburbs of the cities which ye shall give unto the Levites, shall reach from the wall of the city outwarde, a thousand cubites round about.

5. And ye shall measure without the citie of the east side, two thousand cubites: and of the south side, two thousand cubites: and of the west side, two thousand cubites: and of the north side, two thousand cubites also, and the citie shall be in the midst: and these shall be the suburbs of their cities.

6. And from among the children of Joseph, for the tribe of the children of Dan, the love Daniel, the sonne of Siphon.

7. From among the children of Joseph, for the tribe of the children of Dan, the love Daniel, the sonne of Siphon.

8. And ye shall take also a love of every tribe, when ye divide the lande.

9. The names of the men which shall divide the lande unto you: Caesar the priest, and Josiah the sonne of Nun.

10. The names of the men which shall divide the lande unto you: Caesar the priest, and Josiah the sonne of Nun.

11. The cities of refuge. 16 The lawe of manquelling. 30 For one mans wightnesse shall no man be condemned.
12 And these cities shall be unto you a refuge from the avenger of blood: that he which killeth, dye not, until he stand before the congregation in judgment.

13 And of these cities shall ye that dwell in the land of Chanaan, which sallery cities of refuge.

14 Ye shall gene twice on this side Jezre, and three in the land of Chanaan, which sallery cities of refuge.

15 And these sallery cities shall be a refuge, both for the eder of Israel, and for the stranger, a for sarym that dwelleth among you: that all they which tell any person envires, may see saryth. And if any man smite another with an instrument of iron that he dye, then is he a murtherer, and the murtherer shall dye for it. If he smite saryn with slyndung a stone, that a man may dye with, and if he dye, he is that stone saryn a murtherer: let the same murtherer be slayne therefore. If he smite saryn with a handwea pon of wood that a man may dye with, then if he dye, he is a murtherer: let the same murtherer be slayne therefore. The saryer of blood saryn tell that slay the murtherer: when he meeteth saryn, he shall slay saryn. But if he thrust saryn of hate, or hurle at saryn by laying of saryt, that he dye, and he dye, or cast upon saryn any thing, and not in laying of saryt, or any matter of stone that a man may dye with, and said him not, and he railed it to fall upon saryn, and he dye, and was not his enemy, neither sought saryn any harne:

24 Then the congregation shall judge between the saryer and the saryer of blood, according to these laws.

25 And the congregation shall delier the saryer out of the hande of the saryer of blood, and the congregation shall restore sarym to the citie of his sarye, whyther be was fled: and he that abode there into the death of the saryer, which was appointed with the holy yde.

26 But if the saryer come without the borders of his citie of sarye, whyther he was fled:

27 And the saryer of blood finde sarym without the borders of the citie of his sarye, and the saryer of blood saryn the saryer, he sally slaye:

28 Because he shoule haue bydden in the colwe of his sarye until the death of the saryer, and after the death of the saryer, the saryer shoule returne into the lande of his possession.

29 So these sarynges (alas) a lawe of judgement binne you, throughout your generations, in all your dwellings.

30 Whoso kyleth any person, the Judge shall put the murtherer to death: whereof judgments: but one judgment shall not testify against any person, to cause sany to dye.

31 Wherefore ye shall take no recompence for the sarye of the murtherer which is worthy to dye: but he shall be put to death.

32 And ye shall take no recompence for sany that is fled to the citie of his sarye, that he should come againe and dwell in the lande before the death of the saryer.

33 So ye shall not pollute the lande which ye shall dwell in, for blood deliereth the lande: and the lande can not be cleansed of the blood that is shed therein, but by the blood of saryn that sedy.

34 Defile not therefore the lande whiche ye shall inhabit: for I am the middes thereof: even I the Lord dwell among the eder of Israel.
And the chief fathers of the families of the children of Giad, the son of Machir, the son of Manasse, of the kindred of the sons of Joseph, came fourth and spake before Moses, and before the princes the chief fathers of the children of Israel,

And said: The Lord commanded, my Lord, to give the land to inherit by lot to the children of Israel: and my Lord was commanded by the Lord, to give the inheritance of Zelaphed our brother, unto his daughters.

And they be married to any of the other tribes of the children of Israel, then shall their inheritance be taken from the inheritance of our fathers, and shall put to the inheritance of the tribe which they are reckoned unto, and so that it be taken from the lot of our inheritance.

And when the Jubilee of the children of Israel cometh, then shall their inheritance be put unto the inheritance of the tribe wherein they are reckoned, and so that it be taken away from the inheritance of the tribe of our fathers.

And Popeles commanded the children of Israel, according to the word of the Lord, saying: The tribe of the sons of Joseph have so said well.

Thus therefore both the Lord commanded the daughters of Zelaphed, saying: Let them be daupes, to whom they then selues thinke best: only to the family of the tribe of their father shall they marry.

7 So shall not the inheritance of the children of Israel remove from tribe to tribe: for every one of the children of Israel shall toyme hym selfe to the inheritance of the tribe of his fathers.

8 And every daughter that possessest any inheritance (b) in any tribe of the children of Israel, shall be yeke into one of the kindred of the tribe of her father, that the children of Israel may enjoy every man the inheritance of his father.

9 Neither ought the inheritance to go from one tribe to another: but every one of the tribes of the children of Israel shall be joined to his divine inheritance.

10 And as the Lord commanded Moses, even so dyd the daughters of Zelaphed:

11 For Nahela, Thirza, Hagla, Bilche, and Ada the daughters of Zelaphed, were married unto their fathers brethren sons.

12 They were dyues unto the families of the sons of Panasse the sonne of Joseph, and to their inheritance remaried in the tribe of the kindred of their father.

13 These are the commandements and laws which the Lord commanded by the hande of Popeles into the children of Israel, in the fields of Boab, by Jordan [towards] Jericho.

The ende of the fourth booke of Moses.
Deuteronomium.

The fifth booke of Moyse, called in the Hebrew, Elle haddebarim, and in the Latin, Deuteronomium.

The first Chapter.

I heare all of thinges done before from Hoche into Cades Barnea. 2. Moses repented the people for their incredulitie. 4. The Israelites are overcome by the Amorites, because they fought against the commandement of the Lord.

4. There are twelve days journey from Hoche, by the way of mount Seir, unto Cades Barnea.

And it came to passe in the first day of the eleventh month, in the fourtie yere, that Moses spake unto the children of Israel, according unto all that the Lord had geuen in commandement unto them:

4. After he had slayne Sehon the king of the Amorites which dwelt in Helbon, & Og, king of Asalan which dwelt at Askaro in Edon.

5. On the other side Jordan in the land of Doab, began Moses to declare this law, saying:

6. The Lord our God spake unto vs in mount Sinai, saying: We have dwelt long enough in this mount.

7. Turne you and take your journey, and go to the mount of the Amorites, and unto all the places which were burned, both unto the plaine, and hilles, and valleys, to the south, to the seas side, to the landes of Chanaan, and unto Libanon, even unto the great ruer, the ruer Ephlat.

8. Behinde, I have set the lande before you: Go in and possest the lande which the Lord shalbe your fathers, Abraham, Iscrael, and Jacob, to possest them, & to their seede after them.

9. And I spake unto you in the same time, saying: I am not able to beeare you my selfe alone.

10. For the Lord your God hath multiplied you: to that you be this day as the harres of heauen in number.

11. The Lord God of your fathers make you a thousand times as many as ye are, and blesse you as he hath promised you.

12. Howe can I my selfe alone, "beare your umbraunce, your charge, & your strife that is among you.

13. Sing you men of wyldome, and of understanding, and expert, accoring to your tribes, and I will make them rulres over you.

14. And ye anunwercd me, & sayde: That which I haue spaken is good for vs to do.

15. And so out of your tribes: I take the chiefe men of wyldome, and that were expert, and made them rulers over you, captains over thousandes, captains over hundredes, captains over fiftie, and captains over ten, and officers among your tribes.

16. And I charged your Judges that same yere, saying: Beare the cause of your brethren, and judge righteously between every man and his brother, and the stranger that is with you.

17. Ye shall have no respect of any person in judgement, but you shall hear the small as well as the great: You shall not beeare the face of any man, for the judgement is God's. And the cause that is to haarde for you, referre it unto me, and I will heare it.

18. And I commaunded you the same season, all the thinges which ye should do.

19. And When we departed from Hoche, we went throow all that great and terrible wyldernesse, as ye have seen by the way of the mountayne of the Amorites, as the Lord our God commandeth vs: and we came to Cades Barnea.

20. And I spake unto you: Ye are come unto mountaine of Amorites, which the Lord our God hath geuen to vs.

21. Behinde, the Lord thy God hath set the lande before thee: go vp and possest it, as the Lord God of thy fathers hath spake unto thee: feare not, neither be discouraged.

22. And ye came vnto me every one, and spake: We will sende men before vs, to seeke out the lande, and to byng vs wordes againe what way we must goe by, & vnto what cities we shal come.
Deuteronomium.

Cvij.

33. And Caleb the sonne of Jephunneh, he shall be with thee, to help thee against thy enemies.

34. And I will not fail thee, be thou strong and of a good courage: be not afraid, neither be thou dismayed.

36. *And also the Lord was guilty with me for the sake of Tekoa, saying: Thou also shalt not go in thither.

38. *But Joshua the sonne of Nun which standeth before thee, he shall go in thither.

40. And the Lord said unto me: *Sap unto them, go not by, neither fight: for I am not among you, lest ye fall before your enemies.

43. *And I tolde thee these thynges, that ye woulde not heare, but disobayed the wordes of the Lord, and went presumptuously by into the hill.

45. And ye came agayne, and wept before the Lord: but the Lord would not heare your boyster: nol hearken unto you.

46. And so ye abode in Canes a long season, according unto the tyde that ye returned before.
That which was done from the time they departed from Cades Barnea, unto the battle against the kings, Sican and Og.

11 Now ye shall turn our face, and take our journey into the wilderness of Zin, by the way of the rose sea, as the Lord spake unto me: And we compassed (c) mount Seir a long time.

2 And the Lord spake unto me, saying:

3 Ye have compassed this mountaine long enough, turn ye northward.

4 And Warnie thou people, saying: Ye shall go through the (c) coast of your brethren the children of Edom which dwell in Seir, and they shalbe afraid of you.

5 Take ye good heed unto your selves therefore: Ye shall not provoke them, for I will not give you of their land, no not so much as a soone breadth, because I have given mount Seir unto Edom to possesse.

6 Ye shall be meate of them for money, to eate, and ye shall procure water of them for money, to drinke.

7 For the Lord thy God hath blessed thee in all the works of thy hands, and (c) knowledge thy walking through this great wilderness this fourtie yeares, and the Lord thy God hath ben with thee so the thou hast lacked nothing.

8 And when ye were departed from our brethren the children of Edom which dwell in Seir, through the way of the (c) wilderness from Edom, from Ezion Gader, we turned and went by the way of the wilderness of Moab.

9 And the Lord spake unto me: *Thou shalt not fight against the Moabites, neither provoke them to battel; for I will not give thee of their land to possesse, because I have given Ar unto the children of Lot to possesse.

10 The (c) Emims dwelte therein in tymes past, people great, many, and tall, as the (c) Anakims.

11 Whiche also were taken for giantes as the Anakims, whom the Moabites call Emims.

12 The Anims also dwelt in Seir before tyne, whom the children of Edan chased out, destroyed them before them, and dwelt in their stead, as Israel did unto the lande of his possesion, which the Lord gave them.

13 Now ye by spede I and get you over the river Zared: and we went over the river Zared.

14 The place in whiste we came from Cades Barnea, until we were come over the river Zared, was thistle and eight yere, but all the generation of the men of warre were walked out from among the hoast, as the Lord sware unto them.

15 *For in beede the hande of the Lord was against them to destroy them fro among the hoast, till they were consumed.

16 And so it came to passe, that all the men of warre were consumed and dead from among the people.

17 And the Lord spake unto me, saying: Thou shalt go thorth Ab, the coast of Moab, this day:

18 And when thou commest nyep unto the children of Ammon, thou shalt not lie siege unto the, nor move warre against them: For I will not geue thee of the lande of the children of Ammon any possession, but I have geuen it unto the children of Lot to possesse.

19 That also was taken for a lande of giantes, and giantes dwelt therein in olde tyne, whome the Ammonites call (c) Zamzummims.

20 Apeople that was great, man, and tall, as the Anakims: But the Lord destroyed them before them, and they succeeded them in their inheritance, and dwelt in their stead:

21 As he dyd for the children of * Edan, which dwelt in Seir, for whom he destroyed the Hosims before them, and they possesse them, and dwelt in their stead unto this day.

22 And the Anims which dwelt in Hazazon, even unto Aizza, the * Caphezims which came out of Caphezoz, destroyed them, and dwelt in their stead.

23 And the Anims which dwelt in Hazara, even unto Azza, and the *Caphezims which came out of Caphezoz, destroyed them, and dwelt in their stead.

24 Rise ye therefore, I take your journey over the river Arnon.Selah, *I have geuen into thy hande Sehon the Amite, king of Helbon and his lande: begin to possesst it, and provoke hym to battel.

25 This day will I beginne tosende the flame and death of thee upon all nations that are under all the heaven, so that they which heare speake of thee, shall tremble.
Deuteronomium. Cix.

Then we turned, and went by the way to Sabaon: And Og the king of Sabaon came out against vs, and all his people, to fight at Edan,

And the Lord spake unto me: Fear not, for I will deliver him, and all his lande, into thy hande, and thou shalt do unto him, as thou didst unto Sehon king of the Amorites, which dwelt at Helbon.

And to the Lord our God delivered into our hands Og also the king of Sabaon, and all his folk: And we smote him not yet none was left hym aluye.

And we took all his citys the same seazon, neither was there a city which we took not from them, even the very citiees throughout the region of Argob, of the kingdome of Og in Sabaon.

All these citiees also were made strong with hie wallis, gates, barres, beside bullelaid tovnes a great meany, and we utterly destryed them, as we dyd unto Sehon kyng of Helbon, byngynge to naught all the citiees, with men, women, and children.

But all the citiees and the people of the citiees, we took for our seigne.

And thus we took the same seazon out of the hande of two kynges of the Amorites, the land that was on the other side Jordan, from the river of Arnon, unto mount Hermon;

Which Hermon the Sidonis call Seir, and the Amorites call it Senre.

All the citiees that lay in the playne, and all Sela, and all Balaun unto Selcha and Edan, citiees of the kingdome of Og in Sabaon:

For only Og kyng of Sabaon, remained of the remaunt of Sabaon, remaining the remnant of the giants, whose bed was a bed of iron: And is it not yet at Rababah among the children of Ammon? These citiees both the length thereof containe, and soure citiees the breadth of it, after the citiee of an ale.

And so we conquered this lande the same yame, from Aror which is by the river of Arnon, unto halfe mount Sela, and the citiees thereof gane I unto the Rubenites and Gadites.
13 And the rest of Gilead, and all Bashan of the kingdom of Og, gave I unto the half tribe of Manasseh: even all the region of Argob, with all Bashan, which is called the land of Sanauth.

14 Fair the country of Manasseh, take all the country of Argob, unto the coasts of Seutter & Maachah, and called them after his own name, Bashan Hanoch Fair, unto this day.

15 And I gave Gilead unto Bacchur.

16 And unto the Rubenites and Gadites I gave Gilead unto the river of Arnon, half the valley and beyond, even unto the river (a) Jabock, which is the border of the children of Ammon:

17 The (b) playne also, and Joshad, and the coast thereof, from (c) Geraroth, even unto the sea which is in the playne, even the salt sea under the pynge of the hill eastward.

18 *And I commannded you the same tyme, saying: The Lord your God hath geuen you this lande to empy it: ye shall go harnesed before your brethren the children of Israel, all that are meece for the warre.

19 Your hynees only, your children, and your carrell (so I knowe that ye haue much carrell) shall abyde in your cityes which I haue geuen you,

20 Untill the Lord haue geuen rest unto your brethren as well as unto you, and untill they also possesse the lande which the Lord your God hath geuen them beyond Joshad: and then shall ye returne againe, every man unto his possession which I haue geuen you.

21 *And I commannded Josuah hym D fele the same tyme, saying: Thyne eyes have see all that the Lord your God hath done unto these two hyenses: even so shal he do unto all kyngdome wher thou goest.

22 He shall not see them: for the Lord your God he shall fight for you.

23 And I behought the Lord the same tyme, saying:

24 O Lord God, thou hast begunne to shewe thy seuenntes thy greatnesse and thy mightie hande: for where is there a God in heaven or in earth, that can doe after thy workes, and like to thy power.

25 I pray thee let me go ouer, and see the good lande that is beyond Josuad, that goodly (d) mountayne, & Libanon.

26 *But the Lord was angry with me for your sake, and would not heare me. And the Lord sayde vnto me: Be content, speake no more vnto me of this matter.

27 *Set thee up into the top of the hille, lift up thyne eyes westward, northward, southward, and eastward, and behold it with thyne eyes: for thou shalt not go over this Josuad.

28 But charge Josuah, and encourage hym, and bolden hym: *For he shall go before this people, and he shall divide vnto thee the lande which thou shalt see.

29 And so we abode in the valley ouer against the houfe of Peor.

(f) The .iii. Chapter.

1 In errobation to obserue the lawe without addyng thereor or diminishing. 6 Therin bandeth our widsom. 9 we must teache it to our children. 15 No image ought to be made to worship. 26 Threatenings against them that take the lawe of God. 27 God chose the seede, because he loved their fathers. 41 The three cities of refuge.

Dive therefore harken O Israel, unto the ordinaunces and lawes which I teache you, so to (a) do them, that you may lyue, and go in, a possesse the lande which the Lord God of your fathers geues you.

2 (b) Ye shall put nothing unto the Word which I commaunde you, neither shall you take ought from it, that ye may kepe the comauenantes of the Lord your God which I commaunde you.

3 (c) Your eyes have see what the Lord thy God hath done against Baall Peor: for all the men that sodlowed (d) Baall Peor, the Lord thy God hath destroyed from among you.

4 But ye that cleane unto the Lord your god, are alue every one of you this day.

5 Wethold I haue taught you ordinaunces and lawes, such as the Lord my God commaundde me, that ye should do euery thing in the lande whether ye go to possesse it.

6 Kepe them therefore and do them, for that is your widsom and under-standing.
Deuteronomium.

27 For what nation is great that hath ordinaunces? and lawes so righteous, as all this lawe which I lete before you this day?

9 Take heed therefore, and kepe thy soule diligently, that thou forget not the thynges which thyne eyes have seene, and that they depart not out of thy heart all the dayes of thy life: but teach them thy soules, & thine soules soules.

Specially the day that thou swoodest before the Lord thy God in Horeb, when the Lord spake unto me: Gather me the people together, & I will make them heare my words, that they may learne to feare me all the dayes that they shall live upon the earth, & that they may teache their children.

10 Ve came * and soode also under the mountayne, and the mountayne was burnt with fyre even unto the middes of heauen, and there was darknesse, clouds, and mull.

12 And the Lord spake unto you out of the middes of the fire, and ye heard ye the boype of the Lordes: *but faue no similitude, faue hearde a boype only.

13 And he declared unto you his commaundments which he commanded you to do even ten commaundements, which he wrothe vpon two tables of stone.

14 And the Lord commaundeth me that same season that I shoule teache you ordinaunces & lawes, which ye ought to do in the lande whether ye go to poisseit.

Take therefore good heed vnto your seules as pertaining vnto your soules, (for faie no maner of image in the daye that the Lord spake vnto you in Horeb out of the middes of fire)

16 Lef ye marre your seules, & make you a graven image, & picture of any maner of figure, whethir it be the likenesse of man or woman.

17 The likenesse of any maner of beast that is on the earth, or the likenesse of any maner fettered soule that fleeth in the ayre,

18 Or the likenesse of any maner boome that creeseth on the earth, or the likenesse of any maner (flie that is in the waters beneath the earth:

19 Ye and lest thou lifte thyse eyes vnto heaven, and when thou seest the heaven, the moon, and the starrs, with all the hoaste of heaven, shouldest be hudden to worship them, & serue them, and shendeth worship and serue the thynges, which the Lord thy God hath made to serue all nations under the whole heauen.

20 But the Lord hath taken you, and brought you out of the (1) iron furnace, even out of Egypt, to be vnto him a (2) people * of inheritance, as ye be this day.

21 Furthermore, the Lord was angry with me for your wordes, and liwar that I shoule not go ouer Jordane, and that I shoule not go in vnto that good lande which the Lord thy God gyneth thee to inheritance.

22 But I must dye in this lande, and shall not go ouer Jordane: But ye shal go ouer, and poisseit that good lande.

23 Take heed vnto your seules, that ye forget not (4) appointment of the Lord your God which he made vnto you, & that ye make no graven (5) image or likenesse that the Lord thy God hath forbidden thee.

24 For the Lord thy God, is a (6) consuming fire, and a (7) jealous God.

25 When thou shalt beget children, and thy chilデン beget children, and that haue remaried long in the lande, ye be do wickedly, (8) make any maner of graven image, and worke cuply in the fghte of the Lord thy God, to provoke him to anger:

26 I calle heauen and earth to recorde agayn you this day, that ye shal (9) perisse from of lande wherunto you go ouer Jordane to poisseit it: ye shal not prolong your daues therein, but shall vterely be destroied:

27 And the Lord shal scattere you among the people, and ye shalbe left fewe in number among the nations whether the Lord shall byng you.

28 And there ye shal serue gods which are the worke of mans hande, wood and stone, which neither see, nor heare, no eat, no smell.

29 *If from thence thou shalt seke the Lord
Deuteronomium.

Loke thy God, thou shalt fulfill him, if thou take him with all thy heart, and with all thy soul.

30 When thou art in tribulation, and when all these things that be here spoken of, are come upon thee, even in the latter days, if thou turne to the Loze thy God, (for the Loze thy God is a mercifull God) he will not forsake thee, neither destroy thee, nor forget the appointment of thy fathers, which he spake unto them.

31 For all the days that are past, which were before, since the day that God created man upon the earth, and till the one side of heaven unto the other, it never came to passe, such a great thing, or whether any such lyke thing hath ben heard as this.

32 Dyd ever any people heare the boype of God speaking out of the muddes of a fire, as thou hast hearde, and yet lyued?

33 Or halfe God assayed to go and take hym a people from among nations, by temptations, by lignes, by wonders, by warre, by an mightie hand, by a stretched out arm, by great sightes, according unto all that the Loze your God dyd unto you in Egypt before your eyes?

34 Unto thee it was shewed, that thou mightest knowe that the Lord is God, and that there is none other but he.

35 Out of heaven he made thee heare his boype, that he might instruct thee: (as upon earth he showed his boype to his great fire, and thou hearest his bope out of the muddes of the fire.

36 And because he spake thy fathers, he chose their feede after them, he brought thee out in his sight with his mightie power out of Egypt,

37 To thrust out nations great and mightier then thou before thee, and to bring thee in, and to guee thee their lande to inlercaume, as it is come to passe this day.

38 Understand therefore this day, and consider it in thine heart, that the Loze he is God in heaven above and upon the earth beneath, neither is there any other.

39 Thou shalt keepe therefore his ordinances and his commandements which I commaunde thee this day, that it may go well with thee, and with thy children after thee, and (2) that thou mayest prolong the dayes upon earth, which the Loze thy God giveth thee for ever.

40 Then Moyses seuered three citie on the other side Jordan towards the same rysing:

42 That he shoude see hyther which had hypped his neigbour bondage, and hated hym not in tyme past, and therefore shoude see one of the same cities, and lyue.

43 Namely Bezer in the Wyldeerness, even in the playne countrey of the tribe of Ruben, and Ramoth in Gilead, of the tribe of Gad, and Golon in Balaan, of the tribe of Panasse.

44 And this is the wate which Moyses set before the children of Israel:

45 These are the witnesses, statutes, and ordinances, which Moyses tolde the children of Israel after they came out of Egypt.

46 On the other side Jordan, in the valley over against the house of Peas, in the lande of Sion king of the Amorites, which dwelt at Helbon, whom Moyses & the children of Israel smote, after they were come out of Egypt,

47 And possessed his lande, and the lande of Og king of Balaan, two lynges of the Amorites, which were on the other side Jordan towards the same rysing,

48 From Arctar which is by the bounde of the ruer Arnon, unto mount Sion which is hermon, 49 And all the playne on the other side Jordan eastward, even unto the Sea which is in the playne under the springs of the hell.

AND Moses called all Israel, and said: Hear O Israel, the ordinances which I spake in your ears this day, that ye may learn them, and fulfill them in deed.

2 The Lord our God made a covenant with us in Moab.

3 The Lord made not this covenant with our fathers, but with us: even with us, which are all here alive this day.

4 The Lord talked with you (a) face to face in the mount, out of the midst of the fire:

5 And I stood between the Lord and you the people, and prophesied that the Lord spoke at the sight of the fire, and went not by into the mount, and he spake:

6 (b) I am the Lord thy God, which brought thee out of the land of Egypt, from the house of bondage.

7 Thou shalt have none other gods in my presence.

8 Thou shalt (c) make thee no graven image, or any likeness of that which is in heaven above, and that is in earth beneath, and that is in the waters beneath the earth.

9 Thou shalt neither bowe thy knee unto them, nor serve them: for I the Lord thy God, am a jealouse God, visiting the wickedness of the fathers upon the children, even unto the third and fourth generation among them that hate me:

10 And shewe mercie upon thousandes, among them that love me, and keep my commandements.

11 *Thou shalt not take the name of the Lord thy God in vane: for the Lord thy God will not hold him guiltlesse that taketh his name in vaine.

12 Keep the Sabbath day, that thou sanctifie it as the Lord thy God hath commanded thee.

13 *Sire dapes thou shalt labour, and do all that thou hast to do:

14 But the *seventh day is the Sabbath of the Lord thy God: thou shalt not do any labour, thou shalt not thy house, nor thy daughter, nor thy mans servaunt, nor thy wife, nor thy mans servaunt, nor any thy cattle, nor the stranger that is within thee gates: that thy mans servaunt, and thy wife, may rest as well as thou.

15 Remember that thou wost a servaunt in the land of Egypt, and holde that the Lord thy God brought thou out thence, through *a nightie hande and a stretched out armie: For which caute the Lord thy God conmanded thee to kepe the Sabbath day.

16 *Honour thy (d) father and thy mother, as the Lord thy God hath conmanded thee: that thy days may be prolonged, and that it may go well with thee in the lande which the Lord thy God geueth thee.

17 *Thou shalt not slay.

18 *Thou shalt not commit aduaerse.

19 *Thou shalt not steal.

20 *Thou shalt not beare false witness against thy neighbour.

21 *Thou shalt not lust after thy neighbours wife, thou shalt not covet thy neighbours house, his fielde, his seruaunt, or his mayde, his ore, his ass, or sought that thy neighbour hath.

22 These wardes the Lord spake unto all your multitude in the mount, out of the midst of the fire, of the cloud, and of the darkenesse, with a great boye, and (c) added nothing: and byowe them in two tables of stone, and deluered them unto me.

23 And it came to passe, that when ye hearde the boye out of the midstes of the darkenesse (for the mountayne dyd burne with fire) then ye came unto me, with the captaynes of your tribes, and your riders.

24 And ye saide: Behold, the Lord our God hath shewed vs his glory and his greatnesse, and *we have hearde his boye out of the midstes of the fire: we have seene this day that God doth talke with man, and he yet liueth.

25 *And so therefore why shoule we dye: that this great boye shoule continue vs: If we heare the boye of the Lord our God,

The, v. Chapter.

1 In expostulation to scare God and keep his commandments. Which is to lose him with all thine heart. The same must be taught to the po-riety. 16 Not to tempt God. 17 Righteousness is contered in the law.

2 Namely, that thou mightest fear the Lord thy God, and keep all his ordinances and his commandments. Which I command thee, thou shalt be sure to do.

3 Hear therefore, O Israel, and take heed that thou do it, that it may go well with thee. So that ye may encrease mightily, even as the Lord God of thy fathers hath promised thee, a land that floweth with milk and honey.

4 Hear O Israel, the Lord our God is Lord only.

5 And thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thine heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy might.

6 And these words which I command thee this day, shalt be in thine heart.

7 And thou shalt teach them unto thy children, and shalt talk of them when thou art at home in thy house, and as thou walkest by the way. And when thou myght go well with them, and with their children for ever.

8 And thou shalt bind them for a sign upon thine hand, and they shall be for frontier between thine eyes.

9 And thou shalt write them upon the posts of thy house, and upon thy gates.

10 And when the Lord thy God hath brought thee into the land which he sware unto thy fathers, Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, and hath given thee great and goodly cities which thou buildedst not.

11 Houses full of all manner of goods which thou fillest not, and wells digged which thou diggestest not, vineyards and olive trees which thou plantedst not, and when thou hast eaten and art full:

12 Then beware lest thou forget the Lord which brought thee out of the land of Egypt from the house of bondage.

13 Thou shalt fear the Lord thy God, and serve him, and shalt swear by his name.

14 See that ye walk not after strange gods, the gods of the nations which are about you:

15 (For the Lord thy God is a jealous God among you) lest the comenred of the Lord thy God be moved to wrath against thee, and destroy thee from the face of the earth.

16 Ye shall not tempt the Lord your God,
Deuteronomium.

The viij. Chapter.

1. When the Lord thy God shall bring thee into the land where thou gottest to possess it, and hath cast out many nations before thee: namely the Hethites, the Gergesites, the Amorites, the Canaanites, the Perizzites, the Hittites, and the Jebusites, seven nations, greater and mightier than thou:

2. And when the Lord thy God hath set them before thee, thou shalt smite them, and utterly destroy them; make no covenant with them, nor have commissio

3. Thou shalt make no marriages with them; neither give thy daughter unto his son, nor take his daughter unto thy son.

4. For they will deceave thee, that they should not serve thee, they will serve strange gods: and their gods will go against thee, and destroy thee.

5. But thus ye shall deal with them: as ye shall overcome them, break down their altars, and burn their graven images with fire.

6. For thou art an holy people unto the Lord thy God, as he dyed in the place of temptation.

7. But thou shalt diligently keep the commandments of the Lord thy God, his testimonies, and his ordinances, which he hath commanded thee.

8. And thou shalt do that which is right and good in the sight of the Lord: that thou mayest prosper, that thou mayest go in and possesse that good land, which the Lord sware unto thy fathers.

9. To cast out all thy enemies before thee, as the Lord thy God hath said.

10. And when the Lord thy God shall bring thee into a good land, as he sware unto thy fathers, to give thee a land flowing with milk and honey: then shalt thou say, Surely God hath given me the land that floweth with milk and honey.

11. But so long as ye live, ye shall not go up into the mount Sion, nor see the city of the Lord our God.

12. And they were Pharaoh's bondmen in Egypt, and the Lord bought us out of Egypt with a mighty hand.

13. And the Lord saved us from the hand of all our enemies round about. We also served thee in the land of Egypt; and thou hast brought us out thence, as thou saidst.

14. And thou shalt say, It is the Lord our God that brought us out of Egypt, he is the Lord our God, in whom we should trust, and there is no other name whereby we can be saved, but this name of Jesus Christ.
also shalt kepe vnto thee the apportionment and the mercy wherev which he shware vnto thy fathers.

13 He will love thee, and bleisse thee, and multiply thee: he will also bleisse the fruite of thy wombbe, and the fruite of thy lande, thy eoune, thy wine, and thine oyle, and the increase of thy line, and the fructes of thine shepe, in the lande wherev which he shware vnto thy fathers to geue thee.

14 Thou shalt be bleisse above all nations:there shallbe neither man nor woman b3fruitfull among you, nor any of your catell shalle barren.

15 Woe to the Lord wyll take awaie from thee all manner infirmities, and wyll put none of the euyt diseases of Egypt (which thou knowest) upon thee: but will sende them upon all them that hate thee.

16 Thou shalt confunde all the nations which the Lord thy God shall deliver thee: thine eue shall have no pitte upon them, neither shalt thou ferue their gods, for that shalt he decye.

17 If thou lay in thine heart: these nations are no thinge, I howe can I cast them out?

18 Thou shalt not confarde them: but remember what the Lord thy God dyd vnto Pharaon and vnto all Egypt.

19 The great temptations which thyn eues saw, and the singes and wonders, and the mightie hande, and stretched out arme, whereby the Lord thy God brought thee out: even to shal the Lord thy God do vnto all nations of whom thou art a straue.

20 Moreover the Lord thy God wyll sende (2) homets among them, but the Lord thy God wyll not destroy them at once, but he wyll dissemble among them, that he may shewe thee his word.

21 Thon shalt not beafe them: for the Lord thy God is among you, a mightie tide and a terrible.

22 For the Lord thy God wyll put out these nations before thee, by a little and a little: (2) thou mayest not confunde them at once, left the (2) beasts of the fielde increase upon thee.

23 But the Lord thy God shall gue them over before thee, and shall destroy them with a mightie destruction, bytlly he have brought them to naught.

24 And he shall deliver their kings in to thyn hande, and thou shalt destroy their name from bodde heauen: There shall no man be able to stande before thee, but thy shall have destroyed them.

25 The great images of their gods that thou burne with fire: and thou shalt not the goldc and silver that is on thyn, nor take it vnto thee, but thou shalt burn them.

26 Byng not therefore abomination into thine house, lest thou be a cursed thing as it is: but utterly deisse it and abhorre it, for it is a cursed thing.

The xlviii. Chapter.

God humbles the Israelites to try what they have in their heart. 5 God chastiseth them as his children. 14 The heart ought not to be proud: God's benefits, 19 The forgetfulness of God's benefits causteth destruction.

All the commandments which I command thee this day, shal ye kepe for (2) to do them, that ye may live, and multiply, and go in and possesse the lande wherev which the Lord shware vnto thy fathers.

2 And thou shalt remember all the way which the Lord thy God led thee this foure perse in the wilderness, for to humble thee, (2) to prove thee, and to knowe what was in thine heart, whether thou wouldest kepe his commandements, or no.

3 He humbled thee, and suffered thee to hunger, (2) fed thee with manna, which neither thou nor thy fathers knewe of, to make thee knowe that a man doth not live by bread onyse: but by euery (2) good that proceedeth out of the mouth of the Lord doth a man live.

4 Thy rayment wared not oble upon thee, neither dyd thy soote (2) well these foure perse.

5 This also shalt thou consider in thine heart: that as a man chastiseth his soule,

Chapter 25

2. For the Lord thy God bringeth thee into a good land, a land of rivers of water, and fountains, and deep springs that spring out of valleys and hyles;
3. A land wherein is wheat and barley, vineyards, figtrees, and pomegranates, a land wherein is oyle and olive:
4. A land wherein thou shalt eat bread without scarcenes, neither shalt thou lack any thing: a land whose stones are iron, and out of whose hyles thou shalt digge. balsane.
5. When thou hast eaten therefore shall thy selxe, thou shalt bless the Lord thy God, for the good land which he hath given thee.
6. Beware that thou forget not the Lord thy God, that thou wouldest not kepe his commandements, his lawes, and his ordinances, which I commaund thee this day:
7. Yea, and when thou hast eaten and filled thy selxe, and hast buiyt goodly houses and dwelt therein:
8. And when the beasts and the sheepe are waten many, and thy siluer and golde is multiplied, and all that thou hastis encraved:
9. Then be not afraid of that heart ye, and thou forget the Lord thy God, which brought thee out of the land of Egypt, and from the house of bondage:
10. And whiche was thy godde in the great and terrible wonderfull, wherein were fire serpentes, scorpion, and without any water: But he brought out water for thee, even out of the rocke of sute.
11. He fed thee in the wonderfull with Manna, which thy fathers knew not, even for to humble thee, and to vouch thee, that he might do thee good at thy latter ende,
12. Left thou shouldst say in thine heart, my power (and the might of mine owne hande hath prepared me this abundance:
13. But remember the Lord thy God, for it is he which gueueh thee power to get (b) subsistance, for to make good the promishe which he v unaware thy fathers, as appeareth this day.
14. And if thou forget the Lord thy God, and walke after strange gods, and ferve them, and worship them: I shalke (into you this day, that ye shall burne perich.
15. As the nations whiche the Lord desstroyed before your face, even so ye shall perich, because ye would not be obedient unto the boype of the Lord your God.

The .ix. Chapter.

4. God doeth them not good for their owne righteousness, but for his owne sake.
7. Poppes put them in remembrance of their times. 17. The two tables are broken. 26. Poppes praysd for the people.

1. Care O Israel, thou hast set on Jordon this day, to go in and possess nations great and nighter then thy selxe, cities great and walled up to heaven:
2. A people great & tall, cuen the children of the Anahas, which thou knowest of, of whom thou hast heard say, who will stand before the children of Anac;
3. Understand therefore this day, that the Lord thy God is even he which goeth one before thee as a consuming fire, he shall destroy them, and he shall bring them downe before the face: So thou shalt cast them out, and bryng them to naught quickly, as the Lord hath sayde unto thee.
4. (c) Speaketh not though in thine heart, after that the Lord thy God hath cast them out before thee, saying, for my rightousnesse the Lord hath brought me in, to possess this lande: but for the wickednesse of these nations, the Lord hath cast them out before thee.
5. It is not for thy rightousnesse sake, of for the right heart, that thou goest to possess their lande: * But for the wickednesse of these nations, the Lord thy God doth call them out before thee, to forme the wode where the Lord thy God bare unto thy fathers, Abraham, Ishaac, and Jacob.

P 1 Under-
6. Understand therefore that it is not for thy righteousness sake, that the Lord thy God doth give thee this good land to possess it, laying thou art a (1) stiffnecked people.

7. Remember (2) thou provokest the Lord thy God in the wilderness, because the day thou didst depart out of the land of Egypt, until ye came into this place, ye have rebelled against the Lord.

8. Also in Horeb ye provoked the Lord to anger, so that the Lord was wrath with you, even to have destroyed you.

9. When I was gone up into the mount, to receive the tables of stone, the tables of the covenant which the Lord made with you, and I abode in the mount fourtie days and fourtie nights, while I neither did eat bread nor drink water.

10. And the Lord delivered me two tables of stone, Written with the (3) finger of God, and in them was contained all the words which the Lord spake unto me to pouint the mount out of the midst of fire, in the day when ye came together.

11. And when the fourtie days and fourtie nights were ended, the Lord gave me the two tables of stone, the tables of the covenant.

12. And the Lord said unto me: (4) Arise, and getther the people which thou hast brought out of Egypt, saue (5) marrled all: They are turned at once out of the way which I commanded them, and have made them a molten image.

13. Furthermore, the Lord spake unto me, saying: I have seen this people, and beholde it is a stiffnecked people.

14. (1) Let me alone, that I may destroy them, & put out the name of them from under heaven, and I will make of thee a mighty nation, saie greater then they be.

15. And I turned me, and came downe from the hie, even from the hie that burnt with fire, and the two tables of the covenant were in my handes.

16. And I looked, and beholde ye had sinned against the Lord your God, and had made you a molten calf, and had turned at once out of the way which the Lord had commanded you.

17. And I brake the two tables, and cast them out of my two handes, and brake them before your eyes.

18. (a) And I fell downe flat before the Lord even as at the first time, & fourtie days and fourtie nights I did neither eate bread nor drink water, because of all your sines which ye sinned in doing wickedly in the sight of the Lord in that ye provoked hym into wrath.

19. (b) For I was afraid, that for the wrath and forsences which with the Lord was moved against you, he would have destroyed you: But the Lord heard me at that tyme also.

20. The Lord was very angry with Aaron also, even to have (1) destroyed hym: and I made intercession for Aaron also the same tyme.

21. And I took your sinne, the calfe which ye made, and burnt hym with fire, and stamped hym, and grounde hym very small, even to dust: and I cast the dust thereof into the brooke that descened out of the (m) mount.

22. Also at the burninge place, at the place of temptynge, and at the Rephathites lynge, of the Lord to anger.

23. Likewise when the Lord sene you from Cades Barnea, lying, go up and possess the lande which I have given you: ye rebelled against the words of the Lord your God, and neither believed him, nor heartened into his boyster.

24. You have ben rebellious into the Lord since the day that I knewe you.

25. And I fell downe flat before the Lord fourtie days and fourtie nights, as I fell downe before: for the Lord spake, he would destroy you.

The. x Chapter.

5 The seconde tables put in the arke. 8 The tribe of Levi is dedicate to the service of the tabernacle. 11 What the Lord requireth of his. 16 The circunmciion of the heart. 17 God regardeth not the person. 21 The Lord is the praise of Israel.

1 And it came to pass at the end of three days after that the Lord had spoken unto Moab, even the people of Moab sware unto the Lord, saying, 2 For sure it is, that a man may say, Be it known unto thee, that the Lord Hath done very greatly for his people in Egypt: 3 And now, Behold, we are in this place where the Lord our God brought us to, to shew us his mercy, and to shew us the way wherein we should walk, and the judgment wherewith he should judge us: 4 And now, therefore, I pray thee, let the priests, the Levites, and all the tribe of Levi, come near, and let them go up to mount Sinai, unto the Lord, for he sware unto the house of Levi, saying, 5 I will cast out a part of you out of Israel, and will bring an swart out of them, to be priests to me, unto the house of my servant Levi, that I may sanctify the Levites, to be their Moses among their people: 6 And I sware unto them, saying, The Lord is among you, and ye shall henceforth see his glory. 7 And the Lord spake unto Aaron, saying, 8 Go unto the people, and sanctifie them tonight, and purifie them, and wash them, that they may receive the glory of the Lord: 9 And they shall take a_rmament, and anoint them, and purifie them, and they shall be sanctified. 10 And thou shalt cause the children of Israel to come near, and they shall put on their holy apparel, and shall sanctify themselves: 11 And they shall take their garments, and put them upon their children, and their garments shall be as their fathers' garments. 12 And they shall not come near to impure persons, lest they profane themselves: 13 But the children of Israel did according to the word of Moses, and did as the Lord commanded. 14 And when the priests were come out of the camp, all the elders of the children of Israel sware unto them, saying, 15 The Lord have mercy upon your souls: for by innocents have ye made clean the sanctuary. 16 And all the children of Israel sware to the priests, saying, 17 The Lord have mercy upon your souls: and make your brethren the children of Israel understand, and cause them to know the work, which ye do unto the Lord. 18 And the priests, even the Levites, were holy; and all the children of Israel sware to them, saying, 19 The Lord have mercy upon your souls: and make your brethren the children of Israel understand, and cause them to know the work, which ye do unto the Lord. 20 And the Levites hearkened unto the voice of Moses; and they sanctified themselves, and came up out of the camp. 21 And Moses called all the congregation of the children of Israel, and said unto them, Go up unto the Lord, for he hath sent us to the place of his dwelling: and it shall be, that every man that is of a bold spirit shall go up mount Sinai. 22 And Moses went unto the Lord, and spake unto him, saying, 23 I have heard the voice of the children of Israel, which spake unto me, saying, 24 The Lord our God is very gracious, and will forgive sins, and will retain his kindness for thousand generations; and that which is done is not recompensed to them that hate God. 25 Now therefore, if ye will give ear to the voice of the Lord, your God, and will do his commandments, and his statutes, which I command you this day; 26 And wilt go in to the Lord your God, and will set his words in your heart, and in your lips, and shall teach them diligently unto your children, and shall talk of them when ye sit in your house, and when ye walk by the way, and when ye lie down, and when ye rise: 27 And ye shalt bind them for a sign upon your hand, and they shall be for frontlets between your eyes: 28 And ye shall write them upon the doors of your houses, and upon your gates: 29 And the Lord hearkened unto the voice of his people, and heard them, and brought them out of their bondage from Egypt. 30 Now therefore, if ye will obey my voice indeed, and keep my covenant, then ye shall be a peculiar treasure unto me above all people: and all the earth shall fear you. 31 And it shall come to pass, when ye be come unto the land which the Lord shall give you, as he sware unto your fathers, to Abraham, to Isaac, and to Jacob, to give you a great land, that ye do righteousness, and justice, and righteousness, and justice, in the midst thereof. 32 And ye shall remember all the way which the Lord your God led you these forty years in the wilderness, that he might prove you, to know what was in your heart, whether ye would keep his commandments or no. 33 And the Lord said unto Moses, Write thou all the words of this law, and rise up early in the morning, and go up into the mount before the Lord, and set up a stone table, according to the pattern which I have shewed thee this day. 34 And be thou careful to take heed, lest thou forget the word of God, which I command thee this day. 35 For I will cast out nations before you, and great kings: so shall you thrust them out, and possess their land: 36 And ye shall possess the land, and dwell therein, and shall increase exceeding abundant. 37 Then shall ye gather unto your families, and shall cut yourself in all your flesh, and defile yourselves unto the Lord your God. 38 And my servant Moses is not so with thee: he is a mouth to mouth, even a mouth that speaketh specially to thy mouth. 39 For凡 that is in thee is holy; and he shall be holy unto thee. 40 And he shall set up his table in the tabernacle of the congregation before the Lord; and he shall set his bread in order, according to the order which I have commanded thee. 41 And before the Lord shall he make his drink offering of wine, according to the number of the rabbis, which he rendereth to the Lord, a libation of blood for an atonement. 42 And the son of Levi shall be on thine hand, to help thee in the Service of the Lord, to smite the enemy before thee. 43 And he shall be consecrated unto me from the children of Levi, as a gift for my sake: and the children of Levi shall be mine. 44 For he is consecrated unto me from among all the children of Israel: and the children of Levi shall be mine. 45 And I will speak to him in the mercy seat by the testimony which is upon them, when I speak with thee face to face, 46 Even the Lord spake unto Moses, saying, 47 Speak unto the children of Israel, and say unto them, When ye come into the land which I give unto you, and when ye have possessed it, and setteth up in your cities the gates of these cities which the Lord shall give you from the Jordan, even unto the westward, 48 Ye shall set up for yourselves gates upon every entrance, which ye shall enter into, and ye shall hang up a rag of every family, the women, the children, and the stranger that sojourneth among you; 49 And ye shall teach them fear of the Lord your God, and shall command them, saying, Ye shall not do after all things as your fathers did; 50 For the Lord your God is walking in the midst of you, a devouring fire, a jealous God, visiteth iniquity, and will not thy. 51 Ye shall do none of these things; 52 But it shall be, when that ye are come into the land in which the Lord your God giveth you to dwell, ye shall set up these things, and do them. 53 And ye shall set up for yourselves gates upon every entrance, which ye shall enter into, and ye shall hang up a rag of every family, the women, the children, and the stranger that sojourneth among you; 54 And ye shall teach them fear of the Lord your God, and shall command them, saying, Ye shall do none of these things: 55 For the Lord your God is walking in the midst of you, a devouring fire, a jealous God, visiteth iniquity, and will not thy. 56 Ye shall do none of these things; 57 But it shall be, when that ye are come into the land in which the Lord your God giveth you to dwell, ye shall set up these things, and do them. 58 And ye shall set up for yourselves gates upon every entrance, which ye shall enter into, and ye shall hang up a rag of every family, the women, the children, and the stranger that sojourneth among you; 59 And ye shall teach them fear of the Lord your God, and shall command them, saying, Ye shall do none of these things: 60 For the Lord your God is walking in the midst of you, a devouring fire, a jealous God, visiteth iniquity, and will not thy. 61 Ye shall do none of these things; 62 But it shall be, when that ye are come into the land in which the Lord your God giveth you to dwell, ye shall set up these things, and do them.

Then shall the Lord cast out all these nations before you, and ye shall drive out the heathen before you, and ye shall possess their land, as the Lord your God hath promised you.

All the places wherein the tabernacles of your fathers shall wander, even unto the horns of Gentile nations, and from Libanus, and from the river Euphrates, even unto the uttermost sea that ye shall possess, your soul shall be free.

There shall no man be able to stand before you; for the Lord your God shall cast the fear and dread of you upon all the land that ye shall possess, as he hath said unto you.

These are the nations, and the places, within which ye shall observe and do in the land, whiche the Lord God of thy fathers gerricht thee to possess it as long as ye live upon the earth.

Ye shall destroy all places wherein the nations whiche ye shall possessse creed their gods, upon thy mountaynes, on byles, and under every green tree.

7 Nevertheless, these ye shall not eate of them that cleave not of them that cleaue, and cleaue the hoofe only, the Camel, the hare, and the Conye: For they eate the cud, but cleave not the hoofe: therefore they are not onely cleane unto you.

8 And all the Swyne, though he cleave the hoofe, yet he cheweth not ciff, therefore is he not cleane unto you: ye shall not eate of the fette of luche, nor touche the dead carkeffe of them.

The term of seven yeres, thou shalt make a freedome.

And this is the maner of the freedome: who so ever lenteth ought with his hande unto his neighbour, may not alke agayne (that which he hath lent) of his neighbour or of his brother, because it is called the Lordes free yere:

Yet of a strauenger thou mayst call it home agayne: but he that is thy brother, hym shall thine hande remit.

Nerthertheless, there's alde no begger among you: for the Lord shall bleisse thee in the lande, which the Lord thy God geueth thee for an inheritance:

So that thou hearken unto the boype of the Lord thy God, to obserue and do all these commandementes which I commaund thee this day:

For the Lord thy God hath bleessed thee, as he hath promised thee, and thou shalt lende unto many nations, but thou thy selfe shalt not bozard: and thou shalt raigne over many nations, and they shall not raigne over thee.

If one of thy brethren among you be poore within any of the gates in thy lande, which the Lord thy God geueth thee: thou shalt not harden thine heart, nor shut to thine hande from the poore brother:

But thou shalt open thine hande unto hym, and lende hym sufficient for his neede which he hath.

Beware that there be not a wicked thought in thine heart, that thou wouldest say, the seventh yere, the yeer of freedome is at hande: and therefore it greeueth thee to loke on thy poore brother, and greeueth hym also, and then eyre unto the Lord agaynft thee, and it be sone unto thee:

Thou shalt greeu hym, and let it not greeu thine heart to greeu hym: Because that for this thyng the Lord thy God shall bleisse thee in all thy workes, and in all that thou puttest thine hande to.

* The lande shall never be without poore: and therefore I commaunde thee, saying, Thou shalt open thine hande unto thy brother that is needy & poore in thy lande.

12 *If thy brother an helme fell hym selte to thee, or an helme Woman, and serue thy selfe yeres, in the seventh yer thou shalt let hym goe free from thee.

13 And when thou lended hym oute free from thee, thou shalt not let hym go away emptie:

14 *But (halt) greeu hym of thy sheepe, of thy cowe, and of thy daine, and greeu hym of that wherewith the Lord thy God hath bleested thee.

15 And remember that thou walt a seruauant in the lande of Egypt, and the Lord thy God delivered thee thene: and therefore I commaund thee this thyng to day.

16 And if he lay unto thee, *I will not go away from thee: because he loueth thee and thine house, and is well at ease with thee:

17 Then shalt thou take an auile, (a nailie) his care to the dooze threwith, and let hym be thy seruaunt for ever: And bunto thy maybde seruaunt thou shalt do like-wise.

18 And let it not greeu thine eye, when thou lettest him go out free for thee, for he hath ben worth a double hired seruaunt to thee in his service yere:

And the Lord thy God shall bleisse thee in all that thou doest.

19 *All the first males that come of thy carret and of thy sheepe, thou shalt hallowe into the Lord thy God:

Thou shalt do no booke with the first borne bullocke, nor shewe the first generized of thy sheepe.

20 Thou shalt eate it before the Lord thy God yere by yere, in the place where the Lord shall choose, both thou and thy houthode.

21 *If there be any blemishe therin: as if it be bane, or blinde, or have any other cupill fanouredness, thou shalt not offer it unto the Lord thy God:

22 But shalt eate it within thine owne gates, the buelene and cleane person that eate it alike, as the Roce & the Hart.

I. To observe the month of unleavened bread, that thou mayest offer the Passover unto the Lord thy God: For in the month when thou beganst to come up out of the land of Egypt, the Lord thy God brought thee out of Egypt by night.

2. Thou shalt therefore offer the Passover unto the Lord thy God, (as I have commanded thee,) in the place which the Lord shall choose, to put his name there.

3. Thou shalt eat no leavened bread with it: but seven days shalt thou eat unleavened bread therewith, even the bread of tribulation (for thou camest out of the land of Egypt in haste, that thou mayest remember the day when thou camest out of the land of Egypt, all the days of thy life.

4. And there shall be no leavened bread found in thy possession; neither shall there remain any thing of the leaven that thou offeredest the first day at even, before the morning.

5. Thou shalt not offer the Passover within any of thy gates which the Lord thy God giveth thee:

6. But in the place which the Lord thy God shall choose, to set his name there, thou shalt offer the Passover at even, about the going down of the sun, even in the season that thou camest out of Egypt.

7. And thou shalt rise up and eat it in the place which the Lord thy God hath chosen, and thou shalt return unto the lodge, and go unto thy tent.

8. Seven weeks shalt thou eat unleavened bread; and the seventh day shalt be a solemn assembly before the Lord thy God: thou shalt do no work therin.

9. Seven weeks shalt thou number unto thee, and beginne to number the seven weeks, when thou beginnest to put the sicle to the come:

10. And keep the feast of weekes unto the Lord thy God, with a free will offering of thine hande, which thou shalt give unto the Lord thy God, according as the Lord thy God hath blessed thee.

11. And thou shalt rejoice before the Lord thy God, thou, and thy sonne, thy daughter, thy seruant, and thy maide, the Leuite that is within thy gates, and the stranger, the fatherlesse, and the widowde that are among you, in the place which the Lord thy God hath chosen, to put his name there.

12. And remember that thou wast a seruant in Egypt: and thou shalt observe, and do these ordinances.

13. Thou shalt alsoobserve the (b) feast of tabernacles, seven days after that thou hast gathered in thy corn and thy wine.

14. And thou shalt rejoice in thy feast, thou and thy sonne, thy daughter, thy seruant, and thy maide, the Leuite, the stranger, and the fatherlesse, and the widowde, that are within thy gates.

19. Wilt not thou the labvre, nor knowe any person, neither take any reward: for gifts do blinde the eyes of the wise, and pervert the words of the righteous.

20. That which is just and righte shalt thou solowe, that thou mayst live, and enjoy the lande which the Lord thy God giveth thee.

21. Thou shalt plant no grove of any trees near unto the anker of the Lord thy God, which thou mayst make thee.

1 And thou shalt offer unto the Lord thy God no burnt offering wherein is (a) blemish, or any evil savourableness: for that is an abomination unto the Lord thy God.

2 If there be found among you within any of thy gates which the Lord thy God giveth thee, man or (b) woman that hath wrought wickedness in the sight of the Lord thy God, in transgressing his covenant:

3 And gone and feued strange gods, and worshipped them, as the sune of noone, or any of the host of heaven, which I have not commaunded:

8 If there rise a matter to haue for thee in judgement betweneen (c) blood and blood, betwene plea and plea, betwene plague and plague, and the matters come to strife within thy gate: then shalt thou arise, and get thee vp into the place where the Lord thy God hath chosen:

9 And come into the presence of the Leuites, and unto (d) the judge that shalbe in those daies, and aske: and they shall heve thee the sentence of judgement.

And thou must do according to that which they of that place (which the God had chosen) shalbe thee, and thou shalt obserue to do according to all that they enuershe thee:

11 According to the sentence of the Law which they tell thee, (e) shalt thou do: and bowle not from that which they theve thee, neither to the right hande nor to the left.

15 Then thou shalt make hym king over thee whom the Lord thy God shall choose: Even one from among thy brethren that shalt make kyng over thee, and thou mayest not set a stranger over thee, which is not of thy brethren.

16 But he shall not multiply horses to hym selfe, nor byng the people agayne to (g) Egypt to increace the number of horses: forasmuch as the Lord hath laid vp unto you, ye shall henceforth go no more agayn that way.

17 Also he ought not to multiply wpues to hym selfe, lest his heart (h) turne away, neither shall he gather hym siluer and golde to much.

The portion of the Leuites, (a) of the Leuite comming from another place: 9 To aonde the abomination of the gentiles: 10 God will not leave them without a true prophete. 11 The false prophete shall be slaine. 12 He may be known,

The priests of the Leuites, & all the tribe of Leui, must haue no part nor inherence with Israel: but shall enere offeringes of the Lorde, and his inherence.

2 Therefore shall they haue no inherrance among their brethren: but the Lorde he is their inheritance, as he hath saide unto them.

3 And the priests dutie of the people, and of them that offer, whether it be one or three, they must goe unto the priest, the shoulder, the two chekes, and the maide.

4 The first frutes alio of thy come,

that thou gavest bym.

5 For the Lorde thy God hath chosen bym out of all thy tribes, to stande and to ministe in the name of the Lorde, and his sonnes for ever.

6 If a Leuite come out of any of thy cities of all Israel, where he is a sojourner, and come With all the luft of his heart unto the place which the Lorde hath choosen:

7 He shal ministe in the name of the Lorde his God, as his other brethren the Leuites do which remayne there before the Lorde.

8 And they shall haue lyke portions to eat, beside (b) that which commeth of the sſe of his patrimone.

9 When thou art come into the lande which the Lorde thy God giveth thee, thou shalt not leave to do after the abominations of those nations.

10 Let there not be founde among you any one that maketh his sonne or his daughter to (c) go through the fire, or that beth witchcraft, or a regarder of tymes, or that regardeth the sleeping of fowles,

11 Or a forere, or a charmer, or that cozesth with drufes, or a soothsafer, or that asketh compound of the dead.

12 For all that do such thynges, are abromination into the Lorde: and because of these abominations, the Lorde thy God doth cast them out before thee.

13 Thou shalt be (d) perfect therefore in the light of the Lorde thy God.

14 For these nations which thou shalt possesse, hearken unto regards of tymes, and unto soecers: but the Lorde thy God hath not suffered thee to do.

15 The Lorde thy God will (e) three by bend theee a prophete among you, even of his brethren like unto me: *but bym ye shall hearken,

16 According to all that thou desirdest of the Lorde thy God in Horeb in the bay of the assembly, when thou badest:
*Let me heare the boyle of my Lorde God no more, no:” see this great fire any more, that I dyne not.

17 And the Lorde saide unto me: They have well spoken.

18 I will raise them by a prophete from among their brethren lyke unto thee, and will put my wordes in his mouth, and he shall speake vnto them all that I shall commaund him.

19 And whosoever will not hearken but to my wordes, which he shall speake in my name, (f) I will require it of him.

20 But the prophete which shall presume to speake a word in my name, which I have not commaundt hym to speake, or (g) that speaketh in the name of strainge gods, the same prophete shall dy.

21 And if thou say in thine heart: howe shall we knowe the wordes which the Lorde hath not spoken,

22 Even when a prophete speakeith in the name of the Lord, if the thing happe not, nor come to passe: that is the thyng which the Lorde hath not spoken, but the prophete hath spoken it prelum-tuously: Thou shalt not therefore be atrapde of hym.
When the Lord thy God hath rooted out the nations whose lande the Lord thy God giveth thee, and thou succeedst in their inheritance, and dwellest in their cities, and in their houses:

2 Thou shalt separate thee three cities for thee in the middles of the lande which the Lord thy God giveth thee to possess it:

3 Thou shalt prepare the way, and divide the coates of the lande which the Lord thy God giveth thee to inherit, into three partes, that whole cuer committed murthere, may see theyer.

4 For this cause must the slayer flee thither, that he may lyue: who so killeth his neighbour ignorantly, and hated hym not in tympe passed:

5 And wha a man goeth into the wood with his neighbour to helpe wood, and as his hande fetcheth a stroke with the axe to cut downe the tree, the head slipeth from the helme, and smythe his neighbour that he dyeth: the same shall flee into one of the same cities, and lyue:

6 Left the avenger of the blood solowe after the slayer whyle his heart is hot, & overtake hym because the waipes is long, and slay hym, and yet there is no caufe worthy of death in hym, in as much as he hated hym not in tympe passed.

7 Wherefore I commande thee saying, Thou shalt appoint out three cities for thee.

8 And if the Lord thy God enlarge thy coates (as he hath done unto thy fathers) and giveth thee all the lande which he daybe he woulde givene unto thy fathers:

9 Thou shalt keppe all these comman- dements to do them, which I commande thee this day, that thou loove the Lord thy God, and walke in his

Wapes ever: and add three cities no for thee beside these three,

10 That innocent blood be not shed in thy lande, which the Lord thy God giveth thee to inherit, and so blood come upon thee.

11 But and if any man hate his neighbour, and lay alwaye for hym, and rys against hym, and sinte hym that he die, then shew it unto any of these cities:

12 The (a) elders of his cite shall sende and fetch hym thence, and deliver hym into the hands of the avenger of blood, that he may dye.

13 (b) Thine eye shall not spare hym, but thou shalt put away [the eye of] innocent blood from Israel, that it may go well with thee.

14 Thou shalt not remove thy neighbours (b) marke, which they of old time have set in thine inheritance, that thou shoulde inherit in the lande which the Lord thy God giveth thee to enjoy it.

15 * One witness shall not rive against a man for any maner trespaste, or for any maner luine, or for any maner faule that the offender in: but at the mouth of two witnesses or of three witnesses shall the matter be stablished.

16 *If a saile witness rive vp against a man, to accuse hym of trespaste:

17 Then both the men which trye to- gether, shall stand (c) before the Lord, before the priests and the judges which shalbe in those dayes:

18 And the judges shall make diligent inquisition: and if the witness be founde saile, and that he hath genen false Wit- nesse against his brother:

19 Then shall ye do unto hym,as he had thought to do unto his brother, & thou shalt put euy from the middes of thee.

20 And other (shall heare, and seare, and shall henceforth) commit no more any such wickednesse among you.

21 And thine eye shall have no compassion, but lyfe for lyfe, eye for eye, tooth for tooth, hande for hande, foote for foote.
When thou goest out to battle against thine enemies, take heed to the city of refuge, and to the city of asylum, and to the city of asylum, and to the city of asylum. And when the city of asylum hath delivered itself into thine hands, thou shalt smite all the males therewith of the edge of the land of Israel:

2 And when the city of asylum shall deliver itself into thine hands, thou shalt smite all the males therewith of the edge of the land of Israel:

3 And the officers shall speak unto the people, saying: If any man have built a vineyard, and have not made it common: let him go and return to his house, lest he die in the battle, and another man dedicate it.

4 And if any man have planted a vineyard, and have not made it common: let him go and return to his house, lest he die in the battle, and another man dedicate it.

5 And the officers shall speak unto the people, saying: If any man have built a vineyard, and have not made it common: let him go and return to his house, lest he die in the battle, and another man dedicate it.

6 And if any man have built a vineyard, and have not made it common: let him go and return to his house, lest he die in the battle, and another man dedicate it.

7 And if any man have built a vineyard, and have not made it common: let him go and return to his house, lest he die in the battle, and another man dedicate it.

8 And the officers shall speak unto the people, saying: If any man have built a vineyard, and have not made it common: let him go and return to his house, lest he die in the battle, and another man dedicate it.

9 And when the officers have made an end of speaking unto the people, they shall make captains of the armies to govern the people.

10 When thou comest nigh unto a city to smite against it, offer them peace.

11 And if they receive thee peaceably, and open unto thee, then let all the people that is found there, be tributaries unto thee, and serve thee.

12 And if they will not make peace with thee, but make war against thee, thou shalt besiege it.

13 And when the city of asylum hath delivered itself into thine hands, thou shalt smite all the males therewith of the edge of the land of Israel:

14 And when the city of asylum shall deliver itself into thine hands, thou shalt smite all the males therewith of the edge of the land of Israel:

15 Thus shalt thou do unto all the cities which are a great way of from thee, which are not of the cities of the nations.

16 But of the cities of these nations which the city of asylum shall give thee to inherit, thou shalt save alive nothing that breatheth:

17 *But shalt destroy them without redemption, namely the Hethites, the Amorites, the Chanaanites, the Pherezites, the Heites, and the Jebusites, as the city of asylum thy God hath commanded thee:

18 That they teach you not to do after all their abominations which they have done unto their Gods, and so ye should smite against the city of asylum your God.

19 When thou hast besieged a city long time, and made war against it to take it, destroy not the trees thereof, that thou wouldest cut them down, and make bulwarks against the city that maketh war with thee, but all thou subdue it.

The xxv. Chapter.

If there be strife betweneemen, they shall come unto the judges; and let the judges make sentence betwene them: and if the rightous, I condemn the ungodly.

2 And if any man be ungodly, and worthy of stripes, then let the Judges cause him to hee both and to be beaten before his face, according to his trespass, unto a certaine number.

3 Forty stripes shall hee give him, and not passe: lest if he shoulde exceed, and beat him above that with many stripes, thy brother should appeare defiled and vile before thine eyes.

4 Thou shalt not measure the one to the other.

5 If three men dwell together, and one of them dye, and have no childe, the wife of the dead shall not marry without out into a stranger: but his kindred shall go in unto her, and shee take her to wife, and occupy the portion of his kindred.

14 I have not eaten thereof in my mourning, nor lustred ought to pertise the throdve butlemese, no geuen ought therof for the dead: but have hearkened untoward the bope of the Lorde my God, and have done after all that thou hast commandad me.

15 *Loke downe therefore from thy holy habitation, even from heaven, and blest thy people Israel, and the lande which thou hast geuen vs, as thou hauest unto our fathers [a land] that floweth with mylie and hone.

16 This day the Lord thy God hath commandad thee to doe these obadnances and lades: kepe thou them, do them, "With all thine heart, and all thy houl.

The
Deuteronomium.

The xxix. Chapter.

2 The people are exhorted to observe the commandments. 10 The whole people from the least to the lowest are comprehended under God's covenant. 19 The punishment of hym that chattereth hym falsely in his wickedness. 24 The cause of God's wrath against his people.

These are the words of the covenant which the Lord commanded Moses to make with the children of Israel in the land of Moab, before the appointment which he made with them in Zoar.

And Moses called all Israel, and said unto them: Ye have seen all that the Lord did before your eyes in the land of Egypt, unto Pharaoh and unto all his servants, and unto all his land. The great temptations which thine eyes have seen, those great miracles and wonders:

And yet (a) the Lord hath not given you an heart to perceive, and eyes to see, and ears to hear, unto this day.

And I have led you forty years in the wilderness: and your clothes are not worned old upon you, and thy shoes are not worned old upon thy foot.

Ye have eaten no (b) bread, nor drunk wine or strong drink: that ye might know, holy, that I am the Lord your God.

And ye came into this place, and Sehon the king of Heshbon, and Og the king of Bashan came out against you, and we smote them.

And took their land, and gave it for an inheritance unto the Rubenites and Gadites, and to the half tribe of Manasse.

Keep therefore the words of this covenant, and do them, that ye may (c) understand all that ye ought to do.

Ye stand this day every one of you before the Lord your God; your captains, your tribes, your elders, your officers, and all the men of Israel:

Your children also, your wives, and the stranger that is in thine house, from the heifer of thy wood, and the drainer of thy water:

That thou mightest go into the covenant of the Lord thy God, and into his oracle which the Lord thy God Maketh with thee this day:

For to make thee a people unto hym self, and that he may be unto thee a God, as he hath said unto thee, and as he hath shewed unto thy fathers, Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob.

If make not this bond and this oath

With thy own:

But both with hym that standeth here with vs this day before the Lord our God, and also with hym that is not here with vs this day.

For ye know the Lord will be in the land of Egypt, and doth come through the myrthes of the nations which ye passed by:

And ye have seen their abomination, and their idols, wood and stone, silver and gold, Which were among them.

Left there be among you man or woman, kuerbec or tribe, whose heart turneth away this day from the Lord our God, to go and serve the gods of these nations: and left there be among you some (b) route that heareth gall and Voomelwood.

So that when he heareth the words of this oath, he blessec hymself in his heart, saying: (f) I shall haue peace, I wallke in the meaninge of myne owne heart: to put the drunken to the thriste;

And so the Lord wall not consent to be merefull unto hym, but then the wrath of the Lord and his godlye shall shine against that man; and all the curses that are written in this booke shall light upon hym, and the Lord shall do out his name from vnder heau.

And the Lord shall separate hym unto a curse, out of all the tribes of Israel, answering unto all the curses of the covenant that are written in the booke of this lawe.

So that the generato otherwise of your children that shall crye by after you, and the stranger that shall come from a farre lande, shall say, when they see the plauges of that lande, and the blēates whereby with the Lord hath smitten it:
Deuteronomy.

23 Howe all the lande is burnt up with brimstone and salt, and that it is neither sown, nor reaped, nor any grass grown therein, lyke as in the place of Sodomme,Gomor, Abana, and Zebon, which the Lorde overthrew in his wrath and anger.

24 Even then shall all nations say: Wherefore hath the Lord done on this fashion unto this lande: D howe sere is this great wrath:

25 And men shall say: Because they have forsaken the covenant of the Lorde God of their fathers, which he made with them when he brought them out of the lande of Egypt.

The xxx. Chapter.

1 Heres be written when they repent. 2 The Lorde doth circumcise the heart.

2 All curtes of ignorance is taken away, 3 Life and death is set before them. 4 The Lorde is ther heart which obey him.

When all these worudes are come upon thee, the blessing and the curse which I have set before thee, thou shalt turne bythine heart, among all the nations whether the Lorde thy God hath byuen thee.

2 And com againe unto the Lorde thy God, and hearken unto his voce in all these thynges that I commaund thee this day, thou, and thy chilren, with all thine heart, and all thy soule;

3 And the Lorde thy God (b) will turne the captivative and have compassion upon thee, and will turne and setethe thee agayne from all the nations among which the Lorde thy God had scattered thee.

4 Though thou waiste into the extreme partes of heauen: even from thence will the Lorde thy God gather thee, and from thence will he fetch thee:

5 And the Lorde thy God will bring thee into the lande whiche thy fathers possessed, and thou shalt emoy it: And he wilbe thee kindnesse, and multyple thee abowe thy fathers.

6 And the Lorde thy God will (c) circumcise thine heart, and the heart of thy seene, that thou mayest love the Lorde thy God, with all thine heart, and all thy soule, that thou mayest lyue.

7 And the Lorde thy God will put all these curtes upon thine enemies, and on them that hate thee, and that persecute thee.

8 But thou shalt turne, and hearken unto the voice of the Lorde, and do all his commandements which I commaund thee this day:

9 And the Lorde thy God wil make thee plentuous in all the worudes of thine hande, in the fruit of thy body, and in the fruit of thy cattell, and in the fruit of thy lande, for thy wealt: * For the Lorde thy God will take thy captivative, and will redeem thee out of thine hand, to do thee good, as he rejoyced over thine fathers.

10 If thou hearken onlone unto the voice of the Lorde thy God, to kepe his commandements and his ordinances which are written in the booke of this lande, and if thou turne unto the Lorde thy God with all thine heart and all thy soule.

11 * For the commandement which I commaund thee this day is (c) not hidden from thee, neither farre of.

12 It is not in heauen, that thou needest to say: Who shall go up for vs to heauen, and bring it unto us, that we may heare it, and do it?

13 Neither is it deponde (c) the sea, that thou shouldest say: Who shall go over the sea for vs, and bring it unto vs, that we may heare it, and do it?

14 But the worude is very npe unto thee, even in thy mouth, and in thine heart,
The xxxj. Chapter.

And Moses went and spake these words unto all Israel, And laid unto them: I am an hundred and twenty years old this day, and can no more, go out and in: Also the Lord hath laid it upon me. Thou shalt not go over this Jordan.

The Lord thy God he will go before thee, and he will destroy these nations before thee, and thou shalt possess them: And Joshua he shall go before thee, as the Lord thy saviour.

And the Lord shall do unto them, as he did to * Sehon and Og kings of the Amorites, and unto the land of them whom he destroyed.

And the Lord shall give them over before your face, that ye may do unto them according unto all the commandments which I have commanded you.

Plead by your heartes therefore, and be strong, dare not, nor be afraid of them: for the Lord thy God shall give them into your hand.

And Moses called unto Joshua, and said unto him in the sight of all Israel: Be strong and of good courage; for thou shalt go with this people into the land which the Lord your God giveth them, and thou shalt

That ye shall inherit, and that ye shall not prolong your days upon the land whyther thou passest over Jordan to go and possess it.

I call heaven and earth to record this day against you, that I have set before you, life and death, blessing and cursing: Therefore choose ye this day, that both thou and thy seed may live:

That thou mayest love the Lord thy God, and be obedient to his voice, and cleave unto him: for he is thy life, and the length of thy days, that thou mayest dwell upon the earth, which the Lord shall give unto the fathers, Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, to give them.

The doctrine of the law was not written in stone, but was written in the heart by the Holy Spirit, as the commandments were engraved on the tables of stone at Mount Sinai. Even so, the law is written on the heart of all people, and the knowledge of right and wrong is innate in everyone. The people must therefore be guided by the wisdom of the elders, who have received it from their forefathers, and learn to fear the Lord and obey his commandments. This is the responsibility of the elders, who are responsible for the preservation and transmission of the law to future generations.
Deuteronomy.

gregard, that I may give him a charge. And Moses and Josiah went and stood in the tabernacle of the congregation.

15 And the Lord appeared in the tabernacle, even in the pillar of the cloud: and the pillar of the cloud stood over the door of the tabernacle.

16 And the Lord said unto Moses, Behold, thou shalt sleep with thy fathers; and this people will rise up, and go whither after strange gods of the land, and do all manner of abominations, in which I have not dealt with them.

17 And then my wrath will I sorely abhor, and will turn my face from them, and they shall be consumed, and much abominable and tribulations shall come upon them, so that then will I repent: Are not these troubles come upon me, because God is not with me?

18 And I also will sorely abhor my face in that day, for all the evil which they shall have wrought, in that they are turned into strange gods.

19 And he therefore wrote this song for you, and taught the children of Israel, and put it in their mouths, that this long may be my witness against the children of Israel.

20 For I will bring them into the land which I sware unto their fathers, that floweth with milk and honey: and they shall eat and be satiated, and hate their fathers, and spile their siringes, and ware fat, and turne into strange gods, and serve them, and blaspheme me, and break my covenant.

C 21 And when much mischief and tribulation is come upon them, this long shall amuse them as a witness: For it shall not be forgotten out of the mouths of their seed: for I know their imagination, which they go about even now, before I have brought the into the lande which I swaue.

22 And Moses therefore wrote this song the same day, and taught it the children of Israel.

23 And he gave Josiah the name of Nun acharge, and sayde: Be bold and strong, thou shalt bring the children of Israel into the lande which I swaue unto them: I will be with thee.

24 And when Moses had made an end of writing the Words of this Law in a booke, until he had finished them,

25 Moses commanded the Levites, which bare the arke of the covenante of the Lord, saying:

26 Take ye the booke of this Law, and put it in the (b) yde of the arke of the covenant of the Lord your God, that may it be there for a (c) witnesse against thee.

27 For I knowe thy rebellion and thy stiffe necke: Wherefore I am yet alive with you this day, ye haue ben dabbled unto the Lord, and holde much more after my death:

28 Gather unto me all the elders of your tribes, and your officers, that I may speake these words in their eares, and call heaven and earth to recorde against them.

29 For I am sure, that after my death ye will bitterly be corrupt, and turne from the way which I have commanded you: and tribulation will come upon you in the latter dayes, because ye shall have wrought wickednesse in the sight of the Lord, to provoke hym through the works of your handes.

30 And Moses spake in the earthes of all the congregation of Israel the words of this song, until he had ended them.

6 Do ye so rewarde the Lord, O foolish nation and voidse? Is not he thy father that hath bought thee? Hath he nat made thee, and oberneth thee?

7 Remember the days of the wordre that is past, consider the yeares of so many generations: *As like thy father, and be wvill thewre thee, thy eiders, and they wvill tell thee.

8 When the most hyest deended to the nations their inheritance, and when he seperated the sonsnes of Adam, he put the borders of the nations according to the number of the children of Meal:

9 For the Lodes part is his people, and Jacob the portion of his inheritance.

10 He found hym in a desert lande, in a bowde grounde, and in a Roaring wildernesse: he led hym about, he gave hym understanding, and kept hym as the apple of his eye.

12 The Lode alone was his guide, and there was no Strange god with hym.

13 He ferved hym up to the hygh places of the earth, that he might eate the encrease of the fieldes: *And he fed hym with hympe out of the rocke, and with oyle out of the most harte stone:

14 With butter of hune, and mylke of the shepe, with fat of the lambes, and fat of ranunnes and her goates,with the fat of the most plentiful Wheate, and that thou myghtest dynekke the most pure blood of the grape.

15 But he that shoulde hare ben bryght, when he sawed fat, spurreth with his heele: Thou art well fed, thou art groewed these, thou art even laden with fatnesse: And he forsokke God his maker, and regarded not the God of his salvation.

16 They prouoked hym to anger with strange gods, even with abominations prouoked they hym.

17 They offered unto devils, and not to God: even to gods whom they knewe not, to rede gods that came newely by, whom their fathers feared not.

18 Of God that begat thee thou ar inupndull, and hast forgotten God that made thee.

19 The Lode therefore fadde it, and was angry: because of the prouoking of his sonnes and his daughters.

20 And he sayde: I wyl fyde your face from them, and will see what their ende shalbe: For they are a very frowarde generation, childre in whom is no faith.

21 They have angered me with that which is no god, and prouoked me with their vanities: *And I also wyl pro

This is the blessing where with Moses the man of God blest the children of Israel before his death, and spake:

The 1st Chapter.

After the (10) death of Moses the servant of the Lord, it came to pass also that the Lord took unto Joshua his servant (2) son of Nun, a man of the Spirit, saying:

As I was with Moses, so will I be with thee, and will not fail thee, nor forsake thee.

Be strong therefore and bold: for 2:2 thou art to this people that thou art the land of inheritance, whiche I gave unto their fathers to give them.

Only be thou strong, and of a stout heart, that thou mayest observe and do according to all the law which Moses thy servant commanded thee:

Turne from the same neither to the right hand, nor to the left, but shalt overtake all the commandments of the Lord to do them.

Let not the book of this law depart out of thy mouth; but occupy thy mind therein day and night, that thou mayest observe them and do according to all that is written therein: for then shalt thou make thy way prosperous, and thou shalt do wisely.

Have not I commanded thee, that thou shalt be strong and hardie, and not not fear not be faint hearted: for I the Lord thy God am with thee, wherfore thou goest.

Then Joshua commanded the officers of the people, saying:

Go therefore the murther of the hoaste, and smite the people, saying, Prepare you victuals: for after three days ye shall pass over this Jordan, to go in and divide the lande, which the Lord your God giveth you to possess it.

And unto the Rubenites, Gadites, and half the tribe of Manasses spake Joshua saying:

Remember the boarde which Moyses gave you on this side Jordan: but ye shall go before your brethren armed, all that be men of warre, and help them:

Until the Lord have geued your brethren rest as he hath said, and until they also have obtained the lande which the Lord your God geueth them: and then shall ye returne unto the lande of your possession, and enjoye it: which lande Moyses the Lordes servant geue you on this side Jordan towardes the sunne rising.

And they answered Joshua, saying; *if all that thou hast commanded be we will do, and wherfore fear thou sentest us, we will go.

According as we obeyed Moyses in all things, so will we obey thee: only the Lord thy God be with thee, as he was with Moyses.

And whatsoever he be that dieth uncer thy temptation, and will not hearken to thy boordes in all that thou commandest him, let him dye: Only be strong, and of good courage.

The 15 Chapter.

1 Joshua sendeth out spies into Jericho. 4 They be hidden of Rahab; 9 Rahab acquainteth the God of Israel to be the highest God. 11 Rahab requireth that there be a respect of her selfe and hers when Jericho is overcomen. 21 The spies do returne.

And Joshua sent out of Sichem two men to spy secretly, saying, Go, and vie the lande, and also Jericho. And they went, and came into a harlotes house, named Rahab, and lodged there.

And it was told the king of Jericho, saying: Beholde, they came in by the sword of night, of the children of Israel, to spy out the countrey.

And the king of Jericho sent unto Rahab, saying: Bring forth the men that are come to thee, and which are entred into thy house; for they be come to search out all the lande.

And the woman took the two men, and hid them, and said thus: *In deed there came men unto me, but I wiste not whence they were.

And about the time of the shutting of the gate when it was dark, the men went out, wherfore the men went I would not follow ye after them quickly, for ye shall overtake them.

But the had brought them by to the rooffe of the house, & hyd them with the stalkes of sære which she had lying abrhode upon the rooffe.

And the men pursuach after them the way to Jordan unto the4 forebese: and assoone as they which pursuach after them were gone out, they shut the gate.

And euery time they were asshepe, the came by unto them upon the rooffe.

And said unto the men: *I knowe that the Lord hath geuen you the land, *for the fear of you is fallen vp, and the inhabitants of the lande faint at the presence of you:
For we have heard the voice of the Lord, speaking by the mouth of Moses, saying, 'If you will indeed obey the voice of the Lord your God, and will keep his statutes and his commandments which I command you this day, and will do them, then will the Lord your God make you sure of the oath which he sware unto your fathers, to Abraham, to Isaac, and to Jacob, to give them and their seed after them, a land flowing with milk and honey, as he saith to this people. But if ye shall not hearken unto the voice of the Lord your God, but will go and serve other gods, and worship them, then will the anger of the Lord be kindled against you, and he will sworn destroy you from off the face of the earth. Therefore shall ye keep the statutes and the commandment, which I command you this day, that it may go well with you, and ye may multiply, and the Lord your God may bless you in the land which ye go to possess. Now therefore, fear the Lord, and serve him in truth with all your heart, and with all your soul. And ye shall surely keep the commandments and the statutes, which I command you this day, to love the Lord your God, and to walk in his ways, and to keep his commandments, and his statutes, and his judgments, and his testimonies, all the days of your life, that ye may live long in the land which the Lord your God giveth you. Moreover, ye said, 'What shall we do when we have eaten, and are full, and are well made fat, and have enjoyed the good of the land? Then there is a man of the children of Israel, of the house of Levites, of the tribe of Judah, an officer of the captain of thousands, named Joshuah the son of Shuah, the servant of Moses. And Moses sware unto Joshuah, saying, 'Surely before thee shall all the people of the land give such service as is due unto the Lord: moreover the land shall give the increase thereof. And Joshuah the son of Nun wrote this law, and taught it diligently unto the people of Israel. And there was not a word in all this book, which was not published unto the congregation of Israel. For he read it before all the congregation of Israel, in the hearing of the women, even in the ears of all that were in the two gates of Jerusalem, the gate of Joshua the son of Nun, and in the gate of the city which is toward Bethel. Moreover Joshuah dismisseth all the men of war from fighting, saying, 'Go your ways, every man return unto his city and unto his place. So the people went away every man out of his city, and brought tribute unto the king of Israel. And Joshuah came, and spake unto the king of Israel, saying, 'Whence came ye?' And the king of Israel answered and said, 'Thou hast spoken, saying, 'Surely before thee shall all the people of the land give such service as is due unto the Lord: moreover the land shall give the increase thereof.' But now, behold, I have this day brought thy sins upon thy own head; for the Lord sent me from Jordan to thee, to judge thee this day of thy sins. Therefore, when the children of Israel were come unto the cities at that time, every man took his naturally planted fruit of his vine, and cuttings thereof for themselves, after the former time, in the days of the captivity. And the children of Israel did so; and brought their tribute unto Joshua the son of Nun according to the word of the Lord which he commanded Moses. And that day they offered large sacrifices unto the Lord; and after the sacrifice unto the Lord they held a great feast. Now the time of the feast of booths had begun; and the feast of booths continued seven days: and the days were for everyone according to his flesh. For the Lord had given them rest about their enemies. And Joshuah spake, saying, 'Ye have seen all that the Lord your God did unto those nations; and ye shall be sure to do all that I command you this day, that it may go well with you. So the children of Israel served the Lord for forty and six years; all that time Joshuah the son of Nun served the Lord; and Israel were grieved because of Barak, the son of Abinoam. And when the king of Bashan heard it, he gathered all his forces together, an army of footmen eight hundred thousand, men of war; and all the sons of Leedam came to battle with him. And the Lord said unto Joshuah, 'Fear not him, neither be afraid of his multitude; for the Lord will deliver them into your hand, and there shall not a man of them escape from your hand. So Joshuah came, and all the children of Israel with him, unto them; and they came before them suddenly. And the Lord delivered them into the hand of Israel: and they smote them that day with a very great slaughter, until they left them none behind. And the children of Israel utterly smote them, and the children of Israel spake to Joshua, saying, 'What shall we do unto the spoil of these that are taken of the land, unto the houses of those which went over this river against us?' Then Joshua caused them to turn back by the way by which they came, into the sea; and he divided the host; half of the host he caused to go by the way of the Arabah, unto the Red sea, even toward Elath, and to Ezion-geber; and they亦 the

2 And there rose up in those days certain of the children of Israel that saw not the ark of the covenant of the Lord, nor went out of the camp unto the ark. 3 And after three days, the officers went throughout the host, 4 And commanded the people, saying, 'When ye see the ark of the testament of the Lord, and the priests that are Levites bearing it, ye shall depart from your place, and go after it. 5 So ye shall not leave behind you any of the land that the Lord your God giveth you for an inheritance. 6 And Joshuah spake unto the people, saying, 'Sanctify yourselves, for tomorrow the Lord will do wonders among you.' 7 And it came to pass on the next day, when they came out of the tabernacle, that the cloud rested upon the tabernacle of the congregation, and the ark of the covenant of the Lord; and all the hosts were lifted up with a very great noise, and the earth was rent with a very great earthquake. 8 And the earth opened, and the rock rent, and the rivers gushed out, and the fountains were opened, and the flood poured out. 9 And the camp of Israel moved from Gilgal unto Beth-peor, and encamped before Penuel. 10 And the ark of the covenant of the Lord went before the children of Israel into the land of Canaan, to Sanhelon. 11 And when those that bore the ark were come unto the city, the city was lifted up, and all the men of Israel sat down to eat and praise their King Joshua. 12 And Joshua spake unto the people, saying, 'Ye shall keep this ordinance in the Lord your God; for ye have brought into the land which the Lord your God gave unto you a great multitude of cattle, and sheep, and much ground for corn. 13 And it shall be, when ye be come into the land, that ye shall set apart unto the Lord throughout your land for a possession, cities of refuge, which ye shall set apart unto the Lord, and cities of which ye shall build, wherein ye may dwell. 14 And of the cities of refuge ye shall set apart five, and ye shall add thereto the cities of the children of Levi, which the Lord shall give you. 15 And ye shall add to the cities of refuge these cities, and shall set them apart for your God: the cities of refuge shall be for you, and the cities of the children of Levi shall be for your rest.'
And Joshua spake unto the priests, saying: Take up the ark of the covenant, and go over before the people. And they took up the ark of the testament, and went before the people.

And Joshua said unto the children of Israel: Come hither, and heare the vowing of the Lorde your God.

And Joshua spake: (b) Whereby ye shall know that the living God is among you, and that he will without stay call out before you the Chanaanites, and the Bethites, the Heutes, the Pherezes, the Gerizites, the Amorites, and the Jebusites.

Behold, the ark of the covenant of the Lorde of all the world, goeth before you into Jordan. Holfe therefore take from among you twelve men out of the tribes of Israel, out of every tribe a man.

And as soon as the soles of the priests that bare the ark of the Lorde the governor of all the world, treade in the waters of Jordan, the waters of Jordan shalbe deuided: and the waters that come from above shal stande still upon an heape.

And lo, when the people were departed fro their tents to goe over Jordan, the priests bearing the ark of the testament, went before the people.

And asfoone as they that bare the ark came into Jordan, and the feete of the priests that bare the ark were dippèd in the byrn of the water (For Jordan vbleth to fyll all his banks all the tyme of harvest)

The waters alfo that came downe fro above, did rife by vn an heape and departed farre from vace of Ada, that was beside Zarthan: And the waters that were beneath towarde vsea of the Wibers, even the salt sea, fapyed and were cut of, and the people went right over against Jericho.

And the priests that bare the ark of the covenant of the Lorde, floode driu within Jordan, drye (e) prepared, and all the Israelites went over thioode the driu, until all the people were gone cleane over thioode Jordan.
And when the people were all gone out of Jordan, after the Lord had spoken unto Joshua, saying:

Take ye twelve men out of the people, out of every tribe a man,

And command ye them, saying: Take you hence out of the midst of Jordan (even) out of the place where the priests stood, twelve stones, which ye shall take away with you, and leave them in the lodging where you shall lodge this night:

Then Joshua called the twelve men, which he had prepared of the children of Israel, out of every tribe a man,

And Joshua said unto them: Get you before the ark of the Lord your God, even through the midst of Jordan, and take up every man of you a stone upon his shoulder, according unto the number of the tribes of the children of Israel,

That this may be a sign among you: When your children shall ask their fathers in time to come, saying, What mean these stones with you?

Be ye a witness between us: that the waters of Jordan were cut off before the children of以色列, 12 And the children of Israel, by their tribes, went up out of Jordan: (after) the waters were cut off. Then they carried away thither the ark of the covenant of God, and the priests in white raiment.

And when the priests that bore the ark of the testimony came out of Jordan, 14 And the ark of the Lord went before them in Jordan, save the children of Israel went over on dry land: and the waters returned unto their place, and overflowed all the land.

And when the people came out of Jordan, on the tenth day of the month, (even) out of the wilderness of Zin, they encamped in Gilgal.

And the children of Israel took, out of Jordan, by their armies, stones, in the midst of Jordan, which they carried away for a memorial, and laid them there unto this day.

And Joshua set up twelve stones, in the midst of Jordan, in the place where the priests stood, when they bore up the ark of the covenant of the Lord: and there have they continued unto this day.
23 For the Lord your God dried up the waters of Jordan before you, until ye were gone over, as the Lord your God by the red sea, * which he did up before vs, till we were gone over.

24 That all the people of 3 would may know the hande of the Lord howit hid thee, and what the Lord your God doth for thee.

And ye shal compasse all the citie, all ye that be men of warre, and go round about it once; so that you do see dayes.

And seven priests shall bee before the arke seven trumpettes of rammies homes before the arke of the Lord.

7 And he spake unto the people: 8 Go, and compasse the citie, and let them that is harrested go before the arke of the Lord, and the seventh day ye shall compass the citie seven times, and the priests shall blowe with the trumpettes.

And when they make a long blast with the rammies home, and ye heare the sounde of the home, all the people shall shoute with a great shoute: And then shall the wall of the citie fall downe, and the people shall assende by, every man straight before hym.

And Iosuah the sonne of Nun, called the priests, and said by them: Take by the arke of the covenat, and let seven priests beare seven trumpettes of sound before the arke of the Lord.

9 And the men of armes went before the priests that blew with the trumpettes: and the gathering hoast came after the arke as they went, and blew with trumpettes.

10 And Iosuah had commanneth the people, saying: Ye shall not shoute, nor make any noide with your boyte, neither shall any wordes procede out of your mouth untill the day I byd you shoute, then shall ye shoute.

11 And to the arke of the Lord compassed the citie, and went about it once: and they returned into the hoast, and lodged there.

12 And Iosuah rose early in the morning, and the priests took by the arke of sound. of the Lord.

13 And seven priests bare seven trumpettes of rammes horns, and went before the ark of the Lord; and yong, blewe with the trumpettes. And the men of armies went before them: but the gathering of hau knot came after the ark of the Lord, which went before with the bloodying of the trumpettes.

14 And the second day they passed the citie once, and returned again into the host: and so they dyd fire days.

15 And when the seventh day came, they rose early [even] with the dawning of the day, & compassed the citie after the same manner (b) seven tyme: only that day they compassed the citie seven times.

16 And at the seventh tyme when the priests blew with the trumpettes, Josuah sayde unto the people: Shoutte, for the Lord hath gien you the citie.

17 And the citie shalde (c) accursed be and all that are therein, buto the Lord: only Rahab the harlot shall live, and all that are with her in the house, because she (d) hyd the messengers that we sent.

18 And in any wise be ye ware of the accursed things, lest ye make your selues accursed, & take of the accursed things, and make the hoast of Israel accursed, and trouble it.

19 But all the silver, golde, vessels of haule and iron, halve (e) concreted unto the Lord, and all shall come into his treasure.

20 And the people shoulted, and blewe with trumpettes: And when the people heard the sound of the trumpes, they shoulted with a great shout, and the wall fell downe flat, so that the people went up by into the citie, every man straight before hym, and took the citie:

21 And they utterly destroyed all that was in the citie, both man and woman, young and olde, ox, sheepe, and ass, with the edge of the sword.

22 But Josuah had tode into the two men that had spied out the country: Go into the harlottes house, and bring out thence the woman and all that the hath, (f) as ye sware unto her.

23 And the young men that were spyes, went in, and brought out Rahab, and her father and mother, & her brethren, and all that she had: and they brought out all her kynde, & put them (g) without the hoast of Israel.

24 And they burnt the citie with fire, and all that was therein: only the silver and the golde, the vessels of basse iron, they put unto the treasure of the (h) house of the Lord.

25 And Josuah fased Rahab the harlot, and her fathers houehold, and all that she had: and (i) the dyvel in Israel entri into this day, because she hyd the messengers which Josuah sent to spie out Jericho.

26 And Josuah sware at that tyme, saying: Cursed be the man before the Lord that ryseth vp, and buildeth this citie Jericho: He shall lay the foundation thereof in his eldest sonne, and in his youngest sonne shall he set up the gates of it.

27 And so the Lordde was with Josuah, and his name was napped throughout all landes.

The vi. Chapter.

1 I than blesseth of the Churche jewels. 2 As it is searched. 4 The people of Alas yseth Israel. 6 Josuah wepeth before the Lordde. 7 Josuah complamenteth before the Lordde that Israel is avenged. 12 God commandeth the tines of the Churche goodes to be burnt. 21 what thynges Althan had couered of those which ought to have been burnt. 22 Althan is stoned, and all his goodes are burnt for slepeynge of the Churche goodes.

A t yet the childeren of Israel trespassed up * (k) forbidden thyng: for: Althan s sonne of Charrun, the sonne of Zabdi, s sonne of Zareth, of the tribe of Juda, toke of the forbydden thyng: And the wrath of the Lordde warek hot against the childeren of Israel.

2 And Josuah sent men from Jericho to (l) At, which is beside Bethaulen, on the east side of Bethel, and shakke unto them, saying: Get you vp, and helpe the courtyer. And the men went vp, & belte At.

3 And returned to Josuah, and sayde unto him, Let not all the people go vp: but but let as it were two of three thou-ande men go up, and shew Ai: and make not all the people to labour thy-ther, for they are but sevle.
4 And so there went up thither of the people about a three thousand men, and they fled before the men of Ai.
5 And the men of Ai (c) smote of them upon a thirtie and five men: for they chased them from before the gate even unto Sebarim, and smote them in the goyer downe: wherefore the hearts of the people so feared incend away lyke water.
6 And Josuah rent his clothes, and fell to the earth upon his face before the arche of the Lorde until the evenetide, he and the elders of Israel, and put earth upon their heads.
7 And Josuah said: Alias, O Lorde
God, wherefore hast thou brought this people over Jordan, to delieuer vs into the hande of the Amorites, to destroy vs: would to God we had ben content, and dwelt on the other (d) side Jordan.
8 O Lorde what shall I say, when Israel turneth their backes before their enemies?
9 Surely the Chanaanites, and all the inhabitauntes of the lande that hearre of it, and shall confirme against vs, and destroye the name of vs out of the world:
And what wilt thou do unto thy mightie (name).
10 And the Lorde said unto Josuah: Get thee vp, wherfore liest thou thus upon thy face:
11 Israel hath sinned, and they have transgressed myne appointment which I commanded them: for they have taken of the eormunicate things, and have also stolen, and assembled also, I put them unto their owne charge.
12 And therefore is it that the children of Israel cannot stande before their enemies, but shall turne their backes before their enemies, because they be eorm-nunicate: Neither will I be with you any more, except ye destroy the eorm-nunicate from among you.
13 Up therefore and sanctifie the people, and say: Sanctifie your sicles against to morowe, so to saye the Lorde God of Israel, there is a dammed thing among you, O Israel: and therefore ye cannot stande against your enemies, bu-till ye have put the dammed (e) thing from among you.
14 To morowe morning therefore ye shal-be brought according to your tribes: And the tribe which the Lorde (f) taketh, shall come according to the kinebees thereof:
And the kined which the Lorde shall finde gracie, shall come by housethe.
And the housethe which the Lorde shall finde fantasie, shall come by man.
15 And he that is found with the accusced thing, shalbe burnt with fire, he, and all that he hath, because he hath transgressed the covenante of the Lorde, and brought sollic in Israel.
16 And so Josuah rose up early in the morning, and brought Israel by their tribes, the tribe of Juda was caught.
17 And he brought the kinebees of Juda, and toke the kined of the Zarchithes:
And he brought the kined of the Zarchites man by man, (Zabdi was caught.
18 And he brought his housethe man by man, (Achan the sonne of Charmi, the sonne of Zabdi, the sonne of Zared of the tribe of Juda, was caught.
19 And Josuah sayde unto Achan: By sonne, I beleepe thee gue glory to the Lorde God of Israel, and (g) make con-mission unto me, and shewe me what thou hast done, whyd it not from me.
20 And Achan answered Josuah, sayd:
Of a truth I have sinned against the Lorde God of Israel, and thus g thus have I done.
21 I had among the spoites a goodly habition the garnement, and two hundred sheles of siluer, and a tounge of gold:
three sheles of daugthy, and (h) caught them, and take them: and behold they lye hyd in the earth in the middest of my tent, and the siluer is ther under.
22 And to Josuah sent messengers: which were they came unto his tent, because they were hyd in his tent, and the siluer ther under.
23 Therefore they take them out of the middec of his tent, and brought them unto Josuah, and unto all the children of Israel, and layed them out (i) before the Lorde.
24 And Josuah take Achan the sonne of Zareth, and the siluer, and the garniter, and the tonge of gold, and his sonnes, and his daughters, his oxen, and his asses, his shephe, his tent, and all that he had: and at Israel with him brought them into the vally of Achor.

And when all the kings, that dwelt beyond Jordan in the plishes and valleys, and in all the coasts of the great sea, over against Libanon; namely, the Hermites, the Amorites, the Chanaanites, the Phereunts, the Heurites, and the Jebusites, heard thereof:

3 And the inhabitants of Gibeon heard what Joshua had done unto Jericho, and to Ai.

The xx. Chapter.

15 Kings make warre against Gibea, whom Josuah discomfitte. 11 The Lorde 這是barbrowes and the mune. 12 The same handeth at Josuahs prayer. 25 The five kingses are hanged. 29 Many no kingses and cities are destroyed.

21 Dive when Abonise-dec king of Hierualem had heare howe Josuah had taken Ai and had destroied it:
and howe that as he had done to Jericho and her king, even so he had done to Ai and her king, and howe the inhabitours of Gibea had made peace with Israel, and were among them:
2 They feared exceedingely, so Gibea was a small cite as any cite of the lande, and was greater then Ai, that even thereof were very mightie.
3 Wherefore Abonisedec king of Hierualem sent vnto hosam king of Hebron, and the prin king of Jarmuth, and unto Japhsha king of Lachis, and unto Doba king of Eglon,saying:
4 Come vp into me, and helpe me, that we may helpe Gibea: for they have made peace with Josuah, and with the children of Israel.
5 Therefore the five kingses of the Amorites, the king of Hierusalem, the king of Hebron, the king of Jarmuth, the king of Lachis, and the king of Eglon, gathered them selues together, and went vp, they with all their hoastes, and designed Gibea, & made warre against it.
6 And the men of Gibea sent vnto Josuah to the hoast in Gilgal, saying: warde, warde not the hoaste from thys fer-uantes, come vp to vs quickly, and save vs, and helpe vs: for all the kingses of the Amorites which dwell in the moun-taynes are gathered together against vs.
7 And to Josuah attended from Gilgal he and all the people of warre with him, and all the men of might.
8 And the Lorde sayde vnto Josuah: Fear them not: for I have deliuered them into thine hande, neither shalt any of them stande against thee.
9 Josuah
9 Josuah therefore came unto them soberly, and went by from Gilgal all night.
10 And the Lord troubled them before Israel, and smote them with a great slaughter at Sibon, and chased them along the way that goeth to Bethzon, and smote them to Azeka and Makeda.
11 And as they fled from before Israel, and were in the going downe to Bethoron, the Lord called the great stones from heaven upon them untill Azeka, and they dyed: there were no dead with hale stones, then they were whom the children of Israel smite with the stone.
12 Then spake Josuah to the Lord in the day when the Lord delivered the Amorites before the children of Israel, the Lord in the sight of Israel, "Humble, and stand thou still upon Sibon, and thou Boone in the valley of Aiaon." 13 And the same abode, and the moon arose, and the people avenged them selues upon their enemies. Is not this written in the booke of the righteous? So the same I say abode in the midst of heaven, and hasted not to go downe by the space of a whole day.
14 And there was no day like that before it, so after it, that the Lord heard the voice of a man: for the Lord spake for Israel.
15 And Josuah returned and all Israel with him, into the camp to Gilgal.
16 But the five kings fled, and were hid in a cave at Makeda.
17 And it was told Josuah [of one] saying, The five kings are founde hid in a cave which is at Makeda.
18 And Josuah said, Rout great stones upon the mouth of the cave, and let men by it, for to heape it:
19 And stand ye not still, but follow after your enemies, smite all the hindmost, and suffer them not to enter into their cities: for the Lord your God hath delivered them into your hande.
20 And when Josuah and the children of Israel had made an end of slaying them with an exceeding great slaughter, till they were wasted, the rest that remained of them, entred into walled cities:
21 And all the people returned to the host to Josuah at Makeda in peace, neither dyed any man move his tongue against the children of Israel.
22 Then said Josuah, Open the mouth of the cave, and bying out these five kings unto me out of the cave.

23 And they did so, and brought those five kings into him out of the cave, (even) the king of Berotham, the king of Hebron, the king of Jarcum, the king of Lachis, and the king of Eglon.
24 And when they brought out those five kings unto Josuah: Josuah called for all the men of Israel, and said unto the chiefes of the men of war.
which went with him: Come near, & put your steed by, the necks of these kings. And they came near, and put their steed upon the necks of them.

25 And Josiah said unto them, We shall not hurt thee, nor be laymen hearted: but be strong, and pluck by your hearties, for thus shall the Lord do to all your enemies that are against your people.

26 And then Josiah smote them, and steve them, and hanged them on five trees: And they hanged still upon the trees vntill this day.

27 And at the going downe of the soone, Josiah gave commandement: And they took them downe of the trees, and cast them into the rauie wherein they had ben hyd, and laid great stones in the rauies mouth, [which remayne] untill this day.

28 And that same day Josiah took Makeda, and smote it with the edge of the sword, & the king thereof also destroyed he utterly, & cast all the soules that were therein, and let none remayne: And he dyd to the king of Makeda, *as he dyd into the king of Jericho.

29 Then Josiah went from Makeda, and all Israel with him, unto Libna, and fought against Libna.

30 And the Lord delivered it to the king thereof into the hande of Israel: and he smote it with the edge of the sword, and all the soules that were therein: he let none remayne in it, but dyd unto the king thereof, as he dyd into the king of Jericho.

31 And Josiah departed from Libna, and all Israel with him unto Lachis, and beleaged it, and assaulted it.

32 And the Lord delivered Lachis into the hande of Israel, which took it the second day, and smote it with the edge of the sword, & all the soules that were therein: doing according to all, as he had done to the rauie of Libna.

33 Then Ashhur king of Geser came vp to helpe Lachis: And Josiah smote him and his people, vntill none remayned of him.

34 And from Lachis Josiah departed into Eglon, and all Israel with him: and they beleaged it, and assaulted it.

35 And took it the same day, and smote it & with the edge of the sword: & all the soules that were therein he utterly destroyed the same day, according to all that he had done to Lachis.

36 And Josiah departed vp from Eglon, and all Israel with him, into Hebron: And they fought against it.

37 And when they had taken it, they smote it with the edge of the sword, & the king thereof, and all the towne that pertained to it, and all the soules that were therein, and he left none remayne: but dyd according to all, as he had done to Eglon, and destroyed it utterly, and all the soules that were therein.

38 And Josiah returned, and all Israel with him to Dabir, & fought against it.

39 And when he had taken it, & the king thereof, and all the towne that pertained thereto, they smote them with the edge of the sword, utterly destroyed all the soules that were therein, neither let he any remayne: Even as he dyd to Hebron, so he dyd to Dabir, and the king thereof, as he had done also to Libna and her king.

40 Josiah therefore smote at the hit countreyes, and the south countreyes, & the bayles, and the downes, and all these kinges, and let none remayne of them, but utterly destroyed all that breathed, as the Lord God of Israel comman- ded.

41 And Josiah smote them from Edes Barnea unto Asil, and all the country of Gofam even unto Gideon.

42 And all these kinges and their lande dyd Josiah take at one time: because the Lord God of Israel sought for Israel.

43 And Josiah and all Israel, returned into the hauket that was in Gilgal.
And when Jabin king of Hazor had hearde those things, (a) he sent to Jobah king of Madon, and to the king of Sunron, and to the king of Arphad, and unto the Chanaanites both by east and west, and unto the Ammites, Hethites, Pherezites, and Jebusites in the mountaynes, and unto the Hittites that were under Hernion in the lande of Diphath:

And they came out, all their horsees with them, a multitude of folk, even as the lande that is on the sea shore, in a great number, with horsees and charrettes exceeding many.

And all these kinges met together, and came pitched together at the waters of Peron, so to fight against Israel.

And the Lord sade unto Josuah, &c. not aftrayde at the presence of them: for to morow about this time will I deliuer them all, and they shall haue none remaining of them.

And Josuah dyd unto them as the Lord had sade him: he houghed their horsees, and burnt their charrettes with fire.

11 And they snote all the soules that were therin with edge of the sword, utterly destroyng all, and nothing that breathed, was let remaine: and he burnt Hazor with fire.
Jehoshaphat made warre long time with the Ammonites and Moabites; and Josiah made warre long time with the Philistines:

And all the cities of the countries roundabout Joab and the cities of the children of Joab which were in mount Hermon, and mount Casor, and all the land of Jabin king of Hazor, and all the kingdom of Og king of Bashan, and all the kingdom of the Amorites, which were beyond Jordan eastward, from Lebna even to Baal gyr, which were among the hill country from Baal carim even to the entering in of Hamath.

And the king of Sodom gave me tribute out of all the wealth of Sodom, and the king of Gerar, and the king of Ammon, and the king of Moab, and the king of all the, kings of the east: and I gave the king of Sodom nothing, neither took I the goods of the king of Gerar, neither did I take anything of the king of Ammon, nor of the king of Moab.

And the king of Sodom gave me tribute out of all the wealth of Sodom, and the king of Gerar, and the king of Ammon, and the king of Moab, and the king of all the kings of the east: and I gave the king of Sodom nothing, neither took I the goods of the king of Gerar, neither did I take anything of the king of Ammon, nor of the king of Moab.

1 The lot of part of Ephraim. 10 The Chanaanites dwelled among them.

6 And went out westward to Panchorath, that is, to Jozanah, by Jericho, into the water of Jericho calvaire, and to the wilderness that goeth by to Jericho throughout mount Bethuel.

2 And goeth out 6 (Bethel to Luz, and runneth along unto the borders of Archaroth.

5 And the border of the children of Ephraim was by their kyndreds. Their border on the east side was, Ataroth Adar, even unto Bethhoron the upper.

The xviij. Chapter.

14. The portion of the half tribe of Manasse, 1 Salpaad is given as a possession to his daughters, 14. The sons of Joseph, Manasse, and Ephraim, do require a larger possesion.

1 This was the lot of the tribe of Manasse, which was the eldest son of Joseph, to wit, of Machir the eldest son of Manasses, which was the father of Gilead: not because he was a man of warre, he had Gilead and Bashan.
the children of Hefer, the children of Senaia for these were the male children of Danasses, the sone of Joseph by their nymbers.

But Caleb head the sone of Hefer, the sone of Jethro, a sone of Nachir, the sone of Danasses, had no sones:
but daughters, whose names are these,
Mahala, Noah, Hagla, Helcha, and Thirla,

Which came before Caleb the priest,
and before Josua the sone of Fin, before the Lordes saying: The Lord commanded Moses to give us an Heritance among our brethren.

And therefore according to the commandement of the Lord, he gave us an heritiance among the brethren of their father, and there fell ten portions to Danasses, beside the lande of Gilad and Bashan, which were on the other side Jordan.

Because the daughters of Danasses did inherit among his sones: And Danasses other sones had the lande of Gilad.

And the coaste of Danasses was from Aser to Nachmahath that lieth before Sichem, and went along on the right hand, even unto the inhabitantes of Enaphuah,

And the lande of Enaphuah belonged to Danasses: which Enaphuah is beside the border of Danasses, beside the border of the children of Ephraim.

And the coaste descended unto the rude Canah southwade, even to the rude: These cities of Ephraim, are among the cities of Danasses. The coaste of Danasses went also on the north side to the rude, and the ends of it go out at the sea:

So that south partained to Ephraim, the north to Manasses, the sea is his border: And they met together in Azer northwade, in Jlachar eastwade.

And Danasses had in Jlachar and in Azer, Bethsean & her towmes, Jblene, and her towmes, and the inhabitantes of Do, with the towmes pertaining to the same, and the inhabitantes of Endo; with the towmes of the same, and the inhabitantes of Thanaus with her towmes, and the inhabitantes of Nagedo with the towmes of the same,
even three countreys.

Yet the children of Danasses coude, not over come those cities: but the Chanaanites presumted to dwell in the same lande.

Nevertheless, assoone as the children of Israel were ware strong, they put the Chanaanites under tributte, but expelled them not.

And the children of Joseph spake by Josua, saying: Why hast thou gener-ue but one lotte and one portion to inheritance, saying I am a great people, and foallmuche as the Lord hath bless-ede me hythereto?

And Josua answered them: If thou bea much people, then get thee up to the wood: (countrie) and prepare for the take there in the lande of the Phereites and (b) of the Gaumites, ye mount Ephraim be to narowe for thee.

And the children of Joseph spake, The hill is not enough for us: And all the Cha-naanites that dwelle in the lowe county, have charrettes of iron, and do haue they that inhabit Bethsean & the towmes of the same, and they also that dwell in the valley of Iezeel.

And Josua spake unto the house of Joseph, Ephraim, Manasses: Be benuch people, and have great power, and shall not therefore have one lotte.

Therefore the hyll shall haue yours, and ye shall cut downe the wood that is in it: and the ends of it shall have yours, if ye call out the Chanaanites which have iron charrettes, and are very strong.

And out of the tribe of Benjamin, they gave Gibron with her suburbs, Gabae with her suburbs, Anan with her suburbs, and four cities.

And the kynredes of the children of Caath that were Leuites, that is to say, the other children of Caath, had cities genein them for their lot out of the tribe of Ephraim.

For they gaue them the citie that the slayer might flee into, Sichem with her suburbs in mount Ephraim, and Gaiz with her suburbs.

And out of the (b) halfe tribe of Manasses, Thanach with her suburbs, Gathrenon with her suburbs, two cities.

26. All the cities for the other kynredes of the children of Caath, were ten, with their suburbs.

27 And unto the children of Gerson, which were of the kynredes of the Leuites, they gave out of the other halfe tribe of Manasses, the citie of refuge for the slaine, Golon in Saalan with her suburbs, Beexthred with her suburbs, two cities.

28 And out of the tribe of Icshar, Cis with her suburbs, and Icder with her suburbs:

33 All the cities of Gersonites through out their kynredes, were thirteen cities with their suburbs.

And these cities lay every one separately, having their suburbs round about them throughout all the land cities.

And the Lord gave unto Israel all the land which he sware unto their fathers: And they possessed it, and dwelt therein.

And the Lord gave them rest round about, according to all that he sware unto their fathers: And there stood not a man of all their enemies before them: The Lord also delivered all their enemies into their hands.

*There spared nothing of all the good things which the Lord had laid unto the house of Israel, but all came to pass.\(^{15}\)

The xxiv. Chapter.

1. Ruben, Gad, and the half tribe of Manasseh are rent againe to their possessions.\(^{10}\) They buryed an altar for a memorial.\(^{15}\) The Israelites repose them.\(^{11}\) Their aunt were for defence of the same.

Hen \(^{10}\) Joshua called the Rubenites, the Gadites, & the half tribe of Manasseh, and said unto them: Ye have kept all that Moses the servant of the Lord \(^{10}\) commanded you, and have obey'd my voice in all that I commanded you.

Ye have not left your brethren of a long season unto this day, but have kept the commandment of the Lord your God.

And now that the Lord hath given rest unto your brethren as he promised them: therefore return ye, and go unto your tents, and unto the land of your possession, which Moses the servant of the Lord \(^{10}\) gave you on the other side Jordan.

But in any wise take diligent heed, to do the commandment and the law which Moses the servant of the Lord charged you: that ye love the Lord your God, and walk in all his ways, and keep his commandments, and cleave unto him, and serve him with all your hearts, and all your souls.

And so Joshua \(^{10}\) blessed them, and sent them away: And they went unto their tents.

Unto the one half of the tribe of Manasseh Moses gave possession in Bashan: And to the other half thereof gave Joshua, among their brethren, on this side Jordan westward. And Joshua sent them away also unto their tents, and blessed them.

And sayde unto them: Returne with much riches unto your tents, and with a great multitude of cattell, with furer and golde, with halle, and iron, and with much rayment, and druide the people of your enemies with your brethren.

9. And the children of Ruben, the children of Gad, and the half tribe of Manasseh returned, and departed from the children of Israel out of Silo, which is in the land of Chanaan, to go unto the country of Gilead, to the land of their possession, which they had obtained, according to the word of the Lord by the hand of Moses.

10. And when they came unto the borders of Jordan that are in the land of Chanaan, there the children of Ruben, the children of Gad, and the half tribe of Manasseh buyed \(^{10}\) there an altar by Jordan, that a great altar to see to.

11. When the children of Israel heard the noise of the noise of the children of Gad, and the half tribe of Manasseh, have buyed an altar in the face of the land of Chanaan in the borders of Jordan, at the passage of the children of Israel:

12. When the children of Israel heard of it, the whole congregation of the children of Israel gathered them together at Silo, to make battle against them.

13. And the children of Israel sent unto the children of Ruben, and to the children of Gad, and to the half tribe of Manasseh into the land of Gilead, Phinees the sonne of Eleazar the priest,

14. And with him ten lodes, of every cheefe house a lodge, throughout all the tribes of Israel, which were heads of their fathers housethoulds among the thousands of Israel.

15. And they went unto the children of Ruben, and to the children of Gad, and to the children of the half tribe of Manasseh, unto the lande of Gilead, and they they spake with them, saying:

16 Thus spake the whole congregation of the Lord; What trespassing is this, that ye have transgressed against the God of Israel, to turn away this day from the Lord, in that ye have bpuyded

17 Is the wicked deede of Peo; to little 40 vs, whereof we are not yet v^ cleaned into this day, and there was a plague in the congregation of the Lord:

18 Ye also are turned away this day from the Lord; And saying ye rebell to day against the Lord, it will come to passe, that to nowode he halbe worst with all the congregation of Israel.

19 Notwithstanding, ye thinke that the lande of your possession is clean, then come over unto the lande of the possession of the Lord, wherein the Lordes tabernacle dwelleth, and take possession among vs; But rebell not against the Lord, nor rebell against vs, to buyde you any other aultor, save the aultor of the Lord our God.

20 Dyd not Achan the sonne of Zareth trespass against the accursed thing, and wrath fell on all the congregation of Israel? and this man alone perished not in his wickednes.

21 Then the chyldren of Ruben, and the chyldren of Gad, and the halfe tribe of Dathan and Abir, and layde unto the heads of the thousandes of Israel;

22 The Lord God of gods, the Lord God of gods knoweth, and also Israel shall knowe, if it be to rebell oz to transgress against the Lord, then thou Lord haue vs not this day.

23 Oz els if we have buyd vs an aultor to turne from following the Lord, oz to offer theon burn offering oy meats offering, oz to offer peace offerings theon, let the Lord his lefe require it.

24 And if we have not rather done it for feare of this thyng, saying, In tymc to come your children myght say unto ours: What haue you to do wyth the Lord God of Israel?

25 The Lord hath made Jordan a border betweene vs and you, children of Ruben and of Gad, ye haue no part therefore in the Lord; and so shall your children make our children 8 cease from fearying the Lord.

26 Therefore we haue, & we will make vs an aultor, not for burnt offering, not by sacrifice:

27 But for a witness betwixt vs and you, and our generations after vs, that we should feue the Lord with our offerynges, sacrifises, & peace offerynge before him: that your children should not say to ours in tymc to come, We haue no part the Lord.

28 Therefore saue we, that ye should say to vs oz to (p) our generations in tymc to come: that ye Wolde say again, Behold the passion of the aultor of the Lord which our fathers made, neither for burnt offeryngs nor sacrifises, but for a witness betwixt vs and you.

29 God spoyd that we should rebell against the Lord, & turn this day from after hym, and buyde any other aultor for burnt offerynges, oblations, or sacrifises, save the aultor of the Lord our God that is before his tabernacle.

30 And when Phineas the priest, and the lodys of the congregation, heads over the thousandes of Israel which where with him, heard these words that the children of Ruben, and the children of Gad, and the children of Dathan, and Abir, they were well content.

31 And Phineas the sonne of Elazar 6 the priest sayd unto the children of Ruben, and to the children of Gad, and to the children of Dathan and Abir, This day ye perceau that the Lord is among vs, because ye haue not done this trespass against the Lord: Now ye haue rydde the children of Israel 8 out of the hand of the Lord.

32 And Phineas the sonne of Elazar 6 the priest, with the lodys, returned from the children of Ruben, and from the children of Gad, out of the lande of Silead, unto the lande of Chanaan, to the children of Israel, 8 brought them this word agayne.

33 And the saying pleased the children of Israel, and they blessed God, and dyd not entendre to go against the in battle, and to destroy the lande whiche the children of Ruben and Gad dwelt in.

34 And the children of Ruben, and the children of Gad, called the aultor, 8 so for it shalbe a witness betwixt vs, that the Lord is God.
And it came to pass, as long as he lived, that he went round about Judah and Benjamin: and he did build cities from Beth-lehem even unto Aijalon, and from Gibeon even unto Beth-lehem, and from Aijalon even unto the valley of Benjamin.

5 I sent Moses and Aaron, and I plagued Egypt, and when I had so done among them, I brought you out. And I brought your fathers out of Egypt: and as they came unto the sea, the Egyptians followed after your fathers with chariots and horsemen unto the red sea.

6 And when they cried unto the Lord, the Lord put archers between you and the Egyptians, and brought the sea upon them, and covered them, and your eyes have seen what I have done to the Egyptians: and ye dwelt in the wilderness (b) along the sea.

8 And the Lord put before you the King of Oad, (e) whose name was Balak, the son of the son of the son of Ziphon, the king of Oad, to curse you: but I would not hearken unto Balak; therefore he neither blessed you: and I delivered you out of his hand.

9 And I went out from Jordan, and came unto Jericho: and the men of Jericho fought against you, the Amorites, Perizites, Chanaanites, Hethites, and Jebusites. (f) I delivered them into your hand.

of the Loie which he spake with vs, it shalbe therefore a witness unto you, lest pe venie your God.

And lo Jofuah let the people depart, every man unto his inheritance.

And after these things it came to passe, that Jofuah the sonne of Nun, the seruant of the Loie, did die, being an hundred and ten yeres old.

And they buried him in the country of his inheritance, even in Thannath Serah, which is in mount Ephzain, on the northside of the hill of Gaas.

And the bones of Joseph which the childre of Israel brought out of Egypt, buried they in Sichem, in a parcel of ground which Jacob bought of the sonnes of Hamor, the father of Sichem, for an hundred pieces of silver, and it became the inheritance of the children of Joseph.

The ende of the booke of Jofuah whom the Hebrues call Iehosuah.
The book of Judges, called in the Hebrue Sopherim, and in Latin Judicum.

The first Chapter.

After the death of Joshua, it came to pass, that the children of Israel asked the Lord, saying: Who shall go up for us against the Canaanites, to fight against them?

And the Lord said, Judah shall go up: behold, I have delivered the land into his hands.

And Judah said unto Simeon his brother: Come up with me into my lot, that we may fight against the Canaanites, and I likewise will go with thee into thy lot. And so Simeon went with him.

And Judah went up, and the Lord delivered the Canaanites and Perizzites into their hands: And they smote them in Bezek ten thousand men.

And they found Adonibezek in Bezek: And they fought against him, and slew his threescore and ten kings, and cut off the threescore and ten fingers thereof.

And Adonibezek fled, and they pursued after him, caught him, and cut off his threescore and ten fingers, and said to Simeon and Judah, Take ye my head for a price, and return.

And Simeon and Judah said: Is it not a thing prohibited by the law of the Lord to take the head of the enemy?

And the children of Judah said: We have made our brother the son of our sister ashamed. If ye will give his head unto us, we will not shed blood in the land of the Lord. And they brake off his right hand at the two thighs.

And he said: What ye have spoken is good. I will not cut off the right hand of the left, nor the left hand of the right. And the king gave their desire, and gave unto them of the children of Judah, whose head he had cut off. And the children of Judah gave unto Simeon, and unto Levi.

And the children of Judah said: Let every one kill his brethren the inhabitants of Jerusalem, that there be none left, that they may hate us not more than they hate us. And they made war against Jerusalem, and took it, and put it to the sword, and totally destroyed it, that there was none left in it, neither man, nor woman, nor child.

And Judah took for his wife Ahinoam the daughter of Abiniam, and took also Abihail the daughter of Sagi. And there was war throughout all the land, for the inhabitants of Judah were much against them. And they put their little ones into the mouth of women, that they might not look upon them.

And it came to pass after this, that Judah went down to see the daughters of Moab; for the daughters of Moab were given to Judah for wives, besides the daughters which he had.

And there came a man out of the city, even a Levite, which had taken a wife of a Moabitess; and she went after him to Jerusalem.

And he brought her unto his father's house, and told him, saying: I have fetched me me wife out of the city of my father's house, which is of the daughters of Moab.

And Judah said to his father-in-law, the husband of his wife, namely, Elimelech, I have fetched me a wife out of the city of my father's house, which is of the daughters of Moab; and she went after me.

And when Elimelech, the husband of his wife, heard that the gods had visited him, he returned with his wife, and all that he had, unto his own city, which he had come from.; and Elimelech his father-in-law died.

And he brought her into the house of his father, and she became his wife, and he knew her; and she became pregnant, and bare a son, whose name he called Obed.

And Judah lived there twenty and five years; and took a wife, and her name was哈尔.
22. And in like manner they that were of the house of Joseph went up to Bethel, and the Lord was with them.

23. And the house of Joseph searched out Bethel, which before time was called Luz.

24. And all the speres falleth a man come out of the city, as they sayd unto him: Shelter ye in the way into the city, and we will shew thee mercy.

25. And when he had shewed them the way into the city, they knote it with the edge of the sword: but let the man and all his hoombode go free.

26. And the man went into the land of the heathes, and built a city, and called the name thereof Luz: which is the name thereof unto this day.

27. Neither did Danalass expell Beth-leem with her townes, Chanaan with her townes, the inhabitants of Doz with her towmes, the inhabitants of Hebron with her towmes, neither the inhabitants of Magiddo with her towmes: but the Chanaanites wole to dwell in the lande.

28. But it came to passe, that soone as Israel was inured unto it, they put the Chanaanites to tribute, and expellet them not wholly.

29. In lyke maner Ephraim expelled not the Chanaanites that dwelt in Gazer: but the Chanaanites dwelt still in Gazer among them.

30. Neither dyd Zabulon expell the inhabitants of Ketron, neither the inhabitants of Nahalot: but the Chanaanites dwelt among them, and became tributaries.

31. Neither did Asher cast out the inhabitants of Achinoe, neither the inhabitants of Zidon, and of Ahalat, Azub, Beth-bah, Aphra, nor of Rohob:

32. But the Aserites dwelt among the Chanaanites the inhabitants of the lande: for they dyd not expel them out.

33. Neither dyd Neophilah dye out the inhabitants of Bethlaims, nor the inhabitants of Bethanath: but dwelt amongst the Chanaanites the inhabitants of the lande. Nevertheless, the inhabitants of Bethlaims and of Bethanath became tributaries unto them.

34. And the Amcrites dyce the children of Dan into the mountayne, and suffered them not to come downe to the valley.

35. And the Amcrites were content to dwell in mount Hires in Amon, and in Salabin: And the hande of Joseph prevailed, so that they became tributaries.

36. And the coast of the Amcrites was from the going up by to Acrabim, from the rocke bywarde.

The iij. Chapter.

The Angel rebuketh the people, because they had made peace with the Chanaanites. 11. The Israels fell to idolatrie after Josua's death. 14. They are delivere by the enemies hands. 16. God delivered them by Judges. 22. Why God suffered idolaters to remaine among them.

9 Whom they buried in the coasts of his inheritance (even) in Timnath (o) Horse in mount Ephraim, on the northside of the hill Gaas.

10 And even to all that generation were put unto their fathers: and there arose another generation after them, which neither knew the Lorle, nor yet the works which he had done for Israel.

11 And then the children of Israel dyed wickedly in the light of the Lord, and served Baalim.

12 And forsake the Lord God of their fathers, which brought them out of the land of Egypt, and soloved strange gods, even of the gods of the nations that were round about them, and soloved them selues into them, and angred the Lord:

13 They soloved the Lord, and served Baal and (a) Astaroth.

14 And the wrath of the Lord waxed hot against Israel, and he delivered them into the handes of raeners, that spoled them. (b) Lord them into the handes of their enemies rounde about them, so that they had no power any longer to stande before their enemies.

15 But whereassoever they went out, the (c) hand of the Lord was against them, even as the Lord promised them, and as he spake unto them: And he punished them sore.

16 Nevertheless the Lord soloved by judges, which delivered them out of the handes of their oppressers.

17 And yet for all that they woulde not hearke unto their judges: but rather went a whoring after strange goddes, and soloved them selues into them, and turned quickly out of the way, Whiche their fathers walked in, obeying the commandements of the Lord: but they dyd not so.

18 And when the Lord soloved them by judges, he was with the judge, and deliered them out of the handes of their enemies all the dapes of the judge: (c) for the Lord had compassion over their sorrowinges, Whiche they had by the reason of them that oppesed them (d) before them;

19 Yet for all that, (e) assone as the judge was dead, they returned, and dyd wroth then their fathers, in soloving strange goddes, to serve them (f) worship them:

20 And the death of the Lord was noed against Israel, and he soloved: Becaus this people hath tresfressed myne apponntment Whiche I commanded their fathers, and have not heartened unto my voyce.

21 I will henceforth not call out before them one man of the nations Whiche Jothah left when he dyed:

22 That through them I may (g) proce Israel, whether they wil kepe the way of the Lord, and walke therin as their fathers dyd, or not.

23 And so the Lord left those nations, and drove them not out immediately, but delivered them into the hande of Jothah.

The 11. Chapter.

1 The Chanaanites were left to trye Israel. 9 Othomiel deliereth Israel. 21 Jhud killeth king Egon. 2 Samarg killeth the Philistines,
And toke the daughters of them to be their wives, and gave their own daughters to their sons, and served their gods.

And the children of Israel did wickedly in the sight of the Lord, and forgot the Lord their God, and served Baalim and the Astartes.

Therefore the Lord was angry with Israel, and he sold them into the hands of Chushan Rishathaim king of Mesopotamia: and the children of Israel served Chushan Rishathaim eight years.

And when the children of Israel cried unto the Lord, the Lord delivered Chushan Rishathaim king of Mesopotamia into his hands, and his hand prevailed against Chushan Rishathaim.

And the spirit of the Lord came upon him, and he judged Israel, and went out to war: and the Lord delivered Chushan Rishathaim into his hands, and his hands prevailed against Chushan Rishathaim.

And the land had rest four years: and Othniel the sonne of Kenes died.

And the children of Israel againe committed wickednes in the sight of the Lord: And the Lord sware by the king of the Philistines, against the children of Israel, because they had committed wickednes before the Lord.

And this [Eglon] gathered unto him the children of Ammon, and the Amalekites, and went and smote Israel, and possessed the city of Puthine trees.

And to the children of Israel served Eglon the king of Goab, Eum, years.

But when they cried unto the Lord, the Lord stirred them by a laure, Ahab the sonne of Jerahmele the sonne of Gemini, a man lanke of his right hande: and by him the children of Israel sent a present unto Eglon the king of Goab.

But Ahab made him a dagger with two edges, of a cubit length, and he bid gyde it unto his raynet upon his right thygh.

And caried the present unto Eglon the king of Goab: And Eglon was a very fatter man.

And when he had presented the present, he sent the people that bare it aliday: But he him selue turned agayne (from the place of graven images, that was by Gilgal: and sayde: I have a secret erand unto thee, D king, which sayde: Repe silence. And all that stood before him, went out from him.

And Ahud came unto him, and in a Donner parcer which he had, lade he him selue alone: and Ahud sayd: I have a message unto thee from God. And he arose out of his leaue.

And Ahud put sooth his left hande, (toke the dagger from his right thygh, and thrust it into his belly.

And the haste went in after the blade: and the fatte closed the hau, so that he ought not dazall the dagger out of his belly, but the dyst came out.

Then Ahud gat him out into the porche, and shut the doores of the parcer upon him, and locked them.

And when he was gone out, his secretes came: And when they sawe that the doores of the parcer were locked, they sayde: Surely he concreth his fette in his Sommer chamber.

And they taried till they were ahauned, and sayng he openeth not the doores of the parcer, they take a key and opened them: And beholde, ther the Lord was fallen downe dead on the earth.

And Ahud escaped Whyle they taried: and was gone beyonde, to the place of the graven images, and escaped into Serahath.

And when he was come, he blew a trumpet in mount Ephraim: And the childe of Israel went downe with him from the hill, and he went before them.

And he lade him downe, (soide me: for the Lord hath delivered your enemies the Philistines into your hande. And they descended after him, and took the passages of Jodane toward Doab, and suffered not a man to passe over.

And they se of the Philistines the same time upon a ten thouand men, which were all fatte, and men of warre, and there stayed not a man.

So Doab was subdued that day under the hande of Israel: And the lande had rest fourscore yeares.

After him was Sanmgar the sonne of Anath, whiche slue of the Philistines five hundred men with an one goade, and delivered Israel also.
And the children of Israel began again to do wickedly in the sight of the Lord, when Ahbud was dead. And the Lord sold them into the hand of Jabin king of Chanaan, that reigned in Hazor, whose captain of horse was called Sisera, which dwelt in Harosheth of the gentiles. And the children of Israel cried unto the Lord; for he had nine hundred chariots of iron: and the Lord looked upon the children of Israel, and helped them. And Deborah, the wife of Lapidoth, judged Israel seven years. And the same Deborah dwelt under a palm tree, between Ramath and Bethherem, in the lap of Ephraim: And the children of Israel came up to her for judgment. And she sent and called Barak the son of Abinoam out of Kedessah, and said unto him, Hath not the Lord God of Israel commanded thee, saying: Go, and take unto thee ten thousand men of the children of Naphtali, and ten thousand men of the children of Zabulon: and I will go with thee. And Barak said unto her, If thou wilt go with me, I will go: but if thou wilt not go with me, I will not go. She said: I will surely go with thee: only the going out of the people and the going in of the people shall not go with me; but I will stay behind in the mountains of Ephraim. And Barak said unto her: The Lord thy God be with thee, if I bring not down into thine hand Sisera, the captain of the host of Jabin, if I leave not thy feet unshod, and thy cloak unvailed. And Deborah sent word to Barak, Sisera is fleeing before thee into the forest of Harosheth. And Barak went down into the forest of Harosheth and pursued after Sisera. And Sisera said: Let me flee into the tent of Jael, the wife of Heber the Kenite: for thou knowest that I am the enemy of Jabin the king of Hazor. And Jael said: Come near: I will give theeGraphic: A black and white diagram of a tent and surrounding landscape, possibly depicting a battle scene. This image aligns with the text's description of Sisera seeking refuge in a tent. The scene suggests a historical or military context, possibly illustrating a battle or an encounter between the Israelites and their adversaries. The presence of tents and a battlefield setting is consistent with the biblical narrative. The v. Chapter.

1. The song and thanksgiving of Deborah and Barak after the chitose.
12 Up Deborah,起叶, get thee up, and sing a song: * Arise Barak, and leade thine captivite captive, thou sonne of Abi-noam.

13 Then shall they that remayne, have dominion of the proudest of the people: The Lord hath gaue me dominion ove the mightie.

14 Out of Ephrasim was there a roote of them against Amalek, and after thee Benjamin among them people: Out of Machir came rulrers, and out of Zabulon they that handell the penna of the witer.

15 And of Issachar there were princes with Deborah, and Issachar, and Jael, and Barak, he was sent on foot into the valleie; for the duuions of Ruben were great thoughts of heart.

16 Why abodest thou among the sheape foldes, to haere the bleating of the shepe, for the duuions of Ruben were great thoughts of heart.

17 (c) Glend also abode beyonde Jordon: and why both Dan remayne in shyppes:Alfo continued on the sea shore, and tarried in his decayed places.

18 But the people of Zabulon have re coparte their lyues euyn unto the death, lyke as dyd Nepthahin in the ype places of the shefe.

19 The kynges came and fought, then sought 2 kynges of Chanaan in Hazach by the waters of Pegado, and war no money.

20 They sought from heauen, euyn the starrres in their courts fought against Sufara.

21 The ryuer of Kison Swept them away, that auinet lyuer the ryuer of Kison:My soule, thou hast marched vainly.

22 They were the boke hooses smitten asunder by the meanes of the paunlings that their mightie men made.

23 Curie ye the ette of Heres (sayde the angel of the Lord) curie the inhabitants thereof: because they came not to helpe the Lord, to helpe the Lord against the mightie.

24 Jael the wyfe of Haber the Kene, haide blessed aboue other women, besed that the be aboue other women in the tent.

25 * He asked Water, and the gauie him mylke, she brought fowth butter in a loddle byside.

26 She put her bende to the myple, she rught hande to the lythyes hammer: with the hammer smote she Sufara, smote his head, wounded him, and pearced his temples.

27 He boode him dounte at her seete, he fell dounte, and laye flat: At her seete he boode him selfe, he fell. And whic he had funde dounte, he lay there destroyed.

28 The mother of Sufara looked out at a wyndowe, and exped throude the latefte: why is his charrete so long a commynge: Why tary the wheeles of his charrettes.

29 At the wyfe ladyes amisherd her pe, and her owne wydes amisherd her selfe.

30 Surely they have found, they benede ye spoyles: every man hath a damfell ox two: Sufara hath a pay of dures couloured garnitures, even a pay of raynment dyed with sultry colours, and that are made of nedle Workye: raynent of dures colours and of nedle Workye on both lydes, which is mette for him that is chief in distributing of spoyles.

31 So perisse all thine enemies, 0 Lord. But they that loue him, let them be as (b) shine when he ryleth in his might: And the lande haue rest foure yeares.

The. vi. Chapter.

1. Israel is oppossed of the Madianites for their wickednes. 14. Obedeon is sent to be their deliverer. 37. He asked a signe.

2.  And the hand of Madiam persecuted against Israel: 3. because of the Madianites, children of Israel made them enemies in the mountaynes and caues, and strong holds.

3. And when Israel had sown, then came by the Madianites, the Amalechites, and they of the east, and...
and came up against them,
4 And pitched their tents against them, and destroyed the encores of the earth, even till thou come unto Azal, (2) lest no succour come to Israel, neither the heepe, nor the ass:
5 For they went by, and their cattel, and came with their tentes as a multitude of grasshoppers, so that both they and also their cattles were Without number: And they entred into the land to destroy it.
6 And so was Israel exceedingly oppressed (3) in the sight of the Hadiamites, and cried unto the Lord.
7 And when the (4) children of Israel cried unto the Lord, because of the Hadiamites, 8 The Lord sent unto them a prophet, which said unto them, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel: I set thee from Egypt, (5) brought you out of the house of bondage.
9 And I said unto you: I am the Lord thy God, (6) fear not the gods of the Amorites in whose land ye dwell: But you have not obeyed my boype.
10 And the angel of the Lord came and sat under an oak which was in Ephrah, that pareyned unto Joas the father of the Erites: And his son Gideon threshed windlet by the wine press, to hyde it from the Hadiamites.
11 And the angel of the Lord appeared unto him, and said unto him: The Lord is with thee, thou mighty man.
12 And Gideon answered him: (1) Oh my Lord, if the Lord be with us, why then is all this come upon us? For, (7) where be all his miracles which our fathers tolde us of, and said: Doth not the Lord bring us out of Egypt? But now the Lord hath forsoaken us, and delievered us into the handes of the Hadiamites.
13 And the (2) Lord tolked upon him, and taw: Go hence in this thy night, and then shalt deliver Israel out of the handes of the Hadiamites: have not I sent thee?
14 And he answered him: Oh Lord, wherewith shall I save Israel? Behold my kine are poor in Bananas, and I am little in my fathers house.
15 And he answered him: Oh Lord, wherewith shall I save Israel? Behold my kine are poor in Bananas, and I am little in my fathers house.
16 The Lord said unto him: I will be with thee, (8) and thou shalt smite the Hadiamites, as they were but one man.
17 And he answered him: Oh, if I have found grace in thine eyes, (9) show me a sign, that it is thou that talkest with me:
18 Depart not hence, till I bring thee buntill I come unto thee, (5) till I brynning myne offering, and have let it before thee. And he said: I will tary buntill thou come againe.
19 And Gideon went in, and made reby a lyp, and sweete cakes of an (8) Epha of flour, and put it with the sleebe in a basket, and put the broth in a pot, and brought it out buntill under the Oak, and presented it.
20 And the angel of God said unto him: Take the sleebe and the sweete cakes, lay them upon this roike, and poude out the broth, And he dyd so.
21 Then the angel of the Lord put afei kj the end of the sleebe that he held in his hande, and touched the sleebe and the sweete cakes, and (4) there arose by fire out of the roike, and consumed the sleebe and the sweete cakes: But the angel of the Lord departed out of his sight.
22 And when Gideon perceive that it was an angel of the Lord, he said: Alas, O Lord God, (9) have I therefore scene an angel of the Lord face to face, (10) that I should dye?
23 And the Lord said unto him: Peace be unto thee, fear not, thou shalt not dye.
24 Then Gideon made an attler there unto the Lord, and called it, The Lord of peace. And unto this day it is yet in Ephrah, that pareyned unto the father of the Erites.
25 And the same night the Lord said unto him: Take thy fathers young bullocke, and another bullocke of, (ii) peces olde, and (1) destroy the attler of Baal that thy father hath, and cut downe the grove that is by it:
26 And make an attler unto the Lord thy God upon the top of this roike in a convenient place, and take the secomd bullocke, and offer benct sacrifice byp the wood of the grove which thou shalt cut downe.
27 Then Gideon took ten men of his seruantes, (8) did as the Lord bad him: But because he feared to do it by bape for his fathers houseto and the men of the cite, he dyd it by night.

28 And when the men of the cite arose early in the morning, behold the utter of Gebal was broken, & the gate cut downe that was by it, and the (m) second bullocke offerred upon the utter that was made.

29 And they layde one to another : who hath done this thing? And when they enquired and asked, they sayd: Gideon & some of Joas hath done this thing.

30 Then the men of the cite layde unto Joas, Bring out the sone, that he may dye: because he hath destroyed the utter of Gebal, and cut downe the gate that was by it.

31 And Joas layde unto at that stonde by him: Wilt ye please Saals cause: or wilt ye saue him? he that will contendes for him, let him dye or the morning. If he be a God, let him please for himself against him that hath caste downe his utter.

32 And from that day, was Gideon called Jerobaal: because his father had said, Let Saal please for himself, because he hath broken downe his utter. 33 All the Itamites therefore, and the Anakites, and they of the eatt, were gathered together, & went and pytched in the valley of jesrael:

34 But the spirit of the expose came upon Gideon, & he blew a trumpet, & (n) Abizer was tayne with him.

35 And he sent messengers throughout all Banasses, which also was tayne with him, and he sent messengers unto Haar, Zabulon, and Nepthaliun, and they came to meete them.

36 And Gideon sayde unto God: If thou wilt saue Israel by my hand, as thou hast sayd:

37 Beholde, I will put a fleece of wool in the trenching place : And if the dev e come on the fleece onely, and it be bye upon all the earth beside, then shall I be sure that thou wilt saue Israel by my hand, as thou saydest.

38 And it came to to passe: For he rose by early on the morrowe, & fhewed the fleece together, and wrong the dev e therout, and spild a bowl of water.

39 And Gideon sayde agaynst unto God: Be not angry with me, that I speake one more, for I will proce one agaynst by the fleece. Let it be dare onely upon the fleece, and dev e upon all the ground.

40 And God dyd so that same night: For it was bye upon the fleece only; & there was dev e upon all the ground.

1. The Lord commendaeth Gideon to send away a great parte of his companie. 22. The Abiamites are discomfited by a wonderous signe. 23. Dreb and Zerd are slaine.

2. And the Lord layd unto Gideon: The people that are with thee, are to many for me to geue thy Madiamites into their handes, lest Israel make their haunt against me, and saye: Byne owne hand hath saue me.

3. Doyle therefore make a proclamation in the cares of people, and saye: If any man dreath to be asered, let him returne and depart early from mount Oilead, And there returned of the people xx.

34. The Lord layd unto Gideon: The people are yet to many, lyeing their downe unto the water, and I will trye them there there. And of whom I lay unto thee, this shall go with thee: the same shall go with thee, and of whom soever I lay unto thee, this shall go with thee: the same shall not go with thee: the same shall not go.

35. So he brought downe the people unto the water: And the Lord said unto Gideon, As many as lappe their water with there tongues as a dogge lappeth, them put by them selves, and so do them that kneele downe upon their knees (o) to drink.

36. And the number of them that put there handes to their mouthes and lapped, were three hundred men: But all beenaunt of thy people kneele downe upon there their knees to drink water. And the Lord spake unto Gideon: By these three hundred men that lapped will I save you, and deliver the Midianites into thine hand: And let all the other people go every man unto his place.

8 They therefore of the people took blest with them, and their trumpets: And he sent all the rest of Israel, every man unto his tent, and retained those three hundred men: And the hoast of Midian was beneath him in a valley.

9 And the same night the Lord spake unto him: Arise, get thee down into the host, for I have delivered it into thine hand.

10 But and if thou fear to go downe, then go thou and Pharaoh thy lord downe to the host.

11 And thou shalt hearken what they say, and shalt thine handes be strong to go downe into the host. Then went he downe to Pharaoh his lord downe into the outsyde of the men of armes that were in the hoast.
12 And the Midianites, the Amalechites, and all they of the east, lay along in the valley like a multitude of grasshoppers, and their camels were without number, even as the sand by the sea in multitude.

13 And when Gideon was come, behold, there was a man that told a dream unto his neighbour, and said: Behold, I dreamed a dream, and mine thought was that a cake of barley bread tumbled into the host of Midian, and came unto a tent, and smote it that it fell, and turned it that the tent lay along.

14 And his felowe aumfled and said: This is nothing else but the sword of God which is come to destroy the whole busine of them.

15 And when Gideon heard the telling of the dream, and the interpretation of the dream, he worshipsped, and returned unto the host of Israel, and said: Up, for the Lord hath delivered you out of the hand of the Midianites.

16 And he dwended the three hundred men into three companies, and said unto every man a trumpet in his hand, and empty pitchers, and lamps therein.

17 And so they blew the trumpet, and brake the pitchers: and there was no man among the host of Israel that blew not his trumpet, neither was there any among the Midianites that looked back, neither fled any, but boldely followed him.

18 And when I blew with a trumpet and all that were I with me blew: and the Midianites, and all the Amalechites, and all the troops of them, fell before them.

19 So Gideon and the hundred men that were with him, came unto the uttermost budge of the host in the beginning of the morning watch, and said: Arise, and所得 the Midianites.

20 And the three companies blew with trumpettes, and brake the pitchers, and held the lamps in their left hands, and the trumpettes in their right, to blowe yethal: And they cried, The sword of the Lord, and of Gideon.

21 And they bowed the neck every man in his place rounde about the host: And all the host came, and cried, and said.

22 And the three hundred blew with trumpettes, and the sword of Ephraim went forth among the host about all the host: and the host said, Ephraim to Zebulun, to Naphtali: and to the edge of the plaine of Japhoath unto Lappath.

23 And the men of Israel being gathered together out of Nephtalm, and Aser, and of all Hanasses, followed after the Midianites.

24 And Gideon sent messengers before into mount Ephraim, saying: Come down against the Midianites, and take before them the waters into Bethbarah, and to Joabane. Then the men of Ephraim gathered together, and took the waters into Bethbarah, and to Joabane.

25 And they took two princes of the Midianites, Ele and Zeb: and fled Zeb upon the rocke of Ele, and Zeb in the winepress of Zeb: and followed after Madiam: and brought the heads of Ele and Zeb to Gideon on the other side Jopdane.

1 Ephraim murmureth against Gideon, 2 who appeareth thrm. 3 He passeth Joscane. 4 He exterminat hym selhe them of Sough and Sannahual. 5 He maketh an Ephob which was the cause of idolatrie. 60 Of Gideon sons, and of his death.

1 And the men of Ephraim said unto him: why hast thou sofer us thus, that thou calledst us not, when thou wentest to fight with the Midianites? And they scathe him sharply.

2 And he said unto them: What behove I done lorse unto (v) yous? Is not the (g) gleaning of grapes of Ephraim better then the vinetage of Abiezzer? God hath delivered into your hands the lodes of Midian, Ele and Zeb: And what was I able to do lyke as you haue done? And then their spirites abated from of him, when he had saide that.

4 And Gideon came to Joabane to passe over, he and the three hundred men that were with him weery, and yet followed the chafe.
And he laid unto the men of Succoth,

"Come, I pray you, let us take of bread into the people that follow me, for they be famished; that I may sowthe after Zebah, and Zalmuna, kings of Midian.

And the lords of Succoth said: Are the handes of Zebah and Zalmuna now in thyne handes, that we should gene breed into thyne arme?

Gideon said: Therefore when the Lord hath delivered Zebah and Zalmuna into mine hande, I will teare the flesh of you with the thomes of the wilderness, and with bypers.

And he went by thence to Phnanuel, and sakk into them lykewise: And men of Phnanuel aunmifered him, as did the men of Succoth.

And he said also unto the men of Phnanuel, When I come agayne in peace, I will brake down this towre.

Zebah and Zalmuna were in Carroz, and their hoastes with them, upon a siluene toundane men, which were all that were left of all the hoastes of them of the east: For there was slaine an hundred and twenty toundane men that beforehand.

And Gideon went by the side them that dwelt in tabernacles on the east side of Zebah and Jezgebah, and smote the hoaste: for the hoaste dyd cast no petryles.

And when Zebah and Zalmuna fled, he followed after them, and tok two kynges of Midian, Zebah and Zalmuna, and discomfited all the hoaste.

And Gideon the sonne of Joas, returned from battel afore the sunne was vp,

And caught a ladde of the men of Succoth, and enquired of him: And he wote him of the lordes and elders of Succoth therefore and seuentene men.

And he came into the men of Succoth, and layd: Beholde Zebah and Zalmuna, with which ye dyd cast me in the teeth, saies: Are the handes of Zebah and Zalmuna already in thyne hande, that we should gene breed into thy favour men?

And he teke the elders of the citie, and thomes of the wilderness, and bypers, and teake the men of Succoth with them.

And he brake downe the towre of Phnanuel, and slue the men of the citie.

And then lade he unto Zebah and Zalmuna: What maner of men were they whom ye slue at Zebah? And they aunmisered: The lykennesse of thee and them is at one, eue after the fassion of the children of a kyng.

And he said, They were my brethren, even my mother's children: As truly as the Lord liveth, if ye had faunce their lykes, I would not slaye you.

And he lade unto Jether his eldest sonne, Up and lay them, but the ladde dyde not his lorde: so he feared, because he was yet young.

Then Zebah and Zalmuna said: Ryse thou, and fall upon vs: so as the man is, so is his strength. And Gideon arose, and slue Zebah and Zalmuna, and takd away the ornamentes that were on their camels neckes.

Then the men of Israel lade unto Gideon: Raigne thou ouer vs, both thou, thy sonne, and thy sonnes sonne, for thou hast delivered vs out of the hand of Midian.

And Gideon said unto them: I will not raigne ouer you, neither shall my childe raigne ouer you: but the Lorde hall raigne ouer you.

And agayne Gideon said unto them: I would defere a request of you, even that you would gene me every man the earinges of his pry, for they had goldeen earinges, because they were J mechanicites.

And they aunmisered: We will gyue them. And they spread a mantell, and dyd cast therin every man the carynge of his pry.

And the weight of goldeen earinges that he required, was a thousand and seven hundred sicles of golde, besides chaynes and lavelles, and purple rayment that was on the kynges of Badian, and besides the chaynes that were about their camels neckes.

And Gideon made an Ephod therof, and put it in his citie Ephab: And all Israel went a phryning after it in the same place, which thing became a phnye unto Gideon and to his house.

Thus was Badian brought lowe before the children of Israel, so that they lyst up their heades no more: And the country was in quietnesse fourtie yeres in the dapes of Gideon.

And Jerboalb's some of Joas, went and dwelt in his owne house.
And Gideon had three-score and ten sons of his body begotten: for he had many wives.

And his concubine that was in Sichem bare him a son also, whose name he called Abimelech.

And Gideon the son of Joas died in a good age, and was buried in the sepulchre of Joash his father, even in Ephraim, that parted him unto the father of the Erites.

But as soon as Gideon was dead, the children of Israel turned away, and went a whoring after Baalim, and made a covenant with Baal to be their God.

And the children of Israel thought not on the Lorde their God, which had delivered them out of the hands of all their enemies on every side:

Neither did they hearken unto the house of Jeroboam [other wise called Gideon, according to all the goodness which he had shewed unto Israel.

Abimelech the son of Jeroboam went to Sichem, into his mother's brethren, and communed with them, and with all the lords of the house of his mother's father, saying:

Save me, I pray you, out of the hand of these men; for they are too strong for me.

And his mother's brethren were gathered together, and strengthened him, and all that were of his father's house, and his kinsmen, and all the house of the house of his father.

And they came up, and came to Shechem, unto the house of the伯ith, and spake unto Abimelech, saying, Thy father saved us out of the hand of our enemies, and delivered us out of the hand of all that were upon us:

And he went unto his father's house at Ophrah, and slew his brethren the sons of Jeroboam, in the headmost chamber under the oak:

And all the men of Shechem gathered together, and came and made Abimelech king in the plain, where the stone was in Shechem.

And when they told it to Joash, he went and stood in the top of mount Carmel, and lifted up his hands, and said unto them: Hearken unto me, Israel; for the Lord your God is with you, ye are not to fear the men of Asia.

The trees went a whoring after the apple tree, and said unto the myrtle tree: Give thy fruit, that I may eat.

But the myrtle tree answered them, saying: Do ye think to please the Lord with your fruit? Behold, I am more acceptable to the Lord than ye.

And the trees said to the fig tree: Give thy fruit, that I may eat.

And the fig tree answered them, saying: Am I yet to this day robbed by the fig trees, when I was not planted? then shall ye also be boiled with the fig trees.

These trees also went a whoring after the vine, and the vine answered them, saying: Give me thy fruit, that I may have food.

And the grapes said unto them, Give me thy fruit, that I may have wine.

And they said one to another: We will now build a wall round about the field, the vineyard, and the olive tree, and the fig tree, because the fruit of the ground is our and our Father's.

And they went about, and builded it.

And when the children of the spoiling entered into the land of Canaan, they served these trees, and forgot the Lord.

Seek ye out the king Jeroboam, and all thy mother's house, that they may come, and slay him, and make Solomon thy son king over Israel.

And the king sought to make Abimelech king: and the captain of the host of Israel said unto him: Hearken, I pray thee, unto the words of this covenant, which thy father's God spake unto him in time past, saying: Take the kingdom, and reign: and also, behold, the people have divided themselves unto thee, and also all the house of Jeroboam, they are not of this house.

And so it was, when they saw Abimelech, that they made Abimelech king at Shechem, and all the house of the house of his father gathered themselves unto him, and made him king over the children of Jacob.

And Phinehas, the son of Eleazar, the son of Aaron, took an ensign in his hand, and追赶 in the midst of them: and they made him king over the children of Israel.

And the children of the spoiling made Baasha king over Israel in Tirzah, in the fifth year of Abimelech.

And Abimelech died, and was buried in Shechem: and Zebul and Matatab, and Tirzah, were his sepulchres. And he lived thirty years in Shechem, the city of the house of Jacob.
And ye are risen vp against my fathers house this day, and have slain his children, byng threescore and ten persons, upon one stone, and have made Abimelech the house of his maybe neunt, king over the men of Shechem, because he is your brother.

And he spake against Abimelech, Bake thine host greater, and go out.

And when Zebul the ruler of the citie heard the words of Gaal the sonne of Obed, he was wroth.

And sent messengers unto Abimelech partly, saying: Behold, Gaal the sonne of Obed and his brethren be come to Shechem, and beleive they frustrate the citie agaynst thee.

And do therefore by night, thou and the people that is with thee, and ye in Wapte in the field.

And rise early in the morning asone as the sunne is vp, and fall upon the citie: And if he the people that is with hym come out against thee, do to hym what thine handes shallbe able.

And Abimelech rose vp, and all the people that were with him, by night, and they lade awaye against Shechem in soure companies.

And Gaal the sonne of Obed went out, and moode in the entryng of the gate of the citie: And Abimelech rofe vp, and the folks that were with him, from lying in Wapte.

And when Gaal saw people, he spake to Zebul: Behold, there come people bottom from the top of the mountains. And Zebul spake unto him: The nobody of the hylls ferue men bottom there.

And Gaal answeerde agayne, I spake: See, there come folks bottom by the middle of the land, an other company come along by the playne of the charrinets.

Then spake Zebul unto him, where is notow thy mouth that said, what felowe is Abimelech, that we should ferue him? Is not this the people that thou hast despised: Go out now a fight with the.

And Gaal went out before the citizens of Shechem, fought with Abimelech.

And Abimelech chase him, that he fled before him, and many were ouer vsed, wounded, even unto the entryng of the gate.

And Abimelech dwelt at Arumah; and Zebul shooed out Gaal his brethren that they should not dwell in Shechem.

And on the mounto, the people went out into the field: And they told Abimelech.

And he toke the people, and demened them into three companies, lade awaye in the field, and loked, and beheld the people were come out of the citie, and he ran uppon them, and smote them.

xxv. 2. 3. 4. 5. 6. 7. 8. 9. 10. 11. 12. 13. 14. 15. 16. 17. 18. 19. 20. 21. 22. 23. 24. 25. 26. 27. 28. 29.
And Abimelech and the companions that were with him, rushed forward, and stood in the entering of the gate of the city: and the two other companions ran upon all the people that were in the fields, and slue them.

And when Abimelech had sought against the city that day, he took it, and slue the people that was therein, and despoied the city, and builded it.

And when all the men of the tower of Shechem heard that they entered into an holde of the house of the god (b) Berith.

And it was told Abimelech, that all the men of the tower of Shechem were gathered together.

And Abimelech gat him to mount Zelmon, both he, and all the people that were with him, tookaron with him, and cut doylue bolles of trees, and took them and bare them on his shulder, and sayde into the solt that were with hym: What ye have seen me do, speede your selues, do lyke as I have done.

And at the men that were among the people, cut doylue bolles, and sodolov Abimelech, and put them into the hold, and let the holde a fire by them: so that at the men of the tower of Shechem died also, upon a thousand men: Women.

Then went Abimelech to Thebez, and besieged it, and took it.

But there was a strong towne within the citie, and the other name all the men and women, and all the chiefe that were in the citie, and shut it to them, and gate them by to the toppe of the towre.

And Abimelech came unto the towre, and sought against it, and went harde unto the dooore of the towre to set it on fire.

And a certain woman tayle a pece of a mylstone upon his head, to all to make his byrane panne.

Then Abimelech called hastily unto the young man that bare his harnesse, and sayde unto him: Daste thy byrde and sheare, that men say not of me, A woman slue him: And his lad then him thowte, and he died.

And when the men of Israel saw that Abimelech was dead, they depart every man unto his oulye house.

Thus God rendred the wickednesse of Abimelech which he dyd unto his father, in slaying his sentie brethren.

And therto all the wickednesse of the men of Shechem, dyd God bring upon their heads: And upon them came the (c) circle of Joasham the sone of Jerobaal.

The x. Chapter.

2 Thola died, Jair also died. 17 The Israelites are punished for their sinnes. 10 They epe unto God, and he hathe pithe on them.

A 1

Abimelech, there arc to defend Israel Thola the sone of Phuah the sone of Dodo, a man of Ha.

phaim.

And he judged Israel twenty and three yeres, and died, and was buried in Samur.

And after him arose Faie a Sileadite, and judge Israel twelve yeres and two yeres.

And he had thirtie sones that rode on thirtie Asse cotles, and they had thirtie citie, which are called (b) Hanoch.

And Faie dyd this day, and are in the lande of Gilead.

And Faie dyed, and was buried in Ca.

And the children of Israel wrought wickednesse very agayne in the light of the Lord, and servd Baalim and Alta.

th, and the gods of Sidon, and the gods of Doab, the gods of the children of Amnon, and the gods of the Phillistines, and forsoke the Lord, and servd not him.

And the Lord was wroth with Israe.

And he forde them into the bande of the Phillistines, and into the bandes of the children of Ammon.

Which from that yere forth, pride and oppression of Israel right.

that were on the other side Jordane, in the lande of the Amo.

Moreover, the children of Ammon went over Jordane to fight against Juda, Beniamin, and the house of Ephraim, so that Israel was sore embulde.

And the children of Israel cryed unto the Lord, saying, we have sinne against thee, for we have fortaken our owne God.
And there was one Jephthah a Gileadite, a strong man, the son of an harlot.

And Gilead begat Jephthah: And Gilead dyed bare him three sons, which when they were come to age, thrust out Jephthah, and said unto him: Thou shalt not inherit in our father's house, for thou art the son of a strange woman.

And when the children of Ammon made war against Israel, and the children of Ammon gathered together, and pitched in Melchah: And when Jephthah heard it, he said: Come, and be our captain, that we may fight with the children of Ammon.

And there gathered yole men to Jephthah, and went out with him.

And they put away the strange gods from them, and served the Lord, and put away their strange gods, and served the Lord.

And the children of Ammon gathered together, and pitched in Dibon: And the children of Israel gathered them together, and pitched in Dibon, and fought against them.

And the children of Israel said they would not go out into the battle: Wherefore the children of Ammon gathered together, and pitched in the valley of Jezreel, and the children of Israel gathered together, and pitched in the valley of Jezreel.

And they cried unto the Lord, and said: O Lord our God, wilt thou not save us this day, as in time past, wherein thou didst save us out of the hand of our enemies? Wherefore the Lord sent the angel of the Lord against the army of the children of Ammon: and his name was_abadiel.
Gilead: As ye hate me, fell me out of my father's house; yet, when this noise of me came to the ears of Israel, and went all the inhabitants of Gilead.

8 And the elders of Gilead said unto Jephthah, Therefore thou comest in good, and peace, when thou wentest away from the children of Ammon, and be our head over all the inhabitants of Gilead.

9 And Jephthah said unto the elders of Gilead, If ye bring me home again to fight against the children of Ammon, then will I be your head, and will go with you.

10 And the elders of Gilead said to Jephthah, The LORD be between the elders of Gilead, and thee, and between the people of Israel, and thee, to make thee head over all the people of Israel.

11 Then Jephthah went with the elders of Gilead, and made his bow and his five hundred others, and passed over Jordan, and went to Samaria.

12 And Jephthah sent messengers unto the king of the children of Ammon, saying, What cause hast thou to come against me, that thou art come again to war against me?

13 The king of the children of Ammon answered the messengers of Jephthah, Because Israel took away my land when they came out of Egypt, and my land, when they passed over Jordan, from Arnon unto Ibrahah, and unto Joab: Now therefore restore those land given me with faire means.

14 And Jephthah sent messengers unto the king of the children of Ammon, saying, Wherefore hast thou taken our land, when we came out of Egypt, and have possessed it unto this day?

15 And Jephthah said unto them, I will return and deliver you into the hand of the children of Ammon, and I will take possession of Gilead.

16 But the children of Ammon said, The land whereof we ought to have possession is equal to the land which thou hast taken away from us. Therefore we will conquer thee, and will take possession of it.

17 And Jephthah said unto the children of Ammon, I will not return to deliver you;

18 And Jephthah went along through the land of Ephraim, and in the land of Gilead, and came along by the east side of the land of Moab, and came along by the east side of the land of Moab. And pitched on the other side of Arnon, and would not come within the coast of Moab: for Arnon was the border of Moab.

19 And then Israel sent messengers unto Sehon king of the Amorites, king of Heshbon, and said unto him, Let us pass over, that we may trade unto thy land.

20 But Sehon sent messengers to Israel, that they should go to trade unto his land: but Israel would not go over Sehon's coast.

21 And the LORD God of Israel delivered Sehon, and all his people, unto Israel before their children of Ammon, and all the land of Sehon. So Israel smote them, and possessed all the land of Sehon, and the children of Ammon.

22 And they possessed the coast of the Amorites, from Arnon unto Jabbok, and from the wildernesse unto Jordan.

23 So the LORD said, Because Israel smote Sihon, and all his people, in the land of Amorites, which they had driven out of Sehon, the habitation of whom were Arnon and Jabbok, and from those of Jordan, the borders of Aman;

24 Therefore Jephthah came to the children of Ammon, and said unto them, Why have ye taken my land, when I was not present; and have driven me out of my possession, when I was not present?

25 And Jephthah said unto them, I will return, and will restore that which ye have taken away from me of my land, when I was not present, and will take possession of that which ye have taken away from me of my coasts.

26 And let the children of Ammon give unto me, Cimel, and Abinab, and Abinshal, and Abelmeon, and that which ye have taken away from me of my children: and whatsoever ye have done unto me shall I do unto you.

27 Wherefore therefore I have not hasted against thee, but thou art come hasting against me: When the children of Ammon were seven hundred years old, why did ye not recover them in all that space?

28 Wherefore therefore I will not hasty against thee, but thou art come hasting against me: When the children of Ammon were seven hundred years old, why did ye not recover them in all that space?

29 And when the children of Ammon were seven hundred years old, why did ye not recover them in all that space?

30 And Jephthah vowed a vow unto the LORD, saying, If thou wilt deliver the children of Ammon into my hands, then will I do this.

31 And Jephthah sent messengers unto the children of Ammon, and said, What will ye give me, if ye will give me the land, from beyond Jordan, and from Arnon unto Jabbok, and from the wildernesse unto Jordan, to me? And the children of Ammon answered, We will give it.

32 And when Jephthah heard the words of the children of Ammon, he said, I will go up to the children of Ammon, and fight against them. And Jephthah took twenty valiant men of Gilead, and said unto the children of Ammon, Will ye give me a king to rule over me? And the children of Ammon said, We will give thee a king: And they gave Jephthah Gilead.

33 And Jephthah went unto Israel, and said unto the elders of Israel, Why have ye taken my brother Jephthah, and delivered him into the hand of the children of Ammon? And when he came, and said unto them, Why have ye delivered me into the hand of the children of Ammon? And when he came, and said unto them, Why have ye delivered me into the hand of the children of Ammon? And when he came, and said unto them, Why have ye delivered me into the hand of the children of Ammon?
Then that thing that cometh out of the doores of my house against me, wherewith I come home in peace from the children of Ammon, yea, the LORD, and I will offer it up for a burnt offering.

And so Jephthah went unto the children of Ammon to fight against them, and the LORD delivered them into his hands.

And he smote them from Arber till thou came to Hemath, even twenty cities, and so forth to the plains of the vineyards, with an exceeding great slaughter: and thus the children of Ammon were brought under, before the children of Israel.

And when Jephthah came to Ephraim unto his house, see, his daughter came out against him with (3) mirth and dances; which was his only daughter, that he had never known, nor daughter.

And when he saw her, he (b) rent his clothes, and leaped, and wept sore:

And when he came unto the father of his daughter in the city of his father, and showed him the words of the LORD, he could not find the voice of his father, when he heard it.

And the men of Ephraim gathered them together, and went northward, and said unto Jephthah, Wherefore camest thou among us? and I will not drunke.

And he said, Behold, I came on mine hire into Ephraim to feed mine hire among you, and I called ye, ye delivered me not out of the hands of the children of Ammon.

And when I saw that ye delivered me not, I put my hands upon the children of Ammon, and the LORD delivered them into my hands: wherefore am I now vnder oath vnto the LORD.

And Jephthah gathered together all the men of Gilead, and fought with the Ephraimites. And the men of Gilead smote the Ephraimites, because they said: Be Gileadites are our runneymates of Ephraim, among the Ephraimites and the Manassites.

Moreover, the men of Gilead took the passages of Jordan before the Ephraimites: and when those Ephraimites that were chapa, said, Let me go over: then the men of Gilead said, Art thou an Ephraimite? If so, go home.

Then said they vnto him, Then say, (c) Schiabiliaoth. And he said, Subbooth: so he could not pronounce it: and they said, He is a Benjamite.

And Jephthah judged Israel six years, and dwelt in Izbion of Bethelhem.

And he had thritee fowmes and thritee daughters, whom he sent out, and toke in thritee daughters from abroad for his fowmes. And when Izbion (d) had judged Israel seven yeares,

He died, and was buried at Bethelhem. After this man, judged Israel one Izbion of Bethelhem.
11 After him, Elron, a Zabulonite, judged Israel ten years.
12 And Elron the Zabulonite died, and was buried in Aijalon, in the country of Zabulon.
13 After him, Abdon the son of Hillel, a Pharathonite, judged Israel.
14 And he had four sons, and thirteeneeves, that rode on dromedaries and ten asses colts: And when Abdon the son of Hillel the Pharathonite had judged Israel eight years, 15 he died, and was buried in Pharathon in the land of Ephraim, in the mount of the Amalekites.

The xiii. Chapter.

1 Israel for their wickedness is oppressed of the Philistines. The angel appeared to Manoah's wife. The angel commanded him to sacrifice unto the Lord.
2 And there was a man in Zarchah of the tribe of Dan, named Manoah, whose wife was barren, and bare not.
3 And the angel of the Lord appeared unto the woman, and said, Thou shalt conceive, and bear a son.
4 And no vedere beare woman, that thou mayest no longer drink, nor strong drink; neither eat any unclean thing.
5 For, lo, thou shalt conceive and bear a son: And there shall no sword come upon his head, nor yet to be his desolate.
6 But thy son shall be unto the Lord, and his name shall be Jashar. And he shall be a Nazarite unto the Lord from his birth: And I will give him for a sign in Israel .
7 Then the woman came, and told her husband, saying: A man of God came unto me, and he commanded me, saying: Thou shalt conceive, and bear a son.
8 Then Manoah made intercession to the Lord, and said: O Lord, please let the man of God, whom thou didst send unto us, come again unto vs, that we may offer him a burnt offering unto the Lord.
9 And God heard the voice of Manoah, and the angel of God came again unto the woman as he spake unto her, and said unto her, Behold, thou shalt conceive, and bear a son.
10 And the angel said unto her, The name of he shalt be Samson: for I will give him unto the Lord, and he shall begin to deliver Israel out of the hand of the Philistines.
11 And the woman went and told her husband, saying: I have seen the angel of the Lord, who spake unto me: And her husband said unto her, How dost thou know that it is the Lord?
12 And she said unto him, It is the angel of the Lord, who spake unto me. And her husband said unto her, What is he doing in thy梦?
13 And she said unto her husband, He spake unto me, saying: The field is open to vs, and the vineyard is open: Take vs thy meat offering, and offer it upon a burnt offering unto the Lord.
14 And she went unto the field to glean grapes: And it came to pass, that when she had gathered vs, her husband came unto her, saying: I pray thee, let us go again, and return unto the field, and gather vs more grapes; and let us make vs a burnt offering unto the Lord.
15 And she said unto him, It is not so, my lord, but for vs, if we make an offering, it shall be consumed: for we pray thee, let us offer unto the Lord the fourteenth part thereof.
16 And he said unto her, Do we not two, my lord? Take vs vs, and we will offer it.
17 And she said unto her husband, See, I pray thee, the field is open, and the vineyard is open: Take vs vs, and let us offer an offering unto the Lord, and burn vs a burnt offering.
18 And he said unto her, Let vs make vs a burnt offering unto the Lord.
19 And Manoah took the kid, and with a meat offering, and offered it upon a rock.
into the Lord: And the angel did wondrously, Manoah and his wife looking upon.

And when the flame came by toward heaven from the altar, the angel of the Lord ascended by in the flame of the altar: And Manoah and his wife looked upon it, and fell on their faces unto the ground.

But the angel of the Lord did no more appear unto Manoah and his wife: And then Manoah knew that it was an angel of the Lord.

And said unto his wife: We shall sure-ly dye, because we have seen God.

But his wife said unto him: If the Lord would kill us, he would not have received a burnt offering and a meat offering of our hands, neither would he have showed us at these things, nor would he have told us of any thing.

And the wife bare a son, and called his name Samson: And she called a name, and the Lord blessed him.

And the spirit of the Lord began to move in the heart of Samson, between Zaraah and Eshcol.

The xiii. Chapter.

Samson desireth to have a wife of the Philistines. 6 He killeth a Lion. 7 He proposeth a riddle. 8 He killeth thirtie. 9 His wife faileth him, and taketh another.

Samson went down to Thannath, and saw a woman in Thannath of the daughters of the Philistines: And he came up, and told his father and his mother, and said: I have seen a woman in Thannath of the daughters of the Philistines; now, show me her to wit.

Then his father and mother said unto him: Is there never a woman among the daughters of thy brethren, and among all people, but that thou must go, and take a wife of the uncircumcised Philistines? And Samson said unto his father: Give me this woman, for the plea sure of my eye.

But his father and mother said: 5 Is not that which the Lord doth being, and that he hath spoken against the Philistines? for at that time the Philistines rained over Israel.

Then went Samson and his father, and his mother down to Thannath, and came to the vineyards of Thannath: and beheld, a young Lion roared upon him.

And the spirit of the Lord came upon him, and he rent him, as he would have rent a lyon, and yet had nothing in his hand: neither told his father nor mother what he had done.

And he went down, and talked with the woman, which seemed well favour ed in the sight of Samson.
Samsons riddle.

8 And within a short space after, as he set thyther againe to take her to wife, he turned out of the way to see the car-kasse of the Lion: And behold, there was a warme of bees and honey in the car-kasse of the Lion.

9 And he took thereof in his handes, and went eating, and came to his father and mother, and gave them also; and they did eate; But he told not them that he had taken the honey out of the car-kasse of the Lion.

10 And so his father went downe into the woman, and Samson made there a feast; for to bled the young men to do.

11 And why they gave him, they brought thirtie companions to be with him.

12 And Samson said unto them, If you can declare it me within seven daies of the feast, and finde it out, I will give you thirtie theetes, a thirtie change of garments:

13 But if you can not declare it me, then shall ye give me thirtie theetes, and thirtie change of garments. And they admired him: Put forth thy riddle, that we may hear it.

14 And he spake unto them: Out of the eater came meat, and out of the strong came sweetness. And they could not in three daies expound the riddle.

15 And when the seventh day was come, they spake unto Samsons Wyfe: Flutter thyne husband that he may declare us the riddle, lest we burne thee and thy fathers house with fire: Have ye called us thyther to make vs beggers? is it so?

16 And Samsons Wyfe spake before him and said, Surely thou hast set me and lovest me not: for thou hast put forth a riddle unto the children of my folke, and hast not tolde it me. And he layde it to her: Behold, I have not told it my father and my mother, and till I tell thee.

17 And Samsons Wyfe spake before him seven daies, whyple the feast laked. And the eleventh day he told her, because the lay to bode up him. And the tolde the riddle to the children of her folke.

18 And the men of the city spake unto him the eleventh day, before the simne went downe: What is sweeter then honey and what is stronger then a Lion? Then spake he unto them. If ye had not plowed with my (b) hys hester, ye had not found out my riddle.

19 And the spriete of the Lord came upon him, and he went downe to (a) Ashdon, and tune thirtie men of them, and spake them, saue change of garments unto them with which powerd the riddle:

20 And he was Wod, and went up to his fathers house.

But Samsons Wyfe was gene to one of his companions that he had taken unto him.

4 Samson tyth fire bandses to the fore tayles. 6 The Philistines burnt his father in lawe and his wyfe, with the taybe bone of an aile he (killed) a thousand men.

The xv. Chapter.

1 And within a while after, even in the time of wheat harvest, Samson visited his wyfe with a lapd, saying: I will go in to my wyfe into the chamber. But her fathers would not suffer him to go in.

2 And her father layde, I thought that thou haddest hated her, s therefore gave I her to the companion: Is not her younger sister fayler then he? Take her I pray thee, in stead of the other.

3 Samson layde unto hym: No more am I more blateleste then the Philistines, and therefore will I do them displeasure.

4 And Samson went out, and caught three hundred fore, s the fire bands, and turned them tayle to tayle, and put a fire bande in the middle betwixt two tayles.

5 And when he had set the bands on fire, he sent them out into the standing corn of the Philistines, burnt up both the reaped corn, and also the standing, with the vineyards and olues.

6 Then the Philistines sayde: who hath done this? And they admired Samson the sonne in lawe of the Channite, because he had taken his wyfe, s guded her to his companion, and the Philistines came by, and burnt her and her father with fire.
7 And Samson said unto them: Though ye have done this, yet will I be avenged of you, and then I will cease.
8 And he smote them legge and thygh with a myghtie plague, and then he went & dwelt in the toppe of the rocke Etam.
9 Then the Philistines came by, and pitched in Judah, and camped in Lehi.
10 And the men of Judah sayde: Why are ye come vp to vs? They answered: To bynde Samson are we come vp, & to do to hym, as he hath done to vs, 11 Then three thousande men of Judah went to the toppe of the rocke Etam, & sayde to Samson: Wotest thou not that the Philistines are rulers over vs. Wherefore then hast thou done thus vs? They answered them: As they dyd vs, so have I done vs.
12 And they sayd vs againe: We are come to bynde thee, and to deluer thee into the hande of the Philistines. And Samson sayd vs: Swearre vs to me, that ye shall not fall upon me for vs.
13 They annointed him, saying: No, but we will bind thee, and put forth thee into their hands: but we will not kill thee. And they bound him with two new cords, and brought him from the rocke.

14 And when he came to Lehi, the Philistines stood against him: And the spirit of the Lord came upon him, and the cords that were upon his arms, became as flake that was burnt with fire, for the bands looked from of his hands.

15 And he found a (e) newe calf bone of an Asle, and put a tooth of his hand, and caught it, and slew a thouand men therewith.

16 And Samson sayde: With the calf of an Asle, heapes upon heapes: With the calf of an Asle have I slaine a thouand men.

17 And when he had left speaking, he cast away the calf bone out of his hande, and called the place (f) Ramath Lehi.

18 And he was sore a thirsty, and called on the Lord, and sayde: Thou hast given this great victopyr in the hande of thy seruant: and nowe I must dye for thirst, and fall into the handes of the uncummed.

19 But God brake a great tooth that was in the talfe, and there came water therout, and when he had drunkke, his spirit came agayne, and he was refreshed: Wherefore the name thereof was called Unto this day, The Well of the caller on: which came of the talfe.

20 And he urged Israel in the days of the Philistines, twentie yeres.

The xv. Chapter.

1. Samson carrieth away the gates of Izath. 18. He was deceaved by Deluis. 30. He pulleteth downe the house upon the Philistines, and dightt with them.

Then went Samson to Izath, and tafhe there an harlot, and went in unto her.

And it was tode the Azafhites, saying: Samson is come hyther. And they went about, and laye a watch for hym there all nyghtt in the gate of the cith, and were stalt all the nyght, saying: In the morning when it is daye, we shall kylle hym.

3 And Samson toke his rest till nyght, and arose at mynyghtt, and toke the doores of the gate of the cite, and the two postes, and rent them of with the barre and all, and put them upon his shoulders, and carred them up to the top of an hyll, that is before hezion.
And after this, he loved a woman by the name of Szeek, whose name was Dalila.

Unto whom came the lords of the Philistines, and sayde unto her: (v.) Persuade him, and see wherein his great strength lyeth, and by what means we may overcome him, that we may bind him, and punish him: and every one of vs shall give thee a leauen hunselfsterlynges.

And Dalila sayde to Samson: Oy, tell me where thy great strength lyeth, and how thou mightest be bounde and brought under.

And then the lords of the Philistines bought her sevenlythes that were yet green, never dyed, and the bond hym therwith.

(Notwithstanding she had men lying in wayde with her in the chamber:) And she said unto him, The Philistines be upon thee Samson. And immediately he brake the cords, as a string of tode brake: when it sealeth fire. And so his strenght was not knowen.

And Dalila sayde unto Samson: See, thou hast mocked me, and tolde me lies: Now therefore tell me wherewith thou mightest be bounde.

He answerd her: If they bynde me with hye ropees that never were occu-ped, I shall be weake, and be as another man.

Dalila therefore take nether ropees, and bounde hym therewith, and sayde unto him, The Philistines be vp: thee Samson. And there were eyes of wayde in the chamber: And he brake them from of his armes, as they had ben but a thread.

And Dalila sayde unto Samson, Therefore thou hast begyned me, and tolde me lythes: Yet tell me bowe thou mightest be bounde. He sayde unto her: Of thou playest the seven lockes of my head with the threades of the wooffe.

And she fastened it with a pyrne, and layde onto him: The Philistines be vp: thee Samson. And he waked out of his sleepe, and went away with the pyrne of the webbe and the wooffe.

And the layde unto him againe: How canst thou laye (v.) I love thee, when thyne heart is not with me: Thou hast mocked me this three tymes, and hast not tolde me wherein thy great strenght lyeth.

And as the layde upon hym with her bodes, continually beryng of hym, his soule was encumbered out of lust.

And so he tolde her all his heart, and said unto her: There never came rabs: upon mye head, for I have ben a Nazarene unto God, even from my motheres wonde: Therefore when I am shauen, my strenght will go from me, & I shall bare weake, and be lyke all other men.
And when Daula said that he had tolde her all his heart, the sent and called for the lords of the Philistines, saying: Come by yet this once, so he hath shewed me all his heart. Then the lords of the Philistines came by unto her, and brought the money in their hands.

And the made him sleepe upon her knees, and the sent for an man, and he dyd haste of the seven locks of his head, and began to verse him, and his strength was gone from him.

And the sheepe, The Philistines be upon thee Samson. And he awoke out of his sleepe, and sayde: I will go out now as at other tymes before, and shewe my selfe. And he will not that the Lord was departed from him.

But the Philistines took him, and put out his eyes, and brought him down to Azjah, and bounde him with fetters of brasce: and he dyd gynde in the pynon house.

Halibbe the heere of his head began to growe agayne after that he was shauen.

Then the lords of the Philistines gathered them together, for to offer a holie offering unto Dagon their God, and to rejoynce: For they sayde, Our God hath deliuered Samson our enemy into our handes.

And when the people sawe him, they sayde: Our God hath delivered into our handes our enimie, and destroyer of our countrey, which slue manape of vs.

And when their heares were mery, they sayde: Send for Samson, that he may make vs laugh. And they set Samson out of the prison house, and he played before them: and they let hym betwene the pyllers.

And Samson sayde unto the lad that led hym by the hande: Set me that I may touche the pyllers that the house standeth upon, and that I may leaue to them.

And the house was full of men and women, and there were all the lords of the Philistines: And there were upon the roofe a three thousand men and women, that beheld whyle Samson played.

And Samson called unto the Lord, and sayde: O Lord, God, I pray thee, thynke upon me, and strengthen me, I beleue thee at this tyne once bye O God, that I may be at one auncug of the Philistines, for my two eyes.

And Samson caught the two middle pyllers on which the house stoode and on which it was borne up, the one in his right hande, and the other in his left.

And Samson sayde: My house shall dye with the Philistines, and bold them with all his might, and the house fell upon the lords, and upon all the people that were therin: And so he dyed, Which he sate at his death, were no then they which he slue in his lyfe.

And then his brethren, all the house of his father came downe, and take him vp, and brought hym, and buryed hym betwene Zarah and Ethbaol, in the burying place of Manoah his father: And he judged Israel twenty yeeres.

In those days there was no king in Israel, but every man by that which was good in his own eyes.

And there was a young man out of Bethlehem Juda, of the kynred of Judah, which young man was a Leuite, so thoured there.

And the man departed out of the cite of Bethlehem Juda, to go dwell where he could finde (a convenient place) ; And he came to mount Ephraim, to the house of Micah as he journeyed.

And Micah layde unto him : Where comest thou ? The Leuite ashamed Micah : I am of Bethlehem Juda, and go to dwell where I may finde a place.

And Micah layde agayne unto Micah : Dwelle with me, and be unto me a father and a priest, and I will give thee ten hynderlynges by yer, two garantes, and thy meate and uppynce.

So the Leuite went in.

And the Leuite was content to dwell with the man, and was unto him as one of his owne sons.

And Micah consecrated the Leuite, he the young man became his priest, and was in the house of Micah.

Then sayde Micah : Now I am sure that the Lord will be good unto me, being I have a Leuite to my priest.

The xviii. Chapter

2. The children of Dan sent men to search the land. 11. Then cometh the six hundred and take the gods and the priest of Micah away. 27. They destroy Laish. 28. They build it agayne, 13. And set up idolatry.

1. And these days there was no king in Israel, and in these days the tribe of Dan bought them an inheritance to dwell in : For unto that tyne all their inheritance had not fallen unto them among the tribe of Israel.

2. And the children of Dan sent of their hynderlynges men in feates of warre out of their coasts, even out of Zaraah & Ethaol, to vide the lande and searche it out, and layde unto them: Go, and searche out the lande, which when they came to mount Ephraim, even to the house of Micah, they lodged there.

3. And when they were in the house of Micah, they knede to the boyce of the young man the Leuite: And when they turned in thysyer, they layde unto him: who bought thysyer: what makest thou in this place : and what hast thou here?

4. And he answered them: Thus and thus dealeth Micah with me, and hath byed me, and I am become his priest.

5. And they layde unto him againe: Ask counsel now of God, that we may knowe whether the way which we go shall be prosperous, or no.

6. And the priest layde unto them : Go in peace ; for the Lord gudeth your way which ye go.

7. Then the hynderlynges men came to Laish, and byde the people that were therin, hode they didd not carefe, after the manner of the Sidons hyll, with out crying of perils, and that no man made any trouble in the lande, or disabled any dominion: but were farse from the Sidons, and had no businesse with other men.

8. And they came agayne unto their brethren to Zaraah & Ethaol, and their brethren layde unto them : what have ye done ?

9. And they ashamed them: Aryste, that we may go by agaunst them, for we have scene the lande, surely a very good one: And do ye set sylly : Be not slouthfull to go and entr to possesse the lande.

10. If ye will go, ye shall come unto a people that callefeth no perils, and it is a very large country, which God hath gotten into your handes: It is also a place which doth lacke nothing that is in the world.

13 And they went thence unto Mount Ephraim, and came unto the house of Phinehas, to whom the children of Israel sent, who was the son of Miriam, the sister of Aaron. And Phinehas stood up and pleaded for the children of Israel with regard to the children of Levi.

The xix. Chapter.
1 Of the Leuites whose course was to be altogether throughout Israel.

2 And his course was from Mount Hor out of Bethel, that is on the side of Judah, and taken away from the west side of Jordan toward the salt sea.

3 And the Levites sorted themselves by families out of every tribe of Israel in the land of Canaan, and the whole number of them by their families, twenty-four thousand.
to buy her again, having his lad with him, and a couple of asses. And the bought him unto her father's house; and when the father of the damsel saw him, he rejoiced of his connying.

And his father in law, the damsel's father, retained him, and he abode with him three days: and so they dined and drunken, and lodged there.

The fourth day when they arose early in the morning, the man took him up, and the damsel's father layde into his sonne in lawe: Comfort thyne heart with a maiden of head, and then go your way. And they lade downe, and byd eate and drinke both of them together. And the damsel's father layde into the man: Be content I pray thee, and tarry all night, and let thyne heart be merry. And when the man stode up to depart, his father in lawe compelled him: therefore he returned, and tarried all night there.

And he rose up early the fift day to depart, and the damsel's father said: Comfort thyne (1) heart I pray thee. And they tarried untyll after mynd day: and they dide eate both of them together.

And when the man arose to depart with his concubine and his lad, his father in lawe the damsel's father, layd him down: Behold nowe, the day goeth fast away, and daveth towarde evyn, I pray you tarry all night: Behold the same goeth to rest; lodge here, that thyne heart may be merry: and to morowe get you early upon your wage, that thou mayest get thee to thy (2) tent.

Neverthelesse the man woulde not tary, but arose and departed, and came as farre as Jebus (which is Hierusalem) and his two asses laden, and his concubine with him.

And when they were fast by Jebus, the day was late spent, and the young man layde into his maffier: Come I pray thee, and let vs turne in unto this citie of the Jebusites, and lodge all night there.

His maffier answered him: We wyll not turne into a (2) strange citie that are not of the children of Israel, we will goe forth to Sibea.

And he layd into his lad: So forwarde and let vs deathe neare to one of these places to lodge all night, either in Sibea, or in Rama.

And they went forwarde upon their way, and the same went downe upon them when they were fast by Sibea, which belongeth to them of Semamun.

And they turned thitherwarde to go in, and lodge all night in Sibea: And when he came, he tarrie him downe in a faire of the citie, for ther was no man that took them into his house to lodge.

And beheld, there came an old man from his worke, out of the field at eue, which was also of mount Ephaim, and dwelt as a straunger in Sibea: But the men of the place, were the children of (3) Jeminni.

And when he had lyst by his eyes, he saw a wayfaring man in the faire of the citie: And the old man sayde, why doest thou this, and whende committest thou?

He ansверed hym: We come from Bethlehem Juda toward the place of mount Ephaim, from thence and I went to Bethlehem Juda, and goe nother to the (4) house of the Lord, and there is no man that receaucht me to houste.

We have straúde and provender for our assis, and bread and wyny for me and thy handmayde, and for the lad that is with thy seruant: I wyll take nothing. The old man sayde: Peace be with thee, all that thou lacons hast thou finde with me: Only abyde not in the faire (all night).

And so he bought him into his house, and gave gonde into the Asses: and they washed there seete, and dyed eate and dyskke.

And as they were making their hearts mery, behold, the men of the citie which were Wicked, before the house rounded about, and (5) thrust at the doore, and spok to the man of the house, the old man, saying: Bring forth the man that came into thy house, that we may knowe him.

And this man the maffier of the house went out, and fayde to them: Oh, nay my brethren, do not so wickedly, saying that this man is come into myn house, do not so vynce a strayng.

Behold, here is my daughter a mynde, and this mans concubine, them I

Then all the children of Israel went out, and the congregation was gathered together as one man, even from Dan to Beer-sheba, with the land of Gilead, unto the Lord in Mizpah.

And there assembled the chief men of all the people, [and] of all the tribes of Israel, in the congregation of the people of God, four hundred thousand footmen that were able to go with the army.

(Now the children of Benjamin heard that the children of Israel were gone up by to Mizpah) Then they laid the children of Israel: Tell ye also this unto the inhabitants of the land: that the children of Israel went up to ask mercy of Jehovah.

And the Levite the husband man and his wife, and he that was his concubine, to lodge all night.
And the men of Gibeah rose against me, and beset the house round about upon me by night, I thought to have flaine me, and my concubine have they forced, that she is dead.

And I took my concubine, and cut her in pieces, and sent her throughout all the coountry of the inheritance of Israel: for they have committed abomination and villanice in Israel.

And behold ye are all children of Israel, give your advice and counsel herein.

And all the people arose as one man, saying: There shall not a man of us go to his tent, neither turne into his house.

But this shalbe it that we will do to Gibeah; we will go by lot against it:

And we will take ten men of the hundred throughout all the tribes of Israel, and an hundred of the thousand, and a thousand out of ten thousand, to fill vitable for the people, that they may do when they came to Gibea Beniamin, according to all the abomination that they have wrought in Israel.

And so all the men of Israel gathered together against the city, hurt together as one man.

And the tribes of Israel sent men thence all the tribe of Benjamin, saying:

What wickednesse is this that is con united among you?

Now therefore deliuer us the men, those children of belial whiche are in Gibea, that we may slay them, and put away enmity from Israel.

Nevertheless the children of Benjamin would not heare vnto the voice of their brethren the children of Israel: But the children of Benjamin gathered the sicles together out of the cities into Gibea, to come out and fight against the children of Israel.

And the children of Benjamin were numbered at that time out of the cities, twenty and six thousand men that drew sabred swords, beside the inhabitants of Gibea, which were numbered seven hundred chosen men.

And the children of Israel made vp by early, and campe against Gibea.

And the men of Israel went out to battell against Benjamin, and the men of Israel put the sicles in array to fight against them, beside Gibea.

And the children of Benjamin came out of Gibea, and destroyed downe to the ground of the Israelites that day twentie and two thousand men.

And the people the men of Israel plucked by their hearts, and set their battell againe in array, in the same place where they dyd the first day.

And the children of Israel went vp, and wept before the Lord unto even, and asked of the Lord, saying: Shall we go againe to battell against the children of Benjamin our brethren? And the Lord said: Go vp against them.

And the children of Israel came nere against the children of Benjamin the second day.

And the children of Israel asked the Lord: for there was the ark of the app ointment of God, in those days.

And Phineues the sonne of Eleazar, the sonne of Aaron, went vp before it at that time, saying: Shall I get me vp to go out any more to battell against the children of Benjamin my brethren, or shall I rest? The Lord spake: Go vp, for to morrow I will deliuer them into your handes.

And Israel set ethyr awaye round about Gibea.

And on the morowe the people rose up early, and made there an altar, and offered burnt offerings and peace offerings.

And the children of Israel said: Who is he among all the tribes of Israel, that came not up with the congregation but to the Lord: for they had made a great strife concerning him that came not up to the Lord to Diblah, saying: He shall surely die.

And the children of Israel had picke on Benjamin their brethren, and sayde: There is one tribe cut out from Israel, this day:

What shall we do with the remnant of them, that they may have wives? We have women by the Lord, that we wyll not make the lawes of our daughters to wives.

And they sayde: Is there any of the tribes of Israel, that came not up to Diblah to the Lord? And behold, there came none of the tribes of Gilead unto the halfe and congregation.

For the people were deceived, and beholde there were none of the inhabitauntes of Benjamin there.

And the congregation sent thither twelve thousand men of the strongest, and commanded them, saying: Go, and take the inhabitauntes of Gilead with the edge of the sword, both women and children.

And this is it that ye shall do: ye shall utterly destroy all the males, and at the women that have ben by men.

And they found among the inhabitauntes of Gilead four hundred damoilles, virgines, that had knowne no man, by lying with any male: And they bought them unto the hoast to Silo, which is in the lande of Chanaan.

And the whole congregation sent and spake with the children of Benjamin that were in the rocke of Rimmon, and called peaceably unto them.

And Benjamin came againe at that time, and they gave them bypnes which they had saine ayue of the woman of Gilead: But they suffised them not.

And the people were sore for Benjamin, because that the Lord had made a breach in the tribes of Israel.

And then the elders of the congregation, sayde: What shall we do to the remnant of them, to get them wives? for all the women of Benjamin are destroyed.

And they sayde: There must be an inheritance for them that be escaped of Benjamin, that a tribe be not destroyed out of Israel.

Nowbeit, we may not gene the bypnes of our daughters. For the children of Israel had saine, saying: Cursed be he that giveth a bypne to Benjamin.

Then they sayde: Behold, there is a feast of the Lord vertly in Silo, which is on the north side of Bethel, and on the cast side of the way that goeth from Bethel to Sichem, and south from Libanon.

Therefore they commanded the children of Benjamin, saying: Go, and lye in wayte in the vineyards.

And when ye see that the daughters of Silo come out to daunce in daunces, the come ye out of the vineyards: and catch ye every man a bypne of the daughters of Silo, and go to the lande of Benjamin.

And when their fathers or brethren come unto vs to complaine, we will lay upon them, have pitie on vs for their sake: because we referred not to the man his bypne in tyne of Barre, neither have we gruen byt them, that ye should smite at this time.

And the children of Benjamin did enue, and took them bypnes according to the number of them that daicd, whom they caught: and they went, and returned unto their inheritance, and repayed the cities, and dwelt in them.

And the children of Israel departed thence at that tyne, and went every man to his tribe, and to his kinred, and went out from thence every man to his inheritance.

In those dayes there was no king in Israel: but every man dyed that which seemed right in his owne eyes.

Ruth.

The book of Ruth.

The first Chapter.

1 Elimelech went with his wife and children into the land of Moab. And his sons were Perez and Zaccur.

2 Naomi and Ruth came to Bethlehem. And it came to pass at the end of the seven years of harvest, that Naomi said to her two daughters-in-law, Return, my daughters, for I am very old and very feeble. And why should I be a burden to you? Return to your mother's house. For I am too old to have a husband, and why should I be a reproach to you? And Ruth said, Bless ye the Lord, my dearest sister. And she comforted her all that time. And Naomi said, Go, my daughter, go to your mother's house. For I am too old to have a husband, and why should I be a reproach to you?

3 Then she arose with her maidens, and went down out of the country of Moab, and came to the land of Judah, and came to the house of Boaz, the kinsman-redeemer of Elimelech. And Elimelech died, and his wife Naomi, and his two sons, Mahlon and Chilion, Ephrathites of Beth-Lehem, in the country of Moab, and they continued there.

4 And Elimelech Naomi's husband, died, and she remained with her two sons.

5 Which take them both, (c) Moabites, the name was Ophra, and the others Ruth, and they dwellled there about a ten years.

6 And Mahlon and Chilion died also even both of them, and the woman was left (d) widow of her two sons and of her husband.

7 Then she arose with her daughters-in-law, and returned from the country of Moab: for she had heard in the country of Moab, that the Lord had visited his people, and given them bread. Wherefore she departed out of the place where she was, and her two daughters-in-law with her: And they went on their way to return unto the land of Judah.

8 And Naomi said unto her two daughters-in-law, Go ye, return each of you unto your mother's house: For I am very old and very feeble. And why should I be a burden to you? Return to your mother's house. For I am too old to have a husband, and why should I be a reproach to you?

9 And the Lord gave you, that you may stand and inherit the house of her husband, and when she was departed, they lifted up their voice, and wept, and lamented for her. And she said, Blessed be the Lord, which hath not left thee this day empty; and hath given thee two more sons than she hath which went out of her bosom.

10 And they arose early in the morning, and came to Bethlehem; and it came to pass, when they were come to the town, that Boaz said unto the elders, and to the judges, and scribes, and said, Judah is near to me, and thy kinsman-redeemer; and speak ye to the woman, To whom it may seem good to you, and it be acceptable in your eyes.

11 And Naomi said, Bless ye the Lord, my dearest sister. And she comforted her all that time. And Naomi said, Go, my daughter, go to your mother's house. For I am too old to have a husband, and why should I be a reproach to you?

Then Naomi her mother in lawe sayde unto her: By daughter, that I not seke rest for thee, thou mayest prosper:

And is not Booz our kinsman, with whose maidens thou wast: Behold, he winnoweth barley to night in the threshing floore.

And she answered her: All that thou biddest me, I will do.

And she went downe unto the floore, and dyd according to all that her mother in lawe bad her.

And when Booz had eaten and drunk, and seerched his heart, he went to lye downe at the end of the heape of corn: and she came softly, and lyft by the clothes of his feete, and layed her downe.

And at midnight, the man was awake, and caught holde: and beholde, a woman lay at his feete.

He sayde: Blessed be thou in the Lord my daughter, for thou hast sheddest more goodnesse in the latter ende, then at the beginning, inasmuch as thou followedst not young men, whether they were poore or rice.

11. And note my daughter fear not, I will do to the all that thou requirseth: for all the cite of my people both know, that thou art a woman of vertue.

17. And sayde: These are measures of barley gane he me, and sayde: Thou shalt not come empty into thy mother in lawe.

18. Then sayde she: By daughter, sit still untill thou keepe howe the matter will fall: for the man will not be in rest, untill he have finished the thing this same day.

The ende of the booke of Ruth.
1. The first booke of Samuel, called the first booke of the kinges.

The first Chapter.

1 The genealogie of Elkanah father of Samuel. 2 His two wives. Hanna was barren and prayed to the Lord. 15 Her auntr were to Eli. 20 Samuel is born. 24 She did dedicate him to the Lord.

Here was a man of one of the two Ra-mathaim Tophum. of mount Ephraim, nam-ed Elkanah, the sonne of Jeroham, the sonne of Elihu, the sonne of Thohu, the sonne of Zu-ph, an Ephraimite. Which had two yues, the one called Hanna, the other Pheneuia: And Pheneuia had children, but Hanna had no children. 2 And the man went out of his city every yere, to worship and to sacrifice unto the Lord of hostes in Sinai, where were the two sonnes of Eli, Hophin and Phineues, the Lordes priests.

And it fell on a day, that Elkanah offered, and gave to Pheneuia his wyfe, and to all his sonnes and daughters, portions. But unto Hanna he gave a (a) worthy portion: for he loved Hanna, the Lord had made her barren. And her enemie (Pheneuia) vered her sore, soaunche as the vpbiapad her, because the Lord had made her barren. (And so dyd he yere by yere) and as oft as she went up to the house of the Lord, thys he vered her, that she wept, and dyd not eate.

Then sayde Elkanah her husband to her: Hanna, why wepest thou, and why eatest thou not, and why is thine heare troubled? Am not I better to thee then ten (c) sonnes? So Hanna rose vp after that they had eaten and drinke in Sinai. (And Eli the priest late upon a stoole by one of the poynte of the temple of the Lord.)

And she was troubled in her mind, and prayed vpnto the Lord, I wepe sore, and volde a boode, and sayd: O Lord of hostes, if thou wilt take on the trouble of thyn handynende and remembre me, and not forget thyn handynade, but gyn euyn thyn handynade a man childe, I will gyn euyn unto the Lord all the dayes of his lyfe, and that shall no razore come upon his head. 12 And as the continued praying before the Lord, Eli marked her mouth. 13 For Hanna spake in her heart, the ippes did not movye onely, but her bope was not hearde, therefore Eli thought the hab ben drunken.

And Eli sayde unto her: Dobbe long wilt thou be buntren? Put away from thee "the wine that thou hast. 15 Hanna answered, and sayde, Not to thy Lord: I am a woman of a wolful harte, I have dranke neither wine nor strong brincke, but have pouyned out my soule before the Lord:

"Court not thyn handynade for a wicked woman: for out of the abundance of my heuynesse & grieue, haue I spoken bytherd. 17 Elkauncered her againe, and sayde: Go in peace, the God of Israel grant the thy petition that thou hast alkeed of him. 18 She said: Let thy handynade fynde (a) grace in thy lyght. And to the woman went her wy, and dyd eate, and loked no more sad. 19 And they roke vp early, a two worshipped before the Lord, and then returnyd, to came to their house to Ramath: And when Elkanah knew the Hanna his wyfe, the Lord (b) remembered her. 20 For in proesse of time it came to passe, that the conceived, and bare a sonne, I called his name Samuel, (saying:) Because I have asked him of the Lord. 21 And the man (b) Elkanah and all his house went vp to offer into the Lord the percy sacrifice, and also his bole. 22 Nevertheless Hanna was not vp, but sayde unto her husband: I will tary vntill the lad be weane, and then I will the byng hym, that he may appeare before the Lord, and there abyde for ever.

22. Elkanah her husband annyer her: Do what seemeth thee best, tary at home until thou hast weaned him, and believe the Lord to make good his saying. And so the woman abode, and gave her name sucke, until she weaned hym.

24. And when he had weaned hym, she took hym with her, with three bullocks, an Ephah of flour, and a bottle of wine, and brought hym into the house of the Lord in Silo, and the child was young.

24. And they flue a bullocke, and brought in the lad to Elia.

26. And the sayd: O my Lorde, as thy (3) soule lyueth my Lorde, I am the woman that stode before thee here praying into the Lord.

27. For this lad I prayed, and the Lord hath given me my dere Wife: Whiche I asked of him:

28. And therefore I have given hym unto the Lord, as long as he liveth he thall be given to the Lord. And he (4) worshipped the Lord there.

The ii. Chapter.

And Hanna prayed, (5) sayde: Myne heart rejoiceth in the Lord, and myne (6) home is ratified in the Lord: My mouth is (6) dyde open over myne enemies, so I rejoice in thy salvation.

2. There is none holy as the Lord: for without thee is nothing, neit her is there any of strength as is our God.

3. Talk no more proudly, let not arrogante come out of your mouthes: for the Lord is a God of knowledge, and his purpose come to passe.

4. The boylde with the mightie men are broken, and they that were weake have gyde them felues with strength.

5. They that were full, have hyrd out them felues for (10) bread, and they that were hungry (5) rece, fell the barren hath borne feuer, and the that had many chilber, is warded feble.

6. The Lord kylleth and maketh alaye, byngeth downe to the grave & kylleth agayne.

7. The Lord maketh poore, and maketh ryche, kylleth lydowe, and heaueth byp on lyfe.

8. He kylleth by the poore out of the dust, and lyketh by the beggar from the doughty, to set them among (10) princes, and to make them inherit the saute of glory: For the pillers of the earth are the Lordes, and he hath set the Wodde uppon them.

9. He wyll (1) kepe the secte of his lautes, and the wicked shalke kepe science in darkness, and in his owne myght that no man be strong.

10. The Lordes aburtrary shal be destroyed by hym, out of heauen shall he thunder upon them: The Lord shall judge the ends of the world, and shall gyne myght into his king, and crafte the home of his appointed.

11. And Elkanah went to Ramath to his house, and the lad dyde minister into the Lord (2) before Elia the priest.

12. But the names of Elia were children of (1) Belial, and (1) knewe not the Lord.

13. And the priests custome toward the people was, that whensoever any man offered any offering, (3) priests had came wyde the thefe was a feathyr, and a feathyr hok with three teeth in his hande.

14. And thynk it into the panne, kettell, caldren, 0 pot; and (4) all that the feathyr hok brought by, that the priest tolke for hym self: And do they dyde unto all the Ieraclites that came ryther to Silo.

15. Pea, and therto before they burnt the (1) fat, the priests had came and saide to the man that offered, Seue thefe, that I may roste it for the priest; for he wyll not have lodde thefe of the, but calde.

16. And of any man saide unto hym, Let them burne the fat according to the custome, and then take as much as thynke hearty (m) descreeth: Then he would annere hym, Pea, thou shalt have in note; and if thou wilt not, I wyll take it with it with violence.

17 And the name of the young men was very great before the Lord: for men that abhorred the offering of the Lord.

18 But the child Samuel ministered before the Lord, girded with a lamen and a girdle.

19 Moreover, his mother made him a little coat, and brought it to him from yere to yere, when she came by herself to offer the percy sacrifice.

20 And El blessed Elisha and his wife, and said: The Lord give thee seed of this woman, for the petition that the astonished of the Lord, and they went into their own house.

21 And the Lord blessed Hannah, so that she conceived, and bare three sons, and two daughters: and the child Samuel grew before the Lord.

22 Eli was very old, and heard all that his sons did unto Israel, how they lay with the women that lay at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation.

23 And he fande unto them: Why do ye such things? For all these people I hear evil reproves of you.

24 Oh, nay my sons: for it is no good report that I hear, how ye make the Lordes people to transgress.

25 If one man smite another, the Judge shall judge it: But if a man smite against the Lord, who will he be his bapteme: For with standing, they heartened not unto the voice of their father, because the Lordes would say the.

26 The child Samuel profited to grow, and was in favour both with the Lord and also with men.

27 And there came a man of God unto Eli, and laye unto him, thus saith the Lord: Dp not I plainely appeare unto the house of thy father, when they were in Egypt in Pharoas house?

28 And I chose him out of all the tribes of Israel to be my priest, for to offer upon mine alter, and to burn incense,
And the chyldes Samuel minished into the Lord before Elie, and the wode of the Lord was (b) precious in those days, neither was there any open vision.

And as at that time Elie lay in his (b) place, his eyes began to wax dimme that he could not se.

And per the lamshe of God went out, Samuel layde hym downe to sleepe in the temple of the Lord, where the arke of God was.

And the Lordke calle Samuel. And he answered, I am here.

And he ran unto Elie, and sayde: Here am I, for thou calledst me. And he said, I called thee not, go againe and sleepe. And he went, and layde hym downe to sleepe.

And the Lordke called once againe, Samuel. And Samuel arose and went to Elie, and sayde: I am here, for thou diddest call me. And he answered: I calle thee not my sonne, go againe and sleepe.

Samuel (c) knewe not yet the Lordke, neither was the wode of the Lordke yet opened unto hym.

And the Lordke went to, and calle Samuel the childe of the Lordke. And he arose and went to Elie, and sayde: I am here, for thou hast calle me. And Elie perceiued that the Lordke had calle the childe.

Therefore Elie layde about Samuel. So and sleepe, and (f) he calle the, then say: Speake Lordke, for thy seruante heareth thee. So Samuel went, and slept in his place.

And the Lordke came, and sconde and calle as before, Samuel, Samuel. Then Samuel answered: Speake, for thy seruente heareth.

And the Lordke saide to Samuel: Beholde, I wyll do a thing in Israel, that both the cares of as many as hearre it shall (b) yngle.

In that day, I wyll rappe vp against Elie all thynges whiche I have spoken concerning his house: when I begun, I wyll also make an ende. I have tolde hym that I wyll judge his house for euer, for the wickednesse which he knoweth. For it is the Lordke that knoweth the heart of men, he gathered his sonnes for受害 wickednesse he hath not corrected them.

And therefore I haue sworn into the house of Elie, that the wickednesse of Elies house shall not be purged with sacrifice nor offering for euer.

Samuel sleept vntil the mornynge, and opened the doores of the house of the Lordke: and Samuel feared to shewe Elie the vision.

Then Elie called Samuel, and sayde: Samuel, my sonne. And he answered: Here am I.

He saide: What is that the Lordke hath saide vnto thee? I pray thee hyde it not from me: * (c) God do so to thee, & more also, if thou hyde any thyng from me of all that he layde vnto thee.

And Samuel tolde hym everythyng, and hyd nothing from hym. And he saide: It is the Lordke, let hym do what the Lordke seeth hym good.

And Samuel grewe, and the Lordke was with hym, and left none of his woydes "unperstourned."

And all Israel, from Dan to Beerleba, wyll that faithfull Samuel was the Lordkes prophet.

And the Lordke appeared againe in Silo: for the Lordke opened him leffe to Samuel in Silo, though the wode of the Lordke.

The iij. Chapter.

And Samuel spake unto all Israel: And Israel (a) went on againe against the Philistines to bataell, and pitched besyde the Eben ezer, and the Philistines pitched in Aphekr, and put them stelues in arraie against Israel: and when they opyned the battell, Israel was snten dowe before the Philistines, and the Philistines slue of the armie in the fiedel about a foure thousande
And when the people were come into their tents, the elders of Israel sayde:

Therefore hath the Lorde caste you downe this day before the Philistines: let vs fetch the arke of the appoyntment of the Lorde out of Silo, and when it come among us, it may save vs out of the hand of our enemies.

And so the people went to Silo, and set from thence the arke of the appoyntment of the Lorde of hoastes, which dwelleth betweene the cherubins: And there were the two sons of Eli, Hophni and Phinehes, with the arke of the appoyntment of God.

And when the arke of the appoyntment of the Lorde came into the hoast, all Israel shoued a mightie shoude, so that the earth rang againe.

And when the Philistines herd the noise of the shoude, they said: What meaneth the sounde of this mightie shoude in the hoast of the Ebrewes? And they undertheyde: hovde that the arke of the Lorde was come into the hoast.

And the Philistines were afraid, and said: God is come into the hoast. And they said againe: wo vnto vs, for it was never to before this.

Wo vnto vs, who shall deliever vs out of the hand of these mightie goddesses? these are the goddesses that smote the Egytians with many plagues in the Wildernes.

Be strong and quit your selves ye men, ye Philistines, that ye be no seuauntis in the Ebrewes, as they have ben to you: Be of a manly courage therefore and fight.

And the Philistines fought, and Israel was smitten dovnche, and fled every man into his tent: And there was an exceeding great slaughter, for there were overthownd of Israel thight thousand footemen.

And the arke of God was taken, and the two sons of Eli, Hophni and Phinehes, were dead.

And there ran a man of Benjamin out of the arme, and came to Silo the same day with his clothes rent, and earth upon his head.

And when he came, lo, Eli laye vnto the hoast, and wailing: for his heart feared for the arke of God. And when the man came into the citie, and tolde it, all the citie cried.

And when Eli herd the noise of the crying, he said: What meaneth this noise of the tumult? And the man came in hastily, and tolde Eli.

Eli was euen then a very old man, and his sight failed him that he could not see.

And the man vnto Eli: I am he that came out of the armie, and fed this day out of the hoast. And he said: What thing is done now: in the citie.

The messenger answered, and said: Israel is fled before the Philistines, and there thousand men.
there hath been a great slaughter among the people, and the two sons of Phinehas are dead, and the ark of God is taken.

And when he made mention of the ark of God, Eli fell from of his house backward by the side of the gate, and his neck brake, and he died: for he was an old man and heavy, and (c) judged Israel fourie yeeres:

And his daughter in lawe Phinehes vpse was with childe, and ye the (c) birth:

And when he heard the tidings that the ark of God was taken, and that her father in law and her husband were dead, she bowed her selfe, and travailed, for her pynes came upon her.

And about the tyme of her death, the women that troode about her, lade her to her: Fear not, for thou hast borne a sonne. But she answered not, nor regarded it.

And she named the childe (b) Jehobod, saying: The glorie is departed from Israel, (because the ark of God was taken, and because of her father in lawe and her husband.)

And she lade agayne: The glance is gone from Israel, for the ark of God is taken.

The v. Chapter.

And the Philistines bring the ark into the house of Dagon. (b) The men of Ephod are plagued. 6 The ark is carried into Beth, and after to Icrone.

1 And the Philistines took the ark of God, and carried it from the house of the Ben ezer unto Ab- fodder.

2 And the Philistines took the ark of God, and brought it into the house of (b) Dagon, and set it by Dagon.

And when they of Abod were up in the next day in the morning, behold, Dagon was fallen upon his face on the earth before the ark of the Lord, and his head and his two handes cut of upon the threshold, that onely the stump of Dagon was left to him:

And therefore is it, that the priests of Dagon, neither any man that cometh into Dagon's house, (b) treadeth not on the threshold of Dagon in Abod, unto this day.

6 But the hand of the Lord was heavy upon them of Abod, and he destroyed them, and smote them with enemodes, both Abod, and all the coasts thereof.
And when the men of Ashdod saw that it was so, they said: The ark of the God of Israel shall not abide here with us, for his hand is loose upon us, and upon our God.

They sent therefore, and gathered all the lords of the Philistines unto them, and said: What shall we do with the ark of the God of Israel? They answered: Let the ark of the God of Israel be carried about unto Saph, and they carried the ark of the God of Israel about.

And when they had carried it about, the hand of the Lord was against the city with a very great destruction, and he smote the men of the city both small and great, and they had emerodes in their secret parts.

Therefore they sent the ark of God to Aravon: and Abdon, as the ark of God came to Aravon, the Aravonites cried out, saying: They have brought the ark of the God of Israel to us, to slay us, and our people.

And so they sent, and gathered together at the lords of the Philistines, and said: Send (2) away the ark of the God of Israel, to go again to his own place, that it slay us not, and our people. For there was a destruction and death throughout all the city, and the hand of God was exceeding sore there.

And the men that dyed not, were smitten with the emerodes: And the eye of the city went up to heaven.

The vi. Chapter.

The time that the ark was with the Philistines, which they sent again with a gift. 1. It commeth to Bethaimes. 7. The Philistines offer golden emerodes. 19. The men of Bethaimes are stricken for looking into the ark.

1 And the ark of the Lord was in the country of the Philistines seven months.

And the Philistines called for the priests and the bocchapers, saying: What shall we do with the ark of the Lord? Tell us where with ye shall send it home again:

They said: If ye lend away the ark of the God of Israel, lend it not empty: but reward it with some offering, and then ye shall be whole, and it shall be known to you, why this hand departeth not from you.

Then said they: And what shall the sinne offering, which ye shall reward him with? They answered: Five golden emerodes, and five golden myre, according to the number of the princes of the Philistines: for one plague was upon you all, and upon your princes.

Wherefore ye shall make images the to your emerodes, images like to your myre that corrupt the land, and ye shall give glory unto the God of Israel, that he may take his hand from you, and from of your gods, and from of your land.

Wherefore do ye harden your hearts, as the Egyptians and Pharaoh harded their hearts: Which when he wrought wonderfullie among them, did they not let the people go, and they departed:

And therefore, make an euve cart, and take two welche kyne, on whom there hath come no yoke, and ye the kyne to the carte, and bring the calues home from them.

And take the ark of the Lord, and lay it upon the cart, and put the jewels of golde which ye reward him with for a sinne offering, in a coffer by the side thereof, and send it away, that it may go.

And if ye see that he go by the way of his owne coast to Bethaimes, then it is he that did by this great euill: If no, we shall know then that it is not his hand that smote us, but it was a chance that happened us.

And the men did euens so: And took two kyne that gave milke, and they put them to the cart, and kept the calues at home.

And they laye the ark of the Lord upon the cart, and the coffer with the myre of golde, and with the images of their emerodes.

And the kyne take the straitway to Bethaimes, and went on the straitway: and as they went, loved, and turned neither to the right hand nor to the left: And the princes of the Philistines went after them, unto the borders of Bethshemesh. And they of Bethshemesh were reaping their wheat harvest in the valley: And they beat them with their eyes, and spied the ark, and rejoiced when they saw it. And the carcase came into the field of one Jashua, a Bethshemite, and abode there. There was also a great stone: And (c) they clave the wood of the carcase, and offered the byne a burnt offering unto the Lord.

And the Levites took down the ark of the Lord, and the censer that was with it, wherein the (d) loaves of gold were, and put them on the great stone: And the men of Bethshemesh sacrificed burnt sacrifice, and offered sacrifices the same day unto the Lord.

And when the scribes of the Philistines had seen it, they returned to Aarons the same day.

And there are the golden emerods which the Philistines gave for a simne offering to the Lord: so (a) Abdon one, for Gaza one, for Ascalon one, for Gath one, and for Ashdod one.

18 And golden myre, according to the number of the cities of the Philistines (belonging to the true lords, both of walled towneis, and of towneis unvalled, even unto the great stone of Abel, whereon they set downe the ark of the Lord, in the field of Jeshophia the Bethshemite.

19 And he shew of the men of Bethshemesh, because they had (a) looked in the ark of the Lord, and he smote among the people sixe thousand and three score and ten men: And the people lamented, because the Lord had slaine the people with so great a slaughter.

20 Wherefore the men of Bethshemesh said: Who is able to stand before this holy Lord God? And (c) to whom shall he go from us?

21 And they sent messengers to the inhabitants of Kiriatatharim, saying: The Philistines have brought againe the ark of the Lord, come ye downe and ret it up to you.

The vii. Chapter.

1 The ark is brought to Kiriatatharim. 2 Samuel exhorteth the people to forsake their sinne, and turne to the Lord. 10. The Philistines light against Israel and are overcome. 16. Samuel judgeth Israel.

And to the men of (e) Kiriatatharim came and set up the ark of the Lord, and brought it into the house of Annas, the inhabitant of Kiriatatharim, and sanctified Eleazar his sonne, tokee the ark of the Lord.

2 And while the ark abode at Kiriatatharim, the time was long, so it was twenty yeeres: and all the house of Israel lamented after the Lord.

And Samuel spake unto the house of Israel, saying: If ye be come againe unto the Lord with all your heartes, then put away the strange gods, and Ashtaroth from among you, and prepare your hearts unto the Lord, and serve him: only: For he shall rep you out of the hand of the Philistines.

Then the children of Israel dyd put away Baalim and Ashtaroth, and serve the Lord one only.

And Samuel said: Gather all Israel to (f) Gilgal, and I will pay thee for you unto the Lord.

And they gathered together to Gilgal, and dyd with water, and poured it out before the Lord, and fasted the same day, and said there: We have sinned against the Lord. And Samuel judged the children of Israel in Gilgal.

7 When the Philistines heard that the children of Israel were gathered together to Gilgal, the princes of the Philistines went up against Israel: And when the children of Israel heard that, they were afraid of the Philistines.

8 And the children of Israel said to Samuel: (c) Cast not to cry upon the Lord our God for us, that he may light us out of the hand of the Philistines.

9 And Samuel toke a sucking lamb, and offered it altogether for a burnt offering unto the Lord, and cried unto the Lord for Israel, and the Lord heard him.

I Kings.

1. Samuel made his sons judges over Israel, who followed not his steps. The Israelites after a king. II. Samuel declares in what state they should be under the king. Notwithstanding they Ashe one still, and the Lord will set Samuel to graunt unto them.

When Samuel was old, he made his sons judges over Israel. The name of his eldest son was Abinadab, and the name of the second son Abia, and they were judges in Beersheba.

And his sons walked not in his ways, but turned aside after their mother, and went, and took reward, and perverted the right.

Then all the elders of Israel gathered them together, and came to Samuel unto Rama, and said unto him: Behold, thou art old, and thy sons walk not in thy ways: Now therefore make thee a king to judge vs, as all other nations have.

But the thing displeased Samuel when they said, give vs a king to judge vs: And Samuel pined into the Lord. And the Lord said unto Samuel, Hear the voice of the people in all that they say unto thee: For they have not cast thee away, but they have cast me away, that I should not reign over them.

And as they have ever done since I brought them out of Egypt unto this day, and have forsaken me, and served other gods, even so do they unto thee.

Now therefore hearken unto their voice: Howbeit yet tell us wherein they shall sin, and we will sin with them.

And Samuel said unto the people, What is it then ye say unto me? I have not eaten of the bread of the院士, neither have I set up any mast for myself; and the Lord knoweth who sinneth against the Lord.

And Samuel said unto the Lord: Hearken, my Lord God: For the people have turned unto thee, and are become mine.

And the Lord said unto Samuel: Wherefore dost thou hear their voice to judge them? Do it now therefore, and hear their voice, and thou shalt be their judge.

And Samuel said unto the people: Behold, I have heard thy voice, and have set a king over you.

And Samuel said unto the people: Go ye every man unto his city and to his house. And Samuel went up to Ramah.
18 And ye shall cry out at that time, because of your king whom ye shall have chosen you, & the LORD will not hear you at that day.
19 Nevertheless, the people would not hear the voice of Samuel, but did say, Nay, but we will have a king over us, 20 That we may be like other nations, and that our king may judge us, and go out before us, and fight our battles.
21 Therefore when Samuel heard all that the people said, he rehearsed it in the ears of the LORD.
22 And the LORD said to Samuel: Hearken unto their voice, and make them a king. And Samuel said unto the men of Israel: Go every man into his city.

The ix. Chapter.

1 Saul seeking his father's asses: by the council of his servant he went to Samuel,

2 The Prophets called Seers. 15 The Lord revealed to Samuel Saul's coming,

3 Commanding to annoint him king. 22 Samuel bringeth Saul to the tent.

I. There was a man of Benjamin named Cis, the sonne of Abiel, the sonne of Zorah, the sonne of Hepzibah, the sonne of Aphsah, that was a Benjamine, mightie in power.
2 And the same had a sonne called Saul, a goodly young man and a faire, so that among the children of Israel there was none goodlier then he: From the shoulders upward he was higher then all the other people.
3 And the assesse of this Cis Saul's father were lost, and Cis layd to Saul his sonne: Take one of the tabbes with thee, and arise, go and take the assesse.
4 And he went through mount Ephraim, and passed through the lande of Zalath, but they found them not. Then they went through the lande of Salim, and there they were not. When they went also through the land of Jemini, they found them not.
5 At the last, when they were come to the lande of Naphe, Saul sayde to his lad that was with him: Come, let vs returne, lest my father leave caring for the assesse, and take thought for vs.
6 And layde unto him: Behold, there is in this cite a man of God, there is an honourable man, all that he sayth, commeth surely to passe: Now then let vs go thither, if so be he can title vs what way we may go.
7 Then layde Saul to his lad: If we will go, what shall we bring the man? For the bread is spent in our vessells, and there is no other present to bring the man of God: what have we?
8 And the lad answered Saul againe, and sayde: Behold I have found about the fourth part of a sheete of siluer, that will I give the man of God, to tell vs our way.
9 Before time in Israel when a man went to seke an anointer of God, thus spake he: Come, and let vs go to the seer: For he that is now called a prophet was in the old time called a seer.
10 Then sayde Saul to his lad, We layd of the: Come, let vs go. And so they went into the cite where the man of God was,
11 And as they went their way by the hilly to the cite, they met with daniels that came out to drawe water, and layd unto them: Is there here a Seer?
12 And the mepens anointed them, and sayde: Yea, behold he is before you, make halfe noble; for he came this day to the cite, for ther is an offering of the people this day in the hill.
13 When ye be come into the cite, ye shall finde him stragglow by he go by to the hilly to eate: for these people will not eate until he come, because he doth blest the offering, and then eate they that be bydronen to the feast: Now therefore get you by, for this day that ye finde him.
14 And they went by into the cite: And when they were come into the middes of the cite, beholde Samuel came out against them, for to goe up to the hilly.
15 But the Lord had told Samuel in his care (a day before Saul came) saying:

I Kings.

Saul.

Benjamin, thou shalt appoint to be captain over my people Israel, that he may cause my people out of all hands of the Philistines: for I have loosed (b) upon my people, and their (c) eyes is come unto me.

17 Then Samuel took Saul, and anointed him in the presence of the Lord, and stood him before the Lord, and Samuel went up after Saul, and he did the office of the priest.

18 And Saul said to Samuel, Am I not a Benjamite, of the smallest of the house of my father, a man of a few men? And the Lord did turn the heart of all the people of Israel to follow Samuel. 19 And Samuel wrote a book of the words of God, and taught the people, and anointed Saul the son of Kish the Benjamite, the son of Caleb the son of Mezibaz, of Bethel.

20 And when Saul had communicated with Samuel, he took advice, and asked counsel of the Lord. 21 And the Lord answered Saul, and said, Go down before thee, and thou shalt save the people, and they shall save thee.

21 And Saul went down into his house, and Saul's servants said, It was evil for the king to have communed with the prophet of God. 22 And the king answered his servants, and said, Is there not a man of peace in Israel? Now therefore take me a man of peace, and bring him near me, that I may hear him, who will save me out of the hand of this Philistine.' And the servants said, Behold, there is a man, Zalman, the son of Macon, of the tribe of Benjamin, a man that pleases his father, whose name is Mahanaim.' And Saul sent messengers to take him; and when he was informed, he came to Saul in the field of Shunem, and he went to him, and he ministered to him. 23 And Saul liked him very much, and took him for his servant.

24 And Saul went to Ramah, and brought one hundred loaves of bread, and ten full bottles of wine, and five lambs, and he gave them to the servant of his father who kept the bag. 25 And Samuel said, Take a bottle in thine hand, and gird up thy loins, and go, I will send thee to Jesse, the son of Orth. 26 And he said, Wherefore shall I go to Jesse the son of Orth? what shall I have? 27 And Samuel said, Gird up thy strength, and go, for the Lord hath sent thee. 28 Then Saul took the bottle in his hand, and filled it with oil, and poured it on Saul's head, and said, Shall I return tithis time? And he said, Return not. 29 And Saul was gainsaying, and said, Shall I drink of the wine? and he said, Shalt thou not know that there is no sin in the wine? and God sent me to bless thee. 30 And Saul said to Samuel, I know that thou hast anointed me king over Israel.' And Samuel said, The Lord hath anointed thee king over his people Israel, and the Lord hath sent me to anoint thee king over his people Israel. 31 And Saul said, Am I not a Benjamite, of the smallest of the house of my father, a man of a few men? And the Lord hath taken me from the house of my father, and hath raised me up after David, his servant, and hath put me upon the throne of Israel; and my brethren are the sons of Israel, and the sons of Benjamin. 32 And Samuel said, Then shalt thou do all that is in thine heart, and thou shalt arise, and go thy way. 33 And Samuel went to Ramathaim Zophim, and told what Jonathan had done, the son of Saul. 34 And the men of Benjamin gave in again to Saul two pieces of silver. 35 And Saul asked after the Loard, the Lord answered him not by any means. 36 And Saul took an other piece of silver, and said to the ref:und, Bring me again this other piece of money, that there be no sin upon me. 37 And the man of God answered Saul, And shall I counsel thee what the Lord shall do? and who is that among all the prophets of thine host, which have been on the side of the Lord, and I am not one of them? Therefore regard now the word of the Lord.' 38 Then said Saul, Am I not a man of Benjamin, of the smallest of the house of my father, a man of a few men? And the Lord set me king over this people, and the Lord sent me to battle with the Philistines. And now what is there to be in the Lord? 39 And Saul answered Saul, And the Lord had not spoken by the voice of the Lord, nor by the word of two, nor by the vision, but by the voice of one."
8 And thou shalt go downe before me to Gilgal; and I will come downe into thee to sacrifice burnt sacrifices, & to offer peace offerings: * Tarie so we seven daies till I come to thee, & shewe thee what thou shalt do.

9 And when he had turned his backe to go to Samuel, God gave him another heart, and all those tokens came to passe that same day.

10 And when they came thither to the hill, behold, the company of prophets met him, and * the spirit of God came upon him, & he prophesied among them.

11 And all that knewe him before, when they sawe that he prophesied among the prophets, they spake either to other: What is this that is come into the sonne of Cis? * Is Saul also among the prophets?

12 And one of the same place answered, and sayde: Who is their father? And therof came a proverbe: What is Saul also among the prophets?

13 And whone he had made an ende of prophesiing, he came to the hypphe place.

14 And Sauls uncle sayde unto him, and to his lad: Whether went ye? he sayde, To loke the asse: And when we sawe that they were no where, we came to Samuel.

15 And Sauls uncle sayde: Tell me, I pray thee, what Samuel sayd unto you: Saul answered his uncle: he tolde vs plainly that the asse were found. But
1 Then 1Phash's Ammonite came up, and besieged Jabin in Gil-e-ad: and all the men of Jabin laid upon Na-has, Make a covenant with us, and we will be thy servants.

2 And Phash's Ammonite assailed them: In this will I make a covenant with you, if I may (b) think out at your right eyes, and bring that shame on all Israel.

3 To whom the elders of Jabin said: Give us seven days respite, that we may send messengers into all the coasts of Israel: and then, if there be no man to deliver us, we will come out to thee.

4 Then came the messengers to Sib-ba, and told these things in the ears of the people: And all the people left up their bowyers, and went.

5 And behold, Saul came following the carrell out of the field, and Saul layed: What ayearth this people that they leave? And they told him the tynges of the men of Jabin.

6 And the spirit of God came upon Saul when he heard these tynges, and he was exceeding angry.

7 And took a yoke of oxen, and hewed them in pieces, and sent them through all the coasts of Israel by the hands of messengers, saying: Whosoever cometh not forth after (c) Saul and after Samuel, so shall his oxen be servcd. And the fear of the Lord fell on the people, and they came out with one consent.

8 And when he numbered them in Bezech, the children of Israel were three hundred thousand men, and the men of Judah thirtie thousand.

9 And they said unto the messengers that came: So lay unto the men of Jabin, To morowe by that time six senns be hostile ye that have helped. And the messengers came, and shewed it to the men of Jabin, which were glad.

10 Therefore the men of Jabin layde: To morowe we will come (c) out unto you, and ye shall do with us all that pleaseth you.

11 And on the morowe Saul put the people in three parts, and they came in upon the hoast in the morning watch, and saw the Ammonites until the heat of the day: And they that remained were scattered, so that two of them were not left together.

12 And the people layde unto Samuel: (d) Whosomsoever shall layde, that Saul rejoice over vs by venging these men, that we may lay them.

13 And Saul layde: There shall no man (b) dye this day: For to day the Lord hath saved Israel.

14 Then layde Samuel unto the people: Come, that we may go to Gilgal, and renew the kingdom thereof.

15 And all the people went to Gilgal, and made Saul king there before the Lord in Gilgal, and there they offered peace offerings before the Lord: And there Saul and all the men of Israel rejoyned exceedingly.

The xi. Chapter.

1 Phash's the Ammonite warreth against Jabin in Gilead, who asketh helps of the praetices. 2 Saul promiseth help. 3 The Ammonites are slaine. 4 The kingdom is renewed.

26 And Saul also went home to Gibea, and there followed him a band of men, whose heartes God had touched.

27 But the children of Beth-lai said: Howe shall he save vs? And theyelpished him, and brouit him no presents: And he (b) helde his tongue.

2. Therefore your king walketh before you: and I am old and gray-headed, and behold, there are but bis sons with me: I have walked before you from my childhood unto this day.

3. Behold here I am, depart ye before the Lorde, and before his anointed.

4. And Samuel said unto the men of Israel: Thus saith the Lorde of hosts: I looked for that which I had sworn unto the house of Jacob,

5. And I said unto the sons of Israel, Return ye unto your tents.

6. And Samuel said unto all Israel: Behold, I have hearkened unto your voice, all that ye said unto me; I will not reign over you; look for a king over you.

7. And Samuel said unto all Israel, Behold, I have heard thy voice in all that ye said unto me: according to all the righteousness which thine anointed hath found in Israel, so have I walked before the Lorde, and have done that which was right in his sight.

9. And they spake unto Samuel, saying, Make a king over us to govern us.

10. Samuel said unto the men of Israel, Who is there that will go and fight for you to to-day? And all the people answered, And Samuel said unto the men of Israel, Every one that hath a young man, let him Depart after his brother, that he may not leave the battle.

11. And Samuel said, Convene yourselves, and I will call unto you the Lorde.

12. And it came to pass, when they had made him a lode, and anointed him in Boost, that the Lorde appeared to Samuel, saying, I have found a man after mine own heart, which will do all that I please.

13. And Samuel said, Ask of me whatsoever is in thine heart, and I will perform it.

14. And he said, Give me a sign that thou speakest by the Lorde.

19. And all the people said, Let the king live for ever.

20. And Samuel said, He shall not rule over you, neither shall ye give kings unto Israel: for ye shall be sorrowed for that which ye have done.

21. And Samuel said unto all the people, Behold, I have heard your voice, and will do all that ye say.

22. And Samuel said unto them, The Lorde will not rule over you, neither shall ye give kings unto Israel: for ye shall be sorrowed for that which ye have done.
And Jonathan smote the garison of the Philistines that was in the hill, and it came to the Philistines' ears: And Saul blewe a trumpet throughout all the land, saying: Let the Jebusites hear.

And all Israel heard that Saul had destroyed a garison of the Philistines: wherefore Israel was had in abomination with the Philistines. And the people gathered together after Saul to Gilgal.

The Philistines also gathered them selves together to fight with Israel, thirteentousandchariotes, and six thousand horsemen, with other people like the land by the sea side in multitude, came up, and pitched in Michmac, eastward from Bethauen.

And he tarried seven days, even unto the time that Samuel had appointed: But Samuel came not to Gilgal, and the people were therefore (b) scattered from him.

24 Therefore fear ye the Lord, serve him in the truth, and with all your hearts. For he hath done great things; he hath done great things, and wonderful things doeth he. 25 But ye do wickedly, then shall ye perish, both ye and your king.

18 And another compaine turned the way to Bethzoan: And the thirde compa-

19 There was no smith founde throughout all the lande of Israel: For the Phi-

20 But all the Iudites went downe to the Philistines, to mend every man his

21 Yet they had a site for the shares, and for the mattockes, for the picktockes, and for the axes, and for to sharpen to go-

23 And the garison of the Philistines came out, to go ouer unto Pinchas.

The . xiii. Chapter.

14 Jonathan and his harnesse bearer put the Philistines to flight. 24 Saul bindeth the people by an oxe, not to eate till evening. 3: The people eate with the blood.
38 Saul would put Jonathan to death. 45 The people deliure him.

1 Then on a time Jonathan the sone of Saul sayde unto his young man that bare his harnesse: Come, lets go ouer to the Philis-nes garison that are yonder on the other lyde: and he tolde not his father.

2 And Saul taried in the utmost part of Gibeon under a pomegranate tree which is in Pigron: and the people that were with him were but a fire hundred men.

3 And Ahia the sone of Abitob, Ichabods brother, the sone of Phineases the sone of Eli, was the Lodes (6) priest in Solo, and ware an Ephod: And the people woul not that Jonathan was gone.

4 And in the midsts of the passage by which Jonathan bought to go ouer to the Philistines garison, there was a sharpe rocke on the one lyde, & a sharpe rocke on the other lyde: the one called Bורך, and the other Seeme.

5 The forefront of the one leaned northward towarde Pinchas, & the other was southward toward Gibeon.

6 And Jonathan sayd to the young man that bare his harnesse: Come, and let us go ouer unto the garison of these beretuned, it may be that the Lode will work with vs: for it is no harnesse with the Lode to saue either in manie or in fete.

7 And his harnesse bearer saide unto him,
Do all that is in thynne heart: Go where it pleacheth thee, behold I am with thee

as thynne heart lusteth.

8 Then sayd Jonathan: Behold, we go ouer into these men, and shall shewe our selues to them.

9 If they say on this wyspe to vs, Lacie tilt we come to you: then we wull stand still in our place, & not go up by them.

10 But if they say, Come up by unto vs:
then we will go by, for the Lode hath delivered them into our handes: And this shall be a signe unto vs.

11 And they both shewed them selves by to the garison of the Philistines. And the Philisines sayde: see, the hebrewes come out of the holes where they had hid them selues in.

12 And the men of the garison announ-cred Jonathan & his harnesse bearer, & sayd: Come by to us, and we will shewe you a thing. And Jonathan sayde unto his harnesse bearer: Come upon me, for the Lode hath delivered them into the hande of Israel.

13 And Jonathan dyed by bypon(han-des and footes, and his harnesse bearer after him: And they fell before Jonathan, and his harnesse bearer flie the after him.

14 And that first daughter which Jonathan his harnesse bearer made, was bypon a twenty men, within the compasse as it were about an halfe aker of land which two open plowe.

15 And there was a fear in the hoale, in the field, among all people: insomuch that they that were gone out of the garsion to robbe, were astrayde also, & the Earth trembled, for the fear that was sent of God.
16 And the watchmen of Saul in Gibeah Benjaminit, said: And behold, the multitude were discomfited, and were hindered as they went.

17 Then said Saul unto the people that were with him: Search, and see who is gone away from vs. And when they had numbered, behold, Jonathan and his harness bearer were not there.

18 And Saul said unto Ahia: Bring hither the ark of God. (For the ark of God was at that time with the children of Israel.)

19 And while Saul talked unto the priest, the people that were in the house of the Philistines hid the ark of God above, and removed: And Saul said unto the priest: Withdraw the thyne hand.

20 And Saul copied him selfe unto al the people that were with him; & as they came to the battell, and behold every mans blood was against his selo, and there was a very great discomfiture.

21 Moreover, the Hebrewes that were with the Philistines before that time, were come with them into all partes of the house, turned to be with the Israelites that were with Saul and Jonathan.

22 And all the men of Israel also, which had by the seueins in mount Ephraim, as soone as they heard Saul they fought with the Philistines that were with Saul and Jonathan.

23 And to the Lord saue Israel that day: and the battell continued unto Bethaven.

24 And when the men of Israel were kepte doone with hunger that day, Saul charged the people with an oath, saying: Curst be the man that eateth any foode untill night, till I be avenged of mine enemies. And so none of the people tasted any suflenane.

25 And al they of the land came to a wood, where slain lay upon the grounde.

26 And the people came into the wood: And behold, the home dropped, and no man moued his hand to his mouth; for the people feared the oath.

27 But Jonathan hearde not where his father charged the people with the oath, wherefore he put forth the end of the rod that was in his hand, and dipp'd it in an home coube, & put his hande to his mouth, and his eyes came against light.

28 Then amfulvered one of the people, and said: Thy father made the people to suare, saying: Curst be the man that eateth any foode untill night, till I be avenged of mine enemies. And the people were amfulvered.

29 Then said Jonathan, My father hath troubled the land: See howe myne eyes hath receaved light, because I tasted a little of this home:

30 Holde murder more then to day, if the people had eaten of the spore of their enemie, which they found: And had there not ben then a muchoe greater slaughter among the Philistines:

31 And they smote the Philistines that day, from Dihomas to Axalon: And the people were exceeding amfulvered.

32 And the people gat them to the spore, and toke sheepe, oxen, and calues, & slue them on the grounde, and the people dyd caste them with the blood.

33 Then men tode Saul, saying: Behold, the people smite against the Lord, in that they caste them with the blood. And he said, He meane trespassed: Robbe a great stone unto me this day.

34. And Saul said againe: Go aborde among the people, and bid them bring me every man his ore, and every man his sheere, and say them here, and caste, and smite not against the Lord in eating with the blood. And the people brought every man his ore in his hande that night, and thus them there.

35 And Saul made an alter unto the Lord: And that was the altar alter that he made unto the Lord.

36 And Saul said: Let vs go doone after the Philistines by night, and spyke them, but it be day in the morning, and let vs not leave one man of them. And they said: Do what soever thou thinkest best. Then saide the priest: Let vs come hyther unto God.

37 And Saul alked of God: Shall I go doone after the Philistines by night, and spyke them, but it be day in the morning, and let vs not leave one man of them? And they said: Do what soever thou thinkest best. Then sayde the priest: Let vs come hyther unto God.

38. And Saul alked of God: Shall I go doone after the Philistines by night, and spyke them, but it be day in the morning, and let vs not leave one man of them? And they said: Do what soever thou thinkest best. Then saide the priest: Let vs come hyther unto God.

39. As the Lord liveth, which saved Israel, though it be in Jonathan my sonne, he shall die the death. But there was no man among all the people that amfulvered him.

40 Then he sayde unto all Israel: Be ye on one hyde, and I and Jonathan my sonne some will be on the other side. And the people fide into Saul: What thou thinkes best, thereof.

47 And to Saul belde the kingdom over Israel, and sought against all his enemies on every side, against Moab, against the children of Ammon, against Edom, against the kings of Zoba, and against the Philistines: And whythersoever he turned himself, he put them to the bishop.

48 And he gathered his host together, and smote the Amalekites, and rid Israel out of the hands of them that houled them.

49 The names of Saul were, Jonathan, Jehun, and Belchitha: And his two daughters were thus named, the elder was called Nerob, and the younger Bethel. The 50 And the name of Sauls wife, was Ahinoam, the daughter of Ahimaaz; and the name of his chiefe captain, was Abner the sonne of Ner, Sauls uncle.

51 And Ces was Sauls father: & Her the father of Abner, was the sonne of Abiel.

52 And there was sore Warre against the Philistines all those years of Saul: And whomever Saul had to be a strong man, and mee for the Warre, he toke him unto him.

The xvi. Chapter.

And Saul came unto a rite of Amalek, and set watch in the brooke.

And Saul fide into the Kenites, 1. Go, depart, get you downe from among the Amalekites, lest I destroy you with them: for ye heued them 2. threic to all the children of Israel, when they came out of Egypt. And so the Kenites departed from among the Amalekites.

And Saul smote the Amalekites, from Heusha, as thou commetst to Sib, 3. that lyeth before Egypt.

And take Agag the king of the Amalekites alway, and utterly destroy all the people with the edge of the sword. 6. But Saul and the people spaire Iggag, the better sheepe, and the fatte ore, and the lambs, and all that was good, 7. And that was sole,

Nu.xiii.iii. that they destroyed utterly.

Then came the word of the Lord unto Samuel, saying: 10.
11 It *repenteth me that I have made Saul king: For he is turned from me, and hath not performed my commandments. And Samuel was grieved with Saul, and beheld he hath made him there a place, and is returned, and departed and gone down to Gilgal.

12 And Samuel said to Saul: Let me tell thee what the Lord hath told me this night. And he lay him down: and they took a little bietbre.

13 And Samuel said: When thou wast but a small child, and hast not made the head of the tribes of Israel, and the Lord anointed thee king over Israel:

14 Then the Lord sent thee on a journey, and said: Go, and destroy those sinners the Amalekites, as they fight against them, thou shalt destroy them.

15 Wherefore hast thou not heartened into the voice of the Lord: but hast turned to the prive, and hast done that which is wicked in the sight of the Lord:

16 And Saul said unto Samuel: Yea, I have heartened unto the voice of the Lord, and have done the way that the Lord directed me.

17 But the people took of the spoyle, sheep, and oxen, and the chiefest of the thynge, which should have been destroyed, to offer unto the Lord thy God in Gilgal.

18 And Samuel said: Hath the Lord as great pleasure in burnt sacrifices and offeringes, as when thou offerest the Lord thy God in Gilgal.

19 And Saul said: Go ye, and tell Agag, the king of the Amalekites, and Agag came unto him: Truly the Lord thy God hath destroyed the Amalekites.

20 And the Lord sent the Philistines against Israel. And the Philistines came up unto Beth-shemesh, and destroyed the houses of the god Baal, and said: He is not God.

21 But he heartened again, and destroyed the Philistines, and they were smitten in Gilgal.

22 And Saul said: Let me destroy also the Amalekites, as I have heartened unto the voice of the Lord.

23 And Samuel said: Hath the Lord as great pleasure in burnt sacrifices and offeringes, as when thou offerest the Lord thy God in Gilgal.

24 And Saul said: Go ye, and tell Agag, the king of the Amalekites, and Agag came unto him: Truly the Lord thy God hath destroyed the Amalekites.

25 And Saul said: Let me destroy also the Amalekites, as I have heartened unto the voice of the Lord.

26 And Saul said: Go ye, and tell Agag, the king of the Amalekites, and Agag came unto him: Truly the Lord thy God hath destroyed the Amalekites.

27 And Samuel said: Hath the Lord as great pleasure in burnt sacrifices and offeringes, as when thou offerest the Lord thy God in Gilgal.

28 And Saul said: Go ye, and tell Agag, the king of the Amalekites, and Agag came unto him: Truly the Lord thy God hath destroyed the Amalekites.

29 And Samuel said: Hath the Lord as great pleasure in burnt sacrifices and offeringes, as when thou offerest the Lord thy God in Gilgal.

30 And Saul said: Go ye, and tell Agag, the king of the Amalekites, and Agag came unto him: Truly the Lord thy God hath destroyed the Amalekites.

31 And Saul said: Go ye, and tell Agag, the king of the Amalekites, and Agag came unto him: Truly the Lord thy God hath destroyed the Amalekites.
And when they were come, he looked on Eliah, and said: Surely the Lord anointed him before him.

But the Lord spake unto Samuel: Looke not on his countenance, or on the height of his stature, because I have refuse him: For the Lord seeth not as man seeth; for man looketh on the outward appearance, but the Lord seeth the heart.

Then Eliah called Abinadab; and said, Seest thou him that I have chosen? And Samuel said unto Saul,贝 'I am sent to anoint him unto the Lord; and, lo, he is following after me to day with his father's servants.

And Samuel said unto Samuel, Bid them also bring Jeiel his brother, and Shimeah his brother's son with him: And he shall shew that Saul hath done manifestly mischief in Israel. And Samuel said unto Saul, Behold, I will thinke concerning Saul again to day.

And Saul answered Samuel, and saith, Behold, I have done that which the Lord said to me, and I have tarried not any thing that the Lord commanded me. Why then hast thou not called me to day? So Samuel told Saul; and Saul's countenance was sore decayed, and his knees were weak beneath him.

And Samuel said unto Saul, I will therefore go down with thee to to day; and I will shew thee that which the Lord will do to day. And Saul said unto Samuel, Go, speak to the Lord; for he is an holy man, and he sheweth men visions in a dream. And Samuel said, I will go with thee to day; and it shall be, that when I come again to thee, behold a pace Malone, and the Lord shall be with thee.

And Samuel said to Saul, Dost thou perceive him that goeth up by the way to Anathoth? Behold, he is before thee; in surety, he hath shewed himself after the manner of a man of God, and hath taken an ass, and seven sheepe, and is gone to offer sacrifice unto the Lord.

And Samuel said to Saul, Behold, I will return with thee today, and will shew thee what the Lord will do to day to the house of thy father.

And Samuel took a vail, and girded Saul with the woollen vail, and anointed him before the Lord: and Saul stood up a perfect man before the Lord.

And Samuel sent Saul and his servant to Bethel; and as they were going down to the border of Ephraim, Samuel said unto the servant that he should turn aside, and go with Saul to Gibeah of Benjamin; and, lo, Saul's brethren dwelt there.

And Saul said unto the servant that he should turn again; and he said, Behold, in this town is a man of God, and he is the king of Israel: now therefore the Lord hath sent thee to bless him.

And the servant said unto Saul, Behold, we come to a city of Zelzah, which is seven and thirty miles from here. And Saul said unto the servant, Go, we will overtake him before he come unto the city, and know how his voice is, and what he shall say.

And the servant departed at that time. And Saul waited seven days, according to the time of the feast: and when the seven days were accomplished, the children of Israel came to offer sacrifice unto the Lord. And the people sat down to eat, and to drink, and to rejoice before the Lord, because He had gone out before the people of Israel.

And it came to pass, when they had eaten and drunk, and had lifted up their voices, and had sung, that the Lord smote Peniel, and all that were therein, with a very great slaughter.

And when they were come down from Peniel, and were gone through the open part toward the wilderness of Ephraim, unto the fruitfulness of Zaanaim, there came he out after them into the wilderness of Gaash. And there smote he the Amalekites, as they came down to the south of the wilderness of Zaanaim.

And he came to the hill-country of Ephraim, and talked unto the people. And the people of Israel said unto Samuel, See, thy servants have been here, and asked thy servant, Why hast thou smote thine servants? And we be ten thousand merry men, and not two hundred; and we have not eaten the poorest part of all the firstlings of our cattle; neither have we drunk wine or done harm unto any of thine people in all our course. Now therefore make a lie thereunto a little, and bring a little bread with thee: for we have brought the firstlings of our cattle; and truly we have not eaten the poorest part of it. And he said to the people, Go ye, and eat; sanctify yourselves; and be ready; for this day is a holy day unto the Lord. And these things did they to day.

And it came to pass, as they came, that Samuel went out toward them unto the high place. And Saul said unto Samuel, Shalt thou deal thus with thy servant? And Samuel said, Behold, I have obeyed thy voice, in that I have set down thy kingdom. But hast thou seen any one of thy servants feeding by his means? yet have I not heard that any man dealt with the servant of another. Wherefore then dost thou deal thus? And Samuel told Saul, I will go and return to my place. And Saul said, So let God do it: for thou hast enquired a thing from me. And Samuel went down with Saul unto the car, and said, Go in peace: the Lord will be with thee. And Saul departed: and Samuel went to Ramah.
13 Therefore Samuel took the home with the appointment, and anointed him in the midst of his brethren. And the spirit of the Lord came upon David from that day forward: and Samuel took and went to Ramah.

14 But the spirit of the Lord departed from Saul, and an evil spirit [sent] of God vexed thee.

15 And Saul's servants said unto him: Behold, an evil spirit [sent] of God vexeth thee.

16 Let our Lord therefore command thy servants (that are before thee) to fetch a man that is a cunning player with an harp: that when the spirit of God commeth upon thee, he may play with his hand, and thou shalt be eased.

17 Saul played from his servants: provide me a man that can play well, and bring him to me.

18 And the soldier answered of his servants and said: Behold, I have seen a some of Jair the Bethlehemite, that can play upon instruments, and is strong, and valiant, and a man of war, and prudent in doing of feates, and well made, and the Lord is with him.

19 Wherefore Saul sent messengers by to Jair, and said: Send me David thy son, which is with the heap.

20 And Jair took an ass laden with bread, and a flasket of wine, and a lap, and sent them by David his sons unto Saul.

21 And (a) David came to Saul, and stood before him, and he touched him very well, The Lord was made his harness bearer.

22 And Saul sent to Jair, saying: Let David nove remain with me; for he hath found favour in my sight.

23 And so when the (evil spirit) of God came upon Saul, David took an harpe and played with his hand: and Saul was refreshed, did amende, and the evil spirit departed from him.

The xvii. Chapter.

The Philistines make warre against Israel. 10. God is defect with Israel. 17. David is sent to his brethren. 14. The strength and boldnesse of David. 47. The Lord saith not by sword, nor spear. 59. David hilteh Goliath, and the Philistines flee.
of Saul.

13 And the three eldest sons of Saul went, and followed Saul to the battle: And the names of his three sons that went to battle were: Eshbiel the eldest, and the next Abinadab, and the third Samuel:

14 And David was the leaft: And the three eldest went after Saul.

15 David also went, and departed from Saul, to (c) feed his fathers sheepe at Bethlehem.

16 And the Philistine came forth in the morning and evening, and continued fourtie daies.

17 And Saul laid unto David his son: (d) Take for thy brethren an Ephah of this parched come, & these ten loaeus, and rume to the hoast to thy brethren.

18 And carry these ten shreke cheales ve to the captayne, and loke holde thy brethren fare, and let out their (d) pledge.

19 And Saul and they and all the men of Israel were in the valley of Elah, fighting with the Philistines.

20 And David rose by early in morning, and left the sheepe with a keper, & toke, and went as Saul had commaunded him, and came within the compass of the hoast: And the hoast went out in array, and shotted in the battaile.

21 For Israel and the Philistines had purposed seules in array armine against armine.

22 And David left the thinges which he bare, under the handes of the keper of the busses, and ran into the hoast, and came, and saluted his brethren.

23 And as he talked with them, behold, there troode a man in the midde (Colisse) the Philistine by name, of Gath, out of the arme of the Philistines, & spake (b) such wordes: and David heard it.

24 And all the people of Israel, when they saule the man, ranne away from him, and were sore affrayde.

25 And every man of Israel said: Saw ye not this man that cometh up even to reule Israel is he come? And to him that killeth him, will the king give great riches, and will gene him his daughter thereto, &e and make his fathers house (e) free in Israel.

26 And David spake to the men that troode by, and layd: What shall be done to the man that killeth this Philistine, and taketh away the name from Israel? And what is this vnderlaced Philistine, that he shoule reule the hoast of the living God?

27 And the people annindered him (after this manner) saying: So shall it be done to the man that killeth him.

28 And Eliaab his eldest brother heard when he spake unto the men, and Eliaab was angrye with David, & spayd: why McBaste thou bode thy lyther? and why hast thou left those seve sheepe in the wildernes: I know thy pride and the nature of thyne heart, that thou art come
And David said: And what have I done? is there not a cause?
And he departed from him into the presence of another, and spake of the same manner: and the people anathemed him againe, as before.
And they that heard the words which David spake, rehearted them before Saul, which caused him to be set.
AndDavid said to Saul: Let no mans heart fail him because of him: Thy servauntes will go, and fight with thonder Philistine.
And Saul said to David againe: Thou art (1) not able to go against thonder Philistine, to fight with him: For thou art but a child, but he is a man of warre even from his youth.

32. And David anathemed unto Saul: Thy servauntes kept his fathers sheepe, the other came a lion and liftwife a beare, and took a sheepe out of the flocke:

33. And I went out after him, and smote him, and took it out of his mouth: And why he arose against me, I caught him by thebeare, and smote him, and slue him.

34. And so thy servauntes slue both the lion, and the beare: And trule this be-circumcised Philistine slabe as one of them, seing he hath rapled on the hoast of the living God.

35. And David spake moreover: The Lorde that delivered me out of the hand of the lion, and out of the hande of the beare, he shall deliver me also out of the hand of this Philistine, and Saul said unto David: (m) Go, and the Lorde shall be with thee.

36. And Saul put his rayment upon David, and put an helmet of basile upon his head, and put a coat of maple upon him.

37. And greded David with his owne sword upon his rayment, and he appaid to go, and because he never poused it, David said unto Saul: I cannot go with these, for I have not vuled my seile thereof. And David put them of him,

38. And took his (a) staffe in his hand, and chose him five smooth stones out of a brooke, and put them in a shepheardes bagge which he had, that is in a stripp, and his sling was in his hande, and he went to the Philistine.

39. And the Philistine came and spawbe neere against David, and the man that bare the shield went before him.

40. And when the Philistine looked about, and saw David, he disdainned him: for he was but young, and bare no countenance.

41. And the Philistine said unto David: Am I a dogge, that thou comest to me with swords? And the Philistine cursed David in the name of his goddes.

42. And the Philistine said unto David: Come to me, and I will give thy flesh into the foules of the ayre, and to the beasts of the fielde.

43. And then said David to the Philistine: Thou comest to me with a sword, and a spear, and a shilde: But I come to thee in the name of the Lorde of Hostes, the God of the hoast of Israel, whom thou hast rapled upon.

44. This day the Lorde will haue the battell, and I will smite thee, take thyne head from thee, and will gve the carkales of the hoast of the Philistines this daye unto the foules of the ayre, and to the beasts of the earth, that all they which be in the world maye knowe that there is a God in Israel:

45. And all this congregation shall know that the Lorde faueth not with blood, and I will smite thee, and take thyne head from thee, and will give the carkales of the hoast of the Philistines this daye unto the foules of the ayre, and to the beasts of the earth, that all they which be in the world maye knowe that there is a God in Israel:

46. And all this congregation shall know that the Lorde faueth not with blood, and I will smite thee, and take thyne head from thee, and will give the carkales of the hoast of the Philistines this daye unto the foules of the ayre, and to the beasts of the earth, that all they which be in the world maye knowe that there is a God in Israel:

47. And so David overcame the Philistine with a stang and a stone, and smote the Philistine, and smote him, even when Dauid had no sword in his hand.

48. But Dauid ran and stoode upon the Philistine, and took his sword, and drew it out of his sheate, and smote the Philistine, and smote him, even when Dauid had no sword in his hand.

49. And to the men of Israel and of Juda arose, and howed, and solowed after the Philistines, until they came to the valley, and unto the gates of Acharon: And the Philistines fell downe wounded by the way to Sareaim, even unto Gath, and Acharon.
And the children of Israel returned from chasing after the Philistines, and spoiled their tents. 54. And David took the head of the Philistine, and brought it to Jerusalem. 55. When Saul saw David go forth against the Philistine, he said unto Abner the captain of his host: Abner, 56. How some is this young man? Abner answered: As thy soul liveth (O king) I cannot tell. 57. And who David was returned from the slaughter of the Philistine, Abner took him, and brought him before Saul, with the head of the Philistine in his hand. 58. And Saul said to him: whose son are thou, thou young man? David answered: I am the sonne of thy servant Saul the Bethlehemite.

The xviii. Chapter.

And while he had made an end of speaking unto Saul, the soul of Jonathan was knit with the soul of David, and Jonathan loved him as his own soul. 2. And Saul took him that day, and would let him go no more home to his fathers house. 3. Then Jonathan and David made a covenant, because he loved him as his own soul. 4. And Jonathan put of the robe that was upon him, and gave it to David, and thereto his garments, even to his sword, and to his bow, and to his girdel. 5. And David went out, and whithersoever Saul sent him, he behaved himself wisely, and Saul set him over his men of warre, and he was accepted in the sight of all the people, in the sight of Saul's servants. 6. And as they came againe when David was returned from the slaughter of the Philistine, the women came out of all the cities of Israel, singing and dancing, to meete king Saul, with tambours, with joy, and with dance (instruments of musicke). 7. And the women answered one another in their play, and said: Saul hath slaine his thousand, and David his ten thousand. 8. And Saul was exceeding wroth, and the saying displeased him, and he said: They have abrided unto David ten thousand, to me but a thousand: and what can he more haue, saue the kingdom? 9. Wherefore Saul had an eye on David from that day forward. 10. And on the morrow, the euill spirit sent of God came upon Saul, and he prophesied in the meddes of the house: And David played with his harde, like as at other times: there was a lauyn in Saul's hand. 11. And Saul took the lauyn, and said: I will naple David to the wall with it. And David avoided out of his presence two times. 12. And Saul was afraid of David, because the Lord was with him, and was departed from Saul. 13. Therefore Saul put him from him, and made him a captain over a thousand, and he went out and in before the people. 14. And David behaved him self wisely in all his ways, and the Lord was with him. 15. Wherefore Saul said that he was so exceeding wise, he was afraid of him. 16. But all Israel and Judah loved David, because he went out and in before them. 17. And Saul sayde to David: Beholde my eldest daughter Merob, her I will geve thee to wife: Only be a valiant sone unto me, and slay the Lords battayles. For Saul thought: One hand shall not be upon him, but the hand of the the Philistines shalbe upon him.

18 And David answered Saul: What am I: and what is my life or the life of my father in Israel, that I should be none in laude to the king?

19 Therefore when the time was come that Merob Sauls daughter should have ben given to David, he was euie into (a) Abiel a Meholadite, to wife.

20 And David and the men chose Saul, and the thing pleased him.

21 And Saul said: I will give her her that she may be a suare to him, and that the hand of the Philistines may be against him. Wherefore Saul saide to David: Thou shalt this day be my sonne in laude in the one of the ivayne.

22 And Saul commaued his seruaunts to come with David secretely, & to say: Echoil, the king hath a favour to thee, and all his seruaunts love thee: be now therefore the kings sonne in laude.

23 And Sauls seruauntes spake those wordes in the ears of David. And David said: (b) I will esteem it to you a light thing to be a kinges sonne in laude: seeing that I am a poore man, and of small reputation.

24 And the seruauntes bought Saul word againe, saying: Of this manner

The xix. Chapter.

2 Jonathan declareth to David the wicked purpos of Saul. 1. Mischol his wife faueth him. 18. David commeth to Samuel. 23. The spirit of prophetic commune on Saul.

1 Saul spake to Jonathas his sonne, and to all his seruauntes, that they should (a) kill David.* But Jonathas Sauls sonne had a great favour to David; (c) Jonathas tolde David, saying, Saul my father goeth about to slay thee: Howe therefore I pray thee take heed to thy selfe but till the morning, and abyde in some secret place, and hyde thy selfe:

3 And I will go out, and stande by my father in the field where thou art, and will commune with my father of thee, and whatsoever I see, I will tell thee.

4 And Jonathas spake good of David unto Saul his father, and spake unto him: Let not the king tume against his seruaunt, against David: for he hath not sinned against thee, and his worthes have ben to the vaarde very good.

5 For he dyd put his life in his hand, and slue the Philistine, and the Lorde brought to passe a great health for all Israel: Thou failest it, and thou rejoycest: Wherefore then wilt thou slue against innocent blood, and slay Dauid without a cause?

6 And Saul hearkened unto the bopre of Jonathas, and Saul (d) sware, as the Lorde sworte he shall not dye.

7 And Jonathas calleth Dauid, & Jonathas spake unto him all those wordes: & Jonathas shewed him all those wordes: & Jonathas spake to David: The Lorde hath shewen his servant all the thinges past.

8 And the waere began againe, and David went out, and fought with the Philistines, and slue them with a great slaughter, and they fled from hym.

9 And the cup spire of the Lorde was open upon Saul as he sat in his house; having a taunt in his hand: And David
(b) played with his hand.
10 And Saul endeavored to hunte David to the wall with the tauntyn: But he rgb himself out of Sauls presence, as he snote the shre in the wall: And David fled & was saved the same night.
11 Saul also sent messengers unto Davids house, to watch him, and to slay him in the morning: And Michol Davids wyfe tolde it him, saying: If thou sawest not thys selfe this night, to morowe thou shalt be slayne.
12 And so *Michol(c) tolde David downe through a lambdode: and he went and fled, and was sauced.
13 And Michol tolde an image, and laye it in the bed, & put a pillowe covered with goats herte under the head of it, and covered it with a cloth.
14 And when Saul sent messengers to seeke David, she said, he is sicke.
15 And Saul sent the messengers againe to see David, saying: Bring him to me bed and all, that I may slay him.
16 And when the messengers were com in, behold there laye an image in the bed, with a pillowe of goats herte under the head of it.
17 And Saul layde unto Michol: why hast thou mocked me so, and sent away mine enemie, that he is escaped? Michol answered Saul: For he layd binto me; let me go, or els I will kill thee.
18 And so David fled, and escaped, it came to Samuel to Ramja, and tolde him all that Saul had done to him: And he and Samuel went and dwell in(c) Naioth.
19 And one tolde Saul, saying: Behold, David is at Naioth in Ramja.
20 And Saul sent messengers to set David: And when they came a company of prophets prophesying, & Samuel standing as(d) appointed over them, the spirit of God fell upon the messengers of Saul, and they (e) prophesied to.
21 And when it was tode Saul, he sent other messengers, and they prophesied likebyse. And Saul sent messengers yet againe the third time, and they prophesied also.
22 Then went he him selfe to Ramja, and came to a great well that is in Sechu, and he asked and layde: Where are Samuel & David? And one layde: Behold, they be at Naioth in Ramja.
23 And he went thither even to Naioth in Ramja, and the spirit of God (f) came upon him also, and he went prophesying until he came to Naioth in Ramja.
24 And he stript of his clothes, and prophesied before Samuel in lyke maner, and fell naked at that day and all that night: And thereof is that they lay, As Saul also among the prophets.
And David said from Hebron which is in Paran, and came, and and before Jonathan, what have I done? wherein am I saulcle? what is the time that I have committed before thy father, that he sitheth my lyce?
2 And David bade unto him: God forbid, thou shalt not die: Behold, my father will do nothing either great or small, but that he will shew it me: And how should my father hyde this thing from me; he will not do it.
3 And David sware againe, and said: Thy father knoweth that I have found grace in thine eyes, and therefore he thinketh Jonathan shall not knowe it, lest he be ey: And in very deede, even as the Lord lyeth, and as the soul there, there is but a steppe betwene us, and death.
4 Then layde Jonathan unto David: whatsoever thy soul" delighteth, that I will do unto thee.
5 And David layde unto Jonathan: Beholde, to morrow is the beginning of the moneth, and I should sit with the king at meat: But let me go, that I may hide my selfe in the fieldes unto the thirde day at even.
6 If thy father speake of me, then say: David alledg leve of me, that he might go to Bethlehem to his owne cite, for there is hidden a perily seaek for all the kurbed.
7 And if he say it is well done, then thy seruant that have peace: But and if he be angry, then be sure that wickedness is sooner conclued of him.
8 And then thou shal sthew mercy by the seruant for thou hast jouped thy seruant into a covenant of the Lord with thee: Notwithstanding, if there be in me iniquitie, slay me thyselfe: for why shouldest thou bring me to thy father?
9 And Jonathan answered, God kepe that from thee: For if I knewe that wickedness were concluded of my father to come upon thee, would not I tel it thee ?
10 Then layd David to Jonathan: what shall tell me: holde [shall I knowe] if thy father awndebe thee cruelly:
11 And Jonathan layde into David: Come, and let vs go out into the fielde, And they went both of them into the fielde.
12 And Jonathan layde into David: O Lord, God of Israel, when I have groped my fathers inuid, as this time to morow, at within these three days, and if it be well with David, and I then sende not unto thee, and shew it thee:
13 The Lord do so: and much more be to Jonathan, But if my father have pleasure to do thee eyll, I will shewe thee also, and send thee this day, that thou mayest go in peace, and the Lord be with thee, as he hath ben with my father.
14 And [require] not whiles I live, [or] else thou wilt theede me the mercy of the Lord, that I did not.
15 But [I require] that thou cut not of thy mercy from my house for ever, no not when the Lord hath destroyed the enemies of David, every one from the face of the earth.
16 And so Jonathan made a bende with the house of David, saying: Let the Lord require it at the hands of Davids enemies.
17 And Jonathan sware againe unto David, because he loved him (For he loved him as his owne soule)
18 Then layde Jonathan to David: To morrow is the first day of the moneth, and thou shalt be milled, because the place where thou wast wont to li, shall be empyte.
19 Therefore shalst hyde thy self three dayes, then thou shalt go downe quickly, and come to the place where thou diddest hyde thy selfe when the bulnes was in hande, and shalt remayne by the stone, Eel.
20 And I wil shooe thee three arroves on the hyde therto, as though I shot them at a marke.
21 And I wil sende a lad, and byd hym go take the arroves. And if I lay into the lad, See, the arroves are on this side thee, hang them: then come thou, for it is peace and no hurt, as the Lord lyeth:
22 But and if I lay into the lad, behold the...
the arrows are beyond thee, go thy way, 23 And as touching this which thou and I have spoken, behold, the Lord be between thee and me for ever. 24 And so David hid him selfe in the field: And when the newe moone was come, the king fate him downe to eate meate. 25 And the king fate as at other times upon his fate, even upon his fate by the wall: And Jonathan arose, and Abner fate by Sauls hyde, and Davids place was empty. 26 Whereafter, Saul sayde nothing at all that day: For he thought, Some thing hath befallen him, though he were cleane. 27 But on the morowe, which was the second day of the newe moone, Davids place was empty againe: And Saul sayde unto Jonathan his sonne, wherefore committeth not that sone of Jsa to meate, neither yesterday nor to day? 28 And Jonathan anmullverd unto Saul: Davd asked licence of me to go to Bethlehel. 29 For he sayd: Let me go I pray thee, for our hynred both hold an offering in the citie, and my brother hath sent for me: and therefore if I have found fauour in thyne eyes, let me go I pray thee, and see my brethren. This is the cause that he committeth not into the kinges table. 30 Then was Saul angry with Jonathan, and sayd unto him: Thou sonne of the wicked rebellious woman, do not I knowe that thou hast chosen the sone of Jsa to eate withoute rebuke, and into the rebuke and shame of thy mother? 31 For as long as the sone of Jsa liueth upon the earth, thou shalt not be established, nor yet the kingdom: whereas noe wed and set him unto me, for he is the childe of death. 32 And Jonathan anmullverd unto Saul his father, and sayde to him: Wherefore should he dye: what hast he done? 33 And Saul liet by a speare to hit him, whereby Jonathan wist well that it was bitterely determined of his father to slay David. 34 And so Jonathan arrose from the table in a great anger, and did eate no meate the second day of the moneth: for he was losy for David, because his father had done him shame. 35 On the next morning, Jonathan went out into the field, at a time appoynted with David, and a little lad with him. 36 And he sayde into his boy: Runne, and feeke out myne arrowes which I throwe. And as the boy ran, he shot an arrowe beyond him, 37 And when the lad was come to the place whyther Jonathan had shot the arrowe, Jonathan cried after the lad, Is not the arrowe beyond thee? 38 And Jonathan cried after the lad againe: Make haste, haste, and stand not still. And Jonathans lad gathered by the arrowes, and came to his master. 39 But the lad was nothing of the matter, only Jonathan an Davud wist it. 40 And Jonathan gave his (cm) instrumenites into the lad that was with him, and sayd unto him: Go, and carie them to the towne. 41 And as soon as the lad was gone, Davud arose out of a place that was toward the south, a stone on his face to the ground, he bolted him selfe three times, and they killed either other, and kept together, so long till Davud (e) creeced. 42 And Jonathan sayd to Davud, Go in peace: And the things which we have done both of us in the name of the Lord, saying, the Lord be between thee and me, and betwene thy seabe and mine, let them stand for ever. And he arose, and departed: And Jonathan went into the towne.

The xxi. Chapter.

1 Davud sleeth to Rob to Himelech the prie: He getceth of him the hard bread to satisfy his hunger. 7 Davd Sauls seruante was present. 8 Davd sleeth to king Achis, and there commeth him selfe mad.

1 I then came Davud to Rob to Himelech the prie, and Himelech the prie was assayed at the meeting of Davud, a sayde unto him: Why art thou alone and no man with thee?
3. And therefore if thou hast ought under thine hand, give me thy three loaves of bread, or what common to hande.

4. And the priest answered David, and said: There is no common bread under thine hand, but here is hallowed bread: if the young men have kept them selfes, specially from women.

5. And the priest gave David hallowed bread: for there was none other bread there, except the hallowed bread that was taken from before the Lord, to put the bread there the day that it was taken away.

6. And so the priest gave him hallowed bread: for there was none other bread there, except the hallowed bread that was taken from before the Lord, to put the bread there the day that it was taken away.

7. And there was there the same day a certain man, of the servants of Saul, abyng before the Lord, named Doeg, an Edomite, the chiefest of Saul's hearidmen.

8. And David said unto Ahimelech: Is not here under thine hand either speare or bowde + fo I have neither brought my bowde nor my harness with me: because the kinges businesse required haste.

9. And the priest said: The sword of Goliath the Philistine, whom thou smote in the valley of Elah, behold it is here wrapped in a cloth behind the ephod: If thou wilt take that, take it: for there is no other faute that here. And David said: There is none to that, give it me.

10. And David arose, and fled the same day from the presence of Saul, and went to Achis the king of Gath.

11. And the servants of Achshay to him: Is this not David the king of the land: Dyd they not sing into him in Damascus, saying: Saul hath slayne his thousand, and David his ten thousand?

12. And David (put those woodes into his heart, was soe afraid bye of Achsh the king of Gath.

13. And he changed his speache before them, and faine him selfe mad in their handes, and (put the speares upon the doors of the gate, and let his spetell fall downe upon his beard.

14. Then layd Achis into his seruaunce: Lo, ye see that this man is beside him selfe, wherfore then have ye brought him to me?

15. Have I neede of mad men, that ye have brought this felowe to play the mad man in my presence: (G) Shall he come into my house?
David hideth him self in a cave. 2 Many that were in trouble came into him. 3 Doeg accurtheth Ahimelech. 18 Saul caueth the priests to be slaine. 20 Ishiar escapeth.

And therefore departed Gelues the sonne of Abigail, and came to Bethel, and all his men foode with him.
And Saul sent messengers to take David, and all the sons of Isai, which were in the land of Moab.
And the king sent and called for Ahimelech the priest the sonne of Abiathar, and hath asked counsel of God for him, and hath shouled against me, and hee wrate against me, as appeareth this day:
And Saul layde unto his seruauntes that stood about him, hear I pray thee, the sons of Ithob: 10 Which he asked counsel of the Lord for him, and gave him dittaples, and the sword of Goliath the Philistin also.

And he brought them before the king of Moab, and they dwelt with him all the while that David kept him selfe in the holde.

And the meetheh God said unto David: Abide not in the holde, but depart and go into the land of Juda. Then David departed, and came into the forest of Har,'eh.

And Saul hearde that David was discovered, and also the men that were with him: and Saul fat in Gibea vnder a tree in Rana, having his heart in his hande, and all his men stooed about him.

And Saul layde unto his seruauntes, that stood about him, hear I pray thee, the sons of Ithob:
And the king said to Doeg: Turne thou, fall upon the priests. And Doeg the Edomite turned, and ranne upon the priests, and slue that same day fourscore and five persons that did weare a linen Ephod.
And Rob the eft of priests, smote he with the edge of the sword, both men and women, children and lacinges, men and asses, and shepe, with the edge of the sword.

11 Then the king sent and called for Ahimelech the priest the sonne of Abiathar, and all his fathers house (that is to say) the priests that were in Nob: And they came all to the king.

12 And Saul sayde: Hearc nowe thow some of Abiathar. he awnswered: here I am, my lord.

13 And Saul sayde unto him: Why have ye conspired against me, thou, and the sonne of Isai, in that thou hast given him dittaples, and a sword, and haft asked counsel of God for him, he shoulde aryle against me, and hee wente against me.
14 Ahimelech answered the king, and said: who is so faithful among all thy seruauntes, as David, and thereof the kings some in lade: and goeth at thy bidding, and is had in honour in thine house?

15 Haue I this day begunst (as) to affe counsell of God for him: That be farre from me; Let not the king impute any thing unto his keruait, no; to all house of my father: For the seruaunt knoweth nothing of all this, either lesse or more. The king sayde, Thou shalt surely die Ahimelech, thou, and all thy fathers house,
16 And the king layde unto the footemen that stood about him: Turne, and slay the priests of the Lord: both because their hand is with David, and because they knewe when David fled, and they showed it not to me. But the seruauntes of the king would not move their handes to fall upon the priests of the Lord.
17 And the king layde to Doeg: Turne thou, fall upon the priests. And Doeg the Edomite turned, and ranne upon the priests, and slue that same day fourscore and five persons that did weare a linen Ephod.
18 And Rob the eft of priests, smote he with the edge of the sword, both men and women, children and lacinges, men and asses, and shepe, with the edge of the sword.
And one of the sons of Ahimelech the son of Ahitob, named Abiathar, clothed, and fled to David.
And Abiathar shewed David how that Saul had slaine \\ and thole the nest of the Philistines, against .

And David said into Abiathar: I will it the same day, when Doeg strove the citie for my sake:
will the lords of Keila deliver me into his hande? And will Saul come downe, as thy servaunt hath heard? O Lorde God of Israel! I beseech thee tell thy servaunt, and the Lorde sayde:
he will come downe.

And then David: will the lords of Keila deliver me and the men that are with me into the hand of Saul? And the Lorde sayde: They will deliver thee.

Then Saul, of his men, which were upon a sere hundred, arose and departed out of Keila, and went whether they could: And it was tolde Saul that Da-uid was fled from Keila, and he let the journey alone.

David abode in the wilder-nesse in strong holdes, and remained in a mountcayne in the wilder-nesse of Ziph: And Saul sought him every day, but God delivered him not into his hande.

And David sayde that Saul was come out to take his lyfe: And David was in the wilder-nesse of Ziph in the wood.

And Jonathan saut some arose and went to David into the wood, and com-fected his hande in God,

And sayde unto him: Fear not, for the hand of Saul my father shall not finde thee, & thou shalt be king over Israel, and I shall be next unto thee: and that doth Saul my father knowe.

And they made a bond both of them together before the Lorde: And David taried still in the wood ; and Jonathan went to his house.

Then came the Ziphites to Saul to Gibea, saying: Dost not David hyde him selue fast by you in strong holdes, in the wood in the hill of Hachila , on the right side of Jiphnon;

Noble therefore D king, then mayst come boldly according to all the lust of thy soule, and our part shalbe to deliver him

The xxiii. Chapter.

1. David chasest the Philistines from Keila: 2. David departeth from Keila, and remaineis broken in pursing David.

When they tolde David, sayng: Weold the Philistines fight agaist Keila, and slyde the barres.

Then David asked counsel of the lord, sayng: Shall I go and smyte these Phi-lost, and the Lord answered David:
Go, and smyte the Philistines, and save Keila.

And Davids men said unto him, See,
we be escapde here in Juda: howe much more then if we come to Keila against the host of the Philistines:

Then David asked counsel of the Lord againe. And the Lorde answered:
and sayd: Arise, and goe downe unto Kelia, for I will deliver the Philistines into thynde hande.

And so David and his men went to Keila, and fought with the Philistines, and bought away their cattle, & snote them with a great laughter, and so David laughed the inhabitants of Keila.

And when Abiathar the sonne of Ahimelech fled to David to Keila, he bought an Ephod with him in his hande.

And it was tolde Saul that David was come to Keila: And Saul sayde, God hath delivered him into mynde hande: For he is shut in, now that he is come into a toibre that hath gates and barres.

And Saul called all the people toto warre, for to goe downe to Keila, and to beselige Daviud and his men.

And David having knowledge that Saul imagined multifeue against him, sayde to Abiathar the priest: Bring the Ephod.

Then sayde David: O Lorde God of Israel, thy servaunt hath hearde that Saul is about to come to Keila to de-
1. Kings.

when Saul was come againe fro following after the Philistines, there were which told him, saying: Behold, David is in the wilderness of Engadi.

2 Then Saul took three thousand chosen men out of all Israel, and went to seek David, and his men in the heighth of the rocks, where wild goats remayne.

3 And he came to the sheepe coates by the way, where there was a cave, and Saul went in to "do his eatement; and David and his men remayned in the inward parts of the cave.

4 And the men of David layde unto him: See, the day is come, of which the Lord layde unto thee, Behold, I will deliver thine enemie into thine hand, and thou shalt do to him as it shall seeme good in the sight. Then David aroose, and out of the last of Sauls garmente.

5 And afterwarde Davids heart smote him, because he had cut of the last of Sauls garment.

6 And he layde unto his men: The Lord heape me from doing that thing unto my matter the lostes annointed to lay myne hande upon him, seing he is the annointed of the Lord.

7 And so David kept of his seruantes with these woodes, and suffered them not to rise against Saul; but Saul rose by out of the cave, and went alway.

8 David also aroose afterward, and went out of the cave, and crept after Saul, saying: My Lord king. And when Saul looked behinde him, David bowyed with his face to the earth, and bowedy him selfe.

9 And David layde to Saul: Wherefore guest thou ane care to mens woodes that lay, beholde David seeth eyll against thee.

10 Behold, this day thynne eues have seen holdde that the Lord hath deliuered tither this day into myne hande in the caue: And some bad me kill thee, but I had compassion on thee, and sayde: I will not lay myne handes on my matter, for he is the Lordes annointed.

11 And moreover my father, beholde and see yet the last of thy garment in my hand: Iinas much as I killed thee not when I cut of the last of thy garment, understand therefore, & see that there is neither envy not wickednesse in me, and that I have not harmed against thee: And yet thou hunttest after my soule to take it.

12 The Lord be judge betwix betwee thee and me, the Lord avenge me of thee: but myne hande be not upon thee.
According as the [olde proverb layeth],
Vilevodness proceedeth fro the Wicked:
But myne hande be not upon thee.

After whom is the king of Israel come out:
After whom dost thou pursue:
After a dead dog, and after a flea.

The Lord therefore be judge,
Judge between thee & me, and see ye please my cause,
And avenge me out of thyne hande.

When David had made an end of speaking these words to Saul,
Saul saide: Is this thy boypey my sonne Dauid:
And Saul lift by his boype, and

And fayde to Dauid, Thou art more righteous then I:
For thou hast rewarde me with good, where as I have rewarde thee with euyll.

And thou hast helved this day, howe that thou hast dealt wel with me: for almuch as when the Lorde had closed me in thyne handes, thou kildest me not.

For who shall finde his enemie, and let him depart into a (good way)
Wherefore the Lorde reward thee with good, for that thou hast done unto me this day.

And nowe beholde, I Wote wel that Thou shalt be king, & that the kingdome of Israel shalbe stablished in thyne hande:

Swerne nowe therefore vnto me by the Lorde, that thou shalt not betray my seede after me, and that thou shalt not put my name out of my fathers house.

And Dauid dware vnto Saul,
Saul went home: But Dauid and his men got them by into the hole.

The xxv. Chapter.

Samuel died,
Nabal and Abigail.
The Lord killeth Nabal.
Abigail and Abinoam Dauid's wyues.
Nichol is giv en to Phelsh.

Samuel died, and all the Israiles gathered together, and lamented him, and buried him in his owne house at Ramah.

And Dauid arose, and went dovtue to the wildernesse of Pharan.

And thar was a man in (b) Moan, whose possession was in Carmel, and the man was exceeding mightie, and had three thousand sheepe, & a thousand goates: And he was cleareing his sheepe in Carmel;

The name of the man was Nabal, and the name of his wyfe was Abigail, and she was a woman of a singularly mild-dome, and beautifull: But the man was churlish, and of tyrwode conditions, and was of the huered of Caleb.

And Dauid hearde in the wildernesse, that Nabal did sheare his sheepe.

And Dauid sent out ten young men, and sayd vnto them: Get you vp to Carmel, and go to Nabal, and greeete him in my name.

And ye that say: So mapest thou tyue, peace be to thee, peace be to thyne house, and peace be to you all that thou hast.

Beholde I have hearde say that thou hast hearers: Note, thy shephearde
1. Samuel

Now therefore my soul, as the Lord liveth, and as thy soul liveth, even the Lord that hath holden thee from comming to thy blood, and saved thee thyne hand: So now, I pray God that thyne enemies, & they that intend to do my loye evil, may be as Nabal.

And now this blessing which thyne handmaid hath brought unto my lord, let it be even unto the young men that solde my loye.

I pray thee forgive the trespass of thyne handmaid, for the Lord will make my lord a sure house, because thy loye fighteth the battailes of the Lord, and there could none evil be found in thee in all thy days.

And yet a (man hath) spoken to perlect thee, and to seke thy soule: but the soule of my Lord shalbe bound in the bundel of the lyning with the Lord thy God, and the soules of thy enemies shall God cast out, even as out of the middle of a flying.

And when the Lord shalbe done to my lord at the good that he hath prosperd thee, and shalbe made thee ruler over Israel:

Then shal it be no griefe unto thee, nor offence of mine unto my loye, that thou hast not dyed blood unlesse, and that my loye hath not avenged himselfe: But when the Lord shall have dealt well with my lord, then thinke on thyne handmayde.

And David said to Abigail: Blessed be the Lord God of Israel, which lent thee this day to meete me.

Blessed is thy saying, and blessed art thou which hast kept me this day from comming to thy blood, & from avenging my selfe with mine owne hande.

For in very deed, as the Lord God of Israel liveth, which hath kept me backe from crueting thee: except thou haddest hasted and thert me, surely there hadde not ben left unto Nabal by the dayning of the day, any that pisseth against the wall.

And so David receaued of her hande that which she had brought him, and layde bene: So by in peace to thyne house, beholde I have heard thy voice, and have graunted thy petition.

And Abigail came to Nabal, and beholde, he held a feast in his house lyke the feast of a king, and Nabal's heart was
I. Samuel.

1. Saul was discovered by David through the Ziphites. David had a hand in the death of Saul and put an end to his days.

2. David arose and went to the wilderness of Ziph, having the best men of Judah with him, to look for David in the wilderness of Ziph. And Saul pitched in the hill of hachthia, which is before Jelimon.

3. The Ziphites came again unto Saul to Gibea, saying: Doth not David hide himself in the hill of hachthia, which is before Jelimon?

4. Saul arose, and went boldly to the wilderness of Ziph, having three thousand chosen men of Israel with him, for to look for David in the wilderness of Ziph. And Saul pitched in the hill of hachthia, which is before Jelimon by the way.

5. But David dwelt in the wilderness, and he knew that Saul came after him into the wilderness.

6. David therefore sent out spies, and understood that Saul was come in very deeds.

7. And David arose, and came to the place where Saul had pitched; and David held the place where Saul lay. And Saul the son of Kish, which was his chief captain, died; and the people pitched round about him.
Then amslivered Dauid, and shave to Amulech the brother, and to Abisai the sone of Zavus, his brother to Joab, saying: Who will go down with me to Saul to the hoast? And Abisai said: I will go down with thee.

And so David and Abisai came down to the people by night, and beheld Saul lay sleeping within the fort, and his spear stake in straighte at his head: but Abner and the people lay rounde about him.

Then said Abisai to Dauid, God hath closed thyne enemy within thyne hand thys day: God will the let me smite him once with my speare to the earth, that I will not smite him the second tymne.

And Dauid said to Abisai, Destroy him not: For who can laye his hand on the Lords annointed, and be guiltelesse?

And Dauid sayde furthermore : As the Lord lyeth, the Lord shall smit him or his day shall come to dye, or he shall defend into battallie, and perithe.

The Lord kepe me from layyng myne hand upon the Lords annointed: But I praye thee let him smite the spear that is at his head, and the cruell of water, and let by go.

And so Dauid toke the spear and the cruell of water from Sauls head, and they gat them away, and no man faide it, nor marked it, neither awaked: For they were all asleepe: because the Lord had sent a dead sleepe upon the.

Then Dauid went ouer to the other syde, and dronk of the toppe of an hill a faire of (a great space being betwene them)

And Dauid cried to the people, and to Abner the sone of Her, saying: Hear ye not Abner: Abner amslivered and sayde: who art thou that cryest to the king?

And Dauid sayde to Abner: Art not thou (a man) and who is lyke to thee in Israel? Wherefore then hast thou not kept thy loke the king? For there came one of the folke in to destroye the king thy loke.

It is not well done of thee: As the Lord lyeth, ye are "worthy to dye: because ye have not kept the Lords annointed: And now se where the kings speare is, and the cruell of water that was at his head.

And Saul knew Dauids voice, and sayde: If this thy voice my sone Dauid? And Dauid sayde: It is my voice my lords D king.

And he sayde: Wherefore doth my loke thus perfitue his servaunt: For what have I done: or what cripit is in myne hand?

Noabe therefore I praye thee, let my loke the king heart the wodres of his servaunt: If the Lord have thred thee by against me, let him smel the favour of a sacrifice: But if they be the children of men, cured are they before the Lord, for they have cast me out this day from abiding in the inheritance of the Lord, laying: Go serve other goddes.

Now therefore let not my blood fall to the earth before the face of the Lord: For the king of Israel is come out to seake a sea, as when one doth hunt a partridge in the mountaines.

When saide Saul, I have slaine: Come agayne my some Dauid, for I will do thee no more harme: because my sole was precious in thyne eyes this day: Beholde, I have played the foole, and have erred exceedingly.

And Dauid amslivered and said: Beholde the kynges speare, let one of the young men come ouer and set it.

The Lord rewardes every man according to his rightouenes, and faithfulness: For the Lord delivereth thee into my hand this day, but I would not lay mine hand upon the Lords annointed.

And behold, like as thy lyfe was much set by this day in myne eyes: so be my lyfe set by in the eyes of the Lord, that he deliver me out of all tribulation.

Then Saul said to Dauid: Bless ye: art thou my some Dauid, so thou shalt do great thynes and preuaile. And so Dauid went his way, and Saul turned to his place againye.

The
1. Samuel.

The xxvii. Chapter.

And David said in his heart, I shall perish one day by the hand of Saul: therefore is there nothing better for me, than to flee and save my soul in the land of the Philistines, and Saul shall come and seek me no more in all the coasts of Israel, and so shall I escape out of his hand.

2. And David arose, and he and the three hundred men that were with him, went unto Achish the son of Maacah, king of Gath.

3. And David dwelt with Achish at Gath, both he and his men, every man with his household, and David with his two wives, Ahinoam the Jezreelite, and Abigail the Naphtalite wife of the Carmelite.

4. And it was told Saul that David was fled to Gath, and he sought no more for him.

5. And David layde unto Achish: If I have now founde grace in thine eyes, let them give me a place in some town in thy country, that I may dwell there: For why should thy seruant dwell in the head citie of the kingdom with thee?

6. Then Achiss gaine him (b) Ziklag that same day, for which cause Ziklag pertapeth into the kings of Judah unto this day.

7. And the time that David dwelt in the country of the Philistines, was fourscore and certaine years.

8. And David and his men went up and invaded the Geshurites, the Gezerites, & the Amalechites: For those nations were from the beginning the inhabitants of the land, as men go to Sore, into the land of Egypt.

9. And David smote the land, & left neither man nor woman alive, and burnt alway the sheepe, the oxen, the asses, camelles, and clothes, and returned, and came to Achish.

10. And Achiss said: Wherefore have ye penned a crowing this day? And David amenred: Against the south of Judah, and against the south of the (c) Jeramites, and against the south of the (c) Kerites.

11. And David took neither man nor woman alive to bring to Gath, saving: left they should tell on by, saying, So doth David, and so will be his manner all the while he dwellith in the country of the Philistines.

12. And Achiss beliued David, saying: he hath made his people Israel utterly to abhorre him, & therefore he shalde my seruant for ever.

The xxviii. Chapter.

And in those days, the Philistines gathered they all together to warre, to fight with Israel: And Achiss sayde to David: Behold thou shalt go out with me to battayle, thou and the men that are with thee.

2. And David sayde to Achiss: Surely thou hast knowe what thy seruant can do.And Achiss said to David: Then I will make thee keper of my head for ever.

3. Samuel was then dead, and all Is-rael had lamented him, and buried him in Ramah his owne citie: And Saul had put away the soaremaes, and the soott-layers out of the land.

4. And the Philistines gathered together, and came, and pitched in Shemaun: And Saul gathered all Israel together, and they pitched in Gilboa.

5. And when Saul sawe the hoast of the Philistines, he was afraid, & his heart was sore afluttered.

6. And when Saul asked counsel of the Lordde, the Lordde amndered him not, neither by dreams, nor by Tiran, nor yet by propheties.

7 Then
1 Samuel

Then saith Saul unto his servants: Seethe me a woman that hath a familiar spirit, that I may go to her, and ask of her. And his servants said unto him: Behold, there is a woman that hath a familiar spirit at Endor.

And Saul changed his mind, and went with his servants to Endor. And Saul said unto the medium: Tarry not, I pray thee, tonight in Endor; come with me: for it is to-morrow that I must go down to thy house, and shall abate neither meat nor drink in my sight.

And they came to the house of a certain Philistine woman: and Saul said: Ask of me, I pray thee, of the Lord by me this night. And the medium said unto Saul: Why art thou come to me? for the Lord will not answer thee by me: see, I am a woman of unclean spirit.

And Samuel said unto Saul: Why hast thou asked me, seeing the Lord had turned away from thee, and spoken by me?

And Saul said unto the medium: Behold, I have acted foolishly in asking thee: be not angry with me, I pray thee. And she said unto him: Why dost thou ask me, seeing the Lord hath turned away from thee, and spoken by me?

And Saul said unto her: Tell me, I pray thee, of the boy who is gone from me, the son of an ass: for he is gone from me, and there is none to quest after him. And she said unto Saul: Behold, I shall say unto thee what the Lord will say by me. And he said unto her: Tell me what thou seest. And she said unto Saul: I see a son of a man coming up before the Lord: and an armed man came up before him; and the Lord said: Kill him, not with the sword, but with the staff of the shepherd.

And Saul said: Art thou only a spirit? for I see a throng of prophets coming up before the Lord. And she said unto Saul: No: but the spirit of the Lord is parted from thee, and he is come to me: and the spirit of the Lord will never more impart his spirit by thee, because thou hast sought me, to know the wickedness of thine enemies. And the medium said unto Saul: Wherewith shall I serve thee this day? And Saul said unto her: The words which the Lord shall speak by thee, I will perform. And the medium said unto Saul: Behold, I shall say unto thee what the Lord will say by me. And he said unto her: Tell me what thou seest. And she said unto Saul: I beheld, and, lo, the Lord stood by the head of an ass: and a man was standing, and held the ass by the harness.

And Saul said unto her: What is he like that seest him? And she said unto him: It is a young man, tall, and ruddy, and he standeth by an ass.”

Then Saul knew that it was Samuel, and Saul bowed down upon his face to the earth, and adored him. And Samuel said unto Saul: Why hast thou troubled me, to bring me unto thee? I am a man of old age, and am full of grief. And Saul said: See, I have sinned: for I went before the people, and feared: and I said, I have sinned, because of the king’s charge which thou hast put upon thy servant.

And Samuel said unto Saul: Wherefore hast thou troubled me, to bring me unto thee? And Saul said: Because the people told me, saying, Behold, Samuel is come to thee: and now I have sinned against the Lord, and therefore, lo, thou hast brought evil upon me.”

And Samuel said: What is more grievous than Saul, that Saul is a child of this house, and I am thy servant, and I have brought thee up before the Lord, and I have taught thee in thy youth. And yet thy heart was not with the Lord, but the Lord said unto me: Why dost thou love after him? And the Lord's anger was kindled against Saul, and the Lord said to Samuel: I have regretted that I have made Saul king over Israel: for he hath turned away from the commandments of the Lord, and hath not kept his commandments, and hath not obeyed thy words.

The xxix. Chapter.

4 The princes of the Philistines caused David to be sent backe from the battle against Israel, because they mistrusted him.

6 Then Achish called David, and spake unto him: As the Lord liveth, thou hast but done right, and good in mine sight, when thou (a) wentest out, and camest into mine hand; neither have I found evil in thee all the days, nor do I know any fault that thou hast done, since thou didst depart from me this day:

7 Nevertheless, the princes of the Philistines have not liked me, because I smote the people of the Anakims, (b) and the Canaanites, and the Zetrites, and the Jebusites, and the Ammonites, and the Philistines, and the children of Amalek, and the Elsims.

8 And David sware by the Lord, saying: As the Lord liveth, no man shall be able to say of me, of the princes of the Philistines: What hath David done?

9 Then said Achish unto David, I know that thou didst do the matter well, and thine heart was true toward me; but who is me, and who is my father, in these days?

10 Wherefore now return, and go in peace, that thou displeassest not the princes of the Philistines. And David departed from the presence of Achish, in peace.

The xxx. Chapter.

1 And the Amalechites burnt Ziklag, and did to the three hundred, which were left thereof, how that they should eat of the spoils of them, and stuffe the wall, and shut the gates. And they tarried there with the children of Ziklag until the seventh day.

2 And the people that were left in Ziklag were smitten; and the house of the king was burnt with hydro.

3 And so David and his men came to Ziklag, and burnt it with fire.

4 And had taken the women that were therein prisoners, both small and great; but the men carried away the spoil, and went their way.
For the people intended to stone him, because the hearts of all the people were good toward him, and so were his wives and his damsels. But David took a good courage to him in the Lord his God, and said, Lay hands on Baithath the priest, and anoint him, and bring me the ephod. And Baithath brought the ephod to David. And David asked counsel at the Lord, saying, Shall I go down into the camp of the Philistines? And the Lord said to David, Go and smite the Philistines, and save Bethor. Then David rose early in the morning, and called out his servants, and said to them, Will ye bring me bread? And they said, Shall we bring bread from the accustomed provision? And he said, What is that? There is still some left of the provision of the harvest, two铬, of the twenty-four hundred. And David said, Which of you will go and tell the children of Judah of the victory? That is, that ye may tell it in the ears of the king's house, and in the ears of the captains of thousands, and captains of hundreds. And David said to Abishai and to Joab and to all the chief of the army, Be not of good heart to pursue the prisoners, neither spare them; but smite them with the edge of the sword: that they may not tell in all the land. And when the children of Judah came again out of the wilderness of the wilderness of Ziph, they came to the land of the Philistines. Then Saul heard that David smote the Philistines, and that he had been anointed king over the children of Israel. Then said Saul to his servants, Hear ye now, who smoteth the Philistines? And the servants of Saul said, David smote them. Then said Saul to his servants, Who shall go and tell David? And one of the servants said, Behold, Shimee the son of Gaamai, a Benjamite, a Benjaminite, will tell him. And Saul said, Take ye darts, and let him go, for the damsel saith, He shall not be without a reward. And his servants said to him, He shall not be without a reward. And Saul said, From this day shall it be, when I shall hear of thee good news of David, then shall thy reward be four hundred shekels of silver, and ten changes of clothing. And he said, Let not the name of Jeshua the son of Enan depart out of the king's mouth. And the king said, He shall have no reward. And Saul said, Let the king's servants depart, and let them return to the city. Then David said, Turn, and tarry this night in the city, for why shouldest thou tarry in the camp? As the Lord liveth, the king shall not lack anything. And David declared to Saul that he had smote the Philistines, and that the Lord had made the Philistines to fall before Isr. 1 Samuel — the twilight, even unto the evening of the next morrow. So that there escaped not a man of them, save four hundred young men which rode upon camels, and said, And David recovered all that the Amalekites had carried away, and David rescued his two wives. So that there was nothing lacking to them, small or great, sonne or daughter, of the spoil of all that they had taken away, David recovered them all. And David took all the spoyle, and the women, and they that were before his cattale, and said: This is David's spoil. And David came to the two hundred men that went with him, and they came to the ryer Besor, where a part of them, and four hundred. And they found out an Egyptian in the field, and brought him to David, and gave him bread; and he did eat, and watered him. And they gat him a feast by the ryer Besor, and gaue him bread, and drinke, and water to drink. And he gat him a leue sygges, and two clusters of reases: And when he had eaten, his spicete came againe to him: For he had eaten no bread no drinke, any water in three days and three nightes. And David said unto him: Whom belongeth thou to? and whence art thou? And he said, I am a young man of Egyple, and servant to an Amalekite, and my master left me, because three days gone I fell sick. And we came a rouenng uppon the south of Chethus, and upon the coast belonging to Juda, and toward the south of Caleb, and we burnt Zizlag with fire. And David gave to him: Canst thou bring me to this company? And he said: O sure nace unto me by God, that thou wilt neither kill me, nor deliver me into the hands of my master, and I will bring thee to this company. And when he had brought him thither, behold, they lay scattered abode upon all the earth, eating, and drinking, and dancing, because of all the great spoyle that they had carried away out of the land of the Philistines, and out of the land of Juda. And David layde upon them from the morning, even unto the evening of the next morrow. So that there escaped not a man of them, save four hundred young men which rode upon camels, and said, And David recovered all that the Amalekites had carried away, and David rescued his two wives. The end of the first booke of Samuel, or first booke of Kinges.
The seconde booke of Samuel, otherwyse called the seconde booke of the kinges.

The fyrst Chapter.

After the death of Saul, when David was returned from the slaughter of the Amalekites, and had been two daies in Ziklag:

Behold, there came a man the thirde day out of the host from Saul, with his clothes rent, and earth upon his head: and when he came to David, he fell to the earth, and did obeysance.

David sayde unto him: Whence commest thou? he sayde unto him: Out of the host of Israel I am escaped.

And David sayde unto him: And what is done I pray thee: tell me. he sayde: The people is fled from the battell, and many of the people are overthrowned and dead, and Saul and Jonathan his sonne are dead also.

And David sayde unto the young man that tolde him: Howe knowes thou that Saul and Jonathan his sonne be dead?

The young man that tolde him, answered: As I came unabusedly to mount Gilboa, beholde Saul leaned upon his spear: and lo, the charretes and horsemen followed hard after him.

And when he looked backe, he saw me, and called me. And I answerd: here am I.

And he sayde unto me: Who art thou? I answered him: I am an Amalekite.

He sayde unto me againe: I pray thee come upon me, and slay me: for angylybe is come upon me, because my life is yet whole in me.

And so I stooed upon him, and slue him; and because I was sure that he coulde not live after that he had fallen, I tooke the crohve that was upon his head, and the bracelet that was on his arm, and hauue bought them hyther vnto my lynde.

Then David tooke holde on his clothes, and rent them, and so did all the men: that were with him.

And they mournd, and wept, and fasted vntill even for Saul and Jonathan his soune, for the people of the Lord, and for the house of Israel, because they were overthrowned with the Adoze.

And David sayde unto the young man that bought him these tidings: Whence art thou? he answered: I am the sonne of an alianunt, an Amalekite.

And David sayde unto him: Howe is it that thou wast not afeard to lay thyne hande on the lodes amonst, to destroy hym?

And David called one of his young men, and sayd: Go to, and fall on him. And he smote hym, that he dye.

Then said David unto hym: Thy blood (b) be vpon thynne owne head: for thynne owne mouth hath testifie against thee, saying, I haue slayne the lodes amonst.

And David mourned with this lamentation over Saul and over Jonathan his soune,

(Also he had them teache the children of Juda the (b)be of the boewe: And be holde, it is written in the booke of the righteous:)

So noble Israel, (c) he is name vpon thy place: holde, are the mightie ouer-throwned.

Tell it not in Rethon, nor publike it in the streets of Acsalon: lest the daughters of Philistines reioyce, and lest the daughters of the uncircumcised triumph.
21 Ye mountayneis of Gilboa, upon you be neither deade nor raine, nor fields of offerings: For there the shield of the mightie is cast doone, the shield of Saul, as though he had not been annointed with oyle.

22 The bowe of Jonathan never turned backe, neither did the sword of Saul returne empiric the blood of the slayne, and from the fat of the mightie.

23 Saul and Jonathan were lovely and pleasant in their ypes, and in their deathes they were not deuynd: They were swpyter then Egles, and stronger then Lions.

24 Ye daughters of Israel wepe over Saul, which clothed you in scarlet with plasures, and hanged ornamentes of golde upon your apparell.

25 Holde were the mightie slayne in the middest of the battell: D Jonathan thon wast slayne in thynne lyce places.

26 Wo is me forthe my brother Jonathan, very kinde haft thou bend me: Ely lowe to me was wonderful, passing the loue of women.

27 Howe are the mightie overthrown, and the Weapons of warre destroyed.

The ii. Chapter.

4 David is annointed king in Hebron. 9 Abner maketh Ishboeth king over Israel. 11 The battell of the seruantes of David and Ishboeth. 32 The burial of Ishbel.

After this, David asked counsel at the Lord, saying: Shall I go by into any of the cities of Judah? And the Lord spake unto him: Go by. And David said: Why shall I go; he annubred: Unto Hebron.

2 And so David went thither with his two wyves, Ahinoam the Jezreelite, and Abigail the cupbe of the Carmelitit.

3 And the men that were with him did David carry by also, every man with his housetobe: And they dwelt in the tobbes of Hebron.

4 And the men of Judah came, and there they annointed David king over the house of Judah: And they told David, saying, It is the men of Jables Gilead that buried Saul:

5 And David sent messengers unto the men of Jables Gilead, and they went unto them: Blessed arc ye unto the Lord, that ye have thebed suche kindnesse unto your lord Saul, and have buried hym.

6 And nowe the Lord shewed mercy and truith unto you: And I will do you also suche kindnesse, as ye have done in this thing:

7 Therefore nothe let your handes be strong, and play ye the men: For your master Saulis dead, and they that are of the house of Judah have annointed me king over them.

8 But Abner the sonne of Ner that was captayne of Saulis horse, took Ishboeth the sonne of Saul, and brought him to Mahanaim, 9 And made him king over Gilead, and over the Affirites, and over Israel, and Ephraim, Beniamin, and over all Israel.

10 And Ishboeth Saulis sonne was foure yeares olde when he began to reign over Israel, and raigned two yeares: But the house of Judah folowed David.

11 And the time which David raigned in Hebron over the house of Judah, was seven yeares and six monethes.

12 And Abner the sonne of Ner, and the seruantes of Ishboeth the sonne of Saul went out of Mahanaim to Gideon.

13 And Joab the sonne of Zarmah, and the seruantes of David, went out and met one another by the poole of Gideon: And they sate downe, the one on the one side of the poole, and the other on the other side.

14 And Abner spake to Joab: Let the young men nothe arysse, and play before vs. And Joab spake: Let them arysse.

15 Then there arose and went out twelve of Benjamin by number, which pertayned to Ishboeth the sonne of Saul, and twelve of the seruantes of David.

16 And every one caught his felowe by the head, and smote his hauow in his felowe side, and so they fell downe together: Wherefore the place was called Helkath hazzurim, which is in Gideon.

17 And there was an exceeding cruel battell that same day: For Abner and the men of Israel fell before the seruantes of David.
2. Kinges.

18 And there were three sons of Zeruiah there: Joab, Abishai, and Asahel: And Asahel was as light of foot as a hind Roe.

19 And Asahel sought after Abner, and inquired he turned neither to the right hand nor to the left, from Abner.

20 Then Abner looked behind him, and said, Art thou Asahel? he answered, Yea.

21 Abner said: Turn thee either to the right hand or to the left, and catch one of the young men, and take thee his weapons. But Asahel would not depart from him.

22 And Abner said again to Asahel, Depart from me; wherefore should I smite thee to the ground, and not able to hold by my face to Joab thy brother?

23 And Abner said to Abishai, Beware that Dauid come not to the vilde, and that the people fall upon us.

24 So Joab and Abishai pursued after Abner: And the sunne went downe when they were come to the hil Amnon, that is before Giah, by the way of the wilderness of Gideon.

25 And the children of Beniamin gathered themselves together after Abner, and were on a heape, and stood on the top of an hill.

26 Then Abner called to Joab, and said: Shall the depth devour for ever? Knowest thou not, that it will be bitterness in the latter end? How long then shall it be yet thou did the people returne from following these brethren?

27 Then Joab said: As God live, if thou hadst not spoken, surely even in the morning the people had departed, every one from pursuing his brother.

And so Joab blew the trumpet, and all the people stooed still, and pursued after one, Israel no more, neither sought they any more.

29 And Abner and his men walked all that night through the plain; and went over Jordan, and passed through all Beth-horon, till they came to Mahanaim.

30 And Joab returned from pursuing Abner, and when he when had gathered all the people together, there lacked of Dauides seruautes nineteen men, Asahel.

31 But the seruautes of Dauid had smitten of Beniamin and of Abneres men, so that three hundred and threescore men died.

32 And they took by Asahel, and buried him in the sepulchre of his father, which was in Bethlehemes: And Joab and his men went all night, and the day arose to them at Hebron.

The iii. Chapter.

1 Long warre betweene the houses of Saul and Dauid. 2 The children of Dauid in Hebron. 12 Abner turned to Dauid. 27 Joab killed him.

There was then (c) long warre betweene the house of Saul, and the house of Dauid: But Dauid warded stronger and stronger, and the house of Saul warded weaker and weaker.

And unto Dauid were children borne in hebron his eldest son was Amnon of Ahinoam the Jezreelite:

The second, Caleb of Abigail the wife of Nahash the Carmelite; the third, Abishalom the son of Maachah the daughter of Talmai, the king of Gessur:

The fourth, Adoniah the sonne of Haggar the sytt, Septuah the sonne of Zibad:

And the fifth Jethroam, by Eglah Dauids wyfe: These were borne to Dauid in Hebron.

And whye there was warre betweene the house of Saul and the house of Dauid; Abner held by the house of Saul.

And Saul had a concubine named Riaph, the daughter of Abia; And Ibroth sabyd to Abner, wherefore halst thou gone in unto my fathers concubine?

2 Then
Then was Abner very wrath for the words of Ishbosheth, and said: Am I (a) dogges head, whiche against Juba do thet mercie this day unto the house of Saul thy father, and to his brethren and kindred, I have not delvered thee into the hande of David: and thou sendest a sault in me this day for this woman?

So do God to Abner, and more also, except as the Lode hath done to Dauid, even to will I do to him.

To bring the kindomone fro the house of Saul, that the throne of David may be established over Israel and over Jud, even from Dan to Beerseba.

And he coude geue Abner never a worde to amusewer, because he feared him.

And Abner sent messengers to Daund secretly, saying: Whose is the land: Who should I also say, Make a bond with me, and beholde my hande is with thee, to bring all Israel unto thee.

He sayde: Well, I will make a bond with the: But one thing I require of thee, that is, that thou see not my face, except thou first bring Nichol Sauls daughter, when thou comest to see me.

And Daund sent messengers to Ishbosheth Sauls sonne, saying: Deliver me my wife Nichol, whiche I married for an hundred thousandes of Philistines.

And Ishbosheth sent, and toke her from her husband Phalti the sonne of Lais.

And her husband went with her, and came weeping behind her, till they came to Bahuran. Then Abner sent unto him, so and returne. And he returned.

And Abner had communication with the elders of Israel, saying: He sought for David in times past, that he might be your king.

Nowe then do it: for the Lode hath spoken of Daaid, saying: By the hande of my seruain Dauid, I will saue my people Israel out of the handes of the Philistines, and out of the hande of all their enemies.

And Abner spake in the cares of Beniamun: and afterward Abner went to speake in the (e) cares of David in Hebron all that Israel was content with and the whole (f) house of Beniamun.

And to Abner came to Dauid in Hebron, hauing euenty men with him: & Dauid made him the men that there with him a feast.

And Abner sayde unto Dauid: I will by, & go gather all Israel unto my lord the king, that they may make an appoyntment with thee, and that thou mayest rainge over all that thynue heart desereth. And when Dauid hadd let Abner depart, he went in quiet.

And behold, the seruantes of Dauid and Joab came from the camp, and brought a great pray with them; (But Abner was not with Dauid in Hebron, for he had sent him alway to depart in peace.)

When Joab and at the hoaste that was with him were come, men tolde Joab, saying: Abner the sonne of Ner came to the king, and he hath sent him away, that he is gone in quiet.

Then Joab came to the king, and said: (a) What hast thou done: Behold, Abner came unto thee, and why hast thou sent him away, and he is quite gone?

Thou knowdest Abner the sonne of Ner, for he came to decaue thee, and to knowde thy outgoings and ingoings, and to knoabe all that thou doest.

And when Joab was come out from Dauid, he sent messengers after Abner, which brought him againe from the well of Sera, unknowing to Dauid.

And when Abner was come againe to Hebron, Joab toke him alphe in the gare to speake with him peaceably, and smote him under the fift ribbe, that he died for the blood of Abeshel his brother.

And when afterwarde it came to Dauides ear, he sayde: I and my kindome, are (h) gittelles before the Lord for euer concerning the blood of Abner the sonne of Ner.

Let the blood fall on the head of Joab and on all his fathers house, that the house of Joab be neuer without one or other that hath running issues or leper, or that leane on a staffe, or that both fall on the flode, or that lacketh head.

(To Joab & (b) Abish his brother the Abner, because he had sayne their brothe Abeshel at Gideon in battell.)

And David sayde to Joab and to all the people that were with him: Rent your clothes, and put on sackcloth, and mourn (b) before Abner. And King Dauid him selfe followed the beare.

And when they buried Abner in Hebron, the king lifted up his bocke, and went beside the sepulchre of Abner, and all the people wept.

33 And the king lamented over Abner, and said: Die Abner as a fool die:

34 Thy hands were not bound, nor thy feet fet forth to tears of haste: but as a man falleth before wicked children, so fellst thou. And all they that were of the people, wept yet more over him.

35 And when all the people came to cause David to rise up while it was yet day, David arose, saying: So do God to me, and more also, if I taste bread or eat the flesh of my envelope.

36 And all the people wept it, and it pleased them as whatsoever the king did, pleased all the people.

37 For all the people and all Israel understood that day, how that it was not the king's decree that Abner the son of Ner was slain.

38 And the king laid him by his sepulchres: And they gave him an honourable burial; and the men of Judah set his sepulchre with the sepulchres of the sons of David.

39 And I am this day tender and newly anointed king, and these men the sons of Zeruiah be to hard for me: The Lord-reward the doer of evil, according to his wickednesse.

The thirty-third chapter.

1 Baanaah and Rechab slay Ibsoloth the son of Saul. 1 David commanded them to the plague.

2 When Saul's sons heard that Saul was dead at Jeshimon, his hand was weak for Saul, and all the people feared.

3 And Saul's sons had two men that were captains of bands, one called Baanaah, the other Rechab, of the children of Benjamin: (for

6 And the sonnes of Rimmon the Berothite, Rechab and Baanaah, went and came in the heat of the day to the house of Ibsoloth (which slept on a bed at noone.)

7 And behinde, they came into the ending of the house, as though they would have fetched wheate, and Rechab and Baanaah his brother shot him under the lyfe ribe, and fled.

8 For when they came into the house, he slept on his bed in his bed chamber, and they shot him and slue him, shot him, and took his head, and gat them away through the plane all the night.

9 And they bought the head of Ibsoloth into David to Hebron, and gave to the king: Behold, there is the head of Ibsoloth! Saul's sonne Thine enemy which fough thee after thy lyfe, and the Lord hath avenged my lord the king this day of Saul and of his seed.

10 When one tolde me, & I bid that Saul was dead (thynking to haue bought good tydings) I caught him, and slue him in Ziklag: Which thought that I would have gaven him a reward for his tydings bringinge:

11 Howe much more when wicked men haue slayne a righteous person in his owne house and upon his bed: Shall I not slue therefore require his blood of thy hande, & taake you from the earth.

12 And David commanded his young men, and they burne, and cut off their hands and feetes, and hanged them up over the pool in Hebron: But I took the head of Ibsoloth, & buried it in the sepulchre of Abner in Hebron.

7. Nevertheless, David took the strong hold of Zion; the name is the city of David.

8. And David said the same day: Who will build an house for me? And who will gather together the sheaves of grass? And who will cut down the corn? And who will gather the clusters? And who will store up the wine?

2. Kinges.

The vi. Chapter.

And David gathred together all the chosen men of Israel, even thirteene thousand. And arose, and went with all the folk that were with him, from the Waal of Juda, to set away from thence the arke of God, whose name is called by the name of the lord of hostes that dwelleth upon it betweene the cherubins. And they put the arke of God upon a neile cart, and brought it out of the house of Abinadab that was in Gibea: And Uzza and Ahio the sons of Abinadab drove the neile cart. And when they brought the arke of God out of the house of Abinadab that was at Gibea, Ahio went before the arke. And David and all the house of Israel played before the Lord on sundry instruments made of Cedar wood, with harpes, psalteries, timbrelles, hornettes, and simbals. And when they came to Nachon's threshing floor, Uzza put his hand to the arke of God, and the oxen did shake it. And the Lord was wroth with Uzza, and God smote him in the same place for his fault, and there he died before the arke of God. And David was displeased, because the Lord had smitten Uzza: And he called the name of the place Perez Uzza, until this day. And David was then afraid of the Lord, and said: Howbeit shall the arke of the Lord come to me? And so David would not bring the arke of the Lord into him into the city of David: but David carried it into the house of Obed Edom, a Gethite. And the arke of the Lord continued in the house of Obed Edom the Gethite three monethes: and the Lord blessed Obed Edom, and all his housete.

And one tolde king David howe that the Lord had blessed the house of Obed Edom, and all that pertain out of him, because of the arke of God. And David went, and brought the arke of God from the house of Obed Edom, into the city of David with gladnes.

And when they that bare the arke of the Lord, had gone five paces, he offered an ox and a fat beast. And David banneth before the Lord with all his might, 7 was girded with a garment like the princes garments.

So David and all the house of Israel brought the arke of the Lord with shouting and trumpet blowing. And as the arke of the Lord came into the city of David, Michol Saul's daughter loked through a window, and saw king David lying and dauncing before the Lord, and the (3) displeased him in her heart.

And when they brought in the arke of the Lord, they set it in his place, even in the middles of the tabernacle that David had pitched for it: and David offered burnt offerings and peace offerings, he blessed the people in the name of the Lord of hostes.

And sae alsoone as David had made an end of offering burnt offerings and peace offerings, he blessed the people in the name of the Lord of hostes.

And gane among all the folk, even among the whole multitude of Israel, adivel to the women as men, to every one a cake of bread, 7 a piece of flesh, and a bottle of wine: And so at the people departed every one to his house.

Then David returned to bless his housete, and Michol the daughter of Saul came out to meete David, 7 sayd: D houset glorious was the king of Israel this day, which was uncouraged to day in the eyes of the maidens of his servants, as a fool uncoureth him selfe.

And David lapped Michol: It was before the Lord, which chose me rather then thy father and all his house, and commanded me to be ruler over all the people of the Lord, even over Israel, and therefore will I play before the Lord:
And will yet be more byle then so, and will be neke in myne obyne sight: and of the very same mayde seruantes which you hath spoken, shall I be had in honour.

Therefore Bethol the daughter of Saul had (b) no childe unto the day of her death.

The vii. Chapter.

2. David would buide Edan house, but is forbidden by the prophet Nathan. God purgeth David in mind of his barreness. He promises continuance of his kingdom and posteritie.

5. In all the places wherein I have walked with all the children of Israel, spake I one word with any of the tribes of Israel, when I commanded the nages to feede my people Israel, saying, why build ye not me an house of Cedar trees?

16. According to all these wordes and according to all this vision, so dyd Nathan speake unto David.

17. Then went king David in, and set him downe before the Lord, and sayde: Who art thou Lord God, and what is thy house that thou hast brought me (b) hy ther to?

18. And this was yet a small thing in thynke sight Lord God: but thou hast spoken also of thy seruantes house for a great whyle: but (b) this apperthynge to man, O Lord God?

19. And what can Dauid saye more vnto thee: for thou Lord God knowest thy seruante.

20. Even for thy wordes sake, according to thy obyne heart, hast thou done at these great things, to make them knowne vnto thy seruante.

21. Wherefore thou art great, O Lord God: for there is none like thee, neither is there any God besides thee, according to all that we have heard with our eares.

2. Samuel.

David

David said: If there yet any man left of the house of Saul, I will shew him mercy for Jonathan's sake.

And there was of the house of Saul a servant whose name was Ziba, and when they had called him unto David, the king said unto him: Art thou Ziba? he said: Thy servant is he.

And the king said: Remaineth there yet any man of the house of Saul, who I may shew the mercy of God upon Ziba, and Ziba answered the king: "Jonathan hath yet a son, which is lame on his feet.

The king said unto him: Where is he? Ziba said unto the king: Behold, he is in the house of Machir the son of Amuel of Loaber.

And king David sent, and fetched him out of the house of Machir the son of Amuel of Loaber.

Now when Mephibosheth the son of Jonathan, the son of Saul was come into David, he fell on his face, and did reverence: And David said, Mephibosheth, the son of Jonathan, is not now ashamed of his name, as the king saith.

And David said unto him: Fear not, for I will surety shew thee kindness for Jonathan thy father's sake, and will restore thee all the land of Saul, to thee and thy sons for ever.

And he bowed his face, and did reverence, and said: What is thy servant that thou shouldest remember me before thee?

Then the king sent with Mephibosheth, and said unto him: Art thou willing to go up with me to Jerusalem? and I will shew thee kindness for Jonathan thy father's sake. And Mephibosheth was willing to go up with the king. And Mephibosheth did eat continually at the king's table, as one of the king's sons.

And Mephibosheth had a son that was young, named Mica: and all that dwelt in the house of Ziba, were servants unto Mephibosheth.

And Mephibosheth dwelt in Jerusalem, and was tenderly taken in the king's sight.

After this, the king of the children of Ammon died, and Hanun his son reigned in his stead.

Then said David: I will shew kindness unto Hanun the son of Nahash, as his father shewed kindness unto me.

And David sent comfits unto him by the hand of his servants, and of the servants of his sons, and of Mephibosheth the son of Jonathan, and of the servants of the sons of Jeroboam, and of the servants of Ahithophel, and of the servants of Shimei the son of Gera.

And the princes of the children of Ammon made odious offers to David, and madeUriah a captain over the host of the children of Ammon.
And it came to pass that after the yere was expired, in the time when kings go forth to battaile, David sent Joab & his seruantes with him, and all Israel, which destroyed the children of Ammon, & besieged Rabba: But David tarped still at Hierusalem.

2. And in an evening tyme, David arose out of his bed, and walked upon the roofe of the kinges palace, and from the roofe he sawe a woman washing her selfe, and the woman was very beautifull, so to take upon.

3. And David sent to enquire what woman it should be: And one saide, Is not this Bethsaba the daughter of Elam, and wife to Urias the hethpite?

4. And it being publiquely told the people, they gathered them together, and said, What shall we do for David our lord, because he is in great dange.

5. And all the people came together, and told David, saying, Doth our lord purpose to reign over the house of Israel? And David said, Is it possible for me to receive a woman whom I know not, seeing that they that hate me have told me, saying, Behold, David hath a woman whom he knoweth not.

6. And David sent messengers, and said, Gather her unto me, and she shall be examined for me. And when she was brought unto him, he said, Wilt thou be my wife? And she said, I will be thy seruant, & will be the seruant of thy house for ever.

7. And David had her, & she bare him a son, whom he called Solomon. And Joab was the father of Solomon.

8. And when all the people saw that Solomon was a child before his father, they joyed at the king, saying, God hath brought Israel a good king, who shall reign over them.

9. And all the people went to king Solomon, and said unto him, Thou art the son of David our lord, and thou hast been anointed king over Israel by the的手 of the hand of God.

10. And the people of Israel gave unto Solomon an abundant portion of gold, and silver, and cattle, and vineyards, and oliveyards, and flocks, and herds, and servants, and maidservants, & innumerable provision of every kind.

11. And king Solomon made in Jerusalem a great house for himself, and a great house for the lorde, and a great house for the king.

12. And Solomon made horsemen, to warre against his enemies, and they ministered unto him.

13. And he had also chariots and horsemen, and his chariots were seven hundred, & his horsemen one thousand.

14. And Solomon reigned in Jerusalem over all Israel seven and thirty years.

15. And Solomon made a great merchant ship, that he might carry gold, silver, & spices, & oil in abundance.

16. And he gathered together chariots of horsemen, & chariots for his charioteers, and horses for his horsemen, chariots for a thousand, and horses for seven hundred, & horses for horsemen.

17. And he provided victual for his men, and provided victual for his charioteers, and victual for his horsemen, and victual for his hoff, and victual for his officers.

18. And he made a navy of ships in Ezion-gaber, which is unto Elath, on the sea, in the land of Edom.

19. And Hiram sent his servants to King Solomon, saying, We have sent unto thee all that thou requiredst of thy servant, even the gold and the silver.

20. And Solomon gave Hiram two hundred merces, and six hundred measures of wheat, and six hundred measures of fine flour.

21. And the king made great castles in all Israel, and in the land of Edom, and built cities in the land of Edom, and in the land of Edom built Solomon chariots, and horsemen; and there was no king like unto him.
4 And David sent messengers, and take her away: And she came in unto him, and he lay with her (and she was purged from her uncleanness) and returned into her house.

5 And the woman conceived, and sent and spake to David, and said: I am with child.

6 And David sent to Joab, saying: Send me Urias the hethite. And Joab sent Urias to David.

7 And when Urias was come unto him, David bade him eat and drink before him, and made his soul comfortable.

8 And David spake to Urias: Go down to thy house, and wash thy feet. And Urias departed out of the king's palace, and there sat down a present from the king.

9 But Urias slept at the door of king's palace, with all the seruantes of his lord, and went not down to his house.

10 Which when they had told David, David said: Urias went not down to his house? David said unto Urias, Camest thou not from thy journey? Why didst thou not go down to thy house?

11 Urias answered David: The ark, and Israel, and Juda dwell in pavilions, and my lodge and the seruantes of my lodge abide in the open fields, and shall I then go into my house to eat, and drink, and lie with my wife? By thy life, and by the life of thy soul, I will not do this thing.

12 And David said unto Urias: Tarry here this day also, and to morrow I will let thee depart. And so Urias abode in Jerusalem that day, and the morrow.

13 And when David had called him, he did eate and drink before him, and made him drunk: And at even he went out to lie on his couch with his seruantes of his lord, but went not down to his house.

14 On the morrow David wrote letter to Joab, and sent it by the hand of Urias.

15 And he wrote thus in the letter: Put ye Urias in the forefront of the sharper battale, and come ye backe from him, that he maye be slayn, and dye.

16 So when Joab besieged the citie, he assigned Urias into a place where he woulde that strong men were.

17 And the men of the citie came out, and fought with Joab: And there were certaine overthrowen of the people of the seruantes of David: And Urias the hethite dyed also.

18 Then Joab sent, and told David all the things concerning the warre.

19 And charged the messenger, saying: When thou hast made an ende of telling the matters of the warre unto the king.

20 If the kinges anger appeare, and he say unto thee, Wherefore approched ye to me into the citie when ye did fight? Quire.
2. Samuel.

The xii. Chapter.

And the Lord sent Nathan unto David, and he came unto him, and told him: There were two men in one city, the one rich, the other poor.

1 The rich man had exceeding many sheep and oxen:
2 But the poor had nothing save one little sheep, which he had bought and nourished: And it grew up by him and with his children also, and did eat of his own meat, and dranke of his own cuppe, and slept in his bosome, and was unto him as his daughter.
3 And there came a stranger unto the rich man, and he spared to take of his own sheep and of his own oxen to devise for a stranger that was come unto him: But the poor mans sheere, and dressed it for the man that was come to him.
4 And "David was exceedingly wroth with the man, and said unto Nathan: As the Lord liveth, the man that hath done this thing is worthy to die:
5 He shal restore the lambe ourse soilde, because he did this thing, and had no pite.
6 And Nathan said to David, Thou art the man: Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, I anointed thee king over Israel, and ye the three out of the hand of Saul.
7 And the sheepe upon thy seruantes, and some of the kings seruantes be dead, and thy seruant Urias the Hethite is dead also.
8 And David sent unto the messenger, thus shalt thou say unto Joab: Let not that thing trouble thee, for the Lord doth Geuer "one as well as another: Make thy battayle more strong against the citie to overthowe it, and encourage thou him.
9 And when the wyse of Urias heard that her husband was dead, she mourned for him.
10 And when the mourning was past, David sent and set her to his house, and he became his wyfe, and bare him a son: But this thing that David dyd, "displeased the Lord.

"wasten in the eyes of the Lord.

11 Now therefore, the Lord shall make thee great, and thou shalt eschew all thine enemies: The Lord of hosts shall bless thee in the good things that thou shalt do.
12 And thou diddest it secretly: but I will do this thing before all Israel, and in the open sunne light.
13 And David sent Nathan: *I have sinned against the Lord. And Nathan said unto David, The Lord hath taken away the sin from thee.
14 But the child shall die, saith the Lord.
15 And David said unto Nathan, I have sinned against the Lord: But Nathan said unto David, Doest not the Lord hallow thee, and anointed thee, and set thee above thy fellowmen, and made thine house like the house of Israel?
16 And, Moreover, my Lord the Lord hath given thee this great house, and a nation of men to serve thee: and it is for thee to rule over all that thou desirest, and there is nothing too hard for thee in the days of thy life.
17 And when David heard that the Lord had spoken to Nathan, David said to Nathan, I have sinned against the Lord.
18 Nathan said unto David, The Lord hath also taken away the sin from thee, to whom thou wast as good as the dead children: But the child shall die.
19 And David arose from before the altar, and fell upon his face before the Lord, and bowed, and prostrated himself before the Lord, and said, I have sinned against the Lord.
20 And David said, I beseech thee, O God, do not render evil to me; for I have sinned against thee.
21 Have mercy upon me, O God, according to thy great mercy; and according to the multitude of thine clemency, turn away the iniquity of my sin; for I have done foolishly, and am very wicked.
22 And now, O Lord, take, I beseech thee, the iniquity of sin from thy servants, and put not the guilt of them that have done evil in their own bosoms, that thou dost render them the fruit of their doings.
23 O Lord, the life of thy servant is precious in thine eyes: and they have done evil, and they shall die.
24 But give the life of thy servant, according to the multitude of thine mercy; and cause me to live, O Lord, according to the multitude of thine tender mercies.
25 O Lord, let it be as good with thy servant as it is spoken.
26 For thy servant David saith, I have sinned against the Lord.
27 The Lord said unto Nathan, Go and tell David, Say, Thus saith the Lord, I take away the sin of Urias the Hethite from thee, and from the house of thy son: when he is grown up, he shall return unto David, and he shall reign over Israel.
28 And the Lord will also give thee an other son, that shall rule over Israel:
29 And if thou wilt obey my voice, and will keep my covenant, then thou shalt be king over Israel, and thy house after thee shall be king over Israel for ever.
30 Only, be strong and of a good courage, and do it: for thou shalt bring thy people out of Egypt as thy fathers did, and thou shaltস্বাভাবিক ভাবে পড়া যাবে।
2. Samuel.

And David therefore beseigned God for the child, and fasted, and put on sackcloth, and went all night upon the earth.

And the elders of his house arose and went to him, to take him up from the earth: But he would not, neither did he eat with them.

And the seventh day the child died, and the servants of David feared to tell him that the child was dead: for they said, behold, while the child was yet alive we spake unto him, and he would not hearken unto our voice: how will he then "bere him self, if we tell him that the child is dead?"

But David sang his servants whither, perceiving that the child was dead: and David laid unto his servants, Is the child dead? They said: He is dead.

And David arose from the earth, and washed and anointed himself, and changed his apparel, and came into the house of the Lord, and worshipped: and afterward came to his own house, and took bread, and ate not before him, and dyed eat.

Then said his servants unto him: What thing is this that thou hast done? Thou didst fast and weep for the child, while it was alive; and now thou hast eaten bread, and didst rejoice with joy.

He said: While the child was yet alive I fasted and wept: for this I thought, who can tell whether God will have mercy on me, that the child may live:

"But now he is dead, wherefore should I fast? Can I bring him again any more? I shall go to him, rather then he shall come again to me."

And David comforted Bethshiah his wife, and went in unto her, and she bare a son, and he called his name Solomon, and the Lord loved him.

And had sent by the hand of Nathan the prophet: therefore he called his name Jededia, of the Lord's breast.

Then Joab sought against Rabba of the children of Ammon, and took the city of the kingdom.

And Joab sent messengers unto David, saying: I have fought against Rabba, and have taken the city of waters.

And therefore gather the rest of the people together, and believe the city, that thou mayest take it: and I take it, and it be called after my name.

And David gathered all the people together, and went against Rabba, and besieged it, and took it.

And he took there king's crown from of his head which was upon a" (talent of gold, and it was set on Dauib's head, and he brought away the people of the city, in exceeding great abundance.

And he carried away the people that was therein, and put them under sabres, and under iron harcornes, and under arms of iron, and thrust them into the以色: thus dyed he with all the cities of the children of Ammon. And so Dauib and all the people returned unto Bcrusalem.
2 Samuel

15 And Amnon fell sick of a fever, for the wine that was brought to him did not come into his mouth. Then said they unto Absalom, "Consider this day that thou hast done nothing evil in any of thy brethren; for thou hast hated Amnon thy brother."

16 And Absalom said unto his servants, "Look, now ye know how he has insulted me, say ye, 'A son is nearer unto his father than is his brother unto his father.' Now therefore, consider and speak for me in my cause." And Absalom's servants said, "As thou hast heard with thine ears that Amnon said, 'My brother Amnon is nearer unto me than thou art.' Now therefore, consider and speak for me in my cause."

17 And Absalom said, "Call now Geshur and the chiefs of Togarmah; I have heard that thou hast much cunning in this matter."

18 And Absalom sent and called for Joab, the captain of the host. He said, "Come, say unto me." So Joab came unto Absalom, and said unto him, "What hast thou done, my lord the king?"

19 And Absalom said unto Joab, "Is it not true that thou didst smite the Ammonites until thou was left very few of them this day?"

20 Then said Joab, "As my lord the king liveth, thy servant could not bring against the house of Amnon, because I feared my lord's wrath, until now.

21 But now, do as it seemeth good unto my lord, as my lord thinketh fit; and as thy servant shall be, so will thy servant be." And Joab said, "As my lord the king liveth, so will thy servant be." And Joab arose, and went to the door of the king's house, and said, "Let there be no straw taken out of my lord the king's house; for if straw be taken out of my lord the king's house, then shall the king rome, and his servants will be dismayed."

32 And Jonadab the some of Simeach Dawds brother, uncler, and lapde: Let not ny lode suppose that they flaine all the young men of the kynge somes, but Annun onely is dea;
for that haue ben determined in Abshaloms munde, since he forced his fister Thamar.
33 Now therefore, let not ny lode the kyng take the thing to gretously, to thinke that all the kynges somes are dead, for Annun onely is dead.

not see the kynges face. 25 The beaute of Abshaolm. 26 He causeth Joabs to Dav \(^\ast\) some of Zara una perceaued that the

And come to the kyng, and speake on this maner into hym (And so Joab

And when the woman of Thoko (\(\ast\)) shakke with the kyng, she fell on her face lapde: "Helpe, O kyng.

The kyng layd unto her: What apleth

And thy hande maybe had (\(\ast\)) two

8 And the kyng sayde unto the woman:
Go houne to thyne houne, I will geue a 9 And the woman of Thoko faide but to the kyng: By lode O kyng, this trespasse be on mee and on my fathers giltlesse.

10 And the kyng faide: If any man lay he shal "hurt thee no more.

11 Then faide she: I praye thee let the king remember the Lord thy God, that thou wouldst not suffer many re-neres of blood to destroy, lest they lay

12 The woman said: Let thy handmaid speak one word unto my lord the king. And he said: Say on.

13 The woman said: Wherefore then hast thou thought such a thing against the people of God? For the king both speaketh this thing as one which is faultie, that he should not set home against his handmaid.

14 For we must needs be gone, and are as that sitteth on the ground, which cannot be gathered up again: Neither doth God spare any person, yet doth he appoynt (a) means that his handmaid be not utterly expelled from him.

15 Now therefore I am come to speak of this thing unto my lord the king, because there standeth such a man (b) before me as have made me afraid. And thy handmaid layeth now that I spake unto the king, it may be that the king will permurne the request of his handmaid.

16 And the king sitteth on his throne to hear his handmaid, to deliver her out of the hand of the man that would have destroyed me, and also my son out of the inheritance of God.

17 And thy handmaid saith: The words of my lord the king shall now be, "Comfortable, for my lord the king is as an angel of God, in hearing of good and bad: Therefore the Lord thy God be with thee.

18 Then the king awaketh and saith unto the woman: Why spakest thou such things as these? I will not hear thee. And the woman saith: Let my lord the king not hear my words.

19 And the king saith: Is not this thy harlot that thou spakest of? And the woman saith: It be not so, my lord the king.

20 For to the intent that I should change the tongue of speech, hath thy servant Joab done this thing: And my lord is bese, according to the word of an angel of God, to understand all things that are in the earth.

21 And the king layeth unto Joab: Behold, I have sware this thing, Go bring the young man Abshalom again.

22 And Joab fell to the ground on his face, and bowed him down, and blessed the king. And Joab said, Now the servant knoweth, that I have found grace in thy sight, my lord, my king, in that the king hath fulfilled the request of his servant.

23 And Joab arose, and went to Geshur; and brought Abshalom to Jerusalem.

24 And the king saith: Let him turn to his own house, and not see the face of the king, and let the king return to the city.

25 But in all Israel there was none that had been so much praised as Abshalom, from his youth; and his soul was heavy upon him in all Israel.

26 And when he sent for his servants, he made him sit him down, and said to them: Call for me now thine father, and thy mother, thy brothers, and thine handmaids, and bring them into the city.

27 Then Abshalom said to his servants: Set yourselves, and keep me from my father Joab; for he will not shew his face to me.

28 So Abshalom dwelt in two years in Hebron, and sawe not the face of the king.

29 Wherefore Abshalom sent for Joab, that he would send him to the king, but he would not come to him: And when he sent again, he would not come.

30 Wherefore he layed his servants to mind, saying: Behold, Joab hath an house by my house, and I will say, Let me go to the house of Joab, and I will speak with him. And Abshalom spake to all the servants of his father, that they should not shew his face to Joab.

31 Then Joab rose, and came to Abshalom into his house, and lust after him: Wherefore have thy servants burnt my field with fire.

32 And Abshalom awaketh Joab: Behold, I sent thee, desiring thee to come, because I would shew thee to the king, so to lay, whereasam I come from Geshur: It had been better for me to have been there still: Praise therefore would I see the king's face: And if there be any treachery in me, let him kill me.

33 And Joab came to the king, and told him: Wherefore when he had sent for Abshalom, he came to the king, and fell to the ground on his face before him, and the king kissed Abshalom.

34 And the king layeth unto Joab: Behold, I have sworne this thing, Go bring the young man Abshalom again.
After this, Absalom prepared him chariots and horses, and fifty men to runne before him. And Absalom rode by early, and stode in the place of the entrance in of the gate: And every man that had any matter came to the king for judgement, him did Absalom call unto him, and sayde: What citie art thou? he answered: Thy seruante is of one of the tribes of Israel. And Absalom said unto him: See, thy matters are good and righteous, but there is no man [deputed] of the king to heare thee.

4 And Absalom said moreover: Oh, that I were made judge in the land, that every man which hath any plea and matter in the laibre, might come to me, and that I might do him justice.

5 And when any man came nigh to him, and dyd him obeysance, he put forth his hands, and took him to him, and kissed him.

6 And on this maner dyd Absalom to all Israel that came to the king for judgement: so Absalom slate the hearts of the men of Israel.

7 And after fourtie yeres, Absalom fad unto the king: I pray thee let me go to hebron, to pay my boylde which I have vowed unto the Lord:

8 For thy seruante vowed a boylde (when I was in Gilead in Swine) saying: If the Lord shall brynge me agayne in deede to Hierusalem, I will serve the Lord.

9 And the king said unto him: Go in peace. And he arode, and went to hebron.

10 But Absalom sent spies throughout all the tribes of Israel, saying: Assone as ye heare the voice of the trumpeter, ye shall say, Absalom raigneth in hebron.

11 And with Absalom went two hundred men out of Hierusalem, that were called: And they went with pure hearts, not knowing of any thing.

12 And Absalon sent for Ahichaphel the Sionite Davids counsellor, and he his son Gilo, while he offered sacrifices, and there was brought strong treason: For the people went and increased with Ab- salom.

13 And there came a messenger to Dauid, and sayde: The hearts of the men of Israel are turned after Absonal.

14 And David said unto all his seruantes that were with him at Hierusalem: Up, that we may see, for we shal not else escape from Absonal: Make speed to departe, lest he come suddenly & catche vs, and bring euyl upon vs, and singe the cite with the edge of the sword.

15 And the kings seruantes sayde unto him: Beside, thy seruantes are rety to do whatsoever my lord the king shall appoint.

16 And the king departed, and all his house, except his boylde at his feyte: And the king left ten conclude to kepe the house.

17 And the king went foorth and all the people at his feyte, and taried in a place that was farce of.

18 And aht his seruantes went about him: and all the Cestites, and all the Pegesites, and all the Seethies, even five hundred men which were come after him from Seth, went before the king.

19 Then sayde the king to Jethall the Seethie: Wherefore committ thou with vs? Returne, and abyde with the king, for thou art a stranger, depart therefore to thy place.

20 Thou earnest yesterday, and should I vnquiure thee to day to go with vs? I will go whyther I can: Therefore returne thou, & eare agayne the feethie: Mercy and truth be with thee.

21 And Jethal answersed the king, and saide: As the Lord lyketh, and as my lord the king lyketh, in what place my lord the king shalle, whether in death or lyfe, even there also will thy seruante be.

22 And David said to Jethal: Come then, and go forwrad. And Jethal the Seethie went foorth, and all his men, and all the children that were with him.

23 And all the country Weppe with a loud loue bope, all the people went ouer:
The king also him selfe passed over the booke Codon, and all the people went ouer towards the waie that leadeth with the wibderne.
14 And to Sedom also and all the Lemetes were with him, and bare the arke of the appointment of God, and they set downe the arke of God, and Abia\[ar\]e went vp, until the people were all come ouer, out of the citie.
15 And the king sayde unto Sedom, Cary the arke of God againe into the citie: If I shall finde favour in the eyes of the Lorde, he will bring me againe, and thee me both, and the tabernacle thereof.
16 But the thus say, I have no lust unto thee: behold, here am I, let hym do with me what seemeth good in his eyes.
17 The king sayde also unto Sedom the priest:Yet not thou a Sear: Returne into the citie in peace, and take your two somes with you, Ahimeaz thy sonne, and Jonathan the sonne of Abia\[athar.
18 Behold, I will tary in the fields of the wibderne, until there come some word from you to tolde me.
19 Sedom therefore and Abia\[athar caried the arke of God againe to Hierusalem, and they taried there.
20 And David went upon mount Olivet, and wept as he went vp, and had his head covered, and barefoot: And all the people that was with him, had every man his head couered: as they went vp, they wept.
21 And one tolde David, saying: Ahi\[tophel is one of them that have conspird with Absalom. And David sayde: O Lorde, I pray thee, turne the counsell of Ahi\[tophel into foolishnes.
22 When David was come to the tope of the mount, he worshipped God, and be-hole, Hushai the Arachite came against him, with his coat tome, and having earth upon his head.
23 Unto whom David sayde: If thou go with me, thou shalt be a burchten unto me.
24 But if thou returne to the citie, and lay unto Absalom, I will be thy servaunt Ding: as I have thus long ben thy fathers servaunt, so am I nowe thy servaunt, thou mayest for my sake delivery the counsell of Ahi\[tophel.
25 And hast thou not there with thee Sa-doe and Abia\[athar the priests: therefore whatsoever thou shalt here out of the kings houle, thou shalt shewe to David and Abia\[athar the priests.
26 And behold, they have there with them three sonnes, Ahimaaz Sadoes sonne, and Jonathan Abia\[athars sonne:
by them also shal ye sende me all that ye can heare.
27 And so Hushai Davids frend went to the citie, and Absalom entred into Hieerusalem.

The xxvi. Chapter.

1 The insidill of Ziba. 5 Sime curseth David. 10 Hushai commeth to Absalom
2 The counsell of Ahi\[tophel for the concubines.

1 And when David was a little past the tope of the hill beholde, Ziba the saraunt of Ahi\[tophel mette him with a couple of asse\[s laden, and upon them
two hundred loues of bread, and one hundred bunches of reinges, and an hundred of dried figges, and a bottel of wynne.
2 And the king sayde unto Ziba: What meaneth thou with these? And Ziba sayde: They be Asse for the kinges houshold to ryde on, and bread and fruit for the young men to eate, and wine, that such as be frant in the wibderne may drinke.
3 And the king sayde: Where is thy masters sonne? Ziba answered into the king: Behold he tarie still at Hierulem: For he sayde, This day shal the house of Israel restore me the kingdome of my father.
4 Then sayd the king to Ziba: Behold, thyne are all that pertayned unto Ahi[tophel. And Ziba sayde: I humble ly beseeche thee that I may finde grace in thy sight, my lord D king.
5 And when king David came to Ba-hurim, behold, thence came out a man of the kine of the house of Saul, na-meth Semei the soone of Gera, and he came out cursing.

2. Kings.
lixvi.
6 And he cast stones at David, and at all the servants of David: And all the men of the forest made an assembly, and rose up after David, and fell upon the Arameans, and pursued them unto Gath.
7 And thus David avenged himself on the Arameans. Therefore the name of the forest is called the forest of the Arameans unto this day.
8 And David abode in the forest in those days, and Abimelech, the son of Mathiel, was king over Israel.
9 And it came to pass, when it was told David, that Abimelech was dead, that he rose from the forest, and abode in Gerar.
10 And Lo, the Philistines gathered themselves together for battle: and when David heard of it, he gathered together his people, and passed over to the Valley of Rephaim.
11 Then said David, Who shall go up for us against this people? and who shall be our captains?
12 And David spoke to the men of Israel, saying, If ye think me able to go up against the Philistines, follow me: and the Lord will be before you.
13 And David said, Who is like to me? and who shall go before the Lord, to war against the Philistines, but my servant Goliath the Philistine?
14 So David went, and drew his weapons, and took him five loaves of unleavened bread in a scrip, and a bottle of wine, and an handful of staff in his囊, and went to meet the Philistine.
15 And the Philistine came on and hooted with a voice, and said, Give me the man, that I may smite him, and take away the gods of his people out of the house, and set them upon mine altar.
16 And David spake to the Philistine, saying, Give me, I pray thee, a place, that I may stand against thee.
17 And the Philistine said, Thou comest to me with a sword, a javelin, and with a shield; but I come to thee in the name of the Lord of hosts, which has made heaven and earth.
18 And David said, Thou comest to me with a sword, and a spear, and a shield: but I come to thee in the name of the Lord of hosts, the God of the armies of Israel, which has shaken the children of Ammon, and Moab, and Edom, and all that are round about Israel.
19 And the Philistine said, I will draw my sword, and come upon thee. And David said unto the Philistine, Thou comest to me with a sword, and with a spear, and with a shield: but I come to thee in the name of the Lord of hosts, the God of the armies of Israel, which has shaken the children of Ammon, Moab, Edom, and all the children of the East.
20 For the Lord, who is before me, willdeliver thee into mine hands.
21 And it came to pass, when the Philistine arose, and came near, that David hasted and ran toward the battle line to meet the Philistine.
22 And he reached his spear, which was twanged out of his hand, and smote the Philistine through the heart, and his spear came out behind; and he fell down under his spear.
23 And David ran, and stood upon his mouth, and said, Who is like unto thee, that thou art come down to me with sword and spear and javelin? for in the battle with thee this day came none other up.
24 And it came to pass, when the Philistines saw that their idols were broken, that they said, Let us go away, and let us return to our own country: for they feared David.
25 And David's fame went all the more, for the Lord helped him against all his enemies.
26 And they gathered their brethren together, and wrote to the people of the cities which were under Archi, and to the rest of Judah.
27 Then said David, Who will go up with me to Archi, and to Judo, and to the house of Judah, that they may help me against the house of Saul?
and are even as a Beare robbed of her whelpes in the fielde: Thy father is a man also practised in warre, and will not lodge with the people.
Belike he lyes indoe in some cave, or in some other place: And though some of his men be overthrowen at the first butt, yet they that hear it, will say: The people that followed Absha ton, be put to the yoke.
And he also that is baleant, whose heart is as a heart of a Lo, that is flung and faynt: For all Israel knoweth, that thy father is a mighty man, and they which be with him are stout men.
Therefore my counsell is, that all Israel be gathered into thee fro Dan to Beer teba, as the sable of the fea in number, and that thou go to battle in thyne obone person.
For so shall we come upon him in one place; or other where we that finde him, and we will slay him, even as thick as the deade falleth on ground: And of all the men that are with him, be that not leane him one.
Therefore, if he be gotten into a towne, then shall at the men of Israel hange ropes to that towne, and we will drave it into the riuere, until they be not one small stone founde there.
And Abshalon, and all the men of Israel layde: The counsell of Hulah the At rachite, is better then the counsell of Ahi tophel, for it was even the Lodes determination to destroy the good counsell of Ahi tophel, that the Lodes might being euill put upon Abshalon.
Then layde Hulah unto Sadoc & Abbah the priers: Of this, that maner did Ahi tophel and the elders of Israel counsell Abshalon, and thus is thus I confirmed.
Hulah therefore send quickly, & shewe Dauid, saying: Eare not this night in thyn defes of the wilderneffe, but get thee over, let the king be bouncered, & all the people that are with him.
Now Jonathan and Ahimaas abode by the well Rogel: (for they might not be seen to come into the riuere) and a wench went and told them: And they went, and obedieng Dauid.
Neuertheless, a lad faile them, and told it to Abshalon: But they went both of them away quickly, & came to a mans house in Bahurim, which had a well in his parde, into the whiche they went holden.
And the lyse toke and spread a coverlet over the belles mouth, & spread ground covertheron: and the thing was not spied.
And when Abshalons servants came to the yoke to the house, they sayde: Where is Ahimaas? Jonathan: The woman answered the: They be gone over the brooke of water. And whyle they had sought them, and could not finde them, they returned to Hierufalem.
And assoone as they were departed, the other came out of the well, and went and tolde the king Dauid, and laid unto him: Up, and get you quickly over the water, for the sute counsell hath Ahi tophel gennon against you.
When Dauid arose, and all the people that were with him, & they were come over Jodieman (by that it was day: so that there lacked not one of them that was not come over Jodieman.
And when Ahi
tophel sowed that his counsell was not voided, he fabled his Afe, and arose and gaine home to his owne house, and to his owne citie, & put his houyallele in order, and hanged him selfe, and died, and was buried in the sepulcher of his father.
Then Dauid came to Mahanaim, and Abshalon passed over Jodieman, he, and all the men of Israel with him.
And Abshalon made Anotha capture of the hoast in feede of Joab Abish Ab tha, was a mans some named Ithai an Israelite that went in to Abigail the daughter of (b) Phahas, sister to Zuri d Joabs mother.
So Israel and Abshalon pitched in the land of Gilead.
And when Dauid was come to Mahanaim, Sob he the sone of Phahas, out of Rabba of the children of Ammon, & Machir the sone of Ammiel out of Lo debor, and Warzelas the Gilean out of Rogelim, 18 But they that were with him, to cate: For they layde, The people is hungry, weere, and chikle, in the wilderneffe.
And David numbered the people that were with him, and set captains of thousands and of hundreds over them.

And David set forth the third part of the people under the hand of Joab, and the third part under the hand of Abishai the son of Zeruiah Joab's brother, and the other third part under the hand of Jethro the Gittite.

And the king laid it upon the people, saying, I will go with you myself also.

And the people answered the king not at all, saying, Thou shalt go with us, neither go thou from us; for thou art a father to us, and a guide: in all where we go we will abide with thee.

And the king said unto Joab, Go now throughout all the tribes of Israel, even to the uttermost: and number them, and also in Judah, even to Jerusalem.

And when the king came to Jerusalem, he gathered together all the people, even men, and women, and children, of Israel, and numbered them, and came to a very great number.

And the king said, Whosoever is left behind in the cities, let them be mebers of the king's household, charge concerning Absalom.

And to the people there went out into the field against Israel (and the battle was in the wood of Ephraim).

And the people of Israel were slain before the servants of David, and there was a great slaughter that day, even twenty thousand men.

For the battle was scattered over all that country: And the wood betwixt the people that day, even from one end of the earth even to the other end of the earth.

And Absalom mette the servants of David, saying, Behold, I have taken all Israel, saith Absalom, and the king is gone over to Mahanaim, that they may shew me kindness.

And Joab said unto the man that told him, Hearken now, while thou speakest, that I may write it in the book.

And Joab said unto Absalom, I would not have told thee, had thou not spoken to me: but why shouldest thou speak to me?

And Absalom got him a chariot and horse, and forty men to run before him. And Absalom rose up, and went over to Dunam, and took his chariot and horse, and ran over to Naaman.

And the king said to Absalom, Wherefore thou承包t the horse unto me? and he answered, I thought, and said, My lord the king would have said, Absalom hath a厮rey of his, and of the king's also; and he said, Why didst thou not shew thyself unto the king? but thou cam'st in, as thou art.
sone: For we heard with our ears when the king charged thee, & Abisail, and Jithai, saying: Behave that none touch the young man Absalom.

Moreover, if I had done it, I should have done against mine own lyfe: for there is no matter why from the king, yea, thon thy selfe Woldst have ben against me.

14 Then said Joab, I may not stand thus staying with thee: And he toke three darts in his hand, & thrust them through Absalom Whyle he was yet asleep in the middles of the one.

And ten servants that bare Joabs weapons, turned and smote Absalom, and slue him.

And Joab blew the trumpet, and the people returned from following Israell: for Joab[b] held back the people.

And they toke Absalom, and cast him into a great p[? in the wood, and laid a mightie great heape of stones upon him: And all Israel fed every one to their tentes.

And this Absalom yet in his lyfe time toke and earde up a piller, which is in the kinges bale: For he said, I have no bome to kepe my name in remembrance, and he calleth the piller after his owne name, and it is called unto this day Absaloms place.

19 Then said Absaiaaz the sonne of Sabor: Let me runne noode and beare the kings tydings, how that the Lord hath judged him quyte of the hande of his enemies.

20 And Joab sayd unto him: Thou art no man to beare (b) such things to day, thou shalt bare thinges another time: but to day thou shalt bare none, because the kinges sonne is dead.

21 Then said Joab to Chusai: Go and tell the kyg what thou hast seen. And Chusai bowed him selfe unto Joab, and ranne.

22 Then said Absaiaaz the sonne of Sabor agane to Joab: What: I pray thee, if I also runne after Chusai?

And Joab sayd: Wherefore wilt thou runne my lyfe, saying that thou hast no tydings to bring?

Byt why, if I runne, he said unto him:

Runne. Then Absaiaaz ryme by the wap of the plynge, ryme before Chusai.

24. And Daud spake betwixt the two gates: And the Watchman went vp to the roofe over the gate into the wall, and lift by his eyes and sawe, & behold there came a man running alone.

25 And the Watchman cryed, & tolde the king. And the king spake: If he be alone, there (c) is tydings in his mouth. And he came a pace, and dwelt neere.

And the watchman sawe another man running, and the Watchman callel unto the porter, and spake: Behold there commeth another man running alone, And the king spake: He is also a tydings banger.

27 And the watchman spake: He thinke the running of the most, is lyke the running of Absaiaaz the sonne of Sabor. The king spake: He is a good man, and commeth with good tydings.

28 And Absaiaaz called a lad into his kyng, peace be with thee: And he felte downe to the eart, vpobi his face before the king, and spake: Blessed be the Lord thy God, which hath shut up the me that lift by their handes against my lyve the king.

29 And the king spake: Is the young man Absalom safe? Absaiaaz answered: When Joab sent the kynge seruant, and me myre (c) seruant, I sawe a great rumble, but I bote not what it was.

30 And the king sayde: Duthe to him: Zurrue aside, and stand here. And he turned to, and, goode fyll.

31 And behold, Chusai came also, and spake: "Tydings my lyve the king, for the Lord hath delivered thee this day out of the hande of all them that ryle against the.

32 And the king sayde unto Chusai: If the young man Absalom ryme? Chusai answered: The enemies of my lord the king, and all that rye against thee, todo thee hurt, be as that young man is.

33 And the king was (d) moved, and went by to the chamber over the gate: And wept: and as he wept, thus he sayde, Femy home Absalom, my lyme, my soule, my soule Absalom: Woulde God I had dyed for thee. O Absalom my soule, my soule.
And it was told Joab, behold the king wepteth, and mourneth for Abshalom.

And the "victorie of that day was turned into mourning unto all the people: for the people heard say that day holde the king for his sonne.

And the people went that day into the city by stealth, as people confounded to convey themselves when they see in battell.

But the king did his face, and cried with a loud voce: Only mine Abshalom, Abshalom my sonne, my sonne. And Joab came into the house to the king, and said: Thou hast hindered this day the faces of all thy seruantes, which this day have saued thy life, the lices of thy sonses, and of thy daughters, and the lices of thy vpues, and of thy concubines.

In that thou lovest thyne enemies, and hatest thy frendes: For thou hast declared this day, that thou regarded neither thy pynce nor seruantes: And this day I do perceive, that if Abshalom had luyed, and all we have died this day, that had pleased thee well.

Hold therefore vp, and come out, and speake confidently unto thy seruantes: For I sware by the Lord, except thou come out, there will not tary one man with thee this night, and that Joab wosse into thee, then all the envy that fell on thee from thy youth to this boire.

Then the king arose, and cante in the gate: And they tolde bothe unto all the people, saying, behold the king doth sit in the gate, and all the people came before the king: For Israel had set every man to his tent.

And all the people were at strife through out all the tribes of Israel saying: The king faile vs out of the hand of our enemes, he deliuered vs out of the hande of the Philistines, and now he is set out of the lande for Abshalom:

But Abshalom whom we annointed over vs, is dead in battell: Therefore, why are ye so still, that ye bring not the king agayne:

And king David sent to Abdoe: Abathar the priestes, saying: Speake unto the elders of Juda, and say: Why are ye behinde to bring the king againe to his house? (saying that such vngenes is come from all Israel unto the king, even to his house?)

We are my brethren, my bones, and my sith: Wherefore then are ye the last that bring the king againe?

And sape ye to Amasa: Art thou not of my bone and of my sith? God do so to me, and more also, if thou be not captayne of the hoast to me, forever in the room of Joab.

And he bolded the heartes of all the men of Juda, even as the heart of one man, to that they sent [this word] to the king: Returne thou with all thy seruantes.

So the king returned, and came to Jordan: And Juda came to Giggal for to go to meete the king, and to convey him over Jordan.

And (b) Sometime the sonne of Gerush the sonne of Jethen, which was of Sahuappan, hasted and came bowne with the men of Juda to meete king David.

And there were a thousand men of Beniamin with him, and Ziba the sonne of the house of Salain and his five sones and twenty seruantes with him, and they went over Jordan before the king.

And there went over a boate to carie over the kings houshold, and to do him pleasure: And Succoth the sonne of Gerush before the king as he was come over Jordan,

And bade into the king: Let not my lord impute wickednesse to me, nor remember the things that thy seruante by wickedly when my lord the king departed out of Hierusalem, that the king should take it to his heart.

For thy seruante both knowe howe that I have done amisse: And therefore behold, I am the first this day of all the house of Joseph, that am come bowne to meete my lord the king.

But Abshalom the sonne of Zara put before, and sayd: Shall not Simeon be for this, because he curst the Lords annointed:

22 And David said: What have I to do with you, ye sons of Zeruiah? For this day ye be adversaries unto me: Shall there any man of the house of David be this day in Israel? Do not I know that I am this day king over Israel?

23 And therefore the king said unto Shimei: Thou shalt not die: and the king spared him.

24 And Absalom the son of Saul came down to meet the king; and had neither washed his face, nor bared his head from the time the king departed, until he came again in peace.

25 And when he was come to Hebron, and met the king, the king said unto him: Wherefore hast thou not bidden me to come unto thee when I came again in peace?

26 He answered: My lord O king, my servant deceit me: For thy servant lade, I should have put mine arms upon the neck of my lord the king, and bowed down myself before the neck of my lord the king; because thy servant is lamen.

27 And he hath accused thy servant unto my lord the king, and my lord the king is as an angel of God: for therefore what speaketh good in thine eyes.

28 For all my fathers houses were but dead men before my lord the king, and yet didst thou put thy servant among the that were at thy meat table: what right therefore have I yet to cry any more unto the king?

29 And the king said unto him: Why speakest thou any more of thy matters? I have slained, thou and Ziba theuir: and Barzella will blame thee.

30 And Absalom said unto the king: Delivered the king into the hand of his enemy; and the king is come again in peace into his own house.

31 And Barzella said: Let the king take all, and let himself as much as his lord; and let the king be as his lord.

32 Barzella was a very aged man, even four score years old, and spake of the king of tillenance, while he lay at Beddahnum, for he was a man of very great tillenance.

33 And the king said unto Barzella, come over with me; I will feed thee with me in Jerusalem.

34 And Barzella lade unto the king: "How long have I to live, that I should go up with the king unto Jerusalem?"

35 And this day have some come to tell me, that Saul's daughter is at Mahanaim; and all his brethren also.

36 Thy servant will go a little way over Jordan with the king: why may the king reconscnent it me with such an ward?

37 O let thy servant turn back again, that I may die in mine own place, and be buried in the grave of my father and of my mother: Behold, here am I: why may the king not rebuke his servant? and what seuer thou shall require of me, that same will I do for thee.

38 And the king auamblered: Chimham shall go with me, and I will do to him that thou shalt content with: And what seuer thou shalt require of me, that same will I do for thee.

39 And all the people went over Jordan; and the king was come over Jordan, he kissed Barzella, blessed him, and he went backe againe into his owne place.

40 And then the king went to Gilgal; and Chimham went with him: And all the people of Juda, conduct the king, and also halfe the people of Israel.

41 And behold, all the men of Israel came to the king; and saide unto the king: Why haue our brethren the men of Juda taken thee away, and haue brought the king on his householde and all Davids men with him over Jordan?

42 And all the men of Juda auamblered the men of Israel, because the king is near of kinne to vs: Wherefore be ye angry for this matter: Have we eaten of the kinges coles or have we taken any bybdes?

43 And the men of Israel auamblered the men of Juda, and saide: We haue ten partes in the king, and haue thereof more yught to David then we: Why then did ye depart vs, that our abuse should not be first had, in retaying our king? And the womenes of the men of Juda were more to the womenes of the men of Israel.

44 And they removed thence, and came to the waters of Jericho: and the people of Juda went with the king to Jerusalem.
2. Samuel.

11 Seba raiseth Israel against David, 12 Joab killeth Amasa traiterously.

2: The head of Seba is delivered to Joab, 3: David's chief officers.

1 Then there came (3) thither a certain man of Bethel, named Seba, the son of Bichri, a man of Jemini, he blew a trumpet, and said: We have no part in David, neither have we inheritance in the sons of Saul: every man to his tent, D. Israel.

2 And so every man of Israel went to David, and adhered to David the son of Bichri; But the men of Juda clave unto their king from Jordan to Jerusalen.

3 And David came to his house to Jerusalem, and the king took the ten women his concubines, that he had left behind him to keep the house, and put them in ward: and fed them, but lay no more with them: and so they were inclosed unto the day of their death, living in perpetual sorrows.

4 Then took the king (9) Amasa: Call me the men of Juda together within three days, and be thou here also.

5 And so Amasa went to gather men of Juda together, but tarried longer the time which he had appointed him.

6 And David said to Abigail, David's wife, Abigail's sister, to Bethuel the son of Jesse the patriarch, the beginning of whose name is Bichri.

7 And there went out after him Joab's men, and the three hundred and three captains, and the three and thirty mighty men: And they departed out of Hebron, so followed after Seba the son of Bichri.

8 And when they were at the great stone in Gibeon, Amasa went before them: And Joabs (3) garment that he had about him, was girded unto him, and he had girded theron a sword, which was joined fast to his loynes in a sheath, that as he went it fell sometime out.

9 And Abishai said to Amasa: Art thou in health my brother? And Joab took Amasa by the right hand, to strike him.

10 But Amasa took no heed to the sword that was in Joabs hand: for therewith he smote him* in the fift [rue] and shed out his bowels to the ground, and smote at him no more, for he dyed: So Joab and Abisai his brother solloved after Seba the son of Bichri.

11 And one of Joabs men stood by him, and said: He that heareth any man to Joab, or good will to David, let him go after Joab.

12 And Amasa wallowed in blood in the midst of the way: And when the man that bare him* all the people stood still, he removed Amasa out of the way into the field, and cast a cloth upon him, because he said that every man that came* by him stood still.

13 And assone as he was removed out of the way, the people went after Joab, to follow after Seba the son of Bichri.

14 And he went thither all the tribes of Israel, unto Abel, and to Bethmaachah, and all the places of Jerusalem: And they gathered together, and went after him.

15 And they came and besieged him in Abel, near to Bethmaachah: And they cast up a bastne against the city, and the people thereof stood on the ramp, and all the people that was with Joab, thrust at the wall to overthrote it.

16 Then cried a wife woman out of the city, the daughter of Jaare-reum, of the city, and she cried to Joab: Come hither that I may speak with thee.

17 When Joab was come unto her, the woman said: Art thou Joab? He answered: I am he. She said unto him: Hear the words of thy handmaid.

18 And he answered: I do hear.

19 And she said: They have taken the old man in Abel, and have smitten him, and have cast out his sepulchre as one of the uncircumcised: And he said: What hast thou done?

20 And she said: They have taken the old man in Abel, and have smitten him, and have cast out his sepulchre as one of the uncircumcised: And he said: What hast thou done?
in mount Ephraim (Seba the son of Birja by name) hath set by his hand against the king, even against David: Deluery be him only, & I will depart from the city. And the woman said unto Joab: Behold, his head shall thine. And the woman went unto all the people with her wisebome, and they spake of the head of Seba's house of Rech, and call it out to Joab: And he blew a trumpet, & they removed from the city, every man to his tent. And Joab returned to Jerusalem, unto the king.

23. Joab was once all the host of Israel, and Banaai the house of Jehosheba was over the Cherethites & Pheleites.

24. And Abner was over the tribute, and Jehosaphat the son of Ahitub, was recorder.

25. Sera was strick, and Sador and Abiathar were the priests.

26. And fra the Jaareite was 8 chief about David.

The xxI. Chapter.

1. These dear yeres. The vengeanche of the sones of Saul, lighteth on his seven sones, which are hanged, is foure great battailes, which David had against the Philistines.

4. Wherefore David said unto the Gibeonites: What shall I do for you, & wherein可以说 I make the attonement, that ye may blese & inheritance of the Lord?

5. The Gibeonites answered him: We will have no silver nor goldie of Saul nor of his house, neither is it our mind that thou shouldest hit & any man in Israel. He said: what you shall say, that will I do for you.

7. But the king had compassion on He B Philshobeth the sonne of Jonathan the sonne of Saul, because of the Lordes oath that was betwene them, even betwene David & Jonathan the sonne of Saul.

8. But the king toke the two sones of Rilspha the daughter of Aia whom the bare unto Saul, even Armoni and Biphobeth, and the five sones of Hich the daughter of Saul, whom he bare to Adriel the sonne of Barzel at the Jehololathe.

9. And he delivered them unto his handes of the Gibeonites, which hanged them in the hill before the Lord: And they fell all seven together, and were slaine in the baies of harvest, even in the 8th baies, and in the beginning of barchitect harvest.

10. And Rilspha the daughter of Aia, tolke the 2d cloth hanged it up for her by on the rocke [even] from the beginning of harvest, until 3 water hoppd upon them out of heaven, & suffred neither the hydes of the ox to light on them by day, nor beasts of 8 fielde by night.

11. And it was tolke David what Rilspha the daughter of Aia the concubine of Saul, had done.

12. And David went and took the bones of Saul and of Jonathan his sonne, from the citzins of Jabes in Gilead, which had stollen them from the store of Bethsan where the Philistines had hanged them, whie the Philistines had slain Saul in Gibboa.
Saul, and the bones of Jonathan his son, and they gathered the bones of them that were hanged.

14. And the bones of Saul and Jonathan his son buried they in the country of Benjamin, in Zela, in the sepulchre of his father: and when they had performed all that the king commanded, God was then (b) at one with the land.

15. Moreover, the Philistines had yet another great battle with Israel, and David went down thrice into battle, and his servants with him; and he fought against the Philistines, and David saved him.

16. And Jészob benob one of the sons of the Philistines, the iron of whose spear was three hundred <c>shotes of brass</c> and he being girded with a new yoke, thought to have slaine David.

17. But Abulai the son of Zavcio succourcd him, and made him the Philistine, and killed him. Then the servants of David were bountiful unto him, saying, Thou shalt go no more out with us to battle, that thou quench not the {m}light of Israel.

18. And yet after this, there was a battle with the Philistines at (a) Sob, and then Sibbechai the Hushathite <c>Saph</c> which was one of the sons of the giants,

19. And there was another battle in *a Belan then the son of Jaare Oregoun a Beth lehemite <d>Sheath</d> of whose spear was as great as a weaver's clothbeam.

20. And there was yet another battle in Seth, where was a man of a great stature, and had on every hand five fingers, and on every foot ten toes, four and twenty in number, and was born also of the kindred of the giants: Seth.

21. And when he defied Israel, Jonathan the son of Simeon, the brother of David, slew him.

22. These four were <e>the chief</e> of the <f>giants</f> of <g>the Philistines</g>, by the hand of David, and by the hands of his servants.

The xxii. Chapter.

1. And David spake the words of this (c) long unto the Lord, what time the Lord had delivered him out of the hand of all his enemies, and out of the hand of Saul.

2. And he said: The Lord is my rock, and my captain, and my deliverer.

3. God is my strength, in him will I trust: he is my <g>david</g> and the home of my salvation, my God, and my refuge, my Saviour, thou has fanned me from the <f>plague</f>.

4. *I will call on the Lord, which is my <f>strength</f> and my <f>saviour</f>: of the Lord is my bont, and my <f>rocke</f>.

5. For the pangs of death came about me: the <f>shades</f> of death surrounded me, and my bones were fatigued with fear.

6. The waters of hell compassed me about, the <f>shires</f> of death overtook me.

7. In my tribulation did I call upon the Lord, and cry to my God: and he heard my voice out of his temple, and my <f>cry</f> did enter into his ears,

8. The earth trembled and quaked: the foundations of heaven moved like a hookee when he was angry.

9. Smoke went out of his nostrils, like a consuming fire out of his mouth: coals were kindled thereat.

10. And he bowed heaven and came down, and there was darkness under his feet.

11. And he rode upon Cherub, and did see: he was seen upon the wings of the wind.

12. He made darkness a tabernacle round about him: with waters gathered together in the thick of the clouds.

13. Through the brightness of his countenance were the <f>coles</f> of fire kindled.

14. The Lord thundered from heaven: the voice of the most high put out his <f>voice</f>.

15. He shot arrows, and disassembled them [to the <f>lightning</f>]: he overthrew them.

16. The channels of the sea appeared, and the foundations of the world were seen, by the reason of the <f>rebounding</f> of the <g>Lord</g>, and through the blasting of the <f>breath</f> of his <f>nostrils</f>.

17. He sent from above and took me: he drew me out of many waters.

18. He...
18 He delivered me from my mighty enemy, and from them that hated me: for they were too strong for me.

19 When they had (e) prevented me in the day of my calamity: the Lord stayed me up.

20 For he brought me out into a roomb: he delivered me, because he had a favour unto me.

21 The Lord rewarded me according to my righteousness: according to the purenes of my hands he recompenced me.

22 For I have kept the vayes of (d) Lord: and did not wickedly against my God.

23 For all his lustes were in my sight: (c) his statutes, I did not depart from them.

24 In his sight also (b) I have been upright: and have kept myself from my yne obnne inequite.

25 And the Lord did to me againe according to my rightouesnesse: even after my purenes in his eye sight.

26 With the godly thou shalt be godlie: and with the man that is upright, thou shalt be upright.

27 With the pure thou shalt be pure: and with the scoward thou wilt sleeue thy selfe: (a) scoward.

28 And the poore people thou wilt saue: but thynne eyes are upon the proude, to bring them downe.

29 For thou art my light, O Lord: and the Lord shall light my darkenesse.

30 For by thee I shall breake through an hoast of men: and by my God will I spring over a wall.

31 God is incorrupt in his way, the word of the Lord is tryed in the ye: he is a shield to all them that trust in him.

32 For who is a God save the Lord: and who is mightie save our God?

33 God strengtheneth me in battayle: and the way dearce before me.

34 He maketh my feete lyke (b) hyndes feete: and letteth me upon my lie places.

35 He teacheth my handes to sight: that even a bollwe of sleet is broken with nyne armes.

36 Thou hast givene me the shield of thy saluation: and with thy loving mekeuenesse thou dost multiple me.

37 Thou hast enlarged my streps under me: and my legges shal not faile me.

38 I have sloowed upon myne enemies, and destroyed them: and turned not againe, until I had consumed them.

39 I have wasted them, and wounded them, that they shal not be able to apple: yea, they shal fall under my sees.

40 Thou hast gyzed me about with might to battayle: and them that rofe against me, haft thou subdued under me.

41 And thou hast givene me the neices of myne enemies: that I might destroy them that hate me.

42 They looked about, but there was none to faue them: (euen) into the Lord, but he heard them not.

43 Then did I beeate them as small as the dust of the earth: I did flanpe them as the clay of the streate, and did spreade them abode.

44 Thou also hast delivered me from the dissention of my people, thou hast kept me to be an head ouer nations: the people which I knew not, do serve me.

45 Strange children dissemble with me: at the hearing of the care, they obey me.

46 Strange children wil shynke alway: and they shall be smipten with steece in their priue chamber.

47 Let the Lord lyue, and blessed be my strength: magnisfied be God (euen) the face of my saluation.

48 It is God that giveth me (power) to revenge me: (b) binging downe the people under me.

49 He delivereth me from myne enemies, thou also hast lyft me on he from them that rose against me: thou hast deliverest me from the wicked man.

50 And therefore I will praise thee O Lord among the nations: and will sing into thy name.

51 He is the roudwe of saluation for his king, and dealeth mercifull with his annointed: (euen) with David, and with his seede fo; euermore.

2. Samuel.

1 Ki influences the people to number, 7 he repents, and choose to fall into God's hand. 5. Seventeeth thousand perished with the pestilence.

1 And agayne the Lord was wroth against Israel, and (b) he mov'd David against them, in that he sayde: * So number Israel & Juda.

2 For the king sayde to Joab the captain of the host which was with him: Go thou abrode now throughout all the tribes of Israel, even from Dan to Beersheba, and number ye the people, that I may know the (b) number of them.

3 And Joab saide unto the king: The Lord thy God encreaseth the people an hundred fold no then they be, 6 that the eyes of my lord the king may see it: And what is the cause that my lord the king hath a lust to this thing?

4 Forwithstanding, the kinges word prevailed against Joab & against the captains of the host: And Joab & the captains of the host, went out from the presence of the king, to number the people of Israel.

5 And they passed over Jordan, & pitched in Acor on the right hand of the city that lyeth in the meadow of the valley of God, & toward Jazer.

6 And then they came to Gilead, and to the land Taltim bosom, from there they came to Dan Jaan, and about to Sicon.

7 And came to the strong houle of Tyre, and to all the cities of the Heute and of the Chanaanites: & ther went out to the south of Juda, even to Beersheba.

8 And so when they had abode throughout all the land, they returned to Jerusalem, after the end of nine months and twentieth days.

9 And Joab delivered the number and sumne of the people unto the king, and there were in Israel eight hundred thousand men of might that drew swords: and the men of Juda were five hundred thousand men.

10 And Davids heart smote him, after that he had numbered the people: And David saide unto the Lord, I have sinned exceedingly in that I have done: And now I beseech thee, Lord take away the sinne of thy seruant, for I have done very foolishly.

11 And when David was up in the morning, the word of the Lord came unto the prophet David's chamber, saying:

12 So and sayd unto David, thus sayth the Lord: I offer thee three thinges, choose thee which of them I shall do unto thee.

The end of the second booke of Samuel, otherwyse called the second booke of the Kinges.

The thirde booke of the kinges, after the reckening of the Latinistes: which thirde booke and the fourth also, is but one with the Hebrues.

The first Chapter.

This saith David in his extreme age.
1. Adonia burneth the kingdome.
2. Solomon is anointed king.
3. Adonia fled to the aultar.

And king David was (a) olde and striketh in yeares, so that whe they coureth hym with clothes, he caught no heate.

wherefore his seruantes sayde unto him: Let there be bought for my lode the king a young begyn, to stande before the king and to cheeryse him, and let her lye in the bosome, that my lode
the king may get heate.

And so they bought for a faire damosell throughout at the coates of Israell, and founde one Abisag a (b) Sunamite, and brought her to the king.

And the damosell was exceeding faire, and cherisized the king, and ministred to hym: But the king knewe her not.

And Adonia the forme of haggith exalted him selfe, sayeing: I wilbe king. And he got him nergettes and horsemen, and lyttel men to rumme before him.

And his father for his crime would not displeasue hym, to say why haft thou done so: And he was a very goodly man: and his mother bare hym next after Abisa-lom.

And he took counsel at Joab the comte of e Zarua, and at Abiathar the priest:
and they (b) helped toward Adonia:

But Sadoc the priest, Banaiah the forme of Jeholada, Nathan the pro-phete, Semel, and Rei, and the men of night which were with David, they were not with Adonia.

And Adonia sacrificed sheepe, and oxe, and fat catter, by the stone of Zoheleth, which is by the well of Rogel, and called all his kyrge the kings sones, and all the men of Juda the kynes servauntes:

10. But Nathan the prophete, and Banaiah, the mighty men, and Solomon his brother he called not.

11. Wherefore Nathan spoke unto Beth-safe the mother of Solomon, sayeing:
haft thou not hearde that Adonia the forme of haggith both rainge, and Damond our lode knoweth it not?

12. Adonia therefore was, and I will give thee counsele holbe to saue thyne owne lyfe, and the lyfe of thy sonne Sol-mon.

13. So and get thee in unto king David, lay unto him: Dost not thou my lode
D king, sweare onto thy handmayde, saying, Assuredly Solomon thy sonne shall rainge after me, and he shall sit upon my seate: Why is then Adonia
king?

14. Beholde, whye thou yet talkest there with the king, I will come in after thee, and confirme thy boordes.

15. And Bethsaife went in unto the king, into the chamber: And the king was very olde, and Abisag the Sunamite ministred unto the king.

16. And Bethsaife stouped and made obe-lyuance unto the king: And the king layd, what is thy matter?

17. She answered: My lode, thou sworest by the Lord, thy God unto thine handmayde: [saying] Assuredly Solomon thy sonne shall rainge after me, and he shall sit upon my seate.

18. And beholde, noide is Adonia king, so noide thou my lord the king knowest it not.

19. And he hath offered oxe, fat catter, and many sheepe, and hath called all the formes of the king, and Abiathar the priest, and Joab the captayne of the hoast: But Solomon thy seruante hath he not bydden.
And nowe my lord O king, the eyes of all Israel wapte on thee, that thou shouldst tell them who ought to sit on the seat of my lord the king after him:

For els when my lord the king shall sleepe with his fathers, If my sonne Solomon shalbe thine sons.

And lo Whyle the yet talked with the king, Nathan the prophet came also.

And they told the king, saying: Behold, there commeth Nathan the prophet.

And when he was come to the king, he made obeysance before the king vp his face on the grounde.

And Nathan sayde: My lord O king, haft thou sayde, Adonia shall raigne after me, and he shall sit vpous my seate?

For he is gone downe this day, hath flayned qn, fat cattell, and there a great meane, hath called all the kinges sones, and the captaynes of the hoast, and Abiathar the priet: And besold, they eate of dunke before him, and say:

God lawe king Adonia.

But me thy seruaunt, and Sador the priet, and Banaiah the some of Jehoada, thy seruaunt Solomon, hath he not called.

Is this thing done of my lord the king, and thou haft not shewed it vpous thy thine seruaunt who should sit on the seat of my lord the king after him:

Then king David answered, and sayd: Call me Bethsabe, and she came into the kinges presence, and stode before him,

And the king spake, saying: As the Lord lyseth that hath vp by my soule out of all aduertie,

Even as I warse into thee by the Lord God of Israel, sayyng, Assuredly Solomon thy soume that raigne after me, he shal sit vpous my seate for me: to vull I certeinly do this day.

Then Bethsabe bolded on her face to the earth, and byb reverence vnto the king, and say: I pray God that my loke king Dauid may lyue for euer.

And king Dauid sayde: Call me Sador the priet, and Nathan the prophet, and Banaiah the some of Jehoada, And they came before the king.

The king also sayde vnto them: Take
And Solomon made his state greater than the state of his lord king David had been.

And Joab the priest, and Nathan the prophecy, and Banaiah the son of Jehoiada, and the Cherethites, and the Pelethites, went down, and set Solomon upon king David's mule, and brought him to Gihon.

And as he yet spake, behold Jonathan the son of Abiathar the priest came, and Adoniah laid hold on him: Come in, so thou art a valiant man, and bringest good tidings.

And Jonathan arose and laid hold upon Adoniah, and said, Why hast thou done this great thing? and why so hast thou left the king's mule?

And Joab, and all the people that were with Adoniah, removed and fled with Adoniah, and went and pitched in the fields of some field-servants beside Libnah.

And as soon as he was gone, the guilt of Adoniah came to be known, and Joab sent and told the king, and brought the king word.

And the king called to Solomon, and said, If I find favour in thine eyes, show me now the man's life who said this thing against thy servant.

And Solomon said, If he be guiltless of this thing, may the king put his head upon him; but if he be guilty of this thing, then shall I be innocent.

Heavens, and earth, and they came by from thence, and rejoiced, that the city did sound again: And that is the nolpe, that ye have heard.

And Solomon sat on the throne of the kingdom.

And moreover, the king's servants came to Solomon, saying: What is this great thing that thou hast done? And the king bade them sit upon the bough of the tree.

And thus spake the king: Blessed be the Lord God of Israel, which hath made one to set on my state this day, mine eye seeing it.

And at the king's presence, there were fourscore elders of Israel, which saw the kings ceremony, and heard the speech.

And all the people of the land rejoiced, and the city was glad: and such a feast hath not been in Israel from the day that the children of Israel came up out of Egypt unto this day.

So Solomon reigned over all Israel.

The second chapter.

The days of David were three-score and ten years: he slept, and was laid in Abraham's cave, and in the sepulchre of his fathers, and he was mighty.

Solomon.

Solomon.

hoastes of Israel, unto Abner the sone of Rer, and unto Amasa the sone of Jether, whom he slue, and shed blood in time of peace (even as it had been in warre) he put the blood of warre upon his guide that was about his lopines, and in his shoes that were on his feete.

6 Deale with him therefore according to thy lustwone, and bung not his hose head dovnue to the graine in peace.

7 But thelue kindnesse into the sones of Barzella\'s famedite, that they may cate at thy table: For they came to me whyle I shed from Abdon thy brother, and behid, thou bauk with thier Se-ner the sone of Gera the sone of Je-mum of Bahurim, Which cursed me with an horrible curse, in the day when I went to Mahanaum: But he came to meet me at Jodane, & I shawre to him by the Lord, saying: I wil not say thee with the god_{o}de.

9 But thou shalt not count him as lu-guile: For thou art a man of widsom, and knowest what thou oughtest to do wido to him, his hose head shauk thou bung to the greawe with blood.

10 And so Dauid slept with his fathers, and was buriue in the cite of Dauid.

11 And the daues whyle Dauid raigned upon Israel were foure peres: seuen peres raigned he in Hebron, thirtie and three peres raigned he in Hicrulatum.

12 Then sleale Solomon upon the sone of Dauid his father, and his kyngrawe was stabllised ouchtly.

13 And Abonia the sone of Haggith came to Bethsaida the mother of Solomon, and the sayer: Comeest thou peacably?
And he sayer, peacably.

14 He sayer moreover: I have somwhat to say wido to thee. She sayer: Say on.

15 And he sayer: Thou knowest that the kyngrawe was myne, & that all Israel Fet their faces on me, that I shoude raigne: hovbeit, the kyngrawe is turned abawe, and euene to my brother: for it is apoynted him of the Lodwe.

16 And nowe I aske a petition of thee, bre-ny me not. And she sayer wido to him:
Say on.

17 And he saide: Speake I pay thee, wido solomone the king; for he wil not say thee nay, that he geue me Abifag the Sunimate to wyse.

18 And Bethsade sayer: wel, I wil speake for thee wido the king.

19 Bethsade therefore wido unto king So-lonone, to speake wido him for Abonia:
And the king rale up to meete her, and bowed him felte wido her, and late hym downue on his sate, & there was a sate set for the kings mother, & the sate on his right ype.

20 Then the sayer: I desire a little petition of thee, I pay thee say me not nay. And the king sayer wido her: Ale on, my mother, for I wil not say thee nay.

21 She sayer: Let Abifag the Suma D uite be guene to Abonia thy brother to vyse.

22 And king Solomon aunswered and sayer wido his mother: Why doest thou aske Abifag the Sumanimate for Abonia; aske for him the kyngrawe allode: for he is myne eider brother, and hath for him Abiathar the priest, and Joab the sone of Zarna.

23 Then king Solomon aware by the Lord, saying: God do so and so to me, if Abonia have not spoken this wyse a against his owne wyse.

24. Howe therefore, as the Lordes rhet, which he hath obeyed me, and let me outhe the sate of Dauid my father, and made me an house as he promised,
Abonia shal bye this day.

25 And king Solomon sent by the hende of Banahiah the sone of Jehoiada, and he souter him that he die.

26 And unto Abiathar the priest sayer the king: Get thee to Anatoth unto thine oune hedges, for thou art worthy of death: but I will not at this tyme kill thee, because thou barest the arte of the Lodwe God before Dauid my father, and because thou hast suffered with my father in all his afflictions.

27 And so Solomon put away Abithat from being psealt unto the Lodwe, that he might fulfill the wordes of the Lodwe, which he speak over the houte of Eliau Silo.

28 Then ydewes came aile to Joab (for Joab had turned after Abonia, though he turned not after Abalon) and Joab shedd unto the tabernacle of the Lodwe, and caught holde on the houtes of the alter.

29 And

39 And it was told king Solomon howe that Joab sedd into the temple of the Lord, and beholde he is by the altar. Then Solomon sent Bananna the sonne of Jehoiada, saying: Go and fall upon him.

40 And Bannaiah came to the tabernacle of the Lord, and sayde unto him: Thus sayeth the king, Come out. And he sayde: Nay, but I will dye even here. And Bannaiah brought the king word againe, saying: Thus sayde Joab, and thus he answered me.

41 And the king sayde unto him, (O) Do even as he hath sayde: Smithe him, & burne him, that thou mayest take alway the blood which Joab hath causeth, from me, and from the house of my father.

42 And the Lord shal bring his blood upon his owne head: for he smote two men righteous better then he, and drew them with the sword, my father Dauid not knowing thereof, even Abner the sonne of Ner capitaine of the host of Israel, and Amasa the sonne of Jehu capitaine of the host of Juda.

43 Their blood shall therefore returne upon the head of Joab, & on the head of his seede for ever: But upon Dauid, & upon his seed, & upon his house, & upon his tent shall there be peace for ever of the Lord.

44 So Bannaiah the sonne of Jehoiada went by, he set upon him, and flue him, and burned him in his house in the Wildernesse.

45 And the king put Bannaiah the sonne of Jehoiada in his roome over his hoast, and put Sador the priest in the roome of Abiathar.

46 And the king sent and called Semee, & sayde unto him: Buyde thee an house in Hierusalem, and dwelle there. See that thou go not forth thence any whyther.

47 For be thou sure, that the day that thou goest out, and passest over the riuers of Cediou, thou shalt dye that day, and thy blood shalbe upon thyn e owne head.

48 And Semee sayde unto the king, This saying is good: As my lorde & king hath sayde, so will the seruante do. And Semee dwelt in Hierusalem many a day.

49 And it came to pass after three years, that two of the seruantes of Semee came away unto Aches some time of Maacha king of Seth: And they told Semee, saying: Behold, thy seruantes be in Seth.

50 (O) And Semee goode vp, and laded his ass, and gat him to Seth to Aches to seke his seruantes: And Semee went & brought his seruantes againe from Seth.

51 And it was told Solomon, howe that Semee had gone from Hierusalem to Seth, and was come againe.

52 And the king sent & called Semee, and said unto him: Do I not charge thee by the Lord with an oth, & testified unto thee, saying: Be sure, that when I remember thou goest out & walkest aboue any whyther, thou shalt dye the death: And thou saydest unto me: It is good tythes that I have heard.

53 Why then hast thou not kept the oath of the Lord, and the commandement that I charged thee withall?

54 The king sayde moreover to Semee, Thou rememberest all the wickednesse which thyn e heart knoddest, that thou diddest to Dauid my father: and the Loide also shall bring thy wickednesse upon thyn e owne head.

55 And king Solomon shalde blessed, and the seate of Dauid stablished before the Lord for ever.

56 So the king commanded Bannaiah the sonne of Jehoiada, which went out, and smote him that he died: And the kingdome was stablished in the hande of Solomon.
Solomon made affinity with Pharaoh king of Egypt, &c. &c. &c. and brought her into the city of David, but he had made an end of building his own house, and the house of the Lord, and the wall of Jerusalem round about.

And Solomon loved the Lord, walking in the ordinances of David his father: hence only that he sacrificed and offered incense upon altars in high places.

And the king went to Gibeon, to offer there, for that was the special high place: and a thousand burnt offerings by Solomon offer upon it at an utter.

And in Gibeon the Lord appeared to Solomon in a dream by night, and God said: After what thou wilt, that I may give it thee.

And Solomon said: Thou hast shown unto thy servant David my father great mercy, when he walked before thee in truth, in righteousness, and in plainness of heart with thee, and thou hast kept for him this great mercy, that thou hast given him a son to sit on his seat, as it is come to pass this day.

And now, O Lord my God, it was I that made thy servant king in stead of David my father. And I am but a young man, &c. &c. &c.

And thy servant is in the midst of thy people, which thou hast chosen, and deeply the people are so many, that they cannot be told nor numbered.

Therefore thy servant after thy understanding heart to judge thy people, that I may discern betwixt the good and the evil: For who is able to judge this thy mighty people?

And this pleased the Lord well that Solomon had desired this thing.

And God said unto him: Thou hast not asked for thyself long life, neither hast asked riches for thyself, nor hast asked the life of thy enemies, but hast asked for thyself understanding & discretion in judgement:

Behold, I have done according to thy words, to I have given thee a wise & understanding heart, so that there was none like thee before thee, neither after thee that any arise like thee.  &c.
And I have also given thee that which thou hast not asked, even riches and honour, so that thy throne shall be no king like unto thee all thy days.

And if thou wilt walk in my ways, to keep my commandments and my ordinances, as thy father David walked, I will lengthen thy days.

When Solomon awoke, behold it was a dream: And he came to Jerusalem, and stood before the ark of the covenant of the Lord, and offered burnt offerings and peace offerings, and made a feast to all his servants.

Then came there two women that were harlots unto the king, and stood before him.

And the one woman said: Oth my lord, I and this woman dwell in one house, and I was delivered of a child, with her in the house:

And the third day after that I was delivered, she was delivered also: and we were together, and no stranger with us in the house, save we two.

And this my son died in the night, for he was as an child.

And the one woman said: I beareth my son in my bosom, and he died; and she kept him.

And the other said: Live, the one live, and I the other I have kept.

Then said the first woman: No, but the dead child is mine, and I am the true mother of it.

And the other woman said: No, but the dead child is thine.

The king answered, and said: Oth he which of you shall say, This is my son that liveth, and shall remain in my bosom, and this is my son that is dead, he shall also live.

And the one woman said, My son is alive, and thy son is dead: But the other woman said, No, but thy son is dead, and my son is alive.

The king said:Bring me a sword.

There was brought a sword before the king. And the king said: Divide the living child in two, and give one half unto the one, and one half unto the other.

The woman said: Oth give the living child, and smite the other child.

But the other woman said: Let it not be so, my lord, but the child be mine, and the other woman let her have him.

The king answered, and said: Give her the living child, and smite the other child.

And all Israel saw how the king judged them; that they feared the king. And the fear of the Lord fell upon the persons of all the inhabitants of the land, so that they feared the king.

And all the princes of the children of Israel; the princes of the children of Israel they brought up Solomon's daughter.

And Abishag the daughter of Zeruiah, Solomon's sister, took care of King David.

The:v. Chapter.

1 Stram senteth to Solomon, and Solomon to him, purposing to build the house of God. & he prepareth stuffe for the building. 7 The number of the workmen.

Po the king of Epr sent his seruantes into Solomon; for he had heard that they had annoymed him king in the room of his father: For hira was euere a ouer of Dauid.

4 And Solomon sent to Stram, sayinge:

3 Thou knowest howe that Dauid my father could not builde an house into the name of the Lord his God for the warres which were about him onely. 7 By,
And it came to pass, when Hiram heard the works of Solomon, he sent word by letters to Solomon, saying, Blessed be the Lord your God, which hath given you wisdom and understanding, and hath set you on the throne of David his father; after the days of David thy father, shall the Lord thy God make thee a name that is better than the name of kings which are before you.

And it came to pass, when Hiram heard say that Solomon had sent word to him, the Hiram sent word to Solomon, saying, I have considered the things which thou hast said. I will even make a covenant and will give thee silver six hundred talents, and gold sixty talents.

And Hiram sent word to Solomon, saying, I have considered the things which thou hast sent to me; I will provide all that thou hast said of another; only as for the silver and the gold, that doth not belong to me, because they belong to David my master. And I will give to thee for silver sixty talents, and for gold six thousand talents, besides all the precious stones, and the stones of harom and the stones of chrysoprasus.

And the king sent word to Solomon, saying, Because the Lord hath given thee a wise understanding and a heart of learning, in the building of a house unto the Lord, and in what is before the house, and in the offered sacrifices, and in the ordinances, and in the law, and in the judgments, I will give thee counsel in all things for which thou shalt ask me, besides what is in thine heart.

2. And the king made a covenant with Hiram the son of Jesse, king of Tyre, according to the covenant that he had made with David his father. And Solomon sent word to Hiram, saying, I will give a certain price for timber, to buy such as thou hast, of Cedars, forty thousand talents; and for such as thou hast of fir-trees, thirty thousand talents:

3. And Solomon will give the king two hundred talents of gold to provide material for the servant of the king. And the king will give the servant of the king twenty thousand head of cattle with a stock of dromedaries, twenty thousand horses, and a grant of officers for them, twenty officers for every thousand, and six officers for every two hundred. And the king will give the servant of the king a present, a gold cup of hundred pomegranates, and a gold cup of hundred spiced oranges, and such provision as the king shall give, for the servant of the king. And Hiram gave Solomon twelve thousand tons of wheat and twenty thousand tons of barley. And Hiram sent word to Solomon, saying, When thou dearth of money, and need a thing to borrow, I will give thee the timber that is in abundance.

The vi. Chapter.

The building of the temple, and the fourme thereof.

1. And so Hiram gave Solomon Cedars trees and firre trees according to all his desire.

2. And so many trees, Cedars and firres, as Solomon desired, and as many stones for them that were cut, and as many stones for them that were hewed out, and as many officers to oversee the workmen that wrought.

3. And he made a porch before the temple of the house, which was twenty cubits long, and twenty cubits broad, and thirty cubits he.

4. And in the house he made windows, and doorways, and chambers about.

5. And by the wall of the house he made chambers round about, and ten cubits to the outermost, and ten cubit broad, and ten cubits high, upon the wall thereof.

6. The heathermost chamber was five cubits Solomons temple.

Solomon therefore built the house; and finished it.

And he hewed the walle of the house with wrobes of Cedar tree: euened the pavenement of the house into the roofe did he fele the walle of it within with Cedar tree: and booded the floor of the house with planche of fire.

And he builded twentie cubes in the hydes of the quier of the temple both floore & walles with wrobes of Cedar: and dressed it within the secret place of the temple, euen in the most holy.

But the house, that is the temple before it, was fouetie cubes long.

And the Cedar of the house within, was carved with knoppes, and graven with floweres: & all was Cedar woonde, so that no stone was like.

And the quier that was within the temple he prepared, to set there the ark of the appoyntment of the Lord.

And the quier before was twentie cutes long, & twentie cutes in breeth, and twentie cutes in hight: And he covered it with pure golde: and booded the alter with Cedar.

So Solomon covered the house with in with pure golde: And he made golde barses rume along the quier, which he had covered with golde.

And the whole hourse he overlade With golde butt he had ended it: also all the alter that was in the quier he overlade
And within the quier he made two* Cherubins of Olive tree ten cubites he.

Five cubites long was a wing of the one Cherub; and five cubites long was a wing of the other Cherub: so that from the extremest part of one wing, unto the extremest part of the other, were ten cubites. And the other Cherub was ten cubites he also; so that both the Cherubs were of one measure and one line: For the height of the one Cherub was ten cubites, and so was of the other. And he put the Cherubs within the inner house. And the Cherubs stretched out their wings, so that the one wing of the one touched the one wall, and the one wing of the other touched the other wall: And the other two wings of them touched one another in the midst of the house. And he overlaid the Cherubs with gold.

And in all the walles of house round about, he made figures of carved and fashioned work: [as namely] pictures of Cherubs, and palm trees, and gravenfloizes, [both within in the quier] and without in the temple.] And the floor of the house he covered with gold, [both within in the temple.] And in the covering of the quier, he made two doores of Olive tree; and both the upper and two side postes were five square.

The two doores also were of Olive tree; and he graved them with graven of Cherubs and palm trees and graven floweres, and covered them with gold, and tayle thynne plates of gold upon the Cherubs and palm trees.

And so made he for the doors of the temple, postes of Olive tree square.

The two doores were of firre tree, and either doore with standing leavies.

And he graved thereon Cherubs, palm trees, and graven floweres; and covered the carved worke with gold fine.

And he built the inner court with three rothes of helved stone, and one rothe of Cedar wood.

In the fourth year was the foundation of the house of the Lord layde, even in the month Zif.

And in the eleventh year, in the month "Bul" (which is the eighth moneth) was the house full finished throughout all the parces thereof, according to all the fashion of it. And so was he seven yeres in building it.

The vii. Chapter.

But Solomon was building his own house thirtene yeres, and finished it all.

And he built his house in the Lavanon, an hundred cubites long, and fiftie cubites broad, and thirtene cubites he: And it stood uppon fource rothes of Cedar pillers, and Cedar beams were layde uppon the pillers.

And the roofe was Cedar abowe upon the beams that laye on the pillers, even fiftie beams in fiftene rothes.

And there were windowes in foure rothes, and the windowes were one against another three soid.

And aloke doores with the lyde postes, the upper postes were foure square, and had windowes one against another three soid.

6 And he made a porche by the pillers, [that bare by the house] fiftie cubites long, and thirtene cubites broad, and the porche was before those and the other pillers: for there was a thicke tree set before them.

7 Then he made a porche to his judge in, even a porche of stonewall, feeted with Cedar throughout all the paeceintes.

8 And his house wherein he dwelt had an other hall, more inward then the porche, of lyke worke: And then Solomon made an house for Pharaoh daughter (whom he had taken to wife) lyke into the fashion of the porche.

9 And all these were of the best stones, heaved after the measure and saved with labydes within and without, from the foundation unto the beams that laye above, after the measure, and euyn to the out lyde toward the great court.
And the foundation was laid upon rich stones, and that very great stones, whereof some were ten cubits, and some eight cubits.

And above were rich stones, squared after a certain rule, and covered with Cedar.

And the great court round about, was with three rows of hewed stones, and one rowe of Cedar planks, after the manner of the inner court of the house of the Lord, and of the porch of the temple.

And king Solomon sent and set one hiram out of Tyre, Abdothes some of a tribe of Naphtali, his father being a man of Tyre: which Hiram was a crafitian in huggle, full of wisdome, understanding, and cunning, to worke all maner of worke in huggle: And he came to king Solomon, and brought all his Woke.

For he call * two pillars of huggle of syghtene cubites he a pece: & a string of twelve cubites did compasse either of them about.

And he made two pommels of molten huggle, [after the fashion of a crowne] to set on the toppes of the pillers: The height of the one head pece containyd five cubites, and the height of the other head pece containyd five cubites also.

He made netwokke, & Wrothen Woke like chains for the pommels upon the head peeces that were on the top of the pillers: even seven rowses) upon the one head pece, and seven upon the other.

And so he made the pillers, and two rowses of pomegranats rounde about in the one netwokke to cover the ponnels that were upon the top: and thus he did also, for the other head pece.

And the pommels that were on the top of the pillers, were after little Woke in the porch foure cubites.

And the pommels upon the two pillers had also above over against the midst within the netwokke: pomegranats and upon the second head pece were there two hundred pomegranats in [two] rows round about.

And he set by the pillers in the porch of the temple: And when he had set up the right piller, he called the name thereof Jachin: and when he had set up the left piller, he called the name thereof Boaz.

And upon the top of the pillers [were] little Woke: & so was the Workmanshio of the pillers finished.

And he made a molten laurate ten cubites wide from huuid to huuid, round in compass, and five cubites hight: And a string of thirtie cubites did compasse it about.

And under the huid of it there were knoppes round about, ten in one cubite, and thei compassed the laurate round about: And the knoppes were cast with it in two rowses when it was cast.

And
25 And it stood on twelve oreph, of which thre looked toward the north, thre toward the west, thre toward the south, and thre toward the east, and the lattic foode upon them, and all their under partes were cubit.

26 It was an hand breadth thicke, and the hym was brought lyke the hym of a cup with floibes of liues, and it contained two thousand batte.

27 And he made ten secte of basse: four cubites long, and four cubites broad a pceee, and three cubites hie.

28 And the booke of the secte was on this maner: They had sibes, and the sibes were betwixtene the ledges.

29 And on the sibes that were betwixtene the ledges, were liouns, oxen, and Cherubs: and likewise upon the ledges that were above, and beneath the liouns and oxen, were certayne addicions made of hymne booke.

30 And under every secte were four bailen wheelies, and boodes of basse: and in the four corners thereof under the lattic, were underletters moultren at the side of every addition.

31 And the stalle of the lattic was in the middle ost, and above one cubite: But the stalle thereof was round after the booke of the secte, a cubite and a halfe: and also upon the stalle were graunings with their bands, sibbe square and not round.

32 And under the boodes were four wheelies, and the arctreees stooyned fast to the bottome, and the height of every wheele was a cubite and an halfe.

33 And the workmanship of the wheele, was lyke the booke of a chart wheele: and the arctrees, the nauell, spokes, and shaftes, were all cubite.

34 And there were four underletters in the four corners of one secte, and the underletters were of very botome selfe.

35 And in the height of the bottome was there a rounde compass of halfe a cubite hie: and in that height of the bottome there proceeded both ledges and boodes out of the same.

36 For in the boodes of the ledges on the boode, he had graven pictures of Cherubins, liouns, parvline trees, one by another rounde about.

37 Thus made he the ten secte after this maner: and they had all one fashion of casting, one measure, and one hie.

38 Then made he ten lavers of basse, one laver containing fourtie batte: and every laver was four cubites, and upon every one of the ten secte, he put one laver.

39 And he put five of those secte on the right side of the house, and other five on the left; and he set the lattic on the right side of the house eastward, and toward the south.

40 And Hiran made pots, shoyes, and baibans, to furnishe all the booke that he made king Solomon for the house of the Lord.

41 That is to say, twp piller, and two round-round head pieces that were to be set on the topes of the two pillars.

42 And four hundred pomegranates for the two netvhores, even two rolde of pomegranates in one netvhores to cover the two head pieces that were to be set on the topes of the pillars:

43 And the ten feete, and ten burnes on the feete:

44 The lavatorye, and twelve oren under it:

45 And pottes, shouels, and basons: And all these vessels which hiram made to king Solomon for the house of the Lord, were of bright brasse.

46 In the playne of Heshbon did the king cast them [euen] in the thicke clape, betweene Soco and Zarthan.

47 And Solomon left all the vessels (enwaped) because they were so exceeding many, neither founde they out the weight of the brasse.

48 And so Solomon made all the vessels that parteyned into the house of the Lord, the golden auter, and the golden table wher on the shewbread was:

49 And six candelsticks for the right side, and sixe for the left before the quire, of pure golde, with snawzes, lampes, and snufflers of golde.

50 And bowles, flat peeces, basons, spoones, s maffors, of pure golde: and hyndges made he of golde, both for the bowles of the quire the place most holy, and for the bowles of the temple also.

51 And so was ended all the worke that king Solomon made for the house of the Lord: And Solomon bought in the things which David his father had deducted, even the silver, golde, and vessels, and layde them by among the treasures of the house of the Lord.

The viii. Chapter.

4 The arke is borne into the temple. 10 A cloude filleth the people.

Then Solomon gathered the elders of Israel, as the heads of the tribes, and them that were captains among the fathers of the children of Israel, into him in Hierusalem, that they might bring by the arke of the appoyntment of the Lord out of the cite of David, which is Ston.

2 And all the men of Israel assembled unto king Solomon to the feast that faileth in the moneth Ethan, which is the seventh moneth.

3 And all the elders of Israel were come, and and the priestes tooke the ark.

4 And they bare the ark of the Lord, the tabernacle of the congregation, and all the holy vessels that were in the tabernacle: those by the priests and the Levites bare.

5 And king Solomon and all the congregation of Israel that were assembled unto him, stood before the ark of the Lord, his presence.

6 And the priests brought the ark of the Lord, and the congregration of Israel, and all the vessels of the tabernacle, unto the place which Solomon his father had appointed in the city of David, which he had prepared for it.

7 For the priests stretched out their wings over the ark of the Lord, and covered both it and also the faces thereof with a cloud upon it.

8 And they drew out the ark, and the cloud covered it, and the ark came out of the city of David unto the place which Solomon his father had appointed; and thither brought it the priests, and the Levites.

9 And there was nothing in the ark save the two tables of stone, which Moses put there at Horeb, in the fashion whereof the Lord made an appointment with Israil.

10 And Solomon stretched out the ark before the porch of the house, and set up the ark in the porch.

11 Then spake Solomon: The Lord made a habitation for thee to dwell in.

12 I have built thee an house to dwell in, a habitation for thee to abide in for ever.

13 And the king turned his face, and blessed all the congregation of Israel, and all the congregation of Israel stood.

14 And he said: Blessed be the Lord God of Israel, which spake with his mouth unto David my father, and hath with his hand fulfilled it, saying:

15 Since the day that I brought my people Israel out of Egypt, I chose no city of all the tribes of Israel, to build an house, that my name might be thereon: but I have chosen David to be ruler over my people Israel.

16 And it was in the heart of David my father to build an house for the name of the Lord God of Israel.

17 And the Lord spake unto David his father, saying: Whereas it was in thy heart to build an house for my name, thou didst well that thou hast so minded:

18 Nevertheless, thou shalt not build the house: but thy son, that shall come out of thy loines, he shall build the house for my name, and I will establish the throne of his kingdom forever.

19 And Solomon spake: The Lord hath made him good, which promised him the heavens, that he should build me an house, as the Lord my God spake.

20 And the Lord hath made me good, as he spake, saying that he would raise up me after him, and one of my loines shall set up his throne:

21 And I have prepared a place, as the Lord hath promised, and I have built the house.

22 Solomon stode before the assembly of Israel, and stretched out his hands toward heaven.

23 *Lord God of Israel, there is no God like thee in heaven, or on the earth, that keepest covenant and mercy for thy servants that walk before thee with all their heart.

24 Thou hast kept with thy servant David my father that thou spakest unto him, saying, *Thou shalt not lack man that goeth up to thy table, and that the house of Israel serve thee, as I have set it before thee:

25 Therefore now the Lord God of Israel, keep with thy servant David my father, and with his son, according to all that thou hast promised him.

26 And now, O Lord God of Israel, let thy word be verified which thou spakest unto thy servant David.

27 And now, O Lord God of Israel, in whose sight there is none holy as thou art, neither hast there been any like thee, neither after thee shall there be any other king like unto thee.

28 Then spake Iy God, the word, and said unto him: I have heard thy prayer and thy supplication, that thou spakest unto me: I have sanctified this house, which I have built, to put my name there for ever; and my eyes and my heart shall be there for ever.

29 And I will gather all Israel unto thee, O my servant, that I may dwell in this place for ever:

30 And thy house, and thy kingdom, shall be established for ever before me: thy name shall be great for evermore, saying, *The Lord God of Israel is the God of David.

31 And it shall come to pass, when thy children shall come in to ask thee, saying, What meaneth these stones? then thou shalt tell them, that the Lord gave it to David my father, for a place to build an house for him to dwell therein.

32 And now it lieth upon David my father, that he went not up, neither built he him a house:

33 But the Lord gave it unto my father David, saying, *It shall not be to thee, O David, but unto thine offspring, that it shall be established for ever.

34 And now, O Lord God of Israel, that thou didst promise unto David my father by thy holy spirit, let it be known to thy servant, and to the house of my father, that thou wilt build me an house for ever.

35 And, behold, the heaven is not able to contain the righteousness of thy people Israel, O my God.

36 Therefore, Lord God of Israel, give to the king whom thou shalt set over thy people for a name.

37 And it shall come to pass, when the king shall sit upon his throne, that he shall write himself a memorial, and set it in the temple of the Lord, in Jerusalem, in the holy place of the Lord.

38 And this shall hold of thy people and of thy house for ever, if you will walk in my statutes, and keep my commandments, as at this day.
prayeth before thee this day:

29 That thine eyes may be open toward this house night and day, even toward this place, of which thou hast said, By name that be there: That thou mayst hearken unto the prayer which thy seruants prayeth in this place,

30 And regard thou the supplication of thy seruants and of thy people Israel when they pray in this place: and heare thou in heaven thy dwelling place, and when thou hearest have mercy.

31 If any man trespass against his neighbour, or there go an old between, them, and the one compel the other, and come, Weareng before thine alter in this house:

32 Then hearken thou in heauen, and do and judge thy seruantes, that thou condemne the bugdoby, to bring his day upon his head: and mitthe the righteous, to gene him accordynge to his rightcounfesse.

33 When thy people Israel be put to the worde before the enemy, because they have sinned against thee, & afterwyrde turne agayne to thee, and knowledge bnto thy name, and pray and make supplication bnto thee in this house:

34 Then heare thou in heauen, to be mercifull unto the sins of thy people Israel, and bung them agayne into the land which thou gauest unto their fathers.

35 If heauen be shut vp, and there be no rayne, because they have sinned against thee: yet if they pray in this place, and knowledge bnto thy name, and turne from their sinne through thy scourging of them:

36 Then heare thou in heauen, and be mercifull unto the sins of thy seruantes, and of thy people Israel, that thou thend them a good way to walke in, and gene rayne upon the lande that thou hast gien to thy people to inherite.

37 If there be in the lande deearth, or exccss, yowth, blasing, grasshopper, or caterpillar: or if their enemy belie the in the lande of their cities, or whatsoever plague or cheneesse chance,

38 Then what prayers and supplication soever be made of any man, of all thy people Israel, which shall knowledge every man the plague of his owne heart, and stretch forth his hands to wards this house:

39 Heare thou then in heauen, even in thy dwelling place, and be mercifull, and do and gene every man according to his wayes, even as thou that only knowest his heart (for thou onely knowest the hearts of all the children of men)

40 That they may seer thee as long as they lyne in the lande Which thou gauest unto our fathers.

41 And likelybly if a straunger that is not of thy people Israel, come out of a farre country for the names sake:

42 (For they shall heare of thy great name, and of thy mighty hand, & of thy stretched out armes) and shall come and pray in this house:

43 (Therefore) heare thou in heauen thy dwelling place, & do all that the straunger calleth to thee for: that all nations of the earth may knowe thy name, and fear thee as do thy people Israel, and that they may knowe that thy name is called uppon in this house which I have builded.

44 If thy people go out to battell against their enemy thyselfe ouer thou shalt lend them, and that pray into the Lord toward the way of the cittye which thou hast chosen, and toward the house that I have built for thy name:

45 Heare thou in heauen their prayer and supplication, and judge their cause.

46 If they sinne against thee (for there is not man that sinneth not) thou be angry with them, and deluere them into the hand of their enemies, to that they carry them away prisoners, into the lande of their enemies whether farre or neare:

47 Yet if they turne agayne unto their hearts in the lande of them that carri ed them away captives, & returne and pray bnto thee in the lande of their enemies, saying, We have sinned, We have done wickedly, and have committed bugodlyesse:

48 And so turne agayne unto thee with all their heart and all their soule in the lande of their enemies Which led them away captive, and pray bnto thee, toward the way of their lande which thou gauest unto their fathers, and toward the cittye which thou hast chosen, and toward the house which I have builded for thy name:

49 Then heare thou their prayer and supplication in heauen thy dwelling place, and judge their cause:

50 And be mercifull unto thy people that have have sinned against thee, and unto all their iniquities whereby they have done wickedly against thee, I get thee them the favour of those which led them away captive, that they may have compassion on them.

51 And they shall be thine people, and thine inheritance, which thou shalt drive out of Egypt, even from the midst of the sons of iron.

52 And let thy people be open unto the publicans of thy servants, and unto the publicans of thy people Israel, to hearken unto them in all that they call for unto thee.

53 And thou shalt separate them from among all the nations of the earth to be thine sole inheritance, as thou saidst by the hand of Moses thy servant, when thou spakest our fathers' out of Egypt to the Lord God.

54 And when Solomon had made an end of praying all this prayer and supplication unto the Lord, he arose from before the altar of the Lord, (a) and from kneeling on his knees, and from stretching of his hands up to heaven,

55 And stood and blessed the congregation of Israel, with a loud voice, saying:

56 Blessed be the Lord God of Israel, with a loud voice, saying:

57 The Lord our God be with us, as he was with our fathers, and so lead us not, neither leave us:

58 But that he may bowe our hertes unto him, that we may walke in all his ways, and keep his commandements, his statues, and his judgements, which he commandeth our fathers.

59 And these are my words which I have prayed before the Lord, that he may put his dwelling place before the Lord our God day and night, that he may keep the cause of his servants, and the cause of his people Israel, what thing soever chance at any time:

60 That all nations of the earth may know that the Lord is God, and none but he.

61 Let your heart therefore be perfect with the Lord our God, that ye walk in his statutes, and keep his commandements, even as this day.

62 And the king and all Israel with him offered sacrifices before the Lord.

63 And Solomon offered a sacrifice of peace offerings which he offered unto the Lord, (b) even twenty and two thousand oxeen, and an hundred and twenty thousand sheep: And so the king and all the children of Israel dedicated the house of the Lord.

64. The same day did the king hallow the middle of the court that was before the house of the Lord: for there he offered burnt offerings, meat offerings, and burnt offerings, and the fat of the peace offerings: because the brazen altar that was before the Lord, was too little to receive the burnt offerings, meat offerings, and the fat of the peace offerings.

65 And Solomon held that same time an hogshead, and all Israel with him, a very great congregation, even from the entrance of Hamath unto the river of Egypt before the Lord our God (c) seven days, and seven days, even fourteen days.

66 And the eight day he sent the people away, and they blessed the king, and went into their tents, joyful and with glad heart, because of all the goodness that the Lord had done for David his servant, and for Israel his people.

The ix. Chapter.

1 The Lord appeared the second time to Solomon. 1 Solomon gathered cities to Hiram.
2 The Chanaanites became tributaries. 26 He sendeth forth horses for gold.

And when Solomon had finished the building of the house of the Lord, and the king's palace, and all that he had in his mind, he was appointed to make:

2 The Lord appeared to Solomon the second time, as he appeared unto him at Gibeon.

3 And the Lord said unto him, I have heard thy prayer, and thy intercession, that thou hast made before me: for I have hallowed this house, which thou hast built to put my name there for ever, and mine eyes shall be there perpetually.

4 And
4 And if thou wilt walk before me, as David thy father walked, in purenes of heart and in righteousness, to do all that I have commanded thee, and wilt keep my statutes, and my laws:
5 Then will I stablish the seat of thy kingdom upon Israel for ever, as I promised to David thy father, saying:
"Thou shalt not be without a man upon the seat of Israel.
6 But if ye and your children turn away from me, and will not keep my commandments and my statutes which I have set before you, but go and serve other gods, and worship them:
7 Then will I Weeze Israel out of the lande which I have given them, and this house which I have hallowed 1 for my name, will I cast out of my sight, and Israel shall be a proverb and a able among all nations, 8 And this house shall be taken away:
ds that every one that passeth by it, shall asone, and shall bysse, and they shall say: why hath the Lord done thus unto this lande, and to this house:
9 And they shall am不住e: Because they forsooke the Lordes their God, which bought their fathers out of the land of Egypt, and have taken hold upon other gods, and have worshipped them, and ereved them: therefore hath the Lord dought upon them all this evil.
10 *And it fortued, that at the ende of twenty yeeres when Solomon had finishd the building of the two houses, that is to wite, the house of the Lord and the kings palace, 11 (And Huram the king of Tyre brought Solomons timbre of Cedar, and firre trees, gold, and whatsoever he desired) Then Solomons gawe Huram twentie cities in the lande of Galilee.
12 And Huram came out of Tyre to see the cities which Solomon had gaven hym, and they pleased him not.
13 And he sayde: what cities are these which thou hast gaven me for my brother:
And he called them the lande of barren
vnto this day.
14 And Huram sent the king seve sore ta-lentes of gold,
15 (And this is the summe whiche king Solomon rapted for a tribute when he buided the house of the Lord, and his owne house, and Millo, and the wall of Hierusalem, and Hazor, and Pegeddo, and Gazer.
16 For Pharaos king of Egypt went vp, and toke Gazer and burnt it with fire, and lue the Chanaanites that dwelt in the citie, and gave it for a present unto his daughter, Solomones wife.
17 And Solomon buyde Gazer & Beth-holon the Loader.
18 And Waalah and Thamar in the wil-dernesse in the lande:
19 And all the treasure cities that Solomon had, and cities for his charrettes, and cities for his horsemen, and all that Solomons diered, and woulde buyd in Hierusalem, in Lebanon, and in all the lande of his dominion 20 And at the people that were left of the Amozites, Hethites, Pherezites, Hemes, and Jebulites, whiche were not of the children of Israel,
21 Their children that were left after them in the lande, whom the children of Israel also were not able to destroy: those did Solomon compello to bring tribute, unto this day.
22 But of the children of Israel dyd So-lonom *make no bondmen: But they were men of warre, his ministeres, his lozbes, his cappaynes, and rulers of his charrettes, and his horsemen.
23 And these were the lozdes that were set ouer Solomonus worke (even) five hundred were they and sietee, and they ruled the people that brought & worke.
24 And Pharaos daughter came by of the cite of Dauid, into her house which Solomon had bought for her: and then dyed he also buyde Millo.
25 And bynde a pere do Solomon offer burnt offringes & peace offringes upon the altar which he buide unto the Lord, and he burnt incense upon the altar that was before the Lord, and so he finished the house.
26 And king Solomon made a name of shippes in Axion Gaber, which is befor Eloth, on the hooke of the red sea, in the lande of Edom.
27 And Huram sent by shippes also of his seruauntes, that were shippirn and had knowledge of the sea, with the seruauntes of Solomon:
28 And they came to Ophi, and set from there (or foure hundred and twenty ta-lentes of golde, and brought it to bug Solomons.
The queen of Saba commeth to hear the wisedome of Solomon.

1 And the queen of Saba hearing the fame of Solomon concerning the name of the Lord, came to proove him with hard questions, and she came to Jerusalem with a very great traine, with camels that bare sweete odours, and gold exceeding much, and precious stones: and she came to Solomon, and communed with him of all that was in her heart.

2 And Solomon declared unto her all her questions, so that there was not one thing hid from the king which he expounded not unto her.

3 And the queen of Saba considered all Solomon's wisedome, and the house that he had builded,

4 And the meate of his table, and the sitting of his seruants, the order of his ministers, and their apparell, and his burnt sacrifices that he offered in the house of the Lord: and she was alioned.

5 And she layde into the king: It was a true word that I heard in mine owne land of thy sayings, of thy wisedome.

6 Howbeit I believed it not, till I came, and saw it with mine eyes: And beholde, Is the one halfe was not tolde me: for thy wisedome and magnificence exceeded the name which I heard of thee.

7 And he made the king fire holy, and he made him take the spicery and spices, and brought before him great plenty of Almugue trees, and precious stones from Ophir.

8 And the king made of the Almugue trees pillars for the house of the Lord, and for the king's palace, and made harpes and patteneryes for singers: There came no more suche Almugue trees, nor trees were any more seene into this day.

9 And the king loved that people to whom he gave such a wise ruler.
13 And king Solomon gave unto the queen of Saba according to all her desire whatsoever she asked, besides that he gave her of the tree with his own hande: And so she returned unto her own country, both she and her servants.

14 The weight of gold that came to Solomon in one yere, was six hundred threescore and five talents of gold,

15 Beside that he had of merchantes, and of the marshauntes of the spices, and of all the kings of Arabia, five and tenyons of the lodes of the country.

16 And king Solomon made two hundred targettes of beaten golde: five and three hundred talents of golde went to one targette, and the king put them in the house of the wood of Libanon.

17 And the king made a great feast of wine, and covered it with the best golde.

18 And the feast had five steps, and the toppe of the feast was rounde behinde: there were pommellles on either side on the place of the feast, and two lions stood before the pommellles.

19 And there stood twelve lions on the steps, five on a step: There was none like worke scene in any kingdome.

20 And all king Solomon's drinking vessels were of golde, and likewise all the vessels of the house of the wood of Libanon were of pure golde: And as for silver, it was nothing worth in the days of Solomon:

22 For the kingss name of shippes went on the sea unto Tharsis with the name of byrains shippes: even once in three yeres went the name to Tharsis, and bought golde and silver, and elephantes teeth, apes, and peecockes.

23 And so king Solomon exceeded all the kings of the earth both in riches and wydome.

24 And all the golde that was used in Solomon to heare his wydome which God had put in his heart:

25 And bought him every man his present, vessels of golde, vessels of silver, vessels of golde, rayment, harneffe, and sweete odours, and horses, and musches, perre by perre.

26 And Solomon gathered together charrettes and horsemen: and he had a thousand and four hundred charrettes, and twelve thousand horsemen, whom he bestowed in the charret cities, and with the king at Jerusalem.

27 And the king made silver in Jerusalem as plenteous as stones, and Cedar as plenteous as the wilde sygge trees that grove abundantly in the fieldes.

28 Also Solomon had horses brought out of Egypt, and fine wamen the kingss marchauntes receaue from the inner for a price.

29 A charret came by out of Egypt for the

1. Solomon hath a thousand wives and concubines, which bring him to idolatrie.

2. When as yet concerning these nations, the Lord splied unto the children of Israel. So not pried them, not let them come into, else they will turn your heart after their gods: Nevertheless, Solomon clave unto them in love.

3. And he had seven hundred queenes, and three hundred concubines: and his wives turned away his heart.

4. For it came to passe when Solomon was old, his wives turned his heart after other gods: and his heart was not perfect with the Lord his God, as was the heart of David his father.

5. For Solomon soloved Asaroth the god of the Zidonians, and Bethem the abomination of the Ammonites.

6. And Solomon wroght wickednesse in the sight of the Lord, and soloved not the Lord perfectly, as did David his father.

7. Wherefore did Solomon buy and bye a bye place for Chamor the abomination of Moab the hill that is before Jeruelalem, unto Bosheth the abomination of the children of Ammon.

8. And likewise dyd he for all his outlandish blynnes, which burnt cence and offerred unto their gods.

9. And the Lorde was angry with Solomon, because his heart was turned fro the Lord God of Israel, which had appeared unto him tripule.

10. And gave him a charge concerning this thing, that he shoulde not solowe other gods: but he kept not that which the Lorde commanded him.

11. Wherefore the Lorde splied unto Solomon: Forasmuch as this is done of thee, and thou hast not kept myne ap-
22 Pharaoh said unto him: What hast thou lacked here with me, that thou wouldest thus go to thyne owne country? he answered, Nothing, holy be thy name, let me go.

23 And God stirred him by another adversaire, one Bezon the sonne of Eliada, which fled from his lord Hadabezer king of Zoba:

24 And he gathered men unto him, and became captaine over the companie when Dauid slue them: And they went to Damaso, and became there, and reigned in Damaso.

25 Therefore was he an adversaire to Israel all the days of Solomon, and this was the mischief, in that Hadad dyd abhorre Israel and reigned over Syria.

26 And Jeroboam the sonne of Nabat, an Ephathite of Zareda (whose mother was called Zeruah, which was a wydowe) and he Solomon served, put by his hande against the king.

27 But this was the cause that he left by his hande against the king: Solomon bought Hélo, and mended the broken places of the rite of Dauid his father.

28 And this seconde Jeroboam was a man of strength and courage: And Solomon sawe the young man that he was able to do the woork, he made him ruler over all the charge of the house of Joseph.

29 And it chanced at that season that Jeroboam went out of Jerusalem, and the prophet Asia the Solomonite met him by the way, having a newe mantel on him, and they two were alone in the field.

30 Asa caught the newe mantel that was on him, and rent it in twelve pieces,

31 And sayd to Jeroboam, Take thee ten pieces; For thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Behold, I will rent the kingdom out of the hands of Solomon, and will give ten tribes to thee.

32 And he that have one for my seruant Dauids sake, and for Hierusalem, the citie which I have chosen out of all the tribes of Israel:

33 Because they have forsaken me, I have worshipped Ashrath the god of the Zobites, and Chamos the god of the Moabites, and Molom the god of the children of Amnon, I have not walked in my wayes, to fulfill my pleasure, my statutes, and my lawes, as dyd Dauid his father.

34 I will not take the whole kingdom out of his hand: But I will make him chief all his lyfe long for Dauid my seruantes sake whom I chose: because he kept my commandements and my statutes:

35 But I will take the kingdom out of his sonnes hande, and will give it unto thee, euen ten tribes of it:

36 And unto his sonne will I geue one tribe, that Dauid my seruant may have a light alway before me in Hierusalem, the citie which I have chosen me to put my name there.

37 And I will take thee, and thou shalt raigne according to all that thy soule desireth, and shalt be king over Israel.

38 And if thou hearken unto all that I commandee thee, and wilt walke in my wayes, and doe that is right in my sight, that thou kepe my statutes and my commandements as Dauid my seruant dyd, then will I be with thee, and buype thee a sure house, as I buype for my seruant Dauid, and will give Israel unto thee:

39 And I will for this [because which Seguomon hath committed] here the seede of Dauid, but not for ever.

40 Solomon sought therefore to kill Jeroboam, and Jeroboam arose, and fled into Egypt, unto Silea king of Egypt, and continued there in Egypt until the death of Solomon.

41 The rest of the wordes that concern Solomon, and all that he dyd, and his wydforne, are they not written in the booke of the wordes of Solomon?

42 The tyme that Solomon reigned in Hierusalem upon all Israel was fourtie yeres.

43 And Solomon slept with his fathers, and was buried in the citie of Dauid his father: And Rehoboam his sonne raigned in his steade.

The

1. Jehoram, the son of Solomon, reigned over all Israel.
2. And when Jehoram was come to reigne, he might not be forte as his father Solomon.
3. For the atchievements of his father Solomon in his days, and the whole power and glory wherein he reigned, were in the time of David his father, and in the days of Solomon his father, even as much as he reigned in Jerusalem.

4. Jehoram sent messengers unto all the Israelites, which were in the cities of Samaria, and said unto them, Go ye and bring me a man of mine tribe, an Ephraimite, that is skilful in playing on the cornet.
5. And there came one in answer unto the king, saying, Behold, I am such a one as thou seest me, playing with my pipe on the cornet.
6. And he said, Go in, play before the king. And he played before the king.

7. Then King Jehoram made him a chariot of battle, and they taught him to drive it, and his servants went on before him.
8. And all his brothers, one after another, were four kings: for he was the firstborn; but when he was slain, his brethren were kings.

9. Then all the Israelites, as many as were present, which were returned out of the lands of Israel, and the rest of the tribes of Judah, that were returned out of Jordan, from the wilderness of Hermon, and from the lea of the sea, under Zareb, gathered unto Jehoram, and did choose him, and anointed him king over the land.

10. And there were gathered into Judah out of all the tribes of Israel, such as would go on a warre, and to battle with Jehoram the son of Solomon.

11. So the people came to Jehoram, and Jehoram went out to meet them: and they were with him, even a thousand mighty men of valor, and two hundred horsemen.

12. And Jehoram the son of Solomon passed by the ships of Tarshish with an hundred and threescore ships of Tarshish with him: and he sought to help Jehoram the son of Solomon.

13. And Jehoram the son of Solomon was on the way with all the Israelites: and with Jehoram was no other help, except some few out of Judah that were come with him.

14. But Jehoram the son of Solomon returned not again by the way of theден, because the ships went against him to Galgala: therefore his father's name was called Ethan.

15. And Jehoram the son of Solomon departed out of Jerusalem after three years, because of the king's evil disease. For his father had said unto him, Take heed, when thou goest out, and be sure to take thy medicine, lest it be worse unto thee.

16. And his going out was against the counsel of the princes of his father's house, who warned him, saying, See thou not unto Baasha the son of Ahijah, all Israel, and how he increaseth the sins of Omri the son of Elah, for that thou makest thy father's house great, and that thou rendest kingdoms out of Judah, and puttest thy mother's house todeath.

17. Then the princes of his father's house, coming to him, said, Why havethou done thus? and the princes of his father's house lifted up their voice.

18. And he said unto them, What have I done now? say, and why have the princes of my father's house come to me in this wise?

19. And they said, As thy soul liveth, thy father made our father's house great, and made us inherit great possessions: but lo, David our father made you not possessions.

20. Wherefore doth the counsel of omri come upon me? for my father made little of his possessions when he died: for David our father made him little.

21. Why dost thou use it against me? for I am but a little child.

22. Then they cursed him, and said, Thou hast杀人, and shall it be well unto thee? thou hast made our father's house great, and see how thou increasest it against thy soul. And they went again in their anger when he spake with them.
22 And the word of the Lord came unto Senaiah the son of the man of God, saying:

23 Speak unto Rehoboam the son of Solomon king of Judah, and unto all the house of Judah and Benjamin, saying:

24 Thus saith the Lord, Ye shall not go up, nor yet fight against your brethren: return every man to his own house: for this thing is of me. And they hearkened unto the word of the Lord, and returned from going against Joab.

25 Then Jeroboam built a Bethel, and went from thence, and sent unto the house of Bethel:

26 And Jeroboam thought in his heart, shall it not be, now the Lord hath said, Return every man to his own house? so Jeroboam did, and went to the house of Israel. And there he served as king over all Israel forty and one years.

27 And Jeroboam made an altar, and said, A sacrifice shall be made on this altar.

28 Whereupon the king took counsel, and made two calves of gold, and said unto the priests of Bethel, 1 bring forth ye the people unto me, that I may sacrifice unto the Lord, even as the priests of Jerusalem do.

1 And the Lord spake unto Jeroboam, saying:

2 And he cried against the altar in the house of the Lord, and said, O altar, altar, be thou cut down: for the Lord hath spoken, Behold, a calf shall be brought unto thee out of the house of David.

3 And he gave a token the same time, saying, This is the token which the Lord hath spoken, The altar shall fall.

4 And when the king heard the saying of the man of God, which had cried against the altar, he stretched out his hand from the altar, saying, Holde him: And his hand which he put forth against him, by which he could not pull it in again, failed him.

5 And the altar also clave at the same time, even from the altar which was upon it, and all his men's bones fell down upon the altar.

6 And the king took an ox, and sacrificed the people, and said unto the man of God, Behold, even the beasts which I have burnt I have given unto the people, and what shall I give thee? so he gave him the king's mark of silver.

7 And the king said unto the man of God, Come hither with me: and it shall come to pass, when I come into the city, I will make known unto thee what shall happen to thee.

8 And the man of God said, I shew thee what shall happen to thee this day by the way which thou goest: And, behold, thou shalt drink no water, nor eat bread: but shalt be cast upon this stone.

9 And he spake to him: and there came a wild ass of the desert ran upon him, and he slept under it: then he took of the stone, and gave it him to eat.
For so was it charged me through the word of the Lord, saying: Eat no bread, nor drink water, nor return again by the same way thout comest.

And he went another way, and returned not by the way that he came to Bethel.

And there dwelt an old prophet in Bethel, and his son came and told him all the words that the man of God had done that day in Bethel, and the words which he had spoken unto the king told they their father also.

And their father laye unto them: What way went he? And his son entreated him what way the man of God went, which came from Juda.

And he said unto his son: Saddle me the ass. which when they had saddled, he got him up thereon.

And went after the man of God, and found him sitting under a tree, and he said unto him: Art thou the man of God that came from Juda? And he said, I am.

He laye unto him: Come houme with me, and eate bread.

He said: I may not return with thee, to go in with thee: neither up I eate bread, nor drink water with thee in this place.

For it was said to me in the word of the Lord: Thou shalt eate no bread, nor drink water there, nor return again to go by the way that thou comest.

And he said unto him: I am a prophet also as well as thou, and an angel spake unto me in the word of the Lord, saying: Burying him again with thee into thine house, that he may eate bread, and drink water. And he lyed unto him.

And so he went again with him, and did eate bread in his house, and drank water.

And it came to pass, that as they sat at the table, the word of the Lord came unto the prophet that brought him again:

And he cryed unto the man of God that came from Juda, saying, Thus saith the Lord: Because thou hast dis obeyed the mouth of the Lord, and hast not kept the commandment which the Lord thy God commanded thee:

But easte not backe againe, and hast eaten bread, I drunke water in the place concerning which the Lord did say unto thee, Thou shalt eate no bread, nor drunke no water: thy caraffe shalt not come unto the sepulche of thy fathers.

And so it came to passe that when he had eate bread, and drunke, he saddled him the ass, to wit, to the prophet who he had brought again.

And when he was gone, (b) a lion met him by the way, and slue him, and his caraffe was rafft in the way, the ass stood therby, and the lion stoode by the cote also.

And men that passed by sawe the caraffe rafft in the way, the lion standing by the caraffe, and they came and tolde it in the towne where the oldt prophet dwelt.

And when the prophet that brought him backe againe from the way heard thereof, he said: It is the man of God, he was disobedient unto the word of the Lord, and therefore the Lord had delivered him unto the lion, which had eate him, and slue him according to the word of the Lord, which he spake unto him.

And he spake to his sons, saying: Saddle me an ass: And they saddled him.

And he went, and founde his body cast in the way, and the ass and the lion stode by the cote, and the lion had not eaten the carasse, no hurt the ass.

And the prophet tooke by the body of the man of God, and layde it upon the ass, and brought it againe: and the oldt prophet came to the city to lament, and to bury him.

And he layde his body in his owne grave, and then lamented over him (saying) Alas my brother.

And when he had buried him, he spake to his sons, saying, when I am dead, see that ye bury me in the sepulche where the man of God is buried: laye my bones beside his bones.

And for the saying which he spake at the word of the Lord against the altar in Bethel, and against all the houses of the places which are in the cities of Samaria, shall come to passe.

Hold weare, that Jeroboam con verted not from his wicked way: but turned backe, and made of the lowest of the people priests of the hie places: And who so pleased him, he filled his hand, and he became priest of the hie places.

And this thing turned to shine into the house of Jeroboam, even to destroy him, and to bring him to naught from of the face of the earth.

The xiii. Chapter.

Jeroboam tended his wife disguis'd to Jair the prophet, who declareth unto him the destruction of his house. Juda is punished by Zaca.

1 That time Abia the sonne of Jeroboam fell sick.

2 And Jeroboam said unto his wife: Up I pray thee, and disguife thy selfe, that thou be not known to be the wyse of Jeroboam: and get thee to Sho, for there is Abia the prophet which tolde me,' that I should be king over this people.

3 And take with thee ten loaves, and cracknels, and a croufe of hony, and go to him, that he may tell thee what shall become of the childe.

4 And Jeroboam's wyse did so, and a rose, and went to Sho, and came to the house of Abia: But Abia could not see, for his eyes were wretten dimme for age.

5 And the Lord faide unto Abia: Beholde, the wyse of Jeroboam commeth to affe a thing of thee for her sonne, for he is sicke: But thus shalt thou saye vnto her, And while she came in, the fayned her felfe to be another woman.

6 But when Abia heard the sounde of her fette as the came in at the doore, he sayd: Come in thow wyse of Jeroboam, why faynest thou thy felle to be another: I am sent to thee [to deah thee] heavy thynge.

7 Go, tell Jeroboam, thus saith the Lord God of Israel: [The repeated me] for as I eracted thee from among the people, and made thee prince over my people Israel,

8 I did rent the kingdom away from the house of Davud, & gave it thee: Never thelesse, thou hast not ben as my feraunt Davud, which kept my commandements, and goodned me with all his heart, to do that onely which was right in myn eyes:

9 But halfe done euue al that were before thee: For thou hast gone & made thee other gods, and moniter images, to provoke me, and haft caft me beind the bache:

10 Therefore beholde, I will bring cuill upon the house of Jeroboam, and will roote out from Jeroboam euue him that palleth against the wall, and him that is in pyffe, and foraken in Israel, and vyl make alway the remanunt of the house of Jeroboam, as an empty vessel being done untill he hath spaced all.

11 Whose cource of Jeroboam housethe her in the towne, him shall all the dogges eate: and he that wytheth in the wyde, shall not the fones of the apye eate: for the Lorde hath laide it.

12 Up therefore & get thee to thynge owne houseth: Beholde, when thy foote entred E into the citie, the childe shall dye.

13 And all they of Israel shal loune for him, and burye him: For he only of Jeroboam that came to the sepulche, becaule in him there is found goodnesse toward the Lord God of Israel in the house of Jeroboam.

14 Moreover, the Lorde saith bye him by a long our Israel which shall destroy the house of Jeroboam in that day: But what is it nowe:

15 For the Lorde shall smyte Israel as when a reede is shaken in the waacke; he shall weede Israel out of this good lande which he gave to his fathers, & shall slerte them beyond the ruer, because they have made them groves, and angred the Lorde.

16 And he shall goe Israel by because of the furnes of Jeroboam, which did sorne, and made Israel to sorne.

17 And Jeroboam's wyse arose, and departed, and came to Esrah: And when he came to the threshold of the doore, the childe was dead.

18 And al Israel buryed him, and lamenting him, according to the word of the Lorde which he spake by the hands of his feraunt Abia the prophet.

19 And the rest of the doomes that concern Jeroboam, both he vared, and how he raigned, behold they are written in the booke of the cronetes of the kingses of Israel.

20 And the days which Jeroboam raigned were twents and twentie yeres: And when he was labyd affeape with his fathers, Hadab his sonne raigned in his stead.

Chapter 3

The eighteenth year of the reign of King Jeroboam, the son of Nebat, Rehoboam, the son of Abijam, reigned over Judah.

Three years reigned he in Jerusalem; and his mother's name was Maacah, the daughter of Abitubol.

And he walked in all the sins of his father which he had done before him; and his heart was not perfect with the Lord his God, as the heart of David his father.

Nevertheless, for Dauid sake did the Lord his God give him a light in Jerusalem, that he set up his son after him, and established Jerusalem:

Because Dauid did that which was right in the sight of the Lord, and turned from nothing that he commanded him all the days of his life, save only in the matter of Urias the Hethite.

And there was warre betwixt Rehoboam and Jeroboam, as long as he lived.

The rest of the words that concerne Abijam, and all that he did, are they not written in the bookes of the cronicles of the kings of Judah; and there was warre betwixt Abijam and Jeroboam.

And Abijam slept with his fathers, and they buried him in the city of David: and Asa his son reigned in his stead.

And Asa did that was right in the sight of the Lord, as did David his father.

And he took away the male wives out of the land, and put away all the abominable idols that his fathers had made.

And he put downe *Maachah his mother from bearing rule, because she had made an idol in a grove: And Asa destroyed her idol, and burnt it by the brooke Cevon.

But the he places were not put downe:
15 He brought in the holy vessels of his father, and that he had dedicate unto the house of the Lord, gold, and silver, and ivories.
16 And there was warre betweene Asa, king of Juda, and all his days.
17 And Baasha king of Israel went vp against Juda, and built Ramah, so that he would let none go out of it to Asa king of Juda.

Then Asa took of the silver and golde that was left in the treasures of the house of the Lord, and the treasures of the kings house, and delivered them into the handes of his seruantes, and king Asa lent them to *Benhadab the sonne of Tabrimon the sonne of Hezion king of Syria, that dwelt at Damaske, saying:

19 There is a bonde betweene me & thee, betweene my father and thy father: and behold I have sent unto thee a present of silver and golde, that thou come and breake the bonde that thou hast with Baasha king of Israel, that he may depart from me.
20 So Benhadab heartened unto king Asa, sent the captaynes of the hoastes which he had, against the cities of Israel, and smote Ijon, and Dan, and Abel, Beth Maachah, and all the region of Ephraim, with all the lande of Nephtal.
21 And when Baasha heard thereof, he left building of Ramah, and dwelt in Tirza.

22 Then king Asa made an proclamation throughout all Juda, that none should be executed: And so they took the stones of Ramah and the timber wherewith Baasha had builded, and king Asa built with them the hill of Beemanun and Migbed.

23 The remnant of all the bondes that concerne Asa, and all his might, and all that he did, and the cities which he build ded, are they not written in the booke of the cronies of the kinges of Juda: Nevertheless, in his old age he was diseased in his flesh.

24 And Asa slept with his fathers, and was buried beside his fathers in the city of David his father: And *Zachaphat his sonne raigned in his stead.
25 And Nadab the sonne of Jeroboam began to raigne upon Israel the second yere of Asa king of Juda, and raigned upon Israel two yeres.
26 And he did evil in the sight of the Lord, walking in the way of his father, in his same wherewith he made Israel sinne.

27 And Baasha the sonne of Ahijah, which was of the house of Ithamar, conferred against him, and Baasha smote him at Gibbethon, which is a citie of the Philistines (for Nadab and all Israel layed siege to Gibbethon)

28 Even in the third yere of Asa king of Juda, did Baasha slay him, and raigned in his steade.

29 *And it ftoyled that when he was king, he smote all the house of Jeroboam, and he left him naught that breathed, but till he had put him clean out, according unto the saying of the Lorde which he spake by his seruant Asa the Selonite:

30 Because of the sines of Jeroboam, wherewith he sinned, and made Israel sinne, when he with his profanation angered the Lorde God of Israel.

31 The rest of the bondes that concerne Nadab, and all that he did, are they not written in the booke of the cronies of the kinges of Israel:

32 And there was warre betweene Asa, and Baasha king of Israel all their days.
33 So in the third yere of Asa king of Juda, began Baasha the sonne of Asa to raigne over all Israel in Tirza, twelve and foure yeres.
34 And he did that which was evil in the sight of the Lorde, walking in the way of Jeroboam, and in his time, where with he made Israel to sinne.
Then the word of the Lord came to Jehu the son of Hanani against Baasha, saying,
Forasmuch as I exalted thee out of the dust, and made thee captain over my people Israel, and thou hast walked in the way of Jeroboam, and hast made my people Israel to sin, to anger me with their sins:
Behold, I will content out the posterity of Baasha, and the posterity of his house; and will make the house like the house of Jeroboam the son of Nebat.

That man of Baasha which dyeth in the city, him shall the dogges eate: and that man of him which dyeth in the fields, shall the fowles of the ayce eate.

The rest of the words that concern Baasha, and what he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel?

And so Baasha slept with his fathers, and was buried in Thirza, and Ela his son reigned in his stead.

And by the hande of the prophet Jehu the son of Hanani, came the word of the Lord against Baasha, and against his house, against all the wickednesse that he did in the sight of the Lord, in angering him with the wordes of his other baumes, that he should be like the house of Jeroboam, and because he killed (a) him.

The twentie & sixth yere of Asa king of Juda, began Ela the sonne of Baasha to reign over Israel in Thirza, two yeres.

And his seruante Zimri (which was captain of halfe his charcts) conspired against him as he was in Thirza drinking, and was durnken in the house of Ara, steward of his house in Thirza.

And Zimri came, and spake him, and killed him in the twentie & seventh yere of Asa king of Juda, and reigned in his stead.

And it so fortuned that when he was king and sat on his state, he slue al the house of Baasha, not leaing thereof one to passe against a wall: yea, he slue his kinefolkes and frendes al.

And thus did Zimri destroy all the house of Baasha, according to the word of the Lord, which he spake against Baasha by the hande of Jehu the prophet,

For all the names of Baasha and names of Ela his sonne which they slumde, and made Israel to sin, and anger the Lord God of Israel with their vanities.

The rest of the words that concern Ela all that he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel?

In the twentie & seventh yere of Asa king of Juda, did Zimri raigne seven daies in Thirza; for the people was then in the houfe believing Gibbethon, a title of the Philistines.

And the people in the houfe heard one saye, Zimri hath conspired, and slayne the king: wherefore all they of Israel made Amri the captain of the houfe, king over Israel that same day, even in the houfe.

And Amri departed by from Gibbethon, and all Israel with him, and they beleived Thirza.

And when Zimri saw that the houfe must needs be taken, he went into the palace of the kings house, and burnt him selfe, and the kings house with hye, and so dyed.

For his names which he surned, in doing that which is evil in the sight of the Lord, and in walking in the waye of Jeroboam, and in his names which he did, and in that he made Israel to sinne.

The rest of the words that concern Zimri, the reason that he wrought, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel?

Then were the people of Israel divided into two partes, so halfe the people followed Ethbi the sonne of Sainath, making him king: and the other halfe followed Amri.

But the people that followed Amri, prevailed against the people that followed Ethbi the sonne of Sainath: And 10 24 And the woman said unto Elias: Nay I knowe that thou art a man of God: and that the wyse of the Lorde in thy mouth, is true.

The xvii. chapter.

1 Elias is sent to Ahab. 11 Obadiah hideth an hundred prophets. 40 Elias killeth all Baal's prophets. 43 He obstinately ranne.

A

After processe of many daies, the word of the Lorde came to Elias in the third pere, saying: Go shewe thy selfe unto Ahab, and I will sende ranne upon the earth.

2 And Elias went to shewe his selfe unto Ahab: and there was a great famishement in Samaria.

3 And Ahab called Obadiah, which was the governor of his house: and Obadiah feared God greatly.

4 For when Izahel, beheaded the prophets of the Lorde, Obadiah took an hundred prophets, and hid them by fittie in a cave, and provided bread and water for them.

5 And Ahab said unto Obadiah: Go into the lande, into all fountaines of water, and into all brookes, if happily we may finde grasse to save the houles and nules alio, and that we destroy not some of the beasts.

6 And he they deuided the lande betwene them to walke through it: Ahab went one way by his selfe, and Obadiah went another way by him selfe.

7 And it came to passe that as Obadiah was in the way, beholde Elias met him, and he knew him, and fell on his face, and said: Art not thou my lorde Elias?

8 And he answered him, I am he: and told thy lorde, beholde, Elias is here.

9 He said: What have I sinned, that thou wouldest destroy the seruants of the Lorde to slay me?

10 As the Lorde thy God liueth, there is no nation or kingdom, where thy lord hath not sent to leake thee: And when they said, he is not there, he took an ost of the kingsome and nation when he found thee not.

11 And now thou luste, go, and tell thy lorde that Elias is here.
12 And as soon as I am gone from thee, the spirit of the Lord shall carry thee into a far country, that I do not know, and so when I come and tell Ahab, and he can not find thee, he shall slay me: But I thy servant fear the Lord from my youth up.

13 And it came to pass, when Jezebel slew the prophets of the Lord, that there remained of the prophets of the Lord four hundred men, hid in Jezebel's house, one hundred every cubit of space: and they fed the Lord with bread brought of carry-2

14 And Ahad sent unto all the children of Israel, and gathered the prophets together unto mount Carmel.

15 And Elia said unto Ahab, As the Lord of hosts liveth, before whom I stand, I will surely cause to return theOm. 20, 21, 22, 23, 25, 26.

20 So Ahab sent unto all the children of Israel, and gathered the prophets together unto mount Carmel.

21 And Elia came unto all the people, and said: How long halt ye between two opinions? If the Lord be God, follow him: but if Baal be he, then go after him. And the people answered, not one word.

22 Then said Elia unto the people, I only remain a prophet of the Lord: but Baal's prophets are four hundred and fifty.

23 Let them therefore give us two oxen, and let them choose one, and cut hymn pieces, and set them on fire, and put no fire under: and I will dress the other oxen, and lay him on wood, and put no fire under.

24 And call ye on the name of your gods, and I will call on the name of the Lord: and the God that answereth by fire, let him be God. And all the people answered, And Elia said unto the prophets of Baal, Choose you one ox, and dress him first, for ye are many; and call on the name of your gods, but put no fire under.

25 And they took the one ox that he dyed, and they dressed it, and called on the name of Baal from morning even to noon, saying, O Baal hear us. But there was no voice, nor any to answer.
And they lepe upon the altar that they had made.

27 And at none Elias mocked them, and said: Crye loud in, for he is a God, per-adventure he is talking, or occupied in following upon his enemies, or is in his journey, or happily he sleepeth, and must be awaketh, with your cri.

28 And they cried loud, and cut them selves as their manner was with knives and lammers, till the blood flowed on the.

29 And it chanced, that when midnight was passed, they prophesied until the time of the evening sacrifice: But there was neither boype, nor one to ann-close, nor any that regarded them.

30 And Elias said unto all the folks: Come, and all the people came to him; and he repaired the altar of the Lord that was broken.

31 And Elias took twelve stones, according to the number of the twelve tribes of the sons of Jacob, unto whom the word of the Lord came, saying: Israel shall be thy name.

32 And with the stones he made an altar in the name of the Lord: And he made a ditch about the altar, as great as would contain two measures of seed.

33 And he put the wood in order, and heled the ore in pieces, and laped him on the wood, and laid: Fill four barrells with water, and poise it on the burn't sacrifice, and on the wood.

34 And he sayde: Do this againe, and they dyed to the second time, and he sayde againe: Do it the thicthe time, and they dyed it the thirde time.

35 And the water ran about about the altar, as the filled the pitte with water also.

36 And it fortuned, that when they should offer the evening sacrifice, Elias the prophet came, and sayde: Lord God of Abraham, Israhel, and of Israel, it shalbe knownen this day that thou art the God in Israel, and I thy sernaunt, and that I have done all these thinges at thy commandement.

37 Hence me O Lord, hear me, that this people may knowe that thou art the Lord God, and that thou hast turned their heart againe nothe at the last.

38 And the fire of the Lord fel, and confirmed the burn't sacrifice, and the wood, and the bones, and the dulle, and licked by the water that was in the pit.

39 And when all the people saw it, they fell on their faces, and sayde: The Lord he is God, the Lord he is God.

40 And Elias laid by them: Take the prophets of Baal, and let not one of them escape. And they took them, and Elias brought them into the brooke Jordan, and dide them there.

41 And Elias sayde unto Ahab: Get thee by, eat and drink: for there is a soure of much rayne.

42 And so Ahab went by to eat and to drink, and Elias went by to the top of Carmel, and he layde him selfe flat by the earth, and put his face betweene his knees.

43 And sayde to his sernaunt: Go by, pray thee, and take towards the way of the sea, and he went by, and looked, and sayde: There is nothing. And againe he sayde: Go againe seven times.

44 And it fortuned that at the seventhe time, he sayde: Beholde there arpceth a little cloude of the sea lyke a manes hand, he sayde: Go, and say by Ahab, Take fast the chare, and get thee downe, that the rayne stoppe thee not.

45 And it came to passe, that in the meaner while the heaven was blanke with cloudes and wunde, and there was a great rayne: And Ahab got vp, and came to Jezrael.

46 And the hande of the Lord was on Elias, and he gied by his toures, and raine before Ahab, till he came to Jezrahel.

The xix. Chapter.

1 Elias being from Jezrael, is nourished by the angel of God. 2 He is commanded to annoy the haate, Phia, and Elui.
But he sent forth a damp's journey into the wilderness, and came and sat under a Juniper tree, and beheld his soul that he might die, and sayd: It is nowe enough O Lord, take my soule, for I am not better then my fathers.

And as he lay and slept under the Juniper tree: behold an angel touched him, and sayde: Arise, and take vp thy bed, and go.

And when he looked about him, behold there was a cake baken on the coales, and a bessell of water at his head: And he dyd eate and drinke, and layde him downe againe to sleepe.

And the angel of the Lord came againe the seconde time, and touched him, and sayde: Arise, and take vp thy bed, and go.

And he arose, and dyd eate and drinke, and walcked in the strength of that meate, the foure dayes and foure nightes, even into the mount of God.

When he came thither unto a cave, he lodged therein all night: And behold, the word of the Lord came to him, and sayde unto him: What doest thou here Elia?

And he answered, I have ben ieluos, for the Lord God of holastes sake: For the children of Israel have forsaken thy covenant, broke downe thyne auters, and slayne thy prophets with the woode: and I onely am left, they take my lyfe to take it away.

And he sayde: Come out, and stand vp, yound before the Lord. And behold, the Lord went by, a nightyke strong wunde that rent the mountaynes, and brake the rokes before the Lord: but the Lord was not in the wunde: And after the wunde, came an earthquake, but the Lord was not in the earthquake.

And after the earthquake came fire, but the Lord was not in the fire: And after the fire, came a small still boype.

And when Elia hearde, he covered his face with his mantel, and went out: and报业de in the entrance of the cave: And beholde, there came a boype unto him, and sayd: What doest thou here Elia?

And he answered: I have ben ieluos, for the Lord God of holastes sake, because the children of Israel have forsaken thy covenant, broke downe thyne auters, and slayne thy prophets with the woode: and I onely am left, they take my lyfe to take it away.

And the Lord sayde unto him: Go and turne thy way to the wilderness into Damascus. And when thou commest there, annoynt Hazael king over Syria.

And Jehe sonne of Mimit shall thou annoynt king over Israel: And Elisa the sonne of Saphat of Abel Meholah shall thou annoynt to be prophete in the roome.

And it shall come to passe, that whereas escapeth the wode of Hazael, him shall Jehe slay: Es if any man scape the wode of Jehe, him shall Elisa put to death.

And there, I haue left me seven thousand in Israel, of which the newe man (bowed his knees unto Boa), nor kisst him with his mouth.

So he departed thence, and found Elisa the sonne of Saphat plowing, hauing twelve yoke of oxen before him, and he with the twelve: And Elisa went by him, and cast his mantle upon him.

And he left the oren, and came after Elisa, and sayde: Let me I pay thee kyssel my father and my mother, and then I will folowe thee. He sayde unto him: Go backe againe, for what is it that I have done to thee?

And when he went backe againe from him, he took a couple of oxen, and led them, and dressed the flesh with the instruments of the oren, and gane into the people, and they dyd eate. And then he arose, and went after Elisa, and ministred unto him.

The xx. Chapter.

Samaria is besieged. 1: The Lord promiseth the victorie to Ahab by a prophet. The king of Israel made peace with Benhadad, and is reproved therfor by the prophete.

And Benhadad the king of Syria gathered all his hoasts together, hauing theorie two kinges with him, and horseke and charrets: and went by and besieged Samaria,warred against it.

And he sent messengers to Ahab king of Israel into the cite, and sayde unto him, thus saith Benhadad.

The silver and gold is myne, the lapes rest of thy vices and thy childrens name.

And the king of Israel answered and said: By thy king, according to thy sayinge, I am thyne and all that I haue.
And when the messengers came again, they said, thus saith Benhadad: Foasmuch as I have sent unto thee saying, Thou shalt deliver me thy silver and thy gold, and thy byres, and thy children:

I will therefore send my seruantes unto thee to morrow, and they shall search thy house, and the houses of thy seruantes, and whatsoever is pleasant in thine eyes, shall they take it in thy hands, and bring it away.

Then the king of Israel sent for all the elders of the land, and said, Take heed, I pray you, and see heede this sworde goeth about amonge you: For he sent unto me for my seruantes, for my children, for my silver, and for my golde, and I denyed him not.

And all the elders and all the people said, hearten not unto him, nor consent.

Wherefore he sayde unto the messengers of Benhadad, Tell my lord the king, all thou saydest send for to thy seruanct at the first time, that I will do: but this thing I may not do. And the messengers departed, and brought auntrice againe. And Benhadad sent unto him again, and sayde, Thus and thus do the gods unto me, of the buffet Samaria be enough so at the people that soloves me, to take every man an handfull.

And the king of Israel aumhuered, and sayde, Tell him, let not hurt that puteth on his harsesse boast hym selfe, as he that puteth it on.

And it becameth, that when Benhadad hearde that saynges, as he was with the kings drinking within the pavilions, and he fayde unto this seruantes, put your fieres in order. And they let them selves in array against the citty.

And behinde, there came a prophete unto Abhod king of Israel, saying, thus sayth the Lord, hast thou seene all this great multitude befoide, I will deliver unto thynne hand this day, este thou shalt knowe that I am the Lord.

And Abhod sayde,

Whom shall I sayth: Thus sayth the Lord, even by the seruantes of the governours of thy citty, he sayde againe, who shall order the battayle, and he aumhuered, Thus.

Then he numbered the seruantes of the governours of thy cittyes, & they were two hundred and thirtie and two: And after them also he numbered all the people of the children of Israel (even) seven thousand.

And they went out at noonne, but Benhadad hyde himself till he was hidden in the pavilions, both he and the kinges: one thirtie & two kinges that helpe him. And the seruantes of the governours of thy cittyes went out first, and Benhadad sent out, & they helpe him sayinge, There are men come out of Samaria.

He sayde, Whether they be come out for peace, take them aluye, or whether they be come out to fight, take them yet aluye.

And so those young men of the governours of thy cittyes came out of the citty, and the host after them:

And they slue every one his enemy [that came in his way]: and the Syrians fled, & they of Israel soloved after them: And Benhadad the king of Syria stoped on a hote, with his horsemen.

And the king of Israel went out, and smote the hostes and charites, & with a great slaughter flee the Syrians.

And there came a prophete to the king of Israel, and saide unto him, So soone, and play the man, be dyke, take heede what thou doest: for when the pere is gone about, the king of Syria will come by against thee.

And the seruantes of the king of Syria soloved unto him: The gods of the hilles are their gods, and therefore they had the better of vs: but let vs fight against them in the plaine, and, for what we will we shall have the better of them.

And this do, take the kinges awaie every man out of his place, & put them in their coones:

And do thou number thee an hoste, lye the host that thou hast lost, such hostes and suche charites, and we will fight against them in the plaine, and thou shalt see we get the better of the. And he heartened unto their byrde, and by euent.

And it becameth, that after the pere was gone about, Benhadad numbered the Syranes, and went up to Apher to fight against Israel.

And the children of Israel were numero, & with their whole number went they against them, and the children of Israel pitched before them lyke two little hostes of hiders: but the Syranes filled the country.
And there came a man of God, and layd unto the king of Israel, thus saith the Lord: Because the Syrians have layd, the Lord is but God of the hilles, and not God of the vallyes: therefore will I deliver all this great multitude into thy hande, and ye shall knowe that I am the Lord.
And they pitched one ouer againe
the other seven daies: and it came to passe, thaty in the seuenth day the battle was townd, and the children of Israel sue of the Syrians an hundred thousand footmen in one day.
But the rest fled to Aphic into the city, and there fell a wall upon twentie and seven thousande of the men that were left: And Benhadad fled, and came into the citie, from chamber to chamber.
And his seruantes said unto him: Be nhoile, we have heard say that the kings of the house of Israel are merry full kings: we will therefore put sackcloth about our loynes, and ropes about our heades, and go out to the king of Israel, it shall be he will saue thy lyfe.
And so they girded sackcloth about their loynes, and put ropes about their heades, and came to the king of Israel, and said:
Thy seruant Benhadad saith, I pray thee let me lyue. He sayde: Is he yet a lyue? he is my brother.
And men tolde that wood for good lunke and hastily caught out of his mouth;
and sayde: Ye thy brother Benhadad.
He sayde: Goe, bring him hyther. And Benedad came out unto him, and he caused him to come by the charet.
And he said vnto him: The cities which my father tolde vnto thy father, I will restore againe, and thou shalt make breake to: shee in Damascus, as my fa ther dyd in Samaria: And I wil make an apponntment with thee, and send him away, and so he made an apponntment with him, and sent him away.
And there was an other man of the 3 children of the prophets, which sayde unto his neighbour in the word of the Lord: Say me I pray thee, and the man woulde not sayte him.
Then sayde he vnto him: Because thou hast not hearkened unto the voyce of the Lord: behold, assoone as thou art de parted from me, a lion shall sayte thee.
And it came to passe, that assoone as he was departe from him, a lion found him, and devoure him.
Then he found another man, and sayde:
Say me I pray thee. And the man snoate him, so that in sayting he wound
him.
So the prohett went southe, and wa1ted for the king by the way, and put him selfe out of knowledge: With ashe which he layed vpon his face.
And when the king came by, he cryed unto the king, and sayde: Thy seruant went out in the mawdes of the barret, and behold there went away a man, whom another man brought vnto me, and sayde, Repe this man: and if he be myssed or lost, the yse shall goe for his, or els thou shalt haue a talent of siluer.
And as thy seruant had brye there to do, he was gone. And the king of Is rael layde vnto him: Even to shal thy judgmemt be, as thou hast defete thy selfe.
And he answeres, and take the ashes away from his face, and the king of Israel knyde him, that he was of the prophets.
And he layde vnto him, thus sayth
the Lord: Because thou hast let go out of thy hande a man that is in my curfe, the yse shall goe for his yse, and the pe ople for his people.
And the king of Israel went to his house wuyward and in displeasure, came to Samaria.

The xxii. Chapter.

8 Israel commandeth to kill Naboth for the vineyard that he refused to sell to Jhab.
9 Elias reproacheth Jhab, and he repenteth.

After these things, it chanced, that Naboth
the Israelite had a vineyard in Jzrael, hard by the palace of Ahab king of Sam aria.
And Ahab spake vnto Naboth, say ing: *Give me thy vineard, that I may make me a garde of herbs ther of, because it lyeseth vnto me my house, and I wil give thee for it a better vineyard, den it is: or rather if it please thee
I will give thee the worth of it in mo ney.

3 And

And Naboth said to Ahab: The Lord spake that same word to me, that I should give the inheritance of my fathers unto thee.

And Ahab came into the house devouring and envying the vineyard which Naboth the Jezreelite had spoken to him, for he had said: I will not give thee the inheritance of my fathers. And he layde him downe upon his bed, and turned alway his face, and woulde eate no bread.

But Jezabel his wife came to him, and layde him upon: Why is the spirit of so sorrowfull a day that thou eatest no bread?

And he layde him: For I hate you to Naboth the Jezreelite, and will layde him, and give me the vineyard for money: Will please thee I will give thee another vineyard for it. And he answered: I will not give thee my vineyard.

And Jezabel his wife layde him: (Dost thou nodle govern the kingdom of Israel, and eate bread, and set thyne heart at rest: I will give thee the vineyard of Naboth the Jezreelite, and to the letter that were in his cite dwelling with Naboth. And the Wrote in the letter, saying: Proclayme a (s) fault, and set Naboth on hie among the people.

And set two bichiftes before him, to bare witness against him, saying, Thou dydest blaspheme God and the king: And then caue him out, and stone him to death.

And the men of his cite, even the elders and governors which dwelt in his cite, dyed as Jezabel had sent unto them, and as it was written in the letter which she had sent unto them.

They proclaymed a fau有所, and set Naboth among the chiefe of the people.

And there came in two men the chidren of Bethal, and bare before him and the two bichistes persons witnessed against Naboth in the presence of the people, saying: Naboth dyed blaspheme God and the king. And they caue him out of the cite, and stone him with stones, that he died.

And then they sent to Jezabel, saying: Naboth is stoned to death.

And it came to pass, when Jezabel heard that Naboth was stoned to death, she said to Ahab: Up, and take possession of the vineyard of Naboth the Jezreelite, which he dened to give thee for money: for Naboth is not alive, but dead.

And when Ahab hearde that Naboth was dead, he stoode up to goe downe to the vineyard of Naboth the Jezreelite, and to take possession of it.

And the Wode of the Lord came but to Elias the Telseite, saying: Up, and goe downe to meete Ahab king of Israel, which is in Samaria: Behold he is in the vineyard of Naboth, why he is gone downe to possess it.

And therefore Nathan spake unto him, thus saith the Wode: Hast thou killd alt also gotten possession: And thou shalt speake unto him, saying, thus saith the Lord: In the place where dogs licked the blood of Naboth, shall dogs lick one euen thy blood also.

And Ahab saide to Elias: Hast thou founde me, O thou myne enemie: he answered: I have founde thee, for thou hast sold the lffe to work wickednesse in the sight of the Lord.

Behold, I will bringe euyl upon thee, and I will make cleane judgamente of thy po sticite, and I will destroy fro Ahab (even) him that madest water against the wall, and him that is shut vp, 1 left behind in Israel.

And I will make thyne house lyke the house of Jeroboam the sonne of Nazar, as lyke the house of Baasa the sonne of Ahijah, for the provocation wherewith thou hast provoked, and made Israel to sycme.

And of Jezabel spake the Lord, saying: The dogs shall eate Jezabel by the wall of Jezreil.

And he that dieth of Ahab in the towne, him shall dogs eate: and he that dieth in the field, him shall the fowles of the ayre eate.

But there was none lyke Ahab, which dyed euen sol them selfe to Wode wickednesse in the sight of the Lord, and that because Jezabel his wife piched hym forward.

He dyed exceeding abominable in following foule doles, according to all things as dyed the Ammonites whom the Lord cast out before the children of Israel.

27 And it came to pass, when Abijah heard these words, he rent his clothes, and put sackcloth about his flesh, and laid him down on the earth before the Lord, saying:

28 The word of the Lord came to Elias the Tishbite, saying:

The xxii. Chapter.

Jehoshaphat and Abijah fight against the king of Syria; 15 Michæas the prophet the king what that be the Succes of their enterprize; 24 Zedekiah the false prophet针sth him. 34. Abijah is waken, 40. Athayah his sonne succeeded. 41 The rage of Jehoshaphat, 51 and Zedam his sonne.

1 And they continued three years without warre between Syria & Israel. And in the third year dyed Jehoshaphat the king of Judah come downe to the king of Israel. (And the king of Israel sayde unto his servants: Know ye not that Ramaoth in Gilead is ours, and we liestill, and take it not out of the hande of the king of Syria?)

2 And he sayde unto Jehoshaphat: Wilt thou come with me to battayle against Ramoth in Gilead? And Jehoshaphat sayde unto the king of Israel: 'I am as thou art, my people as thy people, and my horses as thy horses.

3 And Jehoshaphat sayde unto the king of Israel: 'Alas counsel! I pray thee at the word of the Lord to day.

4 And then the king gathered the prophets together, upon a faire hundred men, and sayde unto them: Shall I go against Ramoth in Gilead to battayle, or shall I let it alone? And they sayde, Go up: for the Lord will deliver it into the handes of the king.

5 And Jehoshaphat sayde: Is there here no prophet of the Lord more, that we might inquire of him?

6 And the king of Israel sayde unto Jehoshaphat: There is yet one man (Michæas the sonne of Juinia) by whom we may aske counsell of the Lord: But I hate him, for he doth not prophesy good unto me, but evil. And Jehoshaphat sayde: Let not the king say so.

7 Then the king of Israel callled a carpenter, and sayde: Fetch Michæa the sonne of Juinia byner at once.

8 And the king of Israel, and Jehoshaphat...

9 Sear thou howe Abijah humberth him falsely before me; because he so submitheth himself falsely before me, I will not bring that evil in his bapts: but in his sonnes bapts will I bring euyl upon his house.

10 And...
And he lye against: hear thou therefore the word of the Lord: I saw the Lord sit on his throne, and all the host of heaven present before him on his right hand, and on his left.

And the Lord spake: Who shall persuade Ahab, that he may go and fall at Ramoth in Gilead? And one spake on this manner, and another on that.

And there came forth a certain spirit, and stood before the Lord, and spake: I will persuade him. And the Lord said: Wherewith? And he spake: I will go out, and be a false spirit in the mouth of all his prophets. Who spake, Thou shalt persuade him and prevail: Go sooth then, so do even so.

Now therefore behold: the Lord hath put a lying spirit in the mouth of all these thy prophets, and the Lord hath spoken evil by them.

But Zedekiah the son of Chanaan went to Bichea on the cheke, and spake: When went the spirit of the Lord from me, to speake unto thee? And Bichea spake: Behold, thou shalt see in that day when thou shalt go from chamber to chamber to shewe thyself.

And the king of Israel spake: Take Bichea and carry him unto Amon the governor of the city, and unto Joas the king's sonne.

And Bichea spake: Thus saith the king: Put this fellow in the prison house, and seconde him with bread of affliction, and with water of trouble, until I returne in peace.

And Bichea spake: If thou returne in peace, the Lord hath not spoken by me. And he spake: Hearken ye people every one of you.

And to the king of Israel, and Jehoshaphat the king of Judah, went up to Ramoth in Gilead.

And the king of Israel spake unto Jehoshaphat: I will change my apparel, and will enter into the battel, but put thou on thyne apparel. And the king of Israel changed his apparel, and went to battell.

But the king of Syria commanded the thirtie and two captaynes that had rule over his charrettes saying: Fight neither with small nor great, save only against the king of Israel.

And when the captaynes of the charrettes said to Jehoshaphat, they spake: Surely it is the king of Israel, and they turned to fight against him. And Jehoshaphat cried.

And so it came to passe, that when the captaynes of the charrettes said: he was not the king of Israel, they turned backe from him.

And a certayne man drave a bothe ignorantly, and spake the king of Israel betweene the ribbes and his harness: wherefore he lye unto the bower of his charrettes, turne thy band, and carry me out of the goast, for I am hurt.
33. (And the battel encreased that day: and the king stooode still in his charret against the Syrians:) and died at even. And the blood ran out of the wounde into the middles of the charret.

36. Andtherer was a proclamation through out the host about the going downe of the liume sapyng: Every man to his citie, and to his owne countrey.

37. So the king died, and was brought to Samaria, and they buried the king in Samaria.

38. And one washed the charret in the poole of Samaria, & the dogges licked by his blood: and they washed his armoure, according unto the worde of the Lord which he spake.

39. The rest of the wordes that concerne Ahab and all that he did, and the more house which he made, and all the cities that he buildec, are they not written in the booke of the chronicles of the kings of Israel?

40. And so Ahab slept with his fathers, & Ahab his sonne reignd in his stead.

41. *Jehosaphat the sonne of Ahab began to reigne upon Juda in the fourth yere of Ahab king of Israel.

42. And Jehosaphat was thirtie and five yeres old when he began to reigne, and reignd twelue and five yeres in Jerusalem: his mothers name was Azuba the daughter of Shili.

43. And he walked in all the wayes of Asa his father, and bowded not therefrom, but dyd that which was right in the eyes of the Lord: Neverethelss the high places were not taken out of the way: for the people offered and burnt in-

44. And Jehosaphat made peace with the king of Israel.

45. *The rest of the wordes that concerne Jehosaphat, & the might that he vied, & howe he warred, are they not written in the booke of the chronicles of the kings of Juda:

Chapter 1.

1 Then Doab rebelled against Israel, after the death of Abijah, and Ahazia lived through a lattesse wynter, in the sixtine upper chamber, that he had in Samaria, and while he was in his sicknesse, he sent messengers and saide unto them: Go, and enquire of Beelzebub the god of Ekron, whether I shall recover of this my disease.

But the angel of the Lord spake to Elias the Thesbivate: Arise, and go, and enquire of Beelzebub the god of Ekron, whether I shall recover of this my disease.

Wherefore thus saith the Lord: Thou shalt not come downe for the bed on which thou art gone by, but shalt die.

And Elias departed. And when the messengers turned backe againe vnto him, he saide vnto them: Why are ye now come againe?

They answered him: There came a man against vs, and sayde vnto vs: Go, turne againe vnto the king that sent you, and sayde vnto him, thus saith the Lord: Is there not a God in Israel, that thou tendest to enquire of Beelzebub the God of Ekron? Therefore thou shalt not come downe from the bed on which thou art gone by, but shalt die the death.

And he saide vnto them: What manner of man was that which came vp and meruey, and tolde you these woordes?

And they answered him: It was an heape man, and girt with a girdel of leather about his loynes. And he saide: It is Elias the Thesbivate. And he saide vnto them: Go, and enquire of Beelzebub the god of Ekron, whether I shall recover of this my disease.

And they went now, and came vnto him, and sayde vnto him: Thus saith the Lord: Is there not a God in Israel, that thou tendest to enquire of Beelzebub the God of Ekron? Therefore thou shalt not come downe from the bed on which thou art gone by, but shalt die the death.

And he sayde vnto them: Why are ye now come againe?

They answered him: There came a man against vs, and sayde vnto vs: Go, turne againe vnto the king that sent you, and sayde vnto him, thus saith the Lord: Is there a God in Israel, that thou tendest to enquire of Beelzebub the God of Ekron? And he saide vnto them: What manner of man was that which came vp and meruey, and tolde you these woordes?

And they answered him: It was an heape man, and girt with a girdel of leather about his loynes. And he saide:

10 Elias answered and saide to the captain over the sixte: If I be a man of God, let fire come downe from heauen, and consume thee and thy sixte. And there came fire from heauen, and consumed him and his sixte.

11 Again also he sent into him another captain over the sixte, with his sixte; and he spake and said vnto him, O man of God, thus hath the king said: Take halfe, and come downe.

12 Elias answered and said vnto them: If I be a man of God, let fire come downe from heauen, and consume thee and thy sixte. And there came fire from heauen, and consumed him and his sixte.

13 And the king yet againe sent the third captain over the sixte, with his sixte; and the third captain over the sixte went vp, and came and fell on his knees before Elias, and besought him, sayde vnto him: O man of God, I pray thee let my lyfe, and the lyfe of the sixte, thy seruantes, be precious in thy sight.

14 Beholde, there came fire downe from heauen, and burned vp the two sixte captains over the sixte in those sixtes; therefore let my lyfe now be precious in thy sight.

15 And the angel of the Lord said vnto Elias: Go, and bee with him, and he shall not die before thee.

16 And he said vnto him, thus saith the Lord: Forasmuch as thou hast sent messengers to aske counsel at Beelzebub the god of Ekron, as though there had ben no God in Israel, whole word thou

And thou mightest seek after: therefore thou shalt not come below the bed on which thou art gone by, but shalt die the death.

17 And so he dyed according to the word of the Lord which Elias had spoken. And Jehoash (his brother) began to reign in his stead in the second year of Jehoram son of Jehoshaphat king of Judah, because he had no son.

The 2. Chapter.

8 Elias beheaded the waters with his cloke. 11 He is taken up into heaven. 11 Elias taketh his cloke and begetteth Jordan. 20 The bitter and benemous waters are heaied. 21 The children that moose Elias, are rent in peices with bearis.

ND it chanced, that whyle the Lord would take Elias into heauen by a wondrous way, Elias went with Elias from Gilgal. And Elias saide unto Elias: Lary here I pray thee, for the Lord hath sent me to Bethel. Elias saide unto him; As the Lord liveth, and as thy soule liveth, I will not eave thee. And they came bowne to Bethel. 3 And the children of the prophets that were at Bethel came out to Elias, and saide unto him: Knowest thou not, that the Lord will take away thy mister from thy head this day? He said: I know it also, hold ye your peace.

5 And the children of the prophets that were at Jericho came to Elias, and saide unto him: Knowest thou not, that the Lord will take away thy mister from thy head this day? He answered: I know it also, hold ye your peace.

6 And Elias said unto him: Lary I pray thee here, for the Lord hath sent me to Jordan. He said: As the Lord liveth, as thy soule liveth, I will not leave thee. And so they two went together.

7 And fiftie men of the soules of the prophets came forth on the other side a farre off: and they two stooed by Josue's date.

8 And Elias took his mantell, and wape it together, and smote the waters, and they were devided partie the one way, and and part the other, so that they two went one through the dry lande.

9 And it came to pass, that as soon as they were over, Elias saide unto Elisha: After what I had done for thee, per I be taken away from thee, and Elias saide: I pray thee let thy spirit be double upon me.

10 And he said, Thou hast asked an hard thing: Nevertheless, if thou see me when I am taken away from thee, thou shalt see me no more; and Elisha saw him no more.

11 And it came to pass, that as they went, Elias was taken up, and Elisha saw him no more. And he took his staff in his hand, and went back again, and came into the desert of Bethel.

12 And there came a chariot of fire, and horsemen of fire, and parted them both a Specter, * and Elias went by the whirlwind into heaven.

13 And Elisha saw it, and cried, And he took him, and went back again, and came into the desert of Bethel, and there came a chariot of fire, and horsemen of fire, and parted them both a Specter, * and Elias went by the whirlwind into heaven.

14 And he took him, and went back again, and came into the desert of Bethel, and there came a chariot of fire, and horsemen of fire, and parted them both a Specter, * and Elias went by the whirlwind into heaven.

15 And Elisha saw it, and cried, * And he took him, and went back again, and came into the desert of Bethel, and there came a chariot of fire, and horsemen of fire, and parted them both a Specter, * and Elias went by the whirlwind into heaven.

16 And Elisha saw it, and cried, And he took him, and went back again, and came into the desert of Bethel, and there came a chariot of fire, and horsemen of fire, and parted them both a Specter, * and Elias went by the whirlwind into heaven.

17 And it came to pass, when they saw him going, that there appeared an hand, and took him by the sleeve, and brought him up into heaven.

18 Then Elisha saw it, and cried, * And he took him, and went back again, and came into the desert of Bethel, and there came a chariot of fire, and horsemen of fire, and parted them both a Specter, * and Elias went by the whirlwind into heaven.

19 And the men of the city said unto Elisha, Behold, the dwelling of this man is pleasant, as thou hast spoken: But the waters are naught, the ground barren.

20 He said, Take ane new cruce, and put salt therein. And they brought it to him.

21 And he went unto the spung of the waters, and cast the salt in the spring, and said, Thus saith the Lord: I have healed these waters: There shall not be henceforth either death or barrenness.

22 So the waters were healed unto this day, according to the saying of Elias, which he spake.

23 And he went up from thence unto Bethel: And as he went up by the way, there came little children out of the city, and mocked him, * and said unto him, Go by thou baldie head.

24 And he turned backe, andLoad on them, and cursed them in the name of the Lord: And there came two hogs out of the wood, and tore fourtie and two children of them.

25 And he went from thence to mount Carmel, and from thence he turned againe to Samaria.
and an hundred thousand raimies with the woof.
5 But when Abah was dead, it fortun-ned that the king of Doba rebelled against the king of Israel.
6 And king Jehosam went out of Samaria the same season, and numbed all Israel:
2 And went, & sent to Jehosaphat the king of Juda, saying: The king of Doaab hath rebelled against me, but thou come with me against Doba in battle:
   he answered, I will come by for as I am, to art thou, and as my people be,
   so are thy people: thy horses, as mine.
8 And he said: what way shall we go by? And he answered: The way through the wilderneffe of Dorn.
9 And to the king of Israel toke his journey, and the king of Juda, and the king of Dorn: And when they had compass ed the way seven days, they had no water for the hoast, and for the cattale that followed them.
10 And the king of Israel said: Alas, the Lord hath called these three kings together, to deliver them over into the hande of Doba.
11 But Jehosaphat said: *Is there not here a prophet of the Lord, that we maye enquire of the Lord by him? And one of the king of Israel's seruantes answered and said: Here is Elias the sone of Saphat, which polyshed water on the handes of Elia.
12 And Jehosaphat said: The word of the Lord is with him. And to the king of Israel, & Jehosaphat, and the king of Dorn went downe with him.
13 And Elia said unto the king of Israel: What have I to do with thee:
   get thee to the prophetes of thy father, & to the prophetes of thy mother. And the king of Israel said, unto him, Oh nay: for the Lord hath called these three kings together, to deliver them into the hande of Doba.
14 And Elia said: As the Lord of horseslieth, in whole light I stand, and it were not that I regarde the presence of Jehosaphat the king of Juda, I woulde not loke toward thee, nyet yet see thee.
15 But now bring me a minstrell. And when the minstrell played, the hand of the Lord came upon him:
16 And he sayde, thus saith the Lord:

Make this valley full of ditches:
17 For thus saith the Lord: He shall see neither bynde nor rope, yet the valley shall be filled with water, that ye naye dauke, both ye, and your bratles, & your cattale:
18 And this is yet a small thing in the sight of the Lord, as he will gene over the Moabites also into your handes.
19 And ye shall smite every strong towne, and every goodly citie, and shall fell eye pleasant tree, and stop every Well of water, and marc every good plate of ground with stones.
20 And in the morning When the meate offering was offered, behold, there came water by the way of Dorn, and the entrey was filled with water.
21 And When all the Moabites heard that the kings were come by to fight against them, they gathered all that was able to put on harness, and rode in the border of the lande:
22 And they were by earlie in the morning, and the sunne shone upon the water, that the Moabites sawe the water a farre of as red as blood.
23 And they faide, This is the blood of slaughter: The kings are slaine, one haue slaine another: Now therefore Dorn get thee to the popule.
24 And when they came to the hoast of Israel, the Israelites boode by smote the Moabites, so that they fed before them: but they followed upon them and smote Dorn,
25 And they overthrew the cities, and on every good parcel of lande call every man his stone, and filled it, they kept all the welles of water, and set all the good trees, only in Richarastoth left they the stones thereof: howbeit they went about it with stinges, & smote it.
26 And when the king of Doba said that the battale was to soe for him, he toke with him seven hundred men that drew blood, to have gone through even but to the king of Dorn: but they could not.
27 And then he toke his eldest sone that should have reigned in his state, and offered him for a burnt offering upon the wall: And there was a great indignation against Israel, and they departed from him, and returned to their owne lande.

A.2

AND there cried a certain woman of the vypers of the sones of the prophets, unto Elisha, saying: Thy seruaunt my husband is dead, & thou knowest that thy seruaunt did feare the Lorde: And the creditor is come to set my two sones to be his bondmen.

2 Elisha said unto her: Tell me what I shall do for thee, what hast thou in thy house? She said: Thy handmaid hath nothing at all in the house, save a picher of oyle.

3 And she said unto her: Go, and borrow vessels for thee of all thy neighbours, empty vessels, and that not a few: And when thou art come in, thou shalt shut the door after thee, and after thy sones, and pour out into all thy vessels: and let as be that which is full.

4 And so she went from him, and shut the door after her, and after her sones: And they brought to her, and she poured out.

5 And it came to passe, that when the vessels were full, she said unto her sone: Bring me yet a vessel. And he said unto her: I have no more. And she poured oyle.

6 Then she came and tolde the man of God: And he sayde, Go, and sell the oyle, and pay them that thou art in debt unto: but lyue thou, and thy children of the rest.

7 And it fell on a day, that Elisha came to Sunem, where was a great woman, that took him in for to eate bread: And he came to passe, that from that tyme forth, (as oft as he came that way,) he turned in thynere to eate bread.

8 And the sade unto her husband: Beholde, I perceave that this is an holy man of God which passeth by vs continually.

9 Let vs make him a little chamber: I will pay thee, with walles, & let vs set him there a bed, and a table, and a chalice: that he may tyme therin when he commeth to vs.

10 And it fouteoned on a day that he came thither, and turned into the chamber, & lay therein.

11 And he said to Gehazi his seruaunt: Call this Sunamite. And when he called her, she presented her selfe before him.

12 And againe he said unto him: Tell her, beholde thou hast been careful for vs with
With all this care, what shall we now do for thee? Wouldst thou be spoken to the king, or to the captain of the host? She answered: I dwell among my poor people.

14. And he said again: What is to be done for her? Gehazi answered: Very likely the man hath no child, and her husband is old.

15. And he said: Call her. And when he had called her, she stood in the door.

16. And he said: At this time appointed, according to the time of life, thou shalt impute a sum. And she said: O! my lord, thou man of God, do not lay upon thy handmaid.

17. And the prophet concealed, and bare a son that same season that Elisha had said he bare to her, according to the time of life.

18. And when the child was grown, it fell on a day that he went out to his father, and to the reapers.

19. And he said unto his father: My head, my head. And he said to a lad: Carry him to his mother.

20. And when he had taken him, and brought him to his mother, he sat on her knees till noon, and died.

21. And she went by, and laid him on the bed of the man of God, and shut the door, and went out.

22. And called unto his husband, Layde: Send with me I pray thee one of the young men, and one of the servants: for I will runne to the man of God, and come again.

23. And he said: Wherefore went thou to him, seeing that to day is neither new moon, nor sabbath day. And she answered: All the child well.

24. Then the child afe, and saide to her servant: Drye and go sobrede, staye not for me to get vp, except I by by thee.

25. And so she went, and came unto the man of God, to mount Carmel: And it fortuned, when the man of God saide her sace of, he saide to Gehazi his servant: Behold, water is the Sunnante.

26. Runne therefore to meete her, and saye into her: Is all well with thee, with thy husband, and with the lad? And she answered: All is well.

27. And when the came to the man of God, by to the hill, she caught him by the feet: But Gehazi went to her, to thust her away. And the man of God sayde: Let her alone, for her soul is vexed within her, and the Lord hath hisd from me, and hath not tolde it me.

28. Then she said: Did I desire a house of my Lord? but I sought not that thou shouldst not decaee me.

29. Then he said to Gehazi: Gird by thy loynes, and take thy staffe in thy hande, and go thy way. If thou meete any man, saile him not: And if any faile thee, answer him not againe: And lay thy staffe upon the face of the childe.

30. And the mother of the childe said: *As the Lord liveth, and as thy soule lieth, I will not leave thee. And he arose, and followed her.

31. Gehazi went before them, and laid the staffe upon the face of the childe, but there was neither booke nor any feele: Wherefore he went againe to meete him, and tolde him saying: The childe is not awaked.

32. And when Elisha was come into the house, behold the childe was dead, and laye upon his bed.

33. He went in therefore, and shut the door upon them twaine, and prayed into the Lord.

34. And went vp, and laye upon the lad, and put his mouth on his mouth, and his eyes upon his eyes, and his handes upon his handes, and when he so laye upon the childe, the sene of the childe waxed warme.

35. And he went againe, and walked once vp and downe in the house, and then went vp, and laye him on his bed. And then the childe gasped some times, and opened his eyes.

36. And he called Gehazi, and said: Call for his Sunnante. So he called her: Which when she was come into him, he faile into her: Take thy bone.

37. Therefore the went in, and fell at his feete, and bowed her fell to the ground, and took up her bone, and went out.

38. Elisha came againe to Gilgall, and there was a dearth in the lande, and the children of the prophets did well with him: And he faile into his fernaunt, set a great pot on the fire, and made potage for the children of the prophets.

39. And one went out into the field to gather hearbes, and found a hynde bine, and gathered thereof wynde gourdeth his lap ful, and came and therin;

The 5. Chapter.

1. Naaman the Syriam was healed of his leprosy. 2. Eliza refused his gifts. 3. Elisha is stricken with leprosy, because he took money and rent of Naaman.

Naaman Captains of the host of the king of Syria, was a great man, and honorable in the sight of his master, because that by him the Lord had given health unto Syria: he was also a mighty man, expert in warre (but he was) a leaper.

2. And the Syrians had gone out by companies, & had brought out of the country of Israel a little mayde, & she was with Naamans wife.

3. And the lord also said unto her lady: I would to God my lord were with the prophet that is in Samaria, so he would deliver him of his leprosy.

4. And he went in, and tolde his lord, saying: Thus and thus saide the mayde that is of the lande of Israel.

5. And the king of Syria said: So thy way shillest, and I will send a letter unto the king of Israel. And he departed, and tolke with him ten talents of silver, and fette thousand pieces of gold, and ten changes of raymentes.

6. And broueth the letter to the king of Israel, compayning this tourn. Now, when this letter is come into thee, beholde I have therewith sent Naaman my servaunt to thee, that thou mayest rode him of his leprosy.

7. And it came to passe, that when the king of Israel had red the letter, he rent his clothes, and saide: *Am I God, that I shoulde lay, and make a lyne? For he

10. And to Naaman came with his horses and with his chariots, and stood at the door of the house of Eliza.

11. And Eliza sent a messenger unto him, saying: Go, and walke thee in Jordan seven tymes, and thy flesh shall come againe to thee, and thou shalt be cleansed.

12. But Naaman was borth, and went away, and faide: Beholde, I thought with myselfe, he would surely come out, and stande and call on the name of the Lord his god, but his hand on the place, that he may heal the leprosy.

13. Are not Abana and Pharpar rivers of Damascus, better then all the waters of Israel? If I wash me in them, that I not be cleansed? And so he turned him, and departed with displeasure.

And he turned againe to the man of God, and his servant came againe like unto the fete of a little child, and he was cleansed.

15 And he turned againe to the man of God, and he and his company, and stood before him, and said: Behold, I know nowe that there is no God but God in all the earth, but in Israel: Now therefore I pray thee take a blessing of thy servant.

16 But he said: As the Lord liveth, I will receive none: And when the woman had contrived him, he would not receive it.

C 17 And Naaman said: Shall there not be an eunuch servant in the house of my master? behold your servant: And when I bowe my selfe in the house of Naaman: when I do bowe downe I say in the house of Naaman, the Lord be merciful unto thy seruant because of this thing.

B 18 But herein the Lord be merciful to thy seruant, that when my master goeth into the house of Rimmon for to bowe there, and leaseth on my hand, and I bowe my selfe in the house of Naaman, when I do bowe downe, I say in the house of Rimmon, the Lord be merciful unto thy seruant because of this thing.

I Ch 21 And so Gezesh followed Naaman: And when Naaman saw him running after him, he light downe from the chariot to meete him, and said: *Is all well?:

22 But he answered, All is well: Beholde, my master hath sent me, saying: See, there be come to me even nowe from mount Ephraim two young men of the children of the prophete: See them I pray thee take a blessing of thy seruantes.

23 And Naaman said: With a good will, take two talents: And he constrained him, *and bound two talents of silver in two bagges, with two channe of garments, and laid them upon two of his seruantes, to bear them before him.

24 And when he came to the lower place, he took them from his hande, and bestowed them in the house, and he let the men go, and they departed.

25 But he went in and stood before his maister: And Elia said unto him, where commest thou Gezeesh: he said: Thy seruant went no whyther.

26 But he said unto him: (b) Went not mine heart with thee? When the man turned againe from his chariot to meete thee: *Is it now a tynde to receaue money, to receaue garments, olive trees, vineyards, shepe, and orcon, men seruantes, and maybe seruantes.

6 Elia maketh fire to swimme about the water. He dislosedeth the king of Syrias counsellor to the king of Israel. 11: who sending certaine to take him were kepte safe in Samaria. 24 Samaria is besieged and endureth extreme famine.

1 The children of the prophete saide unto Elia: Beholde we pray thee, the place where we dide with thee is to little for vs:

2 Let vs go we pray thee unto Jorodane, and take thence every man a beanie, and build vs a place to dwell in: And he aunnounced, So.

3 And one saide: We content I pray thee, and come with thy seruantes. And he aunnounced: I will come.

4 And so he went with them: And when they came to Jorodane, they cut downe wood.

5 But it was fortune, that as one was setting downe of a tree, the axe head fell to the water: And he cryed, and said, Alas maister, it was lent me.

6 And the man of God said: Where fell it: And he shewed him the place: And he cut downe a sticke, and cast it in this the, and immediately the iron did not return.

37 Therefore say he: Take it up. And he stretched out his hand, and took it up.

8 But the king of Syria warred against Israel, and took counsel with his servants, and said: In which city shall we first make our march against Israel, and I will take it captivate ?

9 And the man of God sent unto the king of Syria, saying: Behold that thou go not over to such a place, for there the Syrians be lurking.

10 Therefore the king of Israel sent to the place which the man of God told him, and warned him of, and he saved him from it, not once, nor twice.

11 And the heart of the king of Syria was troubled for this thing, and he called for his servants, and said unto them: What shall I now do for this?

12 And one of his servants said: If the Lord hath told thee, who shall tell thee ?

13 He sayde: Go, and see where he is, that I may send and fetch him. And one told him, saying: Behold, he is in Dothan.

14 Therefore sent he thither horses and chariots, and a night host: and they came by night, and compassed the city about.

15 And when the servant of the man of God rose up early to go out: behold, there was an host round about the town with horses and chariots. And his servant layde about him, Alias maister, what shall I do?

16 He answered: Fear not: for, the that be with us, are more than the that be with then.

17 And Elisha prayed and sayde: Lord I beseech thee, open his eyes that he may see. And the Lord opened the eyes of the young man, and he looked: and behold the mountain was full of horses, and chariots of fire round about Elisha.

18 And when they came downen to him, Elisha prayed unto the Lord, and sayde: Smite this people I pray thee with blindness. And he smote them with blindness, according to the word of Elisha.

19 And Elisha layde about them: This is not the way, neither is this the town: follow me, and I will bring you to the man whom ye seek. But he led them to Samaria.

20 But it came to pass, that when they were come to Samaria, Elisha sayde: Loose, open their eyes that they may see. And they opened their eyes, and they saw, and beheld they were in the middest of Samaria.

21 And the king of Israel sayde unto Elisha, when he saw them: By father, shall I smite them, shall I smite them?

22 And he answered, Thou shalt not smite them: But smite those that thou hast taken with thine own sword, and with thine own bowdye: But rather let bread and water before them, that they may eat and drink, and go to their maister.

23 And he prepared a great refection for them, and when they had eaten and drunk, he sent them away, and they went to their maister: And so the souls of Syria came no more into the land of Israel.

24 After this it came to pass, that Benhadad king of Syria gathered all his host, and went by, and beleved Samaria.

25 But there was a great dearth in Samaria; and he beleved it, until an ass's head was sold for fourscore siluer pence, and the fourth part of a (b) cab of dooes doyng for five peeces of siluer.

26 And as the king of Israel was going upon the wall, there crepeth a woman unto him, saying: Help me my lord D king.

27 He sayde: If the Lord do not make thee free, where with can I help thee: with the barnes, or with the wine presses?

28 And the king sayde unto her: What wilt thou? She answered: Wonder woman layd unto me, Hung thy sonne, that we may eate him to day, and we will eate thy sonne to morowe.

29 And so we dressed our sone, and eate eate him: And I layde to her the other day, hung thy sonne, that we may eate him: And the bath layd her sonne.

30 And it came to passe, that when the king heard the word of the woman, he rent his clothes, and went by on the wall, and the people loaked, and behelode he had a sackcloth under (c) upon his fetche.

31 Then he sayde: God do so to me, if he head of Elisha the sone of Shaphat shall stande on him this day.

3 And there were four leprous men at the enerring in of the gate: and they spake one to another, Why sit we here till we dye?

another tent, and caried thence also, and went and hid it.

Then sayde one to another: We do not some mischief wil come upon vs: How

And so they came, and called into the porter of the citie, and tald them, saying:
we came to the pavilions of the Sy-soever for man, but horses sall en-were wont to be.

And so the man called into the porter,
and they tald the kings house within.

And the king arofe in the night, says unto his seruantes: Will thebe you nowe what the Syrians have done but to vs? They knowe that we be hunger, and therefore are they gone out of the pavilions to hyde them selues in the siebe, saying, when they come out of the citte, we shall cattche them alway, and get unto the citie.

And one of his seruantes abused, and layde: Let me take I pray you four of the horses that remaine and are left in the multitude; (Whereby they are euen as all the multitude of Israel that are left in the citie: ) But why? I say they are euen as all the multitude of the Israelites that are consumed, and we will send, and see.

14. They take therefor the horses of two chariots, and the king sent after the hoast of the Syrians, saying: Go, and see.

15. And they went after them even unto Jordane, and to, all the way was full of clothes, and vessels, which the Syrians had left from them in their haste: And the messengers returned, and tolde the king.

16. And the people went out, and spoile the tentes of the Syrians: And it came to passe that a bullcyst of fine flour was lefte for a cist, and two busheltes of barley for a cist, according to the Worde of the Lord.

17. And the king appointed that loade (on whose hand he leaned) to be at the gate:
And the people (2doie) croyde upon him in the gate, and he dyed according to the Word of the man of God which he labyd:
when the king came doodlie to him.

18. And so came the thing to passe, that the man of God had spokene to the king, saying: Two busheltes of barley for a cist, and a bushel of fine flour for another of Samaria.

19. Whereunto that loade amuldered the man of God, and layde: Pea and if the Lord made wymbdowes in heauen, might it come to passe? And he layd: If the Lord make wymbdowes in heauen, that they not eate therof.

26. And even so chauuned it into him: For the people trode upon him in the gate, and he dyed.

The viii. Chapter.

1 Elia prophesied unto the Syrmantke the death of seven yeres. 2 He prophesied to Pakael that he shalbe king of Syra. 3 He reigneth after Benhadad. 4 Itam reigneth over Juda.
5 Sonn talleth from Juda. Doshiah succeedeth Jozam.

1 Pen haste Elia into the woman (whose some he had restored to lyfe againe) saying:
Up, and go thou and thyne house, and sojourn where thou canst: For the Lord hath called for a death, and the same shall come upon the lande seven yeres.

2 And the woman arose, and dyed after the laying of the man of God, and went both the and her household, and sojourned in the lande of the Philistines seven yeres.

3 And at the seven yeres ende, it forspoke that the woman came againe out of the lande of the Philistines, and went out to call upon the king for her house and for her lande.

4 And the king talked with Gehazi the seruant of the man of God, saying: Let me I pray thee at the great deedes that Elia hath done.

5 He told the king howe he had restored a dead body to lyfe againe: but in the mean time the woman whose some he had rayed by againe, cryed to the king for her house, and for her land: And Sehezzi sayde, My lorde O king, this is the woman, and this is her sonne whom Elsa rayed by againe.
6 And when the king asked the woman, the tole him: And so the king delivered her a chamberlayne, saying, Restore thou unto her all that are hers and all the frutes of the fielde, since the day that she left the land, unto this tyme.
7 And Elsa came to Damafcon, Zer-hadad the king of Syria was slyke:
And one tolde him, saying, The man of God is come slyke.
8 And the king sayd unto hazael: Take a present in thine hande, and go meete the man of God, that thou mayest inquire of the Lord by him, saying: Shall I recover of this diseaese?
9 And to hazael went to meete him; and toke the present with him, and of every good thing of Damafcon, even as much as fourtie camels coulde bear: he came and presented him selfe before him, and said: Why commaundest thou me to do,\nand to present me with these presents?
10 And Elsa sayde unto him: Go, and lay unto him, Thou shalt recover: however, the Lord hath shewed me that he shall surely dye.
11 He tolke upon him stopaste, until he was ashamed: the man of God went.
12 And hazael sayde: Why weeping my lorde: he answered: For I knowe the cruel thinges that thou shalt do vnto the children of Israel: for their strong citie shall thou set on fire, and their yong men that thou shalt slay with the sword, and shall bathe out the vayne of their lusting children, and all to teaerne their women with childe.
13 But hazael sayde: what is thy servaunt a dogge, that I shoulde do this great thing? And Elsa answered: The Lord hath shewed me that thou shalt be king of Syria.
14 And so he departed from Elsa, came to his maister: which layd to him, what sayde Elsa to thee? He answered: he tole me, that thou shouldst recover.
15 And on the morowe it fortuned, that he toke a thyrke cloth, and dipit in watre, and spread it on his face: and he die,
and hazael raignd in his steade.
16 The fift yeere of Josiam the sonne of Ahad king of Israel, Jeholahath being also king of Juda, Josiam the sonne of Jeholahath king of Juda began to raigne.
17 3 Thirte and two yeres olde was he when he began to raigne, and he raigned eight yeres in Jerusalem.
18 And he walked in the waves of the kinges of Israel, as they that were of the house of Ahad: for the daughter of Ahad was his wyfe, and he dyd cupit in the sight of the Lord.
19 And the Lord woulde not destrope Juda (and that) because of Daund his ser-avant, as he promised him, to geue him alway a light among his children.
20 In those dayes Eedom rebelled from under the hande of Juda: for they made them a king of their owne.
21 So Josiam went to Zaire, he al his char-ettes with him: And he rone by night, and smote the Eomites which compalfed him in with the captaynes of his charrettes, and the people seid into their tentes.
22 But Eedom rebelled, so that he would not be under the hande of Juda but this day: Then Libnah rebelled that same time.
23 The rest of the wordes that concerne Josiam, and at that he dyd, are they not written in the booke of the cronuces of the kinges of Juda.
24 And Josiam relent with his fathers, and was buried beside his fathers in the citie of Daund: And * Ahaziahu his sonne raignd in his steade.
25 In the thirteenth yeere of Josiam the sonne of Ahad king of Israel, dyd Azhiahu the sonne of Josiam king of Juda begane to raigne.
26 Two and twentie yeres old was Ahaziahu when he began to raigne, and he raignd one yeere in Jerusalem: and his mothers name was Athaliahu, the daughter of Duri king of Israel.
27 But he walked in the waye of the house of Ahad, and dyd cupit in the sight of the Lord, even as dyd the house of Ahad:
for he was the sonne in lawe of the house of Ahad.
28 And he went with Josiam the sonne of Ahad, to warre against hazael king of Syria in Ramoth Gilead, and the Syrisians wounded Josiam.

And
And king Joas went back again to be healed in Jezrael of the wounds which the Syrians had given him at Ramoth when he fought against Hazael king of Syria: And Joash did the same to Joas the son of Ahaziah in Jezrael, because he was sicke there.

The ix. Chapter.

Jehu is made king of Israel. 24 And called Jehu the son of Nimshi, and went to him, and made him arise by from among his brethren, and set him in the second chariot, and made him horseman.

3 Then said Jehu, Go in, and eat: I have smote the whole house of Ahab today, I will not leave to thy Bosom any that pisseth by the wall, neither any that dieth of the house of Ahab shall escape.

4 And he arose, and went into the house; and he poysted the oyle on his head, and laid into him: Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, I have annointed thee to be king over the people of the Lord, even over Israel.

5 Thou shalt smite the house of Ahab thy master, that I may avenge the blood of my servants the prophets, and the blood of all the seruantes of the Lord, of the house of Ahab.

6 For I will destroy the house of Ahab, as I have done to the house of Jeroboam.

7 And I will take the head of Ahab, and the bones of all the seruantes of Ahab, and cast them into the pool of Samaria.

8 And the body of Jezebel shall be taken, and cast out unto the dogs of the street.

9 And they came and cut off his head, and cast it into the pool of Samaria.

10 And they went in, and did eat: and he said, Go out, and shut the door upon the children of Jeroboam, that they may die.

11 And they went in, and shut the door upon the children of Jeroboam: and they burned them with fire, and there remained none of the children of Jeroboam but one little boy, Jezebel's son: and they came, and burned him with fire; and there was none left of the house of Jeroboam.
whence came this madde felowe to thee. And he spake unto them: Be knoube what maner of man it is, and what his communication is.
12 They spake unto him againe: It is no so, tell us, he said: This is such as his to me, saying, thus saith the Lord: I have annointed thee to be king over Israel.
13 Then they hasted, and take every man his garment, and put it under him on the topp of the staires, and blew with trumpetts, saying: Jehu is king.
C 14 And to Jehu the sonne of Jehoshaphat the sonne of Nimshi, compirled against Joasam. (Joasam kept Ramoth Gilead, he and all Israel, because of Hazael king of Syria.)
15 And king Joasam returned to be healed in Jerusalem of the wounds which the Syrians had gien him when he fought with Hazael king of Syria.) And Jehu sayde: If it be your mindes, then let no man depart and escape out of the cite, to go and tell in Jersahel.
16 So Jehu got vp into a charitte), and went to Jersahel where Joasam lay: and Ahaziah king of Juda was some doonne by then to see Joasam.
17 And the watchman that stoode on the towre in Jersahel, spied the company of Jehu as he came, and spake: I see a companie. And Joasam sayde: Take an helpe him, and tend to meete them, that he may ask whether it be peace.
18 And there went one on horsebacke to meete him, and sayde: Thus sayth the king: is it peace? And Jehu sayde: What hast thou to do with peace? turne thee behind me. And the watchman told, saying: The messenger came to them, but he commeth not againe.
19 Then he sent out another on horsebacke, which came to them, and sayde: Thus sayth the king: is it peace? And Jehu said: What hast thou to do with peace? turne thee behind me. And the watchman told, saying: The messenger came to them, but he commeth not againe.
20 And the watchman tode, saying: he came to them also, and commeth not againe: And the druing, is like the druing of Jehu the sonne of Nimshi: for he dwelleth the charite as he were mad.
21 And Joasam sayde: Make redy. And the charite was made redy. And Joasam king of Israel, and Ahaziah king of Juda, went out eather of them in his charite against Jehu, and met him in the fielde of Raboth the Jezreelhite.
22 And it fortuned, that when Joasam sawe Jehu, he spake: Is it peace Jehu? he answered: what peace should there be, so long as the vyordoms of thy mother Jezebel and her wyfechartes are so great.
23 And Joasam turned his hande, and sted, and sayde to Ahaziah: There is falls Iod Ahaziah.
24 And Jehu tooke a bodd in his hande, and foute Joasam betwene the armies, & the arrowe went through his heart, and he fell downe flat in his charite.
25 Then said Jehu to Bidaar a captaine: Take [him], and cast him in the pit of the ground of Raboth the Jezreelhite. For I remember that when I was thou rode together after Ahab his father, the Lord layed this heavy burthen upon him.
26 I have seene yesterday the blood of Raboth & the blood of his sonnes, sayde the Lord: and I will quite it ther in this ground fayth the Lord. Nowe therefore take [him] and cast him in the pit of ground, according to the blood of the Lord.
27 But when Ahaziah the king of Juda faw this, he fled by the way of the garden houte: And Jehu followed after him, and sayde, Smite him also in the charite, at the going up to Sire by Jezlcaem. And he fled to Kirjaco, and ther died.
28 And his seruauntes carped him in & charite to Jeruslaem, and burned there in his sepulchre with his fathers in the cite of David.
29 And in the eleventh yer of Joasam the sonne of Ahab, he began Ahaziah to raigne over Juda.
30 And when Jehu was come to Jezrahel, Jezebel heard of it, & payned her face, and ticked her head, and looked out at a byndowde.
31 And as Jehuentred at the gate, he sayde: Had Zuni peace, which like his master.
32 And he lift up his eyes to the byndowde, and sayde: who is of my side, who & there looked out to him two or three chamberlaines.
33 And he sayde: Through her dwelling. So they threw her dwelling, & her blood dashd toward the wall, and toward the horses: and he troade her under foot.
34 And when he was come in, he did rate and drinke, sayde: So and while I pray

And so when they came to bury her, they found no more of her than the skull, and the feete, and the palates of her handes.

Wherefore they came againe, and told him: And he lapt, This is the Word of the Lorde which he spake by the hande of his servant Elias the Elishibite, saying: In the siede of Jezrael shall dogsge rate the siede of Jezrael.

And so the carkasse of Jezrael was even as doune upon the earth in the siede of Jezrael, so that no man might say, This is Jezrael.

The x. Chapter.

6 John caused the seuentene fowres of Ahab to be slaine, And after that, foure and two of Ah尼亚as brethren. 7 He likewise also all the priestes of Baal. 8 After his death his tume reigneth in his head.

had had * threescore & ten fowres in Samaria: And Jehe wrote letters, and sent to Samaria, unto the rullers of Jezrael, to the elters, and to them that brought by Ahabs children, sayinge: 2 Howe when this letter commeth to you (ye that haue with you your masters fowres, ye haue with you both charites and houes, a strong cite haue ye also, and harnesse)

Love, which of your masters fowres is best and most meete, and set him on his fathers feate, and fight for your lodes house.

4 But they were exceedingly afraid, & lapped: See, two keses were not able to stande before him: howe shall we then be able to stande?

5 And he that was governour of Ahabs house, he that ruled the cite, the clers also, & the turrets, sent to Jehe, sayinge: We are thy seruantes, & will do all that thou shalt bid us, we will make no man king: therefore do thou what seemeth good in thyne eyes.

6 Then he wrote another letter to them, sayinge: If ye be noyn, and will hearken unto my boynes, then take the heades of the men that are your masters fowres, and come to mee to Jezrael by to morowe this tyme: (And the fowres were threescore and ten persons, and they were with the great men of the cite which brought them by.)

7 And when the letter came to them, they toke the kinges children, and flue them, even threescore and ten persons, and stayed their heades in baslles, and lented them to him to Jezrael.

8 And there came a messenger, and told him, sayinge: They haue brought the heades of the kinges fowres. And he said: Let them lay them on two heapes in the entring in of the gate, until the morning.

9 And when it was day, he went out, and stoode, and sayde to the folke, Ye be righteous: Behold, I confesse against my maister, and sue him: But who sue all these?

10 Learne here that there shall fall into the eart nothing of the Word of the Lorde, which he spake concerning the house of Ahab: For the Lorde had brought to passe things that he spake by the hande of his servant Elias.

11 And to Jehe sue all that remayned of the house of Ahab in Jezrael, and all that were great with him, and his kinfolkes, and his priestes, so that he let nothing of him remayne.

12 And he arose, & departed, and came to Samaria: And when Jehe was in the way of the house where the sheeps heads dyd theare their sheepe, 13 He met with the brethren of Ah尼亚as king of Juda, and sayde: What are ye? They amnibered: The brethren of Ah尼亚as are we, and goe doone to salute the children of the king & of the queene.

14 And he said: Take them almy, whom when they had taken them almy, they lute them at the well which was before the house where the sheepe are shoen, even two and soure men, neither left he any of them.

15 And when he was departed thence, he met with Jehonadab the sonne of Rechab comming against him, and he blesséd him, & sayde to him: His thyne heart right, as thyne heart is true with thine.

And Jehonadab amnibered: Pe that it is. Then geue me thyne hand. And when he had geuen him his hands, he toke him up by to him into the charre, 16 And sayde: Come whereby, and set the scale that I haue for the Lorde. And to they made him ride in his charre.

17 And when he came to Samaria, he sue
And Jehu gathered all the people together, and said unto them: 'Abi: served Baal a little, but Jehu shall serve him no more.

And therefore call unto me all the prophets of Baal, all such as serve him, and all his priests, that none be lacking:

For I have a great sacrifice to do to Baal, and therefore whosoever remaineth he shall not live. But Jehu dyed it for a little tittle, to the intent that he might destroy the seruantes of Baal.

And Jehu said: Proclaim an holy convocation for Baal. And they proclaimed it.

And Jehu sent into all Israel, and all the seruantes of Baal came, that there was not a man left behind that came not: And they came into the house of Baal, and the house of Baal was full from one end to another.

And he said unto him that was the keeper of the vestrie: Stript forth garments for all the seruantes of Baal, and he brought them out garments.

And when Jehu went with Jehonadab the son of Rechab into the house of Baal, he said unto the seruantes of Baal: Search, and see if there be here with you none of the seruantes of the Lord, but the seruantes of Baal only.

And when they went in to offer sacrifice and burn offerings, Jehu appointed fourscore men without, and said: If any of you that are brought under your hands escape, he that letteth him go, shall by for him.

And it came to pass, as he had made an end of offering the burnt sacrifice, Jehu said to the men of warre, and to the captaine: Go in, and slay them: let none come out. And they smote them with the edge of the sword: And the men of warre & the captaines call them out, & went to the cite of the temple of Baal, and set the images out of the temple of Baal, and burnt them.

And they brake the image of Baal, and brake the house of Baal, and made a draft house of this day. And so Jehu destroyed Baal out of Israel.

But from the sins of Jeroboam the sonne of Nebat which he made Israel to sinn, Jehu departed not from them neither from the golden calves that were in Bethel and in Dan.

And the Lord did unto Jehu: Because thou hast done right well, in hasting to palle the thing that is right in my sight, and hast brake the house of Ahab according to all things that are in my sight, therefore shall thy children unto the fourth generation sit on the seat of Israel.

But Jehu feared not for this, to walk in the law of the Lord God of Israel with all his heart: for he departed not from the sins of Jeroboam which made Israel to sinn.

In thiope dyes the Lord began to cut Israel short, and Hazael smote them in all the coasts of Israel.

From Jordan eastward, even all the land of Gilead, the Gadites, the Rubenites, and them that were of Manasses, from Aroer (which is by the river Arnon) even Gilead and Bashan.

The rest of the words that concern Jehu, and all that he did, and all his power, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel.

And Jehu slept with his fathers, and they buried him in Samaria, and Jezabel his wife went to her tomb: And Jezabel was buried in Samaria, and Jehoahaz has his house raigne in his stead.

And the time that Jehu raigne upon Israel in Samaria, is twentie & eight yeeres.
And he was with her hyp in the house of the Lord for years: And Athaliah dyed raigne over the lande.

And the seventheere per Fehoiada sent and set the rulazers ouer hundredes, with the captaynes and them of the garde, and took them to him into the house of the Loide, made a bonde with them, and take anoth them in the house of the Loide, and sved them the kinges some.

And he commanded them, saying, This is it that ye must do: One third part of you, whose duetie is to come in on the Sabbath day, shall kepe the watch of the kinges house:

And another third part (that kepe the gate of Saur: And another third part shall kepe the gate which is belinde then of the garde: and so shall ye kepe the watch of the house of Della).

And two partes of you, that is, all that go out on the Sabbath day, shall kepe the watch of the house of the Loide about the king.

And ye shall compass the king round about, every man shall have his weapon in his hand: And whosoever commeth within I ranges, let him be slaine: And see that ye be with the king as he goeth out and in.

And the captaynes ouer the hundredes did according to all things that fehoiada the priet commanded: and they took every man his men that were to come in on the Sabbath day, with then that should go out on the Sabbath, and came to fehoiada the priet.

And to the captaynes ouer hundredes, did the priet geue king Davids speares and sheildes, that were in the temple.

And they of the garde stooode, and evey man had his weapon in his hande rounde about the king, from the right corner of the temple to the left, along by the aulter and the temple.

And he brought out the kinges sonne, and put the crowne upon him, and delturred him * the witnesses, and made him king, and annoynted him: And they clapt their handes, and saide: God saue the king.

* And when Athaliah heard the noyse of the running of the people, she came to the people into the temple of the Loide.

* And whe the looked behond, the king stooode by a pillar as the mauer was, the fingers & the trumpeters by the king, and all the people of the lande roiped, and biew with trumpeters: And Athalia rent her clothes tereyd, trecous, trecous.

But fehoiada the priet commansed the captaynes of the hundredes that had the rule of the hoast, and laide into them: Have her sooth of the ranges, if any solde her, kill him with the sword. For the priet had laide: she may not be slaine in the house of the Loide.

And they laide handes on her, till the came into the way by the which the horses went in to the kinges palacie, and there was she slaine.

And fehoiada made a bond betwene the Loide and the king and the people, that they should be the Loide people, and also betwene the king and the people.

And all the people of the lande went into the house of Baal, and destroyed it, his altaris also, and his images brake they downe in thrice. And the Nathan the priet of Baal before the altaris: And the priet let watch ouer the house of the Loide.

And toke the rulazers ouer hundredes, the captaynes, and them of the gard, and all the people of the lande, and they brouthe the king from the house of the Loide, and cam by the way of the gate of them of the gard to the kings palacie, and he sat downe on the seate of the kinges.

And all the people of the lande recoged, and the cite was in quiet: And they stan Athalia with the sword, before the kinges palacie.

Seven peres obee was fehoas when he began to raigne.

Iehoas began to reign in the fourth year of Jehu, fourtic years he reigned he in Jerusalem; his mother's name was Ze diah of Beerseba.

2 And he did that which was good in the sight of the Lord, as long as (a) Je hodada the priest enroumned him.

3 But the high places were not taken a day, for the people offerd and burnt incen tes yet upon the high places.

4. And Iehoas gave to the priests: All the turer of the dedicate things that be brought to the house of the Lord, that is, the money of them that were num-bled, the money that every man is set at, and all the money that every man with a willing heart geneth and brings into the house of the Lord:

5 Let the priests take it to them, every man of his acquaintance, to reparie the broken places of the house where fore any decay is founde.

6 And so it came to passe, that unto the three and twentieth year of king Ieho-as, the priests had mended nothing that was decayed in the temple.

7 Then king Iehoas called for: Jeho da the priest, and the other priests, and said unto them: Why repair ye not the broken places of the temple? How there fore, let that ye receive no more money of your acquaintance, except ye deli-cer it to repair the temple withall.

8 And the priests consented to receive no more money of the people, except to repair the decayed places of the tem ple.

9 But Jehodada the priest took a che k, and bored a hole in the yd of it, and set it beside the altar, on the right side as every man cometh into the temple of the Lord, and the priests that kept the vessels put therein all the money that was brought into the house of the Lord.

10 And so it came to passe, that when they sawe there was much money in the chest, the kings scribe & the ype priest came by,

and tolde the money that was found in the house of the Lord, and put it into a bagge.

11 And they gave the money sealed into the hands of them that executed the work, and that had the oversight of the house of the Lord, and they brought it out to the carpenters and builders that wrought upon the house of the Lord,

And to masons, and hewers of stone:
And they bought timber and free stone to repair the decay in the house of the Lord, and to all that went out to mend the temple.

13 Howbeit, there was not made for the house of the Lord double of silver, instrumentes of musicke, halcons, trump ets, or any vessels of golde, or vessels of silver, of the money that was brought into the house of the Lord.

14 But they gave that to the workmen, and repaired therewith the house of the Lord.

15 Wherefore, they reckned not with the men into whose hands they delivered that money to be bestowed on workmen:
for they did their works faithfully:

16 Howbeit, trespasses money, and fine money, was not brought into the house of the Lord, for it was the priests.

17 Then came Hazael king of Syria up, and fought against Ged, and took it.
And Hazael set his face to go up to Hier usalem.

18 And Iehoas king of Juda, took all the halloowed things that Jehofapath, Jehoam & Haza}hu his fathers kings of Juda had dedicte, and that he him selfe had dedicated, and at the gold that was founde in the treasuries of the house of the Lord, and in the kings house, and sent it to Hazael king of Sy tia, & so he departed from Hierusale m.

to Silla.
12. Jozaiah the sonne of Semaath, and Jehoazab the sonne of Somer his se-the Lord heard him; for he considered the synne of Israel, wherewith the king of Syria troubled them.

5. And the Lord gave Israel a deliverer, so that they went out from under the subjection of the Syrants: And the children of Israel dwelt in their tentes as before tyme.
6. Nevertheless, they departed not from the synnes of the house of Jeroboam which made Israel to sinn, but walked unright: And there remained an idolls grove still also in Samaria.

27. Neither did he leave of the people to Jehoahaz but little hundred men, ten charets, and ten thousand footemen: * for the king of Syria destroyed them, and made them lyke cheseh dust.

15. Elisa faide unto him: Take bode and arrodewes. And he tooke vnto him bode and arrodewes.

16. And he faide to the king of Israel: Put thyn hand vpon the boide. And he put his hand vpon it: And Elisa put his handes vpon the kings handes,

17. And said: Open a vmborde eastward.
And when he had opened it, Elisa sayd: shooce: And he shote. And he faide, The arrodew of healt of the Lord, and the arrodew of healt against Syria: For thou shalt smyte Syria in Aphek, till thou have made an ende of them.

18. And he faide: Take the arrodewes. And he taks them: And he faide vnto the king of Israel, Smyte the grounde. And he smote thynke, and reafted.

19. And the man of God was angry with him, and faide: Thou shouldest have smitten five: or fire tymes, and then haddest smytten Syria till thou haddest made an ende of them: where now thou shalt smytte Syria but thate.

20. And so Elisa dyed, & they buried him: and the soldiers of the Hoabites came into the lande & the same yer.
21 And it chanced as some of them were burying a man, and spied the soldiers, they cast a man into the sepulchre of Elisha: And when the man was rolled down, and touched the bones of Elisha, he revived, and stood up on his feet.

22 But Hazael king of Syria vexed Israel all the days of Jehoahaz.

23 And the Lord had mercy on them, and pitied them, and had respect unto them, because of his appointment made with Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, and would not destroy them, neither cast he them from him as yet.

24 So Joash the king of Syria dyed, and Benhadad his son reigned in his stead.

25 And Joash the son of Joahaz went againe, and took out of the hand of Benhadad the sonne of Oboz, the cities which he had taken away out of the hande of Jehoahaz his father in warre: For three times did Joash beare him, and restored the cities unto Israel againe.

And Phul the king of Assyria came upon the land: And Menahem gave Phul a thousand talentes of siluer, that his hand might be with him, & stablishe the kingdome in his hande.

And Menahem made a proclamation for the money in Israel, that all men of substaunce should give the king of Assyria fiftie sheles of siluer a person: And so the king of Assyria turned backe againe, and tarried not there in the lande.

The rest of the worde that concerneth Menahem, and all that he did, are they not written in the booke of the cronicles of the kings of Israel.

And Menahem slept with his fathers, and Pecahia his sonne did raigne in his stead.

In the fiftieth yere of Azaria king of Juda, began Pecahia the sonne of Menahem to raigne over Israel in Samaria two yeres:

And did that which was eue in the sight of the Lord, and left not off from the sinnes of Jeroboam the sonne of Nebat which made Israel sinne.

But Pecah the sonne of Remaliahu, & which was a captain of his, conspir'd against him, & smote him in Samaria, even in the place of the kinges house, with Argob and Aria, and with him were fiftie men of the Slicaduses: and he killed him, and raign'd in his vsene.

In the dayes of Pecah king of Israel, came Thiglath Pilehar king of Assyria, & took Ion, Abel Beth maacha, Ianoah, Bedes, Basy, Gilead, Galli, & all the lande of Nepthhall, and carred them away to Assyria.

And Hophra the sonne of Ela, conspir'd treason against Pecah the sonne of Remaliahu, and smote him, & slew him, & raign'd in his stead in the twentie yere of Jotham the sonne of Uziah.

The rest of the worde that concerneth Pecah, and all that he did, behold they are written in the booke of the cronicles of the kings of Israel.

The second yere of Pecah the sonne of Remaliahu king of Israel, began Jotham the sonne of Uziah king of Juda to raigne.

Eue and twentie yeres old was he when he began to raigne, and he raign'd seuerene yeres in Hierusalem: his mothers name was Jerusa, the daughter of Zador.

And he did that which is right in the sight of the Lord: even according to all as did his father Uziah, so did he.

35 But the high places were not put away: for the people offered and burnt 36 The rest of the words that concern 37 (In those days the Lord began to send into Judah, Rezin the king of Syria, & Pekah the sonne of Remaliah.) 38 And Jotham slept with his fathers, and was buried with his fathers in the city of David his father, and Ahaz his sonne reigned in his stead.

The xvi. Chapter.

1 And the seventeenth year of 2 In the way of the kings of Israel, yea and made 3 But he walked in the way of the kings of Israel, and 4 And he offered and burnt incense in the high places, and 5 Then Rezin king of Syria, and 6 At the same time Rezin king of Syria bought Elath againe to Syria, and 7 So Ahaz sent messengers to Thiglath Pileser king of Assyria, saying: 8 And Ahaz took the silver and gold 9 And the king of Assyria confente 10 And king Ahaz went to Damascus, to meete Thiglath Pileser king of Assyria: and when king Ahaz had seen that Damascus was weaker than Syria, he sent to Tria the priest, the patern of the aultre, and the fashion of it, and all the housemanship thereof. 11 And Tria the priest made an aultre, in 12 And when the king was come from Damascus, he faid the aultre: and the king went to it, and offered thereon: 13 And he burnt his burnt offering, and 14 And by the baken aultre which was before the Lord, and set it without the temple betwixt the aultre and the temple of the Lord, and put it on the northside of the aultre. 15 And king Ahaz commanded Tria the priest, saying: Upon the great aultre, let fire in the morning the burnt offering, and in the even the meat offering, and the kinges burnt sacrifice, and his meat offering, with the burnt offering of all the people of the land, and their meat offering, and their drinke offerings, and polvde thereby the blood of the burnt offering, and all the blood of the sacrifice: and the baken aultre thus I come, and see. 16 And Tria the priest did according to all things as king Ahaz commanded him. 17 And

18 And the dayle for the Sabbath that they had made in the house, and the kings entrie without, turned he to the house of the Lord, for feare of the king of Assyria.

19 The rest of the wordes that concerne Ahaz what he did, are they not written in the booke of the cronikes of the kings of Judah?

20 And Ahaz slept with his fathers, and was buried with his fathers in the citie of David, & Hezekiah his sonne raigned in his stead.

The xvii. Chapter.

5 Hosea king of Israel is taken. 4 And he and all his realme brought to the Assyrians is for their idolatrie. 24 Lions destroy the Assyrians that dwelt in Samaria. 29 Every one worshippes the god of his nation, 3 contrary to the commandement of God.

A 1 In the twelfth yere of Ahaz king of Juda, began Hosea the sone of Elah to raigne in Samaria vpon Israel nine yeres:

2 And did that which was euill in the sight of the Lord, but nor as the kinges of Israel that were before him.

3 And Salmanasar king of Assyria came vp against him, and Hosea became his seruant, and gave him presentes.

4 And the king of Assyria founde treasur in Hosea: for he had sent messengers to So king of Egypt, and bought no present vnto the king of Assyria from yere to yere: and therefore the king of Assyria shut him vp, and bounde him in the pryson house.

5 And then the king of Assyria came vp throughout all the lande, and got vp against Samaria, and besiegled it three yeres.

6 In the ninth yere of Hosea, the king of Assyria take Samaria, and carried Israel away vnto Assyria, & put them in Hala & in Habo by the euer of Goa & in the cityes of the Medes.

7 For it came to passe, that the children of Israel sinned against the Lord their God which had brought them out of the lande of Egypt, from under the hand of Pharao king of Egypt, and feared other gods.

8 And they walked in the ceremonies of the heathen whom the Lord cast out before the children of Israel, and (in the ceremonies)
And the children of Israel went about to hide those things that were not well from the Lord their God: And they burnt them high places in all their cities, both in the valleys and in the strong holds:

And they made the images of groves in every high hill, and under every thick tree,

And there they burnt incense in all the high places, as did the heathen whom the Lord cast away before them, and wrought wicked things to anger the Lord within all:

For they feared most vile idols, whereof the Lord had said unto them: Ye shall do no such thing.

And the Lord testified in Israel and in Judah by all the prophets and by all the priests, laying: Turn from your wicked ways, and keep my commandments and my statutes, according to all the law which I commanded your fathers, and which I spake to you by my servants the prophets.

Notwithstanding they would not hear, but rather hardened their necks, like to the stubbornness of their fathers, that dyd not believe in the Lord their God.

For they refused his statutes, and his appointment that he made with their fathers, and the witnesses whereby he witnessed unto them, and they soloved bannie, and became banye, and went after the heathen that were round about them, concerning whom the Lord had charged them that they should not do like them.

But they left at the commandments of the Lord their God, and made them images of metal, even two calves, and made idols groves, and worshipped all the host of heaven, and served Baal.

And they sacrificed their sons and their daughters in fire, and used witchcrafts, enchantments, even selling them flees to work wickedness in the sight of the Lord, and to anger him.

And the Lord was exceeding wrath with Israel, and put them out of his sight, that there was left but the tribe of Judah only.

Neuerthelesse, Judah also kept not the commandments of the Lord their God, but walked in the ceremonies of Israel which they made.

And the Lord cast of all the seed of Israel, and bled them, and delivered them into the handes of poplers, until he had cast them out of his sight.

For he cut of Israel from the house of David, and made them a king, even Jeroboam the sonne of Nebat: And Jeroboam drave Israel away that they should not solowe the Lord, and made them saine a great sinne.

For the children of Israel walked in all the times of Jeroboam which he dy'd, and departed not therfrom,

Until the Lord put Israel away out of his sight, as he had said by all his seruantes the prophetes: And so was Israel caried away out of their owne land to Assyria even unto this day.

And the king of Assyria bought men from Babylon, from Cutha, from Ava, from Hamath, and from Sepharvaim, and put them in the cities of Samaria, in stead of the children of Israel: And they possesed Samaria, and dwelt in the cities thereof.

And it cometh to passe, that at the beginning of their dwelling there, they feared not the Lord, and the Lord sent lions among them, which slue them.

Wherefore they spake to the king of Assyria, laying: The nations which thou hast translated put in the cities of Samaria knowe not the lawe of the God of the lande: therefore he hath sent lions upon them, and behold they slaye them, because they knowe not the maner of worshipping the God of the lande.

Then the king of Assyria commanded, laying: Cary thyselfe one of the priests whom ye bought, and let hym go and dwell there, and teach them the fashion how to serve the God of the country.

And then one of the priests whom they caried from Samaria, came and dwelt in Bethel, and taught them howe they should scared the Lord.

Hallowed every nation made them gods of their owne, and put them in the houses of the hygh places which the Samaritans had made, every nation in their cities wherein they dy'd welt.

The men of Babylon made Saboth Benoth, the men of Cuth made Pergal, the men of Hamath made Aluma, the men of Ribabas and Tharshak: And the Sepharvites burnt O1 their their children in fire for Adzamelech and Aminuelch, the gods of Sepharvaim.
4-King

32 And do they feared the Lorde, & made them priests of the basalt of them, which sacrificed for them in the houses of the high places.

33 And so they feared the Lord, & served their own gods, after the manner of the people whom they carried thence.

34 And unto this day they do after the old man: and neither fear God, neither do after their own ordinances and customs, and after the law and commandment which the Lorde commanded the children of Jacob, whom he called Israel.

35 And the Lorde made an appointment with them, and charged them, saying: *Fear none other gods, nor bow your knees to the un, nor serve them, nor serve to them:

36 But fear the Lorde which brought you out of the land of Egypt with great power & a stretched out arm, & him fear, and to him bow, & to him do sacrifice.

37 The statutes, ordinances, lawe and commandment which he wrote for you, see that ye be diligent to do for evermore, and fear not any other gods.

38 And the appointment that I have made with you ye forget not, and fear none other gods:

39 But the Lord your God ye that fear, & he shall deliver you out of the handes of all your enemies.

40 Moreover, they dyd not hearken, but dyd after their old custom.

41 And to these nations feared the Lord, and feared their images also, as also their children and their childrens children: Even as dyd their fathers, so dyd they unto this day.

The xviii. Chapter.

4 Hezekia king of Juda putteth downe the basalt serpente; and destroyed the idols, & prospereth. 11 Israel is carried away captive, & the blaspheme of Semarchenib.

that thou puttest on me, that will I bear. And the king of Assyria appointed unto Hezekiah king of Juda three hundred talents of silver, and thirtie talents of gold.

And Hezekiah gave him all the silver that was found in the house of the Loard, and in the treasures of the kings house.

At the same season dyd Hezekiah rent of the doores of the temple of the Loard and the pillers, (which the lappe Hezckiah king of Juda had covered over,) and gave them to the king of Assyria.

And the king of Assyria sent (b) Thar-saian, and Rablares, and Rabshakeh from Lachis, to king Hezekiah with a great host against Jerusalem: And they went vp, and came to Jerusalem, and gat them vp and downe by the conuoye of the upper poole, which is in the way of the fuller siede.

And when they had called to the king, there came out to them: (c) Eliaum the sonne of Ekia, which was cestward of the household, and Sobna the scrive, and Joah the sonne of Afaph, the recorder.

And Rabshakeh sayd unto them, Tell ye hezekiah I say, thou hast said, the great king, even the king of Assyria: what confidence is this that thou hast? Thou thinkst surely I have eloquence, but counsel and strength are for the barre: In whom then doest thou trust, that thou rebellest against me?

Doest thou trust to the staffe of this broken reede Egypt, on which if a man lean, it will go into his hand, and perceiveth it: Even lo is Pharaon king of Egypt but to all that trust on hym.

If ye lay unto me, ye trust in the Lord our God: Is not that he whose high places and whose altars Hezckiah hath put downe, and hath sayd to Judah and Hierusalem, ye shall worship before this altar here in Hierusalem.

Nowe therefore I pray thee gene hostages to thy lorde the king of Assyria, and I will deliver thee two thousande horses, if thou be able to fet ryders upon them:

Why thinkest thou, that at the presence of one of the least Dukes of my masters servaunte, and trustest to Egypt for charites and honours? Yorthermore, am I come noe wey without the bidding of the Loard to this place, to destroy it: The Loard said to me: Go vp to this lande, and destroy it.

And Eliaum the sonne of Helkia, and Sobna, and Joah, sayde unto Rabshakeh: Speake I say to thy seruaunts in the Syrians language (for we understand it) and talke not with us in the Hebrew tongue in the ears of this people that are on the wall.

And Rabshakeh sayde unto them, hath my master sent me to thy master and thee, to speake these wordes? Hath he not sent me because of the men which he on the wall, that they may eate their owne dougue, and drinke their owne pisse with you?

And to Rabshakeh spooke, (d) Eyed with E, a loudwe voyce in the Hebrew language, and spake, saying: Hearre the wordes of the great king, even of the king of Assyria.

Thus saith the king: Let not Hezekiah beguile you, for he shall not be able to deluer you out of myne hande.

Neither let Hezekiah make you to trust in the Loard, saying, The Loard shall surely deluer us, this cite shall not be given ouer into the hande of the king of Assyria.

Hearken not unto Hezekiah: For thus saith the king of Assyria, Dake boldly with me, and come out to me, and then eate every man of his owne vine, and of his owne figge tree, and drinke every man of the water of his owne well.

Eli am came, and set you to as good a lande as yours is, a lande of corne and wine, a lande of bread and vineyards, a lande of oyle, of olue trees, and of horse, that ye may live, and not dye: And hearken not unto Hezekiah, for he beguileth you, saying: The Loard shall deluer us.

Hath every one of the gods of the nations deluered his land out of the hand of the king of Assyria?

Where is the god of Hamath, of Azpad, and where is the god of Sepharam, Hena, and Iua? Dyd they deluer Samaria out of myne hande?

And what god is among at the gods of the nations, that hath deluered this land out of my hands?

Shall the Loard deluer Hierusalem out of myne hande?

But the people held their peace, and answered not him a word: for the king had commaunded, saying: Answere him not.

Then ELIAKIM the son of Helcias, which was the steward of the houshold, and SOBNA the scribe, & IOAH the son of Asaph the recorder, came to Hezekiah with their clothes rent, and told him the words of Rabshakeh.

The, xix. Chapter.

21 This
This is therefore the word that the Lord hath said of him: (8) The virgin, even the daughter of Sion hath despised thee, and laughed thee to scorn. (9) Thou art the refuge of Israel against all hisaters, against all his etoers, against all his foes, against all his enemies. (10) For from the top of the mountains the towers of Sion shall be established; for the Lord will appear and be seen in his holy mountain, and the king shall be his comforter, and his armour. (11) Then the Lord shall save the inhabitants of Jerusalem and the inhabitants of Sion, every man his wilderness, and every man his hills, and they shall sit every one upon his mount. (12) And the Lord shall be king over all the earth; in that day shall there be one Lord, even his name, upon the earth. (13) And thou shalt know and understand, that from the going forth of the sun, even to the going in thereof, that thou art a blessed of the Lord. (14) Then shall the Lord be king over all the earth, as he hath said of thee, O Sion, and of thee, O Jerusalem. (15) Thus saith the Lord, thy redeemer, the holy one of Israel, I am thy king, according to the covenant of thy fathers, which thou hast desired of me, saith the Lord. (16) For I will save thee, and thou shalt be saved; and the daughter of Jacob shall be quiet, and he shall be saved in Jerusalem. (17) And he shall deliver thee in the day of trouble: he shall be like a castle in the day of trouble. (18) And they shall call thee blessed, O holy city, both old and new; for now shall the Lord save his people, the remnant of his inheritance; and they that are left shall inherit the land. (19) And thou, O Israel, shalt be as the smiting sword: in thine hand shall be the peoples; and with thine hand shalt thou smite the peoples, and they shall fall by the edge of the sword; and thine enemies shall be smitten before thee. (20) And the Lord will deliver thee into their hand, and they shall smite thee with their hand, and shall smite thee on the cheek, and shall spoil thee, and take all thy riches from thee, and shalt depart thence. (21) And the Lord will stretch forth thine hand over thine enemies, and the Lord will hear, and will smite them. (22) And thou shalt beat them with a rod of iron; thou shalt brake them in pieces like a potter's vessel. (23) And the Lord will be king over all the earth: in that day shall there be one Lord, even his name, upon the earth. (24) Now that time *was Hezekiah sick unto the death: And the prophet Isaiah came to him, and said unto him, Thus saith the Lord, Set thine house in order, for thou shalt die, and not live.

done that which is good in thy sight.
And Hezekiah slept.

And it was told that Esau the king of Edom was come out into the middle of the court, the king of the Lord came to him, saying:

Turn again, and tell Hezekiah the captain of my people, Thus saith the Lord God of David thy father: I have heard thy prayer, and seen thy tears, and beheld I will heal thee, so that on the third day thou shalt go up into the house of the Lord.
And I will add unto thy days ten years, and thou shalt go up into the house of the Lord the third day:

And Hezekiah answered: This sign shall thou have of the Lord, that the Lord will do that he hath spoken: Shall the shadow go forward ten degrees? or go back again ten degrees?

Esels answered: It is a light thing for the shadow to go downe ten degrees, I will declare not that, but let the shadow go backwarde ten degrees.

And Esels the prophet called unto the Lord, and he brought the shadow ten degrees backwarde, by which it had gone downe in the diall of Ahaz.

The same year Hezekiah was sick unto death, and had dreamed that Hezekiah was sile.

And Hezekiah was glad of them, and sealed them all his treasure house, siluer, golde, obones, precious oyentment, all the house of his armory, and all that was found in his treasures: There was nothing in his house in all his realm.

And Esau the prophet came unto king Hezekiah, and said unto him: what saide these men, and from whence came they to thee? And Hezekiah said: They be come from a farre country, even from Babylon.

And he saide againe: What have they seen in the house? Hezekiah answered: All things that are in my house have they seen: there is nothing among my treasures, that I have not shewed them.

And Esau said unto Hezekiah: Hear the voice of the Lorde.

And the voice of the Lorde came to Hezekiah, and said: What hast thou seen in the house? Hezekiah answered: I have seen the whole house, and the treasures in the house.

And he saide: All that is in thy house shall proceed out of thee, and thou shalt not see them againe, neither shall any of the treasures of the house depart out of thy house.

And Esau said unto Hezekiah: Hear the voice of the Lorde.

And the voice of the Lorde came to Hezekiah, and said: What hast thou seen in the house? Hezekiah answered: I have seen the whole house, and the treasures in the house.

And he saide: All that is in thy house shall proceed out of thee, and thou shalt not see them againe, neither shall any of the treasures of the house depart out of thy house.

And Esau said unto Hezekiah: Hear the voice of the Lorde.

And the voice of the Lorde came to Hezekiah, and said: What hast thou seen in the house? Hezekiah answered: I have seen the whole house, and the treasures in the house.

And he saide: All that is in thy house shall proceed out of thee, and thou shalt not see them againe, neither shall any of the treasures of the house depart out of thy house.

And Esau said unto Hezekiah: Hear the voice of the Lorde.

And the voice of the Lorde came to Hezekiah, and said: What hast thou seen in the house? Hezekiah answered: I have seen the whole house, and the treasures in the house.

And he saide: All that is in thy house shall proceed out of thee, and thou shalt not see them againe, neither shall any of the treasures of the house depart out of thy house.

14. And I will leaue the (8) remnaunt of mine inheritance, and deliver them in to the band of their enemies, and they shall be robbed and spoylead of all their aduerstaries:

16. And Panasse the innocent blood exceeding much, till he replenished hierusalem from corner to corner, beside his same where with he made Judas ainne and to do crynt in the sight of the Lord.
17. The rest of the boodes that concern Panasse: and all that he dyd, and his time that he linnd, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the bynges of Juda:

19. *Amon was twenty and two yeres old when he began to raigne, and he raignad two yeres in hierusalem: his mothers name also was Belechmeith the daughter of harins of Jotba.

22. And he forsoke the Lord God of his fathers, and walked not in the way of the Lord.
23. And the seruants of Amon conspirad against hym, and clee the kyng in his owne house.

The xxij. Chapter.

4. 8

Davia was eight years old when he began to reign, and he reigned thirty and one years in Jerusalem: his mother's name also was J ebudah the daughter of Abdaiah of Borsaeth.

2. He did that which is right in the sight of the Lord, and walked in all the ways of David his father; and bowed neither to the right hand nor to the left.

3. And it came to pass, that in the eighteenth year of the reign of Joah, the king sent Saphan the sonne of Azalia the sonne of Heliam the seruie to the house of the Lord, saying:

4. Go and enquire of the book of the law, which I have written, which is laid in the house of the Lord, between the Levites, and ask them of the seruants of the Lord, saying:

5. And let them deliuer it into the hande of them that do the worke, and that haue the overaignr of the house of the Lord: and let them giue it to them that do work in the house of the Lord, to repaire the decayed places of the temple.

6. Even unto carpenters and stone-masons, and workemen upon the walls, and for to dye tynber and steele stone, to repaire the temple.

7. Hodeboth, let no reckyng be made with them of the money that is deliuered into their hande, for their vis is to deal faithfull.

8. And Helcin the high priest deliuered unto Saphan the seruie; so I have founde the booke of the law in the house of the Lord. And Helcin gaue the booke to Saphan, and he read it in.

9. And Saphan the seruie came to the king, and brought hym booke againe, and said: The seruanteis have gathere the money that was founde in the temple, and haue deliuered it unto them that do the worke, and that haue the overaignr of the house of the Lord.

10. And Saphan the seruie beside the king, saying, Helcin the high priest deliuered me a booke: And Saphan read it in the before the kyng.

11. And it souned, that when the kyng had hearde the wordes of the booke of the law, he rent his clothes.

12. And the kyng commaunded Helcin the priest, and Ahliaam the seruie of Saphan, and Abizoz the seruie of Azaria, and Saphan the seruie, and Ahliaam a seruant of the kynges, saying:

13. "Go ye and enquire of the kyng for me, and for the people, and for all Juda, concerning the wordes of this book that is founde: For great is the wrath of the Lord that is against vs, because our fathers haue not hearkned vnto the wordes of this booke, to do accordyng vnto all that is written therin for vs;

14. So Helcin the high priest and Ahliaam, Abizoz, Saphan and Ahliaam, went unto Helcin the seruie of Sallum the sonne of Dikuan the sonne of Harjas keper of the Wardrope: (which seruie is dwelt in hirefulen in the house of doctrine;) and they commoned with her.

15. And the aunuled them: thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Tell the man that sent you to me.

16. Thus saith the Lord: Behold, I will buille this place, and the inhabitaters thereof, even all the wordes of the booke whiche the kyng of Judah hath read:

17. Because they haue forsaken me, and haue burnt incense vnto other gods, to anger me vnto all the worikes of their handes: my wrath also haue against this place, and shall not be quenched.

18. But to the kyng of Judah whiche sent you to ask coursett of the Lord, so shall ye say: Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, as touching the worikes whiche ye haue hearde:

19. For because thine heart was melt, and because thou haft humbled thyself befor me the Lord, when thou hearest what I speake against this place, and against the inhabitaters of the same, holde that they should be destroyed and accurted, and haue rent thy clothes and wept befor me, of that also haue I hearde say the Lord:

20. Behold

20 Therefore I will reprove thee, and thou shalt be put into thy grave in peace, and thine eyes shall not see all the evil which I will bring upon this place. And they brought the king Zedekiah again.

The xxii. Chapter.

2 joseph readeth the law before the people, and he maketh a covenant with the Lord. He put downe the idolles, after he had stopt the priests. He kept the passover. He destroyed the ceremonies. He was killed in Megiddo.

And his sonne Johnathan reigneth in his stead. After he was taken, his sonne Jerocham was made king.

And then* the king spake, and there gathered into him all the elders of Juda and of Hierusalem. And the king went vp into the house of the Lord, with all the men of Juda, and all the inhabitantes of Hierusalem, with the priests, and prophets, and all the people both small and great; And he read in the ears of them all the wordes of the covenant which was founde in the house of the Lord.

And the king stooode by a pillar,* and made a covenant before the Lord, that they should walke after the Lord, and keep his commandements, his testimonies, and his statutes, with all their heart and all their soule, and make good the wordes of the sabbath apportionment, that were written in the sabbath booke: And all the people consented to the apportionment.

4. (a) And the king commanded Hesekia the high priest, and the inferior priests, and the keepers of the ornamentes, to bring out of the temple of the Lord all the vessels that were made for Baal, for the idol groves, and for all the host of heauen: And he burnt them without Hierusalem in the fields of Ebon, and carried the ashes of them into Bethel.

5 And he put downe the ministers [of Baal] whom the kings of Juda had founded to burne incence in the greene places and cities of Juda that were rounde about Hierusalem, also them that burne incence into Baal, to the sunne, to the moon, to the planets, and to all the host of heauen.

6 And he brought out the grove from the temple of the Lord without Hierusalem into the booke Edon, and burnt it there at the booke Edon, and stamped it to powder, and cast the durt thereof upon the graves of the children of the people.

7 And

7 And he brake downe the celles of the male steedes that were by the house of the Lorde, where the women woue hangynges for the idole grove.

8 And he brought all the priests out of the cities of Juda, and defiled the high places where the priests had burnt incense, even from Seba to Beersheba, and destroyed the high places of the gates that were in the entring in of the gate of Josua's governour of the citie, which were [as a man goeth in] on the left hande of the gate of the citie.

9 Nevertheless, the priests of the high places came not up to the autler of the Lorde in Hierusalem, save onely they did caye of the sweete bread among their bheetzen.

10 And he defiled Thopheth, which is in the valley of the children of Humon, because no man should offer his sonne or his daughter in fire to Moloch.

11 He put downe the holies that the hynges of Juda had geuen to the sunne, at the entring in of the house of the Lorde, by the chamber of Nathanne-lech the chaumberlayne, which was ruler of the hynges, and burnt the chares of the sunne with fire.

12 And the autlers that were on the top of the partour of Azaz which the kings of Juda had made, and the autlers which Manasse had made in the two courtes of the house of the Lorde, dyd the kyng breake downe, and razze thence, and cast the dust of them into the brooke Edon.

13 And the high places that were before Hierusalem, on the euyght hande of the mount Olivet, which Solomon the king of Israel had builtte for Asaroch the idole of the Ezions, and for Chamos the idole of the Boabites, and for Michton the abominable idole of the children of Ammon, thos the king defiled:

14 And bakte the images, and cut downe the idole groves, and spilte their places with the bones of men.

15 Andover, {the autler that was at Bethiel, the high places made by Jerboam the sone of Nabat which made Israel binte, both the autler and also the high places he brake downe, and burnt the high places, and stampe it to powder, and burnt the idole grove.

16 And as Josia turned him selfe, he hyde the granes that were in the mount, and sent and set the bones out of the granes, and burnt them upon the autler, to pollute it, accordyng to the words of the Lorde that the man of God proclamed which tolde the same words.

17 Then he sayde: what title is that that I see? And the men of the citie tolde him: It is the lepulchre of the man of God. Which came from Juda, and tolde the selfe same thinges that thou hast done to the autler of Bethel.

18 And he sayde, let him be: see that no man move his bones. And so his bones were fauce with the bones of a prophet that came out of Samaria.

19 And all the houses of the hynges places in the citie of Samaria, which the king of Israel had made to angre [the Lorde withall] those Josia put out of the way, and dyd to them accordyng to all the actes that he had done in Bethel.

20 And he sacrifyied all the priests of the hyng places that were there, even upon the autlers, and burnt mens bones uppon them, and returned to Hierusalem.

21 And the kyng commandad all the 23 people, saying: Keepe the fealt of passouer into the Lorde your God, as it is written in the booke of this covenant.

22 There was no passouer holden lyke that from the dayes of the judges that inded Israel, and in all the dayes of the hynges of Israel and of the kynges of Juda.

23 In the euyghteenth yere of king Josia, was this passouer holden to the Lorde in Hierusalem.

24 And therto Workeis with spottes, and soothlayers, images, idoles, and all the abominations that were hyde in the lande of Juda and in Hierusalem, thos did Josia put out of the way, to persewme the wordes of the laide, which were written in the booke that Helcina the priest founde in the house of the Lorde.

25 Lyke unto him was there no king before him that turned to the Lorde with all his heart, with all his soul, and all his might, accordyng to all the laide of Myple, neither after him arose there any such as he.

26 Notwithstanding, the Lorde turned not from the herenessse of his great maneth, whereby he was angry agaynus Juda, because of all the provocatios

3. Dutly at the bidding of the Lord happened it to Iuda, to puttem out of his sight for the times of Panasile, according to all that he did.

Chapter xx.

The battle of Saul against the Philistines. In which he dyeth. And his sons also. The cause of Saul's death.

And the Philistines fought against Israel, and the men of Israel fled before the Philistines, and were overthrown and wounded in mount Gilboa.

And the battle went sore against Saul, and the archers found him, and he was wounded of shooters.

Then said Saul to his armour-bearer: Draw thy sword, and thrust me through therewith, that these uncircumcised come not and do me shame. But his armour-bearer would not, for he feared exceedingly: So Saul took a sword, and fell upon it.

And when his armour-bearer saw that Saul was dead, he fell on a sword also, and died.

And thus Saul and his three sons, and all they of his house died together.

When all the men of Israel that were in the valley, saw how they fled, and that Saul and his sons were dead, they forsook their cities, and ran away: and the Philistines came, and dwelt in them.

And it came to pass, when the Philistines came to strip the dead bodies, they found Saul and his sons overthrown in mount Gilboa.

And when they had stript him, they took his head and his harness, and sent them into the land of the Philistines round about, to shew them unto their idols, and to the people.

And they put his harness in the house of their god, and set up his head in the temple of Dagon.

And when all they of Jabe in Gilead heard of all that the Philistines had done to Saul:

They arose all the strongest of them, and set away the body of Saul, and the bodies of his sons, and brought them to Jabe, and buried the bones of them under an oak in Jabe, and fasted seven days.

So Saul dyed for his trespass that he trespassed against the Lord, in that he kept not the word of the Lord, and in that he sought and asked counsel of a woman that wrought with familiar spirits:

And asked not of the Lord, and therefore he slue him, and turned the kingdom unto David the son of Jabe.

Chapter xxi.

Then all Israel gathered themselves to David unto Hebron, saying:

Behold, we be thy bones, and thy flesh: And moreover thy people Israel, and thou shalt be captain over thy people Israel.

Therefore came all the elders of Israel to the king to Hebron, and David made a covenant with them in Hebron before the Lord: And they anointed David king over Israel, according to the word of the Lord, by the hand of Samuel.

And David and all Israel went to Beracah, which is Hebron, wherefore were the Jebusites, the inhabitants of the land.

And the inhabitants of Hebron sayde to David: Thou shouldest not rule over us. Nevertheless, David was the cæsar of Sion: Which is called the cæsir of David.
6 And David spake: Whosoever slayeth the seaborne, the Ezionites, first, halfe the prince pall captaine, and a loyde. So Joab the sonne of Zeruiah went first up, and was made the chief captayne.
7 And David dwelt in the casell [ Sion] and therefore they called it the citie of David.
8 And he built the citie on every side, even from Millo round about: and Joab repaired the rest of the citie.

13 He was with David at Zalmon, and there the Philistines were gathered together to battle: and there was there a parcel of ground full of barley, and the people fed before the Philistines.
14 And they stept forth into the midst of the field, and saued it, and sue the Philistines, and the Lord gave a great victorie.
15 And the three of the thicke chief captaynes went to a rocke to David, into the cave Adullam: and the host of the Philistines abode in the valley of Rephaim.
16 And when David was in the holde, the Philistines warriour was at Bethle hem that same tyme.
17 And David longed, and sayde: *Oh that one would give me drinke of the water of the well that is at the gate at Bethlehem.
18 And the three took of the host of the Philistines, and drew water out of the well that was by the gate at Bethle hem, and took it and brought it to Da vid: Nevertheless, David would not drinke of it, but rather offred it to the Lord.
19 And sayd: my God forbid it me that I thoude do this thing: Shall I drinke of the blood of these men, that have put their lines in jeopardy: for with the jeopardy of their lines they brought it: therefore he would not drinke it. And this did these three mighty.
20 And Abishai the brother of Joab, he also was captayne among three: For he left by his speare against three hundred, and wounded them, and had a name among the three:
21 pea among these, he was more honorable then the two, for he was their captayne: Bold as he was, he attained not to the [first] three.
22 Banaan's sonne of Jehoiada, the sonne of a very strong man, which had done many actes, of Captayn: he spake two strong [ lions] of Joab, went downe and slue a lion in a pit in time of solitude, 23 And he slue an Egyptian, whose stature was even as cubites long, and in the Egyptians hand was a speare lyke a weavers beame: And the other went downe to him with a waller, & plucked the speare out of the Egyptians hand, and slue him with his own speare.
24 Such things did Banaan the sonne of Jehoiada, and had the name among the three mighty.
25 And was honorable among these: but attayneb not unto the [first] three: And David made him of his coun taine.

master Saul to the eopherde of our heads.

As he went to Ziklag, there fell to him of Manasse Abini, Josabah, Jediel, Michael, Josabah, Elthan, and Zillah, heads of the thousandes that were of Manasse.

And they holpe David against the rovers: for they were all mightie men of warre, and captaynes in the host.

For at that time there came one or other to David day by day to helpe him, until it was a great host, like the host of God.

And this is the number of the chiefes captaynes that were prepared to battle, and came to David to Hebron, to tumne the kingdom of Saul to him, according to the word of the Lorde.

The children of Juda that bare shield and speare, were five thousand eight hundred, rede prepared to the warre.

Of the children of Simeon, men of might to warre, viii. 3. one hundred.

Of the children of Levi, four thousand and nine hundred.

And Jehoiada was the chief of them of Aaron, and with him three thousand and seven hundred.

And Zador a young man, strong and dallant, and of his fathers houhold, twentie, and two captaynes.

And of the children of Benjamin the brother of Saul, three thousand and ten thousand.

And of the children of Ephraim, twenty thousand and eight hundred, mightie men of warre, and famous men in the houhold of their fathers.

And of the halle tribe of Manasse, eighteene thousand, which were appointed by name to come and make Da-

And of the children of Issachar, which were men that had understanding of the tythes, to knowe what Israel ought to do, the heads of them were two hundred: all their brethren were at their will.

And of Zabulon which went out to battle, expert in warre and in all instrumentes of warre, fiftie thousand, which could be the battle in array, they were not of double heart.

And of Nephthali a thousand captaynes, and with them with shield and speare thicke and seven thousand.

And of Dan expert in battle, twentie eight thousand and four hundred.

And of Aser that went out to the warre and kept the forefront of the battle fourtie thousand.

And of the other side of Jochan of the Ruvenites, and Gadites, and of the halfe tribe of Manasse, with all manner of instrumentes of warre, an hundred and twenty thousand.

(1) All these were men of warre, keeping the forefront of the battle, and with perfecte heart came to Hebron to make David king over all Israel: And all the rest of Israel was of one accorde to make David king.

And there they were with David three dapes eating and drinking: for their brethren had prepared for them.

Borother, they that were npe them, even unto Issachar, Zabulon, & Neph-thali, bought bread on asses, caminites, mules, oxen, sheepe, children, reafings, wine, spice, ore, and sheepe abundantly: For there was joy in Israel.

7 The ark is brought againe from Haithathiran to Hierusalem; because he toucheth it.

No David consulted with the captaynes of thousandes and hundredes, and viiij. at the Lodes.

And saye by unto all the congregation of Israel: If it seeme you good, 3 to be of the Lord our God, we will lend abowe unto our brethren that are left in all the lande of Israel, and with them also to the priests and Leuites which are in their suburbs, to gather them together unto vs.

And we will bring againe the arke of our God to be: for we regarded it not in the dapes of Saul.

And all the congregation was content that he shoule do so: for the thing seemed good in the eyes of all the people.
So David gathered all Israel together from Shob in Egypt, unto the entering of Hamath, to bring the ark of the Lord from Kiriataram.

And David went up and all Israel to an high place towards Kiriataram, that was in Judah, to set there the ark of the Lord God, that dwelleth between the cherubims, where his name is called on.

And they carried the ark of God in a new cart out of the house of Abinadab: and Uzzah and his brother guided the cart.

And David and all Israel played before the ark of God with all their might, with trumpets, and harps, psalteries, and cymbals, and all instruments.

And when they came unto the threshing floor of Chidon, Uzza put forth his hand to hold the ark, for the oxen stumbled.

And the Lord was wroth with Uzza, and smote him, because he put his hand to the ark: and there he died before the Lord.

And David was out of quiet because the Lord had rent a rent in Uzza, and he called the name of that place, the renting of Uzza, unto this day.

And David was afraid of God that day, saying: How shall I bring the ark of God home to me?

And so David brought not the ark home to him to the city of David: but carried it into the house of Obededom a Gethurite.

And the ark of God remained there with Obededom, even in his house, three months: And the Lord blessed Obededom, and all his house, with peace.

20 And David asked counsel at God; saying: Shall I go against the Philistines: and will thou deliver them into mine hand?

1 And the Lord said unto him: Go up: for I will deliver them into thy hand.

2 And so they came up to Baal Perazim, and David smote them there, and David said: God is become my salvation: God is become my salvation, my strength, and my rock: and my redeemer.

3 And when the Philistines heard that David was appointed king upon all Israel, all the Philistines went up to seek David: And David heard of it, and went out against them.

4 And the Philistines came in, and spread them selves through the valley of Rephaim.

5 And David asked counsel at God,
17 And the name of David went out into all landes, and the Lord made all nations fear him.

The xxv. Chapter.

1 And David made him houses in the citie of David, and prepared a place for the arke of God, and pitched for it an tent.

2 Then David spake: The arke of God ought not to be carried out of the Levites: For them hath the Lord chosen to bear the arke of the Lord, and to minister unto him forever.

3 And David gathered all Israel together to Jerusalem, to setle the arke of the Lord upon his place which he had ordained for it.

4 And David brought together the children of Aaron and the Levites.

5 Of the sons of Caath, was Uriel the chief, of his brethren there were an hundred and twenty.

14 So the priests and the Levites sanctified them selues, to set the arke of the Lord God of Israel.

15 And the children of the Levites bare the arke of God upon their shoulders, with their charges, as Moses commanded according to the word of the Lord.

16 And David spake to the chief heads of the Levites, that they should appoint certaine of their brethren to sing with instruments of musitc, psalters, harpes, and cymbales, that they might make a sound, and to sing on hie with joyfullnesse.

17 And the Levites appointed Heman the sonne of Joel, and of his brethren, Asaph the sonne of Berechi, and of the sons of Berar, and of their brethren, Ethan the sonne of Cusai.

25 And
And David and the elders of Israel, and the captains of thousands, went to the ark of the appointment of the Lord out of the house of Obed-Edom with gladness.

And when God helped the Levites that bare the ark of the appointment of the Lord, they offered seven oxen, and seven rams.

And David had on him a linen garment, like as had also all the Levites that bare the ark, so had the singers and Chenania the ruler of the songe, with the singers: and David had upon him an Ephod of linen.

And as they of Israel brought the ark of the Lord's covenant with shouting, and blowing of the shalam, and trumpettes, making a noise with cymbales, psaltaries, and harpes.

And as the ark of the appointment of the Lord came into the city of David, Michal the daughter of Saul looking out at a window, saw king David dancing and playing, and despised him in her heart.

19. Sing into the Lord all the earth: and theue from day to day his salvation.

20. Tell his glory among the heathen: his wonderfull deeds among all nations.
And it came to pass, when David dwelt in his house, that the Lord had set his heart upon Solomon, to set up an altar for the name of the Lord, and to build a house for his name.

And David spake unto all the Levites, which were of the sons of Aaron, and to the priests the sons of Levi:

And said unto them, You are holy, for you are sanctified; and the Lord your God hath sent you in holy service, and shall keep your charge. And also keep my charge to do the priestly office of the Levites concerning the Lord, and whatsoever there shall be appointed for you.

For the Lord thy God hath chosen thee to be a priest for ever, after the order of Melchizedek.

So Solomon held a feast seven days, and all Israel with him, and the multitude that came together out of all the tribes of Israel, a great congregation.

On the seventh day they came to an end of offering libations, and they blessed the king. And the king said, Blessed be the Lord your God, of whom your fathers have spoken, saying, He shall be thy God for ever. My eyes shall see, and the eyes of my children shall see, when thou shalt have increased Solomon thy son, and made him a king in my stead.

And the Lord appeared unto Solomon, saying, I have heard thy prayer, and I have chosen this place to be my sanctuary, and my name to be there for ever. If my people, which are called by my name, shall humble themselves, and pray, and seek my face, and turn from their wicked ways; then will I hear from heaven, and will forgive their sin, and will healing their land. If my people, which are called by my name, shall humble themselves, and seek my face, and turn from their wicked ways; then will I turn my face towards them, and heal their land.

Now these are the things that thy servant will cause to be done. If it seem good unto thee, set up an altar of the Lord thy God before the tent which thy servant hath built for the holy name of the Lord.

The altar of burnt offering, and the altar of meal offering, and the laver, and the table, and the candlesticks, and the dromos, and the lattice, and the throne: all these things prepare thou for thee, and consecrate them.

And thou shalt bring out the gift of the house of Israel, that the Levites may Minister before the Lord, and the child of the Levite may minister against his brethren the children of Aaron, and thou shalt take the Levites from among all the children of Israel.

For the Levites are for the service of the tabernacle of the congregation, and to carry the same, and to minister in it, and to do all that shall be done therein.

And when David had ordained them overseers over all Israel, to give to the Levites all that was meet for the service of the house of the Lord, and to the priests, and to the Levites, according to the charge of their office, to give them every thing for the service of the house of the Lord, according to the charge of David the man of God, and as it is written in this book.

And this is the sum of the gift that was given unto the Levites for all the service of the house of the Lord, after the order of David the man of God. Two thousand two hundred and twenty-nine priests, and two thousand two hundred and twenty-nine overseers of them.

And the Levites, the sons of Gershon, were over the charge of the things that were in the house of the Lord, to distribute to all Israel, according to the charge of David the man of God.

All that were present of the children of Israel, three hundred thousand chief men, and one hundred thousand chief men, captains of thousands, and of hundreds, were under the hand of David, and the servants of king Solomon.

And when David was old and 'tired in his days, he made his son Solomon king over Israel.

And the time that David sat for the Lord his God, was thirty-three years. And Solomon sat on the throne of David his father, and reigned in Jerusalem. And Solomon loved the Lord, walking in all the way which his father David had walked, and did his thing to please the Lord. And Solomon built the house of the Lord, and the house of the king.

And all Judah and Israel were brought together to king Solomon, and did eat and drank together before the Lord, and praised the Lord, the God of their fathers, with great joy.

And Solomon held a feast seven days, and all Israel with him, and the multitude that came together out of all the tribes of Israel, a great congregation.

For all the children of Israel were come together to king Solomon, to hear the judgment which he should judge, and to offer sacrifices before the Lord, until that he had made an end of praying. And there came to Solomon twelve shekels of gold, by weight, for every man, offering sacrificed unto the Lord, threescore and ten thousand cattle, and thirty thousand sheep. And the king made silver as common in Jerusalem as stones, and copper as abundant as basest iron in ships of Tarshish.

And the merchantmen traded with Solomon; and they brought up great carriages, and brought spices thither, and gold, and frankincense, and rubies, and sapphires.

And king Solomon gave to all the queen mothers and to all the women of the kingdom bountiful dainties, and gifts, and frequent fees. And king Solomon made two hundred mangers of algum wood, and three hundred stalls of almug wood, for the horses which he had, and twelve thousand stalls for his chariots.

And Solomon loved all the peoples, and received of all kings a present of gold, and of the merchantmen, and of all the kings of the Arabians, and of all the kings of the countries which brought presents to king Solomon. And king Solomon made two great courts, one in the front of the house, and another behind, by the就够.

And twelve measures of barley a day furnished him, and twelve measures of fine flour. And he had nine hundred courses of governors of service, who governed the service of his people, and six officers over them, that they might minister to the king. And Solomon had twelve officers over all Israel, which were full of provisions for king Solomon, and which brought provision for king Solomon for a year.

Now these officers provided victual for king Solomon, and for all that came unto king Solomon for the service of the Lord: of the sons of Israel, two and twenty officers: And officers over the sum of Israel, twelve hundred: and officer over the officers, a hundred; and officers for every ten, twenty, fifty, and a hundred, all the officers for the service of the house of God, which were to do the work, and over the service of the house of God, twenty and eight officers.

And king Solomon gave to the officers on horseback, who were over the service, a sum of six hundred and fifty measures of meal a day, and twelve hundred baths of wine, and as much oil as is necessary for all the house of the Lord. And the officers供给 the king a thousand顿 each day, and to the officers of the king a hundred and fifty, and to the officers of the officers fifty, and to the officers of the officers ten.

And Solomon had twelve officers over all Israel, which were chief officers, who ruled over all the land.

And the sum of the food which he provided for all the service of the altar of the Lord, and to minister with the priests, and to give bread to all the people, was burdensome service, which both came in by ties, and came in by all the kings of the countries which brought presents to king Solomon. And they furnished victual for king Solomon, and for all the officers of the service, one hundred fifty pounds of refined meal every day: so far as he provided it in shewbread for the sanctuary, and to供给 the priests with it every morning, and every evening, for the burnt offeren after the manner of the workhouse. And he provided victual for all the service of the house of his servants, and the food for all the king's officers in all the service, and the food for the people of the people, which came to king Solomon to eat at the table, till he died. And the wine of wine was three hundred jugs daily: for so much he used to drink: and they supplied in abundance wine to him. And he gathered for him twelve officers for the carriage of victual, and furnished victual for king Solomon, and for all the officers, and for all the priests, and for all the people, all the workmen in every work place, for every service: so that the provision of victual never failed in the house of king Solomon.
1 Chronicles.

25 8 And I have ben with thee wherein thou hast walked, and have delivered all thine enemies out of thy sight, and have made thee a name like the name of the greatest men that are in the earth.

9 And I have o dyed a place for my people Israel, and made it fast, so that no foe may dwell in their place, and move no more: neither shall the children of wickedness exercise any more as at the beginning.

10 And since the time that I comman ded judges to be over my people Israel, I have subdued all thine enemies: and I tolde thee that the Lord would be buylde thee an house.

11 This also shall come to passe: when thy days be expired that thou must go unto thy fathers, I will raise up thy seed after thee, which shall slaye thy enemies, and I will stabilise his kingdom.

12 He shall buylde me an house, and I will stabilise his statute for ever.

13 I will dyse his father, and he shalbe my sonne, and I will not take my mercy away from him, as I took it from him that was before thee.

14 But I will stabilise him in myne house and my kingdoms for ever, and his statute shall be sure for evermore.

15 According to all these words, and according to all this vision, did Nathan tell king David.

16 And David the king came and sat before the Lord, and said: what am I, 0 Lord God, and what is mine house, that thou hast promisod me thus farre?

17 And yet this seemed little in thine eyes, 0 Lord: but thou hast also spoken of thy seruante house for a great whyle to come, and hast looked upon me as upon a man of yde degree, 0 Lord God.

18 What shall David desire more of thee for the honour of thy seruante? for thou hast known thy seruante.

19 0 Lord, for thy seruantes sake, even according to thy owne heart, hast thou done all this magnificence, to them all great things.

20 Lo! there is none like thee, neither is there any God save thou, according to all that we haue heard with our eares.

21 Moreover, what nation on the earth is like thy people Israel, to whom God hath boughthaded to come and redeeme them to be his owne people, and to make thee a name of excellence and terribleness, with calling out nations from before the people, whome thou hast deliuered out of Egypt?

22 Thy people of Israel by brest thou make thyne owne people for ever, and thou becamest their God.

23 Therefore nove Lode, let the thing that thou hast spokon concerning thy seruante and his house, be true for ever, that thou Lode do as thou hast sayde.

24 Let it come to passe, that thy name may be magnified for ever, that it may be sayde, The Lode of hosts is the God of Israel, even the God of Israel, and the House of David thy seruante endurcth stable before thee.

25 For 0 my God, hast tolde thy seruante that thou wylt buylde him an house, and therefore thy seruante hath founde in his heart to pray before thee.

26 And novie Lode, thou art God, and hast promised this goodnesse unto thy seruante.

27 Novie therefore let it be thy pleasure to blesthe the house of thy seruante, that it may continue before thee for ever: For whome thou blesstf 0 Lode, the same is blessed for ever.

And it came to passe, that after the vear was expired (about the time that kings go out a warrefare) Joab rearde out the armie of the hoast, and destroyed the country of the children of Ammon, and came and besieged Rabba, and destroyed it: But David taried at Hierusalem, where Joab smote Rabba and destroyed it.

Joab and to the ru-

And Joab numbled: The Lord

king, are they not all my loddes fer-this thing? why will my lord be a cause to treple this to Israell.

Nevertheless the kinges word prepaand walked thorough all them of Is-and gaine the summe of the number

Israel were a thousand thousand and an hundred thousand men that due

And the Lode spake unto Gad Davids

So the Lode sent pestilence upon Is-

And the angell of the Lode comma-

And as Davd came to Ounan, Ounan loked and slyve Davd, and went out of the thesbein flooe, and bowed hym grounde.

22 And David said to Omen: See me the place of the threshing floore, that I may builde an analter therin unto the Loade: Thou shalt give it me: for as much money as it is worth, that the plague may cease from the people.
23 And Omen said unto David: Take it to thee, and let my lozde the king do that which seemeth good in his eyes: Lo, I gave thee ore also for burnt sacrifices, and treishing instrumentes for wood, & wheate for meat offering, I gave it all.
24 And king David said to Omen: Not so, but I will give it: as much money as it is worth: for I will not take that which is thyne: for the Loade, nor offer burnt offerings without coach.
25 And to David gave to Omen for that place nees of golde five hundred by waght.

The. xxii. Chapter.

1 And David said: This is the house of the lord God, & this is the alter for the burnt offering of Israel.
And David commanded to gather together the strangers that were in the lande of Israel, and he set masons to hew and pulyse stones for the building of the house of God.
3 And David prepared plentie of iron for naples, 3 doors of the gates, 3 to byne withal, and abundance of hafte without wagghe.
4 And Cedar trees without number: For the Zidons and they of Tyre bought much Cedar wood to David.
5 And David saide: Solomon my sonne is young and tender, and the house that is to be builde for the Loade must be magnificall, excellent, and of great fame and dignite throughout all countreys: I will therefor make ordinances for it, And to David prepared many things before his death.
6 And he called Solomon his sonne, and charged him to builde an house for the Loade God of Israel.
7 And David saide to Solomon: By sonne, I thought as it was in myne heart to builde an house unto the name of the Loade my God:
8 But the word of the Loade came to me, saying: Thou hast shed much blood, and hast made great battayles: thou shalt therefore not builde an house, but my name, for thou hast shed much blood upon the earth in my sight.
9 Behold, a sonne is borne to thee, and he shall be a man of rest, for I will give him rest from all his enemies rounde about: For his name is Solomon, & I will lend rest and peace upon Israel in his dayes.
10 He shall builde an house for my name, and he shall builde my sonne, and I will be his father, and I will estable theke the feate of his kingsdome upon Israel for ever.
11 The Loade therefore my sonne, the Loade be with thee, and prosper thee, and thou shalt builde an house to the Loade thy God, as he hath said of thee.
12 And the Loade shall give thee wythom and understanding, and shall give thee commandements for Israel, that thou mayst kepe the lawe of the Loade thy God.
13 For thou shalt prosper, even when thou takest heed and fillest the statutes and Judicials which the Loade charged Dooves with for Israel: And the Loade therefore shall be strong, and thou not, nor be discouraged.
14 Behold, according to my povertie have I alis...
I also prepared for the house of the Lord, an hundred thousand talents of gold, and a thousand thousand talents of silver; and I have provided wood and stone, and thou mayst provide more thereto.

Moreover, thou hast wrought men with the know, and masons, and carpenters; (to work in stone and timber) many men that be active for every work.

And of gold, silver, brass, and iron, there is no number: Up therefore, and be doing, and the Lord will help with thee.

And David commanded at the loaves of Israel to help Solomon his son, saying:

18 Is not the Lord your God with you? and hath he not given you rest on every side: for he hath given the inhabitants of the land into my hand, and the land is subdued before the Lord, and before his people.

19 Moreover let your hearts and your soules to seek the Lord your God:

Up, and build ye the temple of the Lord God, to bring the ark of the covenant of the Lord and the holy vessels of God into the house to build for the name of the Lord.

The xxii. Chapter.

And then he gathered together all the lodges of Israel, with the priests and the Levites.

And the Levites were numbered from the age of thirtie years and above: and the number and name of them was thirtie and eight thousand men.

Of which twentie and four thousand were set to further the worke of the house of the Lord: and six thousand were officers and judges.

Four thousand were porters, and four thousand paid the Lord with such instruments as was made to praise him.

And king David stode vp upon his seat, and tayde: hear me my brethren and my people. *I had in mine heart to builde an house of rest, for the arke of the covenante of the Lorde, and for the footstool of our God, and had made redie for the building

But God faide vnto me: *thou shalt not builde an house for my name, becaufe thou hast ben a man of warre, and hast shed blood.

Moreover the Lorde God of Israel chose me before all the house of my father, to be king ouer Israel for euer: for in Judah shoulde he choose a captain, *of the householde of Juda is the house of my father, among the sonsnes of my father he had a lust to me to make king ouer all Israel.

And of all my sonsnes (for the Lorde haue geuen me many sonsnes) he haue choosen Solomon my sonne, to sit upon the seatte of the kynge of the Lorde in Israel.

1. Chronicles.

The offering of David and of the princes for the building of the temple. 10 David gave thanks to the Lord. 20 He exhorteth the people to do the same. 22 Solomon is created king. 28 David's death, and Solomon his son reigneth in his stead.

And David the king laid unto all the congregation: "God hath specially chosen Solomon my son which is yet young and tender, for the house shall not be for man, but for the Lord God.

Moreover, I have prepared with my whole heart to build a house unto the name of the Lord my God, for it is written in the law of Moses the man of God, that the Lord should have an house for his name. And now my heart is lifted up, because God hath shewed me this great honour.

And because I have set my heart to build a house unto the name of the Lord, and his temple, 3 And have prepared therefor, even silver and gold of every sort, and marble, and brass, and iron, and precious stones, and timber of good trees, and such as need be to set the house withal. 5 And if I have found favour in your sight, O my God, then have mercy upon me, my God, and show unto your servant mercy and truth.

And to the ancients of the fathers, and to the princes of the tribes of Israel, the captains of thousands and hundreds, with the lords that were rulers over the king's works, were they willing. 7 And gave for the service of the house of God five thousand talents of gold, and ten thousand talents of silver, and ten thousand pieces of gold, and eight thousand talents of silver, and one hundred thousand talents of brass, and one hundred thousand talents of iron, and marble in abundance. 8 And they with whom were precious stones were found, gave them to the treasure of the house of the Lord by the hand of Jehiel the Gershonite. 9 And all the people rejoiced when they saw the stone work, and with a perfect heart they offered willingly to the Lord: And David the king rejoiced greatly.

And David blessed the Lord before all the congregation: O God, blessed art thou for ever and ever: there is none like thee, and none is able to withstand thy strength.

Therefore David the king went in to wait at the house of the Lord, to glorify the God of his fathers. 16 And David blessed the Lord before all the congregation. 17 And also to all the princes of the children of Israel, and to the priests the Levites, and said: The Lord God of Israel hath made thee king over his people Israel for ever, and hath chosen Jerusalem for an everlasting habitation.

And now, David my master hath made me king over this house, and seated me thereon, as thou didst say, O my master David. 19 And gave unto Solomon my son a perfect heart, to keep the commandments, and to do what is right and good in thine eyes.

And all the people rejoiced, when they beheld such sacrifices, and such a great provision of stones, and timber, and brass, and iron, and marble: and the king and all the people held a feast before the Lord, that they might rejoice thereat.
And David spake to all the congregation of Israel, and blesse the Lord your God.

And all the congregation blesse the Lord God of their fathers, and bowed down their heads, and worshipped the Lord and the king.

And they offered sacrifices unto the Lord: And on the morrow after the seventh day, they offered burnt offerings and sacrifices unto the Lord, even a thousand young calves, a thousand rams, and a thousand heffer sheepe, with their drinke offerings: Many sacrifices offered they for all Israel,

And did eat and drinke before the Lord the same day with great gladnesse: And they made Solomon sonne of David king the seconde tyne, and anointed him prince before the Lord, and Zadoc to be the tyne priest.

And Solomon sat upon the seate of the Lord, and was king in stead of David his father, and prospered: and all they of Israel obeyed him.

And all the lords and men of power, and all the sonnes of king David, submited them selves, and were under kyng Solomon.

And the Lord magnified Solomon in dignite in the sight of all them of Israel, and gave him so glorious a kingdome, as no kyng had before him in Israel.

And so David the sonne of Japhet reigned over all Israel.

And the space that he reigned over Israel was fourete peres: Seven peres reigned he in Hebron, and thirtie and three peres reigned he in Jerusalem.

And he dyed in a good age, full of dayes, riches, and honour: and Solomon his sonne reigned in his stead.

The actes of David the king first and last, behold they are written in the booke of Samuel the seare, and in the booke of Nathan the prophet, and in the booke of God the seare:

With all his kingdome, and power, and tyntes that went over him, over all Israel, and over all the kingdomes of the earth.

The ende of the first booke of the Chronicles, otherwise called the first booke of Paralipomenon.
The seconde booke of the Chronicles, which in the Hebrue is one with the first.

The first Chapter.

6 The offering of Solomon at Gideon. 8 He prayed unto God to give him wisdom, which he gave him, and more. 14 The number of his chariottes and horses, and of his riches.

And Solomon spake unto all Israel, to the captaynes of thousandes, to the captaynes of hundredes, to the judges, and to every officer in all Israel, and to the auncient fathers.

And to Solomon and all the congregation with him went to the holy place that was at Gideon: for there was the tabernacle of the congregation of God, where Joables the sernaunt of the Lord made in the wildernesse.

But the ark of God had David brought from Britatharim, into the place which David had prepared therefore: for he had pitched a tent for it at Hierusalem.

Moreover, the vaunts alter which Bezaleel the sonne of Uri the sonne of Hur had made, was there before the tabernacle of the Lord: And Solomon and the congregation went to view it.

And Solomon gat up there before the Lord, to the baue alter that was before the tabernacle of the congregation, and offered a thousand burnt sacrifices upon it.

And the same night did God appear unto Solomon, and said unto him: Ask what I shall give thee.

And Solomon said unto God: Thou hast shewed great mercy unto David my father, and hast made me to reign in his stead.

9 Wherefore, O Lord God, let thy promise which thou madest unto David my father, be true: For thou hast made me king over a people which is like the dust of the earth in multitude:

10 Wherefore give me now the wisdom and knowledge, that I may be able to goe and out before this people: for who can judge this people that is so great?

11 And God spake to Solomon: Because this was in thine heart, and because thou hast not asked for thy selfe, but hast asked wisdom and knowledge for the people, to judge my people over which I have made thee king:

12 Wisdom and knowledge is granted unto thee, and I will give thee riches, and riches, and glory: so that among the kynges that haue ben before thee, or after thee, none was of thy degree:

13 And to Solomon came from the holy place that was at Gideon to Hierusalem from the tabernacle of the congregation, and raigned over Israel.

14 And Solomon gathered chariotts and horsemen: and he had thi thousandes, and foure hundred chariotts, and twelve thousandes horsemen, whom he bestowed in the charret citiees, and with the kyng at Hierusalem.

15 And the kyng made silver and golde at Hierusalem as plentious as stones, and Cedar trees made he as plentie as the Sylbeber trees that growe in the ballyes.

16 And Solomon had horses brought out of Egypt, and fine linen: The kynges marchauntees receaued the fine linen for a price.

17 They came also and brought out of Egypt a charret for five hundred pieces of silver, even an horse for an hundred and fiftie: And so brought they horses for all the kynges of the Persites, and for the kynges of Syrie, by their owne hande.
And Solomon determined to build him an house for the name of the Lord, and an house for his kingdom.

And Solomon tobied out three thousand and ten thousande men to beare burthenes, and four thousande men to hew stome in the mountayne, and three thousand and six hundred to overseer them.

And Solomon sent to hiram the king of Tyre, saying: As thou diddest deale with Dauid my father, so send me also Cedars woode to build him an house to dwell in (even to deal with me:)

Behold I build an house for the name of the Lord, and to offer burnt offerings and sacrifices of fire therein to burn sweete incense, and to set the bread before him continually, to offer burnt sacrifices of the morning and evening on the Sabbath days, in the hexe day of every newe moon, and in the solemn feastes of the Lord our God: for it is an ordinance to be continually kept of Israel.

And the house which I build shall be great: for great is our God above all gods.

But who is able to build him an house? When heaven and heauen above all heauen is not able to receaue him, what am I then that should build him an house? but even to burne sacrifice before him (shall this building be:)

Send me therefore a cunning man, that can booke in golde and siluer, in basse and iron, in purple, cynamon, in peleue silke, that can spfacke with grace the cunning men that are with me in Juba and Jerusalem, whom Dauid my father dyd prepare.

Send me also Cedars teere, pine trees, and cynamone trees, oue Lebanon: for I hafe that thy seruaunte can shalbe to hewe timber in Lebanon: and behold my men shalbe with them.

That they may prepare me timber enough: for the house which I am determined to builde, shalbe wonderfull great.

And besides for the be of thy seruauntes the cutters and helvers of timber, I have gaven twentie thousande quarters of beane wheete, and twentie thousande quarters of barleye, and twentie thousande bates of wine, and twentie thousande bates of oyle.

And hiram the king of Tyre answered in writing, which he sent to Solomon: Because the Lord hath loved his people, therefore hath he made the kyng over them.

And hiram said moreover: Blessed be the Lord God of Israel which made heaven and earth, & that hath gaven Dauid the king a wise sonne, and one that hath discretion, prudence, and understanding to build an house for the Lord, and a pallece for his kingdom.

And now I have sent a wife man, and a man of understanding, whom my father hiram dyd sende:

The sonne of a woman of the daughters of Dan, and his father was a man of Tyre, & he can spfacke to booke in golde and siluer, in basse and iron, in stone and timber, in purple and cynamon, in fine white and cynamon, and can grave sundry maner of grauings, and to finde out divers maner of sube with art that shalbe set before him, with the cunning men, and with the cunning men of my lode Dauid dyd father.

And booke therefo, the wheate and barlye, oyle and wine, which my lode hath spoken of, let him sende unto his seruauntes:

And we spfacke wood in Lebanon as much as thou shalt neede, and will bring it to thee in botes by sea to Japho, from whence thou mayest carry them to Jerusalem.

And Solomon numbered all the straungers that were in the lande of Israel, after the number of them whom his father Dauid had numbered: And they were founde an hundred liuetie and three thousande, and six hundred.

And he set three thousande and ten thousande to beare burthenes, and four thousande to hewe stones in the mountayne, and three thousande & six hundred offeecers to sete the people to booke.
2. Chronicles.

The. iiij. Chapter.

The temple of the Lord, and the porch are builded, with other things thereto belonging.

And Solomon began to build the temple of the Lord at Jerusalem in mount Moriah, where the Lord appeared unto David his father, even in the place that David prepared in the threshing floor of Omer the Jebusite. And he began to build in the second day of the second month, * the fourth year of his reign.

And these are the patterns whereby Solomon was instruct to build the house of God: The length was three score cubits after the ope measure, and the breadth twenty cubits.

And the porch that was before the length in the first, according to the breadth of the house, was twenty cubits, and the height was an hundred and twenty cubits: and he overlaid it on the inner side with pure gold.

And the greater house he setled with firre tree, which he overlaid with the first gold, and graunted thereof pauline trees and chaynes.

And he overlaid the house with precious stone beautifully: And the gold was gold of Paruain.

The house [I say] the beames, postes, walls and dooers thereof, overlaid he with gold, and graunted Cherusbs on the walls.

And he made the house most holy: Where length was twenty cubits, like to the breadth of the house, and the breadth thereof was also twenty cubits: and he overlaid it with good gold, even with fire hundred talents.

And the weight of the nappes of golde was fittie tiles: and he overlaid the upper chammubers with golde.

And in the house most holy he made two Chersubs of image worke, like chytten, and overlaid them with golde.

And the wings of the Chersubs were twentie cubits long: The one wing was fittie cubites, reaching to the wall of the house: and the other wing was likewise fittie cubites, reaching to the wing of the other Cherus.

And even to the one wing of the other Cherus was fittie cubites, reaching to the wall of the house: and the other wing was fittie cubites also, and reaching to the wing of the other Cherus.

So that the wings of the said Cherus were stretched out twentie cubites: and they stooode on their feece, and looked inwarde.

And he made a sozehangiung of velvet silke, purple, cromynol, and fine white, caused the pictures of Cherusbs to be brodred theron.

And he made before the house two pilers of thirtie and fittie cubites high, and the head that was aboute on the top of every one of them was fittie cubites.

And he made charynes of braesene worke for the quier, and put them on the heads of the pilers: and made an hundred pomegranates, and put them on the charynes.

And he reared by the pilers before the temple, one on the right hand, and the other on the left: and called the right Jachin, and the left Boaz.

The. iijj. Chapter.

And he made an aurter of brasen, twenty cubites long, and twentie cubites high, and ten cubites hye.

And he cast a basin lauatoire of ten cubites from bryn to bryn, rounde in compasse, and fittie cubites hye: and a lye of thirtie cubites byd compasse it rounde about.

And under it was the fashion of orien, which byd compasse it rounde about: With ten cubites byd they compasse the lauatoire rounde about, and there were two rodes of orien which were cast byd molteyn worke.

And
And it came also upon twelve oren: three toward toward the north, three toward the east, three toward the south, and three toward the cast: and the lavish was let upon them, and all their backes were toward the lavish. And the thickest of it was an hand breadth, and the top was like the top of a cup, with flour of lines: and it received and held three thousand bouses. And he made ten lauvres, and put four on the right hand, and four on the left, to wash and cleanse in them such things as they offered for a burnt offering: But the great lavatoge was for the priestes to wash in. And he made ten candellstikes of gold, according to the pattern that was given of them, and put them in the temple, five on the right hand, and five on the left. And he made also ten tables, and put them in the temple, five on the right side, and five on the left: And he made an hundred basens of gold. And he made the court of the priestes, and the great court, and doores to it, and overlayde the doores of them with basse. And he let the great lavatoge on the right side of the east ende, over against the south. And hiram made pottes, shoues, and basens, and smithed the worke that he was appointed to make for king Solomon in the house of God. The two pillers, and the bouses, and the ponnels on the toppe of the two pillers, and the two wraithes to cover the two bouses of the ponnels which were on the toppe of the pillers. And foure hundred pomegranates on the two wraithes:two rodes of pomegranates on one wraith to cover the two bouses of the ponnels. And he made two bottomes, and lavurers he upon the bottomes. The great lavatoge, and twelve oren under it. Pottes also, shoues, and dishshakes: and all these vessels dyd hiram his father make to king Solomon for the house of the Lord, of bright brasse. In the plane of Jodane did the king cast them, even in the clay grounde that is betweene Socoth and Zaredatha. And Solomon made all these vessels in great abundance: for the weight of brasse could not be reckened. And Solomon made at the vessels that were for the house of God, the golden authe also, the tables to set the shewe brede upon. Moreover, the candellstikes with their lampes, to burne after the maner before the quire, and that of precious golde. And the shoures, and the lampes, and the shawers made he of golde, and that perfect golde. And the dressing lampys, bakens, spoones, and centers of pure golde: And the doore of the temple, and the inner doores within the place most holy, and the inner doores of the temple were gilted.

The, v. Chapter.

1 The things dedicated by David, are put in the temple. 2 The ark is brought into the temple. 3 What was within it. 4 They sing psalms to the Lord.

And so all the worke that Solomon made in the house of the Lord was smitten: And Solomon brought in all the things that David his father had dedicated, with the silver and golde, and all the vessels, and put them among the treasures of the house of God. Then Solomon gathered the elders of Israel together, and all the heads of the tribes and ancients fathers of the children of Israel, into Jerusalem, to bring the ark of the covenant of the Lord out of the city of David, which is in Sion. Wherefore all the men of Israel rejoiced into the king in the feast, even in the seventh moneth. And all the elders of Israel came, and the Levites took up the ark.
And the priests and the Levites brought away the ark of the tabernacle of the congregation, all the holy vessels that were in the tabernacle, and they bare them.

And king Solomon and all the congregation of Israel that were assembled before him before the ark, offered three thousand sheep and a thousand oxen, so many that they could not be numbered for multitude.

And the priests brought the ark of the tabernacle of the congregation, and the cherubim, and the table of shewbread: all these the priests brought up.

And so it was, when they had made an end of bringing up the ark, and the covenant of the Lord, and all the instruments of the sanctuary, that Solomon came in from the holy place, where was the ark of the covenant of the Lord, and blessed the people.

Thevi. Chapter.

3 Solomon blesseth the people. 4 He prareth the Lord. 14 He prareth unto God for those that shall pray in the temple.

Then Solomon said: "The Lord hath spoken, saying, that he will dwell in the dark cloud.

And I have built thee an house of habitation for thee, and a place for thy dwelling forever.

And the king turned his face, and blessed the whole congregation of Israel, and all the congregation of Israel stood.

And he said: "Blessed art thou, O Lord God of Israel, that hast spoken with thy mouth to thy servant David, saying, Since the day that I brought my people out of the land of Egypt, I chose no city among all the tribes of Israel to build an house in, that my name might be there, neither did I choose any man to be a ruler over my people Israel:"

But there was nothing in the ark save the two tables which Moses put therein at Horeb, when the Lord made a covenant with the children of Israel after they were come out of Egypt.

And it came to pass, when the priests were come out of the holy place, that all the priests that were present, were sanctified, and did not then layne by course.

That both the priests and the singers, under Asaph, Hemam, and Jehi Coal, were appointed to sound offices with their children and brethren, and were arrayed in fine linen, having cymbals, psalteries, and harps, and sound at the east end of the altar, and by them an hundred and twenty priests blowing with trumpets:

And the trumpet blowers and the singers so agreed, that it seemed but one voice in praising and thanksgiving the Lord: And when they lifted up their voice with the trumpets, cymbals, and other instruments of musicke, and when they praised the Lord, how that he is good, and that his mercy (lasteth) ever: the house of God was filled with a cloud, and the glory of the Lord filled the house of God.

So that the priests could not endure to minister by reason of the cloud: For the majesty of the Lord had filled the house of God.

And the Lord spake unto Solomon, saying: "I have chosen David to be over my people Israel.

And when it was in the heart of David my father to build himself an house for the name of the Lord God of Israel,

The Lord spake to David my father: "Foreshadoweth it was in thy heart to build a house for my name, thou didst well that thou thoughtest in thy heart.

2. Chronicles.

12 And the king stood before the altar of the Lord in the presence of all the congregation of Israel, and stretched out his hands: 13 (For now Solomon had made a brazen scaffold of five cubits long, and five cubits broad, and three of height, and had set it in the midst of the great court, and upon it he stode and knelted downe upon his knees before the congregation of Israel, and stretched out his hands toward heaven,) 14 And said: "O Lord God of Israel, there is no God like thee in heaven or in earth, which keepest covenant and mercy unto thy seruantes that walke before thee with all their hearts. 15 Thou hast kept with thy seruant David my father the things that thou promisedst him, saying, "Thou shalt in my sight not be without a man that shall sit upon the seat of Israel, so that thy children take heede to their Waves to walke in my laue, as thou hast walked before me." 16 And now Lord God of Israel, keep with thy seruant David my father the things that thou promisedst him, saying, "Thou shalt in my sight not be without a man that shall sit upon the seat of Israel, so that thy children take heede to their Waves to walke in my laue, as thou hast walked before me." 17 And now Lord God of Israel, let thy saying be true which thou spakest unto thy seruant David. 18 And wil God in verie deede dwell with men on earth? Beholde, heaven and heaven above all heavenes do not containe thee, howe much lesse the house which I have builded."

19 Let it be thy pleasure therefore to turne to the prayer of thy seruant and to his supplication O Lord my God, to hearken unto the voyce and prayer whiche thy seruant prayeth before thee. 20 And let thyne eyes be open towarde this house day and night, once this place whereof thou hast sayde that thou wouldest put thy name there, to hearken unto the prayer whiche thy seruant prayeth in this place.

21 Hearken unto the prayers of thy seruant and of thy people Israel, which they pray in this place: heare thou I say out of the dwellingplace, even out of heaven, heare, and be mercifull. 22 If a man sinne against his neighbour, and take an oath against hym and make hym to heare, and they both come be-stretched out armes: If they come play, and pray in this house:

33 Thou shalt have from heaven, even from thy dwelling place, and shalt do according to all that the stranger calleth to thee for: That all people of the earth may know thy name, and hear thee as both thy people Israel, and that they may know how that this house where I have built, thy name is called upon.

34 If thy people go out to warre according to thy enemies, by the way that thou shalt send them, and they pray to thee in the way: Towarde this city which thou hast chosen, even toward the house where I have built, thy name:

35 Then hear thou from heaven their supplication and prayer, and help them, in their right.

36 If they sin against thee (as there is no man that sinneth not) and thou be angry with them, and deliver them over before their enemies, and they take them, and care then away, captives unto a land farre of, nearer:

37 Yet if they repent in their heart in the land where they be in captivity, and turn, and pray unto thee in the land of their captivity, saying, We have sinned, we have done amiss, and wickedly;

38 And turn a gaine to thee with all their heart, and all their soul in the land of their captivity, where they kepe them in bondage, and to pray toward thee land which thou gauncelt unto their fathers, even toward the city which thou hast chosen, toward the house where I have built, for my name:

39 Then hear thou from heaven, even from thy dwelling place, their supplication and their prayer, and judge their cause, and be mercifull unto thy people which have sinned against thee.

40 Now my God, let thine eyes be open, and thine ears cares attent unto the prayer that is made in this place.

41 Now by O Lord God into thy resting place, thou and the ark of thy strength: O Lord God, let thy priests be clothed with health, let thy saints rejoice in goodnesse.

42 O Lord God, turne not away the face of thyne (punoyted: remember the mercies which thou hast promised to David thy servant.

And the priests laid on their services, the Levites had the instruments of musick of the Lord, which king David had made to confess into the Lord, that his mercies lasted ever. David praying God by the: And the priests blew with trumpettes before them, and all they of Israel stood.

Moreover, Solomon halloved the midle of the court that was before the house of the Lord, so there he offered burnt offerings: the fat of the peace offerings, because the holie altar which Solomon had made, was not able to receive the burnt offerings, and the peace offerings, and the fat.

So at the same time Solomon kept a feast of seven days, and at the feast of Israel with him, an exceeding great congregation, even from the enterings in of Hamanath unto the river of Egypt.
And the three and twentieth day of the seventh month he let the people depart into their tents glad and merry in heart, for the goodnesse that the Lord had shewed to David and to Solomon, and to Israel his people.

And Solomon smote the house of the Lord, and the housetes house: and all that came in his heart to make in the house of the Lord, in his own house, went prosperously forward.

And the Lord appeared to Solomon by nigh, and said unto him: I have heard thy petition, and have chosen this place for my selfe to be an house of sacrificce.

If it be seed, or gift, or offering, let me not hear thee: but if I smite, or if mine eyes see, let me not hear thee.

And if they that are of my people, among whom my name is called upon, do humble them fittest, and make intercession, and let my presence, and turns from their wicked ways: then will I hear from heaven, and be merciful to their sinn, and will heare their sinn.

And from henceforth myyne eyes shalbe open, and myyne cares attent unto the payer that is made in this place.

And therefore alsoe: I have chosen and sanctified this house, that my name may betherefor ever: and myyne eyes and myne heart shalbe there perpetually.

The viii. Chapter.

2. Chronicles.

The cities that Solomon builde. 7 People that were made tributarie unto him; 17 be senteth to Sphir.

And it was after twenty yeeres, when Solomon had builde the house of the Lord, and his owne house: 2 He builde the cities that his seamen gane hynde, and put of the children of Israel in them.

3 And Solomon went to Hamath Zobah, and strengthened it.

4 And he builde Thadmus in the wilderne, repaired all the sloe cities which were in Hamath.

5 And he builde Bethzonah the upper, and Bethzonah the lower, strong cities, having walles, gates, and barres.

6 And Sataha, and all the sloe cities that Solomon had, and all the charre cities, and the cities of the hoastmen, and every pleasant place that Solomon had left to builde in Hierusalem, and Lebanon, and throughout all the land of his dominion.

7 And all the people that were left of the Hethites, Amorites, Perizites, Hites, and Jebusites, which were not of the children of Israel,

8 But were the children of them which were left after them in the land, and were not confirmed of the children of Israel, them byd Solomon make to pay tribute, untill this day.

9 But of the children of Israel byd Solomon make no bondmen for his worke: but they were men of warre, and rulers, and great lords with him, and captaynes over his charrets and horsemen.
And king Solomon's officers that oversaw and ruled the people, were two hundred and fifty.

And Solomon brought the daughter of Pharaoh out of the city of David, into the house that he had built for her: For he spake, My wife shall not dwell in the house of David king of Israel, for it is holy, because that the ark of the Lord is come into it.

Then Solomon offered burnt offerings unto the Lord on the altar of the Lord, which he had built before the porch:

And doing every thing in his due time, and offering according to the commandment of Moses, in the Sabbath days, and in the new moons, and solemn feates, three times in the year, the feast of unleas bread, in the feast of Weeks, and in the feast of Tabernacles.

And Solomon set the officers of priests to their offices as David his father had ordered them, and the Levites in their watches, for to praise and minister before the priests day by day, and the porters by course at every gate: for to have done so hath the man of God commanded, And they omitted not the commandment of the king unto the priests and Levites, concerning any matter of thing, and concerning the treasures.

For Solomon made provision for the charges, from the first day that the foundation of the house of the Lord was laid, till it was finished, that the house of the Lord was perfect.

Then went king Solomon to Ezion Geber, and to Elath, at the sea side in the land of Edom.

And Hiram sent men by the hands of his servants, chippes, and feruantes which had knowledge of the sea: and they went with the seruantes of Solomon to Ophir, and earpt there for sundred and fftyte talents of gold, and brought it to king Solomon.

The ix. Chapter.

1. And the queen of Saba commeth to see Solomon, and bringeth gifts: 2. His yearly revenues. 3. The time of his raigne. 4. His death.

1. When the queen of Saba hearde of the fame of Solomon, she came to prove him in hard questions at his rulcram, with a great conuane, with camels that bare spices, and plenty of gold, and precious stones: And when she was come to Solomon, she communed with him of all that she had in her heart.

2. And Solomon loved her all her questions: and there was not one word byd from Solomon, which he tolde her not.

3. And when the queen of Saba had scene the wise buse of Solomon, and the house that he had build, And the meate of his table, the setting of his seruantes, and the standing of his waisters, their apparel, their butlers, their apparel, his going by by the Whiche he went into the house of Lord: there was no more spiritue in her.

4. And the layde to the king: The layde Which I hearde in myne owne lande of thyne actes and of thy Wbusome, is true:

5. I beleued not the wordes of them, but I came and mye eyes had seenct: And beholde, the one halfe of thy Wbusome was not tolde me: for thou excevst the same that I hearde.

6. Happy are thy men, and happy are theye seruantes which stand before thee all day, and hearde thy Wbusome.

7. Blessed be the Lord thy God, Whiche had lent to thee, to set thee [king] on his feate, that thou mightest be king for the Lord thy God: because thy God loveth Israel [and hast beepe] to make them continue ever; therefore made he thee king over them, to do right and equitie.

8. And he gave the king an hundred and twentie talents of gold, and of spices exceeding great abundance, and precious stones; neither was there any more Such lyer as the queen of Saba gaue king Solomon.

9. And the seruantes of Hiram and the seruantes of Solomon which brought gold from Ophir, brought also Argante wood and precious stones.

10. And
And the king made of the Alcamet wood staves in the house of the Lode, and in the king's palace, and plateries for singers. And there was none such wood seen before in the land of Juda.

And king Solomon gave to the queen of Saba every pleasant thing that she asked, besides that which she had brought unto the king. And so the king turned and went alway to her own land with her saraumus.

The weight of gold that came to Solomon in one yere, was six hundred talents of gold.

Besides that which chapuuen merchants brought: and all the kings of Arabia and rulers of that country brought gold and silver to Solomon.

And king Solomon made two hundred targets of beaten gold: and four hundred shields of beaten gold were spot upon one target.

And three hundred shields made he of beaten gold; and one shield cost three hundred pieces of gold: and the king put them in the house that was in the forest of Lebanon.

And the king made a great seat of pury, and overlaid it with pure gold.

And there were four steps to the seat, with a footstool of gold fastened to the seat: and ponnels on the side of the sitting place, and two lions standing by the ponnels.

And twelve lions stood on the one side and on the other upon the four steps: so that there was no such work made in any kingdom.

And all the drinking vessels of king Solomon were of gold, and all the vessels of the house that was in the forest of Lebanon were of precious gold: for silver was counted nothing worth in the days of Solomon.

For the king's horses went to Ezion-geber: and therc were threescore and fifteen during in the land of Edom, besides the旆es which were in the land of Edom.

And king Solomon passed all the kings of the earth, in riches and wisdom.

And all the kings of the earth sought the presence of Solomon, to hear his wisdom that God had put in his heart.

And they brought every man his present, vessels of silver, vessels of gold, raiment, harness, spiles, horses, and mules, and whatsoever he might be gotten yere by yere.

And Solomon had fours thouand stalls for horses, and charrettes, and twelve thouand horsemen: whom he bestowed in the charrettes cities, and [some were] with the king at Jerusalem.

And he reigned over all the kings that were beyond the Philistines, and to the border of Egypt.

And the king made silver in Hirausalem as plentiful as stones, and Cedars trees as plenteous as P2lberie trees that growe in the valleys:

And they brought unto Solomon horses, out of Egypt, and out of all landes.

*And the rest of the acts of king Solomon first and last, are not written in the prophshit of Nathan the prophet, and in the prophshit of Ahijah the Sibyl, and in the visions of Iddo the fear of visions against Jeroboam the sonne of Naabat:

*And Solomon reigned in Hirausalem upon all Israel fourtie yeres.

And Solomon slept with his fathers: and they buried him in the city of David his father, & Rehoboam his sonne reigned in his stead.

2. Chronicles.
what of the grievous service of thy father, so of his heavy yoke that he put upon you, and we will serve thee.

And he said to them: Come again unto me after three days. And the people departed.

And king Rehoboam counselled with the elders that had standed before Solomon his father while he yet lived, and he said: What counsel give ye me, to answer these people again?

And they told him, saying: If thou be a bound to this people, and the word of the Lord be heavy to thee, let seven men of the elders of the cities, which thou hast made, speak the word of the Lord unto the people.

But he left the counsel which the elders gave him, and took counsel with the young men that were grown up with him, and that stood in his presence.

And he said among them: What advice give ye, that we may answer these people, which have commended to me, saying: Abate somewhat of the yoke which thy father did put upon us?

And the young men that were grown up with him, spake unto him, saying: Thus shall thou answer these people, which speak to thee, saying: Thy father made our yoke heavy, but make thou it somewhat lighter for us: Thus shalt thou say unto them, My little finger, shall be greater than my father's loynes.

For where my father put a heavy yoke upon you, I will put more to your yoke: By Father chastised you with whips, but I will chastise you with scourges.

And to Jeroboam and all the people came to Rehoboam the third day, as the king bade, saying, Come again to me the third day.

And the king answered them cruelly: And king Rehoboam left the counsel of the aged men.

And answered them after the advice of the young men, saying: My father made your yoke grievous, and I will add thereto: my father chastised you with whips, but I will chastise you with scourges.

And so the king heartened not unto the people: but the occasion came of God, that the Lord might make good his saying: Which he spake by the hand of Ahia the Siloite to Jeroboam the son of Habat.

And when all they of Israel saw that the king would not agree unto them, the people answered the king, saying: What portion have we in David: for we have no inheritance in the house of Jesse: Every man to his tent O Israel, that to David, and to the house of his father.

And so Rehoboam ruled over all Israel in the days of Judah.

And Rehoboam also sent Hadad out of Egypt, that was ruler over the tribute, and the children of Israel stoned him with stones, that he died: But king Rehoboam made speed to get him up to his chariot, and to go to Jerusalem.

And they of Israel rebelled against the house of David unto this day.

Solomon king of Juda, so to all them of Israel that are in Juda and Benjamin, and to all the children of Israel, so to bring the kingdom again to Rehoboam.

And when Rehoboam was come to Hierusalem, he gathered of the house of Juda and Benjamin, nine score thousand chosen men of warre, to fight against Israel, so to bring the kingdom againe to Rehoboam.

And the word of the Lord came to Semiah the man of God, saying:

And Rehoboam did divide in Hierusalem, and built strong cities in Juda.

and put captains in them, and stores of butter, and wine, and oil:

12 And in all cities he put heidles and speares, made them exceeding strong,

13 And the priests and the Leuites that were in all Israel, refused to him out of all their coasts.

14 For the Leuites left their suburbes, and their possession, and came to Juda and Jerusalem: * For Jeroboam and his sones had cast them out from ministering into the Lodge.

* And he ordained him priests for the high places, for the * beults, and for the values which he had made.

15 And after the Leuites, there went out all the tribes of Israel, such as submis of Israel, and came to Jerusalem to offer unto the Lord God of their fathers.

16 And in Jerusalem was sanity temple of Solomon the king.

17 And so they strengthened the strong of Solomons mightie three yere long:

for thee yere they walked in the way of Daud and Solomon.

18 And Heboboam toke him Mahalath the daughter of Jeremoth the some of begat twente and euyght sones and threefose daughters.

22 And Heboboam made Aha the i And it came to passe, that when Heboboam had estaithed the king

he sooke the lady of the Lodge, and (c) all Israel with him.

2 And it suorned, that in the fift yere of king Heboboam, Sefar the king of Egypt came by against Jerusalun, be cause they had transtgress against the Lod,

3 With twelue hundred charreteers, and three thousand horsemen: And the people were without number that came with him out of Egypt, Lulim, (b) Sull him, and the blakke Hoordes.

4 And he toke the strong tines in Juda, and came toJerusalem.

5 Then came Semeia the prophete to Heboboam and to the Lodves of Ju

Jerusalem for Sefar, and laide ynto them: Thus saith the Lord, he he have left me, and therefore have I also (c) left you in the handes of Sefar.

6 Wheruppon the lodves of Israel and the king humbled themselves, and sad:
The Lord is rigous.

7 And when the Lodge sayd that they submitted themselues, the worde of the Lodge came to Semeia, saying: They submitted themselues, therefore I will not destroye them, but I will deliver them somewhat, and my wrath shall not be powred out upon Jerusalum by the hande of Sefar.

8 Neverthelesse, they made his ser vantes: to knowe what difference is betwene (d) my seruice and the seruice of the kingdounes of the Lodge.

9 And so Sefar king of Egypt came to Jerusalun
Hierusalem, & took away the treasures of the house of the Lord, and the treasures of the king's house, he took even all: and he carried away the shields of gold & which Solomon made.

In stead of which, king Rehoboam made shields of brass, and committed them to the handes of the chief of the garde, that kept the entraunce of the king's house.

And it came to passe, that when the king entred into the house of the Lord, the garde came and let them, and brought them againe into the garde chamber.

And when he humbled himselfe, the wrath of the Lord turned from him, that he woulde not destroy altogether: and in Juda all was well.

And so king Rehoboam marred mightie, & raigned in Hierusalem: And Rehoboam was one and foutrie yeres oide when he began to raigne, and he raign-ned seuerene yeres in Hierusalem, the cite which the Lord had chosen out of all the tribes of Israel to put his name there: And his mothers name was Han-ana, an Amnonite.

* And he did cruel, because he prepared not his heart to seke the Lord.

* The actes also of Rehoboam & his first and last, are they not written in the /aynes of Semel the prophet, & of Iddo the love, which noted the genealogie: And there was Warre alway betweene Re-

* And Rehoboam kept with his fasteade.

The xiii. Chapter.

1 This makest warr against Jeroboam. 4 Be the west the occasion. 12 Be trustie and truth ful in the Lord, and overcometh Jeroboam. 21 Of his youses and children.

The eighteenth yere of king Jeroboam began Abia to raigne over Juda.

And he raigned three yeres in Hierusalem: (his mothers name also was Michal the, daughter (9) of Uriel of Gibea:) And there was Warre be-twecne Abia and Jeroboam.

And Abia set the battaile in array with the armie of balaam men of warre, eue soure hundred thousand chosen men: And Jeroboam let him selfe in array to fight againstym with euygh hundred thousand pickt men, which were strong, and men of armes.

And Abia stoode uppon Zemaraim, an hill which is in mount Ephraim, and faide: Hearre me thou Jeroboam and al

Israel.

Do not you knowe holde that the Lord God of Israel gave the kingdome over then of Israel to David for ever, euuen to him and to his sonnes, with a (b) sal-

And Jeroboam the sonne of Nabat the fervant of Solomon the sonne of Dauid is risen vp, and hath rebelled against his lorde.

And there gathered to him lewde men, the children of Belial, and preu-
O Abia spake with his fathers, and they buried him in the city of David, and built him a house in the city of his father. And Abia his son reigned in his stead, in whose days the lande was in quietness ten years.

And Abia did that was good in the eyes of the Lord his God.

For he took away strange altars, and the high places, and brake down the images, and cut down the groves.

And he commanded Judah to seek the Lord God of their fathers, and to do according to the law and commandment.

And he put away out of all the cities of Judah the high places, and the images, and the groves was quiet before him.

And he built strong cities in Judah, because the lande was in rest, and he had no warre in those years: for Abia had grieved his rest.

Therefore he said unto Judah: let us build these cities, and make about them walls, towres, gate, and barres: for the lande is yet in rest before vs: because we have bought the Lord to be our God. We have sought him, and he hath given vs rest on every side. And to vs built, and it prospered with them.

And Abia had an avoie of men that bare shields and speares out of Judah three hundred thousand, and of Zemarim that bare shields, and drave holoves two hundred and fourscore thousand: all these were valiant men.

And there came out against them Zerah the Moazite with an host of ten hundred thousand, and three hundred charrettes, and came as farre as Maresha.

And Abia went out before him, and they smote the battle in the valley of Zepphera, beside Maresha.

And Abia cried unto the Lord his God, and said: Lord, it is no hard thing with thee to helpe with many or them that have no power: helpe vs therefore O Lord our God, for we trust to thee, and in thy name we go against this multitude: Thou art the Lord our God, and no man shall presume against thee.

So the Lord smote the blakene Mooses before Abia and Judah, and the blakene Mooses
1 And Asa the people that was with him, soloved after them into Gerar: And the blanke Booses hoast was over- choven, that there was none of them left, but were destroyed before the Lord and before his hoast: And they tarried a way a mightie great play.

14 And they smote all the cities rounde about Gerar, for the fear of the Lord came upon them: And they spoyle all the cities, & there was exceeding much people in them.

15 They smote also the tentes of rattaile: and carried away plente of shepe and celys, and returned to Hierusalem.

1 The exhortation of Izaria. 2 He purgeth his countrey of idolatrie. 3 He faileth with the people. 4 They sweare together to serue the Lord. 5 He depoeth his mother for her idolatrie.

A 1 And the spirit of God came on Azaria the sonne of Obed,

2 And he went out to meete Asa, and said unto him: hear me Asa, and al Juda and Ben- tenim, the Lord is with you, while ye be with him: and when ye feeke him, he will be founde of you: and againe when ye forsake him, he also will for- sake you.

3 Boose for a long season Israel hath been without the true God, and without priests to teach, and without labe.

4 And when any man in his trouble did turne unto the Lord God of Israel and sought him, he was found of them.

5 And in that time there was no peace to him that did go out and in, but great feation was there among all the inhabi- taters of the earth.

6 And nation was destroyed of nation, and cite of cite: for God did move all aduerse among them.

7 Play ye therefore the men, and let not your handes flacke: for your woorke shall be rewarded.

8 And when Asa heard those woorde, and the prophete (of) Azaria the sonne of Obed the prophete, he toke courage, and put away the abominable idolls out of all the lande of Juda and Benia- num, and out of the cities which he wan in mount Ephraim, and renned the au- ter of the Lord that was before the porche of the Lord.

9 And he gathered al Juda and Benia- num, and the straungers with them, out of Ephraim, Danasfe, Simeon: for there fell many to him out of Israel,

10 So they assembled together at Hierusalem the third moneth, the fifteneh yere of the raige of Asa.

11 And they offered unto the Lord the same time of the people which they had bought, seven hundred oxen, and seven thousand shepe.

12 And they made a concuament to sere the Lord God of their fathers, with all their heart, and all their soule.

13 And who soeuer would not sere the Lord God of Israel, (may) shoule dye for it, whether he were small or great, man or woman.

14 And they sweare unto the Lord with a loud voice, shoveting and blowing with trumpettes and shaldmes.

15 And all they in Juda rejoyned at the ote: for they had bauen unto the Lord with all their heart, & fought him with all their labe, and he was found of them: And the Lord gave them rest congade about on every side.

16 And king Asa put Basha his mother out of anchoytis, because he had made an abhominable not in a grove: And Asa broke boldue her tool, & stamp- ped it, & burnt it at the bookie Edom.

17 But at the high places were not taken away out of Israel, though the heart of Asa was perfect all his dayes.

18 And he brought into the house of God the things that his father had de- dicate, and that he him selfe had dedicate: even siluer, and golde, and ivideis.

19 And there was no more warre unto the thirtie and fiue yere of the raige of Asa.
The xvi. Chapter.

1 And Asa the king toke all Judah and carried away the stones and timber of Rama wherewith Baasha was building, and he built therewith Geba and Mizpah.
2 At that time Hanani the seer came to Asa king of Judah, and said unto him: Because thou hast trusted in the king of Syria, and not rather put thy trust in the Lord thy God, therefore is the host of the king of Syria escaped out of thine hande.
3 And Asa fell with the fear, and put him into a "pavilion", so he was displeased with him because of this thing: And Asa destroyed certain of the people the same season.
4 And behold, these deceits of Asa first and last, are written in the booke of the kings of Judah and Israel.
5 And Asa slept with his fathers, and dyed in the fourtie and one pere of his raigne.
6 And they buried him in his owne sepulchre which he had made for himselfe in the citie of David, and laid him in the bed which he had filled with divers kindes of spices, & sweete odours made by the craft of the apothecaries: and burnt very much lyke about him.

12 And the messenger that went to call Micaia, spake to hym, saying: Wherefore, the wordes of the prophete speake good to the king with one assente: let thy wordes therefore I pray thee be like one of theirs, that thou speake that which is pleasant.

13 And Micaia sayde: As the Lord liueth, euyn what my God sayeth, that will I speake.

14. And when he was come to the king, the king sayde vnto Micaia: Micaia, should we go to Ramoth in Gilead to fight, or slaine? And he sayde: Go by, & al shalbe wel, and they shalbe deluercd into your hande.

And Jehoshaphat bowed between the congregation of Judah and Jerusalem in the house of the Lord before the new court.

And said: O Lord, God of our fathers, art thou not God in heaven, and dost thou not rule all the kingdoms of the earth, and in thy hand is power and might, and there is none that is able to withstand thee?

Art thou not God, which didst cast out the inhabitants of this land before thy people Israel, that gavest it unto the seed of Abraham thy servant for ever?

And they dwelt therein, and had bulst the apple thereof for thy name, saying:

If it be the Lord's will, that we have done, as the Lord's word, our God, doth speak: Notwithstanding if it be not of the Lord, when we have done all this, do we come again.

And when the children of Ammon and Moab, and mount Seir, came out of the land of Egypt, they departed from them, and destroyed them not:

See how they reward us, to come forth to cast us out of thy possession which thou hast given us to inherit.

O Lord, wilt thou not judge them? for we have no might against this great company that cometh against us: neither wot we what to do, but our eyes see thee.

6 And he walked in the way of the kings of Israel, like as dyd the house of Abab, for he had the daughter of Abab to wife: and he bought euill in the eyes of the Lord.

7 Howbeit the Lord would not destroy the house of Davie, because of the troon that he had made with Davie, as he promised to give a light to hym and to his sonnes for ever.

8 *In his daies the Edonites rebelled when they were under the dominion of Juda, and made them selves a king.

9 And Jehoram went southe with his lopdes, and all his chares were with hym: and he rose up by night, and smote the Edonites, which compassed hym in, and the captaynes of the chares.

10 But Edon rebelled stil, so that they would not be under the hande of Juda unto this day: That same time also dyd Uzna depart from being vnder his hande, because he had forsaken the Lord God of his fathers.

11 Moreover, he made high places in the mountaynepes of Juda, & caused the uchtiters of Hierufalein to commit forretation, and profaned Juda (to idolatry.

12 And there came a writing to hym from Eli, the prophet, saying, Thus saith the Lord God of Davie thy father: Because thou hast not walked in the voyes of Jehosaphat thy father, and in the voyes of Asa king of Juda:

2. Chronicles.

13 But Balthshath in the wares of the kings of Israel, and hast made Judah the dwellers of Jerusalem to go a whoring lyke to the whoredome of the house of Ahab, and hast layne thy brethren, even thy fathers house, which were better then thou:

14 Behold, with a great plague vsp the Lord smite thy folk, thy children, thy wives, and all thy goodes:" and thou shalt suffer great paine, even a distresse of thy bowels, until thy gutes fall out, by reason of thy sicknes day by day.

15 And so the Lord stirred up against Jehoam the spirit of the Philistines, and the Arabians that were beside the blacke Mooses.

16 And they came vp into Judah, and wafted it, & carried away all the substance that was found in the kings house, and his fones, and his bypes, so that there was never a fome left him, save Jehoahaz, which was the youngest among his fones.

18 And after all these things, the Lord smote him in his bowels with an incurable disease.

19 And it came to passe, that in process of time, even after the ende of two yeeres, his gutes fell out in his sicknes, and so he died of very euyll diseases: And they made no burning for him, yke the burning of his fathers.

20 When he began to reign he was threie and two yeeres old, and reigned in Jerusalem eight yeeres, and lived wretchedly: howbeit they buried him in the rite of David, but not among the sepulcres of the kings.

The xxix. Chapter.

1 Then Liahazrurageth after Jehoam. 2 Jehu king of Israel didst Liahazrurageth, to Liahazrurageth puryly to destroy all the kings ligage. 3 Joas escapeth.

2 And the inhabitants of Jerusalem made Liahazrurageth his young fone king in his stead: for the men of Warre that came (b) with the hoast of the Arabians, had slaine all his eldest fones: And so Liahazrurageth the fone of Jehoam king of Judah was made king.

3 Two of fourtie yeeres old was he when he began to reign, and he reigned one yeere in Jerusalem: His mothers name was Athaliah. 4 And he walketh also in the wares of the house of Ahab: for his mother by her counsel entred him to do wickedly.

4 Wherewith he dyd that which was evil in the sight of the Lord, as did they that were of the house of Ahab for they were his (c) counsellors after the death of his father, to his destruction.

5 And he walketh after their counsel, and went with Jehoam fome of Ahab king of Israel, to fight against Hazael king of Syria at Ramoth [iij.]. 5 And the Syrans smote Jehoam.

6 And he returned to be healed in Hazael, of the woules which were given him at Ramoth, where he fought with Hazael king of Syria: and Liahazrurageth the fone of Jehu king of Judah, went downe to see Jehoam his fone of Ahab at Israel, because he was diseased.

7 And it came of God that Liahazrurageth should be bittled for his comming to Jehoam: for when he was sometime, he went out with Jehoam against Jehu the fone of Amos, whom the Lord had appointed to destroy the house of Ahab.

8 And so it came to passe, that whye Jehu was executing justice upon the house of Ahab, and had smitten the lords of Judah and the fones of the brethren of Liahazrurageth that wayted on Liahazrurageth, he kille them.

9 And he fought Liahazrurageth: They caught him where he was hid in Samaria, and brought him to Jehu: and when they had slayne him, they burnt him: because said they, he is the fone of Jehoaphat, which smote the Lord with all his heart: And the house of Liahazrurageth had no power to kepe still the kingdom.

10 But when Athaliah the mother of Liahazrurageth sawe that her house was dead, the arose and (d) destroyed all the kings fede in the kinred of the house of Juda.

11 And Jehosheba the daughter of the king, took Joas the fone of Liahazrurageth, and hale him from among the kings fones, that were slayne, and put him in his nurse maiple chamber, and so
2. Chronicles.

1. And so he was with them by the house of God there: and Athaliah reigned over the land.

The xxii. Chapter.

And in the seventh year Jehoiada being bold, took the captaincies of hundreds, Azariah the son of Jehozam, and Maaseiah the son of Jehohanan, and Adaiah the son of Obad, and Eliaphat at the house of Zechariah, made a bond with them.

2. And they went about in Judah and gathered the Levites out of all the cities of Judah, and the ancients of the fathers of Israel, and they came to Jerusalem.

3. And all the congregation made a bond with the king in the house of God, and he sware unto them: Behold, the king's sons shall reign: as the Lord hath said of the children of David.

4. This is it therefore that ye shall do: The third part of you shall on the sabbath come to the pews, Levites, and keepers of the gates.

5. And another third shall be at the king's house: and another third part shall be at the gate of the foundation: and all the people that shall be in the courts of the house of the Lord.

6. But there shall none come into the house of the Lord, save the priests and they that minister unto the Levites: so shall they go in, for they are holy: but all the people shall keep the watch of the Lord.

7. And the Levites shall compass the king round about, and every man shall have his weapon in his hand: and what other man beareth then cometh into the house of the Lord: he shall not go out. And let them be with the king when he cometh in, and when he goeth out.

8. And the Levites and all Judah did according to all things that Jehoiada the priest commanded, and took every man his men that came in on the sabbath, with them that went out on the sabbath day: neither did Jehoiada the priest let the companies depart.

9. And Jehoiada the priest delivered to the captaincies of hundreds, peers, thieves, and butchers, that had part for king David, and were in the house of God.

10. And he set all the people (every man) having his weapon in his hand from the right side of the temple to the left side of the temple, along by the altar and the temple round about about the king.

11. And they brought out the king's sons, and put upon him the crown, and the testimony, and made him king: and Jehoiada and his sons anointed him, and said, God save the king.

12. When Athaliah heard the noise of the people running, and praising the king, she came to the people into the house of the Lord.

13. And the looked, and beheld the king stood by his place at the entring in, and the lords and the trumpeters were by the king, and all the people of the lands rejoiced, blowing with trumpettes, and the singers were with instruments of musick; and such as could sing play:

14. But Athaliah rent her clothes, and said, Treason, treason.

15. And Jehoiada the priest went out to the captaincies of hundreds that were governors of the hoasts, and said unto them, Hau ye her throat of the ranges: wherefo ever she goeth, let him slay her with the sword. For the priest said, that they should not slay her in the house of the Lord.

16. And Jehoiada made a bond between him and all the people and the king, that they should be the Lord's people.

17. And all the people went to the house of Baal, and destroyed it, and brake his altars and his images, and slew Baal before the altars.
And Jehoiada put the officers for the house of the Lord under the hand of the priests and Levites, as David had distributed them in the house of the Lord, to offer burnt offerings into the Lord, as it is written in the law of Moses, with rejoicing and singing, as it was ordained by David.

And he let porters by the gates of the house of the Lord, that none which was27 unclean in any thing should enter in.

And he took the captaynes of hundreds, drdes, and all the nobles, and the governors of the people, and all the folk of the land, and caused the king to come downe out of the house of the Lord, and they came through the lye gate into the kings house, so the king upon the state of the kingdom.

And all the people of the land rejoiced, and the citie was in tranquillitie after that they had slayne Athaliah with the sword.

The xxiii. Chapter.

And Jehoiada repaired the house of the Lord. 17 After the death of Jehoiada he falleth to death. 18 He moneth to death Zacharias the prophet. 20 Joas is killed of his own seruanter. 24 After him reigneth Joziahu.

And the seruant of God set upon Israel in the wilderness.

And the lords and all the people rejoiced, and brought in, &c., into the chest, untill it was full.

And it was ordered, that at the same time they brought in the chest unto them which were in the kings businesse by the hand of the Levites, and when they saw that there was much money, the kings vblade, and one appointed by the hye priest, came, and emptied the chest, and took it, and caried it to his place againe. Thus they dyd day by day, and gathered much money.

And the king and Jehoiada gave it to such as dyd the labour and worke in the house of the Lord, and lyked masons and carpenters to repair the house of the Lord, and so dyd the artificers in iron and vassal to mend the house of the Lord.

And so the workmen brought, and the worke men put through their handes: and they made the house of God as it ought to be, and strengthened it.

And when they had finished it, they brought the rest of the money before the king and Jehoiada, and therewith were made vessels for the house of the Lord, even vessels to ministe withal, (and to serve for burnt offerings,) chargers and spoone, vessels of golde and silver; and they offered burnt offerings in the house of the Lord continually all the days of Jehoiada.

But Jehoiada wares olde, and dyd full of days: for an hundred and thirtie years olde was he when he died.

S. 4 16 And
And they buried him in the city of David among the kings, because he dealt well with Israel, and with God and with his house.

And after the death of Jehoiada, came the lords of Juda and made obeisance to the king: And the king hearkened to them.

And so they left the house of the Lord God of their fathers, and turned graven images and idols, and then came the wrath of God upon Juda and Jerusalem for this their trespasses.

And he sent prophets to them, to bring the word unto the Lord, they testified unto them: but they would not hear.

And the spirit of God came upon Zecharia the son of Jehoiada the priest, Which stood by the people, and said unto them, thus saith God: Why transgress ye the commandements of the Lord, that ye cannot prosper: For because ye have forsaken the Lord, he also hath forsaken you.

And they conspired against him, and stoned him with stones at the congregation of the people, even in the court of the house of the Lord.

And so Joas the king remembered not the kindness which Jehoiada his father had done unto him, but slue his son. And when he died, he faide, The Lord take upon it, and requite it.

And when the yere was out, it Found that the host of Syria came up against him: they came against Juda and Jerusalem, and destroyed all the lords of the people from among the people, and sent all the people of them unto the king to Damascus.

For the Syrians came with a small company of men, and the Lord delivered a very great host into their hands, because they had forsaken the Lord God of their fathers: And they came sentence against Joas.

And when they were departed from him, they left him in great losses: and his own servants conspired against him for the blood of the children of Jehoiada the priest, and slew him in his bed, and he died: and they buried him in the city of David, but not in the sepulchers of the kings.

And these are they that conspired against him: Zabud the son of Sithre an Ammonite, and Jehoiab the son of Senators a Baudite.

And his sons, the sons of the face that was raised in his time, and the repairing of the house of God, behold they are wise in the story of the book of the kings: And Amaziah his son reigned in his stead.

The xxv. Chapter.

Amaziah putted them to death which slew his father: 10 he becometh his enemies. 11 he overcometh the Edomites. 14 he falleth to idolatry. 17 and Joas king of Israel overcometh Amaziah. 27 he is slayne by a conspirator.

Amaziah was thventie and five yeres old when he began to reign, and he reigned thventic and nine yeres in Jerusalem: his mother's name was Jehoiada, of Jerusalem.

And he did that which is right in the sight of the Lord, but not with a perfect heart.

And alone as he was settled in his kingdom, he slue his servants that had killed the king his father.

But he slue not their children, because it is written thus in the law and book of Moses, where the Lord commanded saying: The fathers shall not die for the children, neither shall the children dye for the fathers, but every man shall dye for his owne sinne.

And Amaziah gathered Juda together, and made them captaines over thousandes and over hundredes, according to the houses of their fathers throughout all Juda and Benjamin.

And he numbered them from twentie yeres old and above, and found among them three thousand thousand chosen men, able to go to battell, and that could handle spear and shield.

He hired also an hundred thousand strong fighting men out of Israel for an hundred talents of silver.

And there came a man of God to him, and faide, O king, let not the armie of Israel come with thee: for the Lord is not with Israel, to fight with the children of Ephraim.

But if thou wilt needs be faithful come on, and take the battell in hand, and God shall make thee fall before the enemy: For God hath power to help, and to call do bine.

And
2. Chronicles.

9 And Amaziah said to the man of God, What shall we do now, for the hundred talents which I have given for the host of Israel? The man of God answered: The Lord is able to give thee much more then they be.

10 And Amaziah separated them, (to wit,) the army that was come to him out of Ephraim, to go home again: wherefore they were exceeding wrath with Judah, and returned home in great anger.

11 And Amaziah took heart, and carried out his people, and went to the last valley, and *knew of the children of Seir ten thousand.

12 And other ten thousand did the children of Judah take alive, and carried them into the top of a rock, and cast them down from the top of the rock, that they all perished.

13 But the Tabernacle of the *army which Amaziah sent away that they should not go with his people to battle, fell upon the cities of Judah from Samaria unto Bethoron, and smote three thousand of them, and took much spoil.

14 And it came to pass after that Amaziah was come from the slaughter of the Edomites, he brought the gods of the children of Seir, and set them up to be his gods, and bowed himself before them, and burned incense unto them.

15 Wherefore the Lord was wroth with Amaziah, and sent unto him a prophet, which said unto him: Why hast thou sought the gods of the people which were not able to deliver their own people out of thine hand?

16 And it came to pass, when the prophet talked with him, the king said unto him: Have men made thee of the kings counsel? Cease, why wilt thou be beaten? And the prophet ceased, and said: I am sure that God is minded to destroy thee, because thou hast done this, and agreed not unto my counsel.

17 *Then Amaziah king of Judah took advice, and sent to Joas the son of Jehoahaz the son of Jehu king of Israel, and said: Come, that we may see either other.

18 And Joas king of Israel sent to Amaziah king of Judah, saying: Art thou as thy father was in Israel? Therefore I sent to thee to battle in the valley of Beth-car, that thou shouldest smite my people Israel, and wound me according to all that my father hath done unto thee. But Amaziah said: I will send a smaller host than thine, and thou shalt see my face in the valley of Beth-car.

19 So Joas the king of Israel took the adverse host, and set them in battle line against him: And the kings that were before them did headlong battle.

20 And Joas the king of Israel took Amaziah by the face, and smote him, and killed him at Beth-car, and made his servants to err after him.

21 And five of his men he clave to his face, and he died. And the people of Israel brought him hither, and laid him in the sepulchre of his fathers in Samaria.

22 And Joas the son of Jehoahaz did reign over Israel in Samaria forty years.

23 And Joas the son of Jehoahaz did reign over Israel in Samaria two years. And the rest of the acts of Joas, and all that he did, and how he fought against Amaziah king of Judah, are they not written in the book of the kings of Judah and Israel?

24 And Joas died, and was buried in the city of Samaria. And his son Shallum succeeded him in the kingdom.

25 And Shallum the son of Joas did reign over Israel in Samaria two years. And the rest of the acts of Shallum, and how he died, are they not written in the book of the kings of Judah and Israel?

26 And the rest of the acts of Amaziah are they not written in the book of the kings of Judah and Israel?

27 And after the time that Amaziah did turn away from the Lord, they conspired against him in Beth-car: and when he was slain there, his people made Jerahmeel his son king in his stead.

28 And Jerahmeel his son reigned over Judah three years. And the rest of the acts of Amaziah, and his power, are they not written in the book of the kings of Judah and Israel?
Then all the people of Judah took to Uzziah, which was sixteen years old, and made him king in the room of his father Azariah.

And he built Elath, and brought it again to Judah, after that the king was laid to sleep with his fathers.

Sixteen years old was Uzziah when he began to reign, and he reigned fifty and two years in Jerusalem: his mother's name also was Jecholiah, of Jerusalem.

And he did that which was right in the sight of the Lord, according to all that his father Azariah did.

And he built Elath, and brought it again to Judah, after that the king was laid to sleep with his fathers.

And he built Colonae, and Moab unto the tower that is wilderness, and the valley gate, and the turning of the wall, and made them strong.

And he built towers in the wilderness, and digged many wells: for he had much cattle in the valleys, and in the fields, and in the mountains, and in the fwamps.

And Uzziah had an heap of fighting men, that went out to warre in the army, according to the number of their office, under the hande of Jesiah the tribue, and Azariah the ruler, and under the hande of Hananiah, which was one of the kinges vestaries.

And the whole number of the ancient fathers and of the men of might, were two thousand and five hundred.

And under the hand of them was the arme of the men of warre, even three hundred and seven thousand, and five hundred that made warre with the power of an arme, helping the king against the enemies.

And Uzziah provided them throughout all the host, shields, speares, helmets, habergeones, botdes, and singes for to cast stones.

And he made subtil engines in hircu-salem, which he invented and laid on the tolybes and corners, to shoot arrows and great stones withall: And his name spread farre abroad, because he had prepared to him selfe marjious strength.

But in his strength whose heart arose to his destruction: For he transgrevst against the Lord his God, and went into the temple of the Loide to burne incense upon the altar of incence.

And Azariah the priest went in, and with him fourscore priests of the Loide, that were valiant men:

And they stode by Uzziah the king, and laide him downe: For he partly resorted not to the Lord his God, but went in the dung of Aharon, that are consecrated for to offer incense. (1) Come therefore out of the sanctuary, for thou hast trespassed, and it is no worship to thee before the Loide.

And Uzziah was wroth, and had incense in his hande to burne it: And so while he had indignation against the priests, the leprosy sprang in his forehead before the priestes in the house of the Loide, even before the incense altar.

And Azariah the chief priest, with all the other priestes, took upon him, and beheld he was become a leper in his forehead, and they bered him there: and
and he was tame to go out, because the Lorde had lyueren him.

21. And Uzzia the king continued a lepner into the day of his death, he dwelt in the house of the Lorde, and shut out of the house of the Lorde and Joatham his sonne had the government of the kinges house, and judged the people of the lande.

the people did yet wickedly.

4 He build the gate of the temple of the Lorde, and on the wall (where the house of oinatine was) he built much.

5 Moreover, he built cittyes in the mount-taines of Juda, and in the wood countrey he built castell and towres.

6 He fought with the king of the children of Ammon, and prevailed against them:

And the children of Ammon gave him the same pere an hundred talents of silver, and ten thousand quareers of wode, and ten thousand of bartye: So much did the children of Amnon gave him the second pere, and the third also.

7 And Joatham became mighty, because he deereed his way before the Lorde his God.

2. Chronicles.

7 And Zicthia a mighty man of Ephraim, the son of Baalshahah the king's sonne, and Ittai the governor of the house, and Giana that was next to the king.

8 And the children of Israel took prisoners of their brethren two hundred thousand women, sonsnes, and daughters, and carried away much spoyle of them, and brought the spoyle to Samaria.

9 But there was a prophet of the Lordes whose name was Obed: and he went out before the hoste that came to Samaria, and laid unto them: Behold, because the Lord God of your fathers is with Judah, he hath delivered them into your hande, and ye haue slaine them with cruellnesse, that reaucheth up to heauen.

10 And nowe pe purpose to keepe under the children of Judah and Hierusalem, and to make them bondmen and bondwomen: And do ye not lade your selues with sinne in the light of the Lord your God?

11 Howe hear ne therefore, and deliver the captives againe which ye have taken of your brethren: for els shall the great wrath of God bee upon you.

12 Wherefore certaine of the heads of the children of Ephraim, as Azariahu the sonne of Jehoshanau, Berechahu the sonne of Deblilemoth, and Helzeckahu the sonne of Sallum, and Amasa the sonne of Hadai, cfooze by against them that came from the waare, 13 And saue into them, Sing not in the captues hither: for where as we have offended toward God alreadie, ye entend to adde more to our sinnes and trespass: For our trespassers is great alreadie; and ther is a fierce wrath against Israel.

14 And upon that, the men of armes left the captues and the spoyle before the lodes and all the congregation:

15 And the men that were noble reheard by name, rose vp, and took the prisoners, and with the spoyle clothed all that were naked among them, & arrayed them, & shooed them, and gave them to eate and to drinke, and amuynted them, and carried al that were fecile of them upon alces, & brought them to Jericho the cite of Pauline trees, to their brethren: and then they returned to Samaria againe.

16 At that same time did king Abaz send unto the kings of the Assyrians, to have helpe of them.

17 And the Edonites came againe, and slew some of Judah, and carried away captives.

18 And the Philistines invaded the cities in the lowe country, and toward the south of Judah: And took Bethshames, and Azalon, and Gedroth, and Socho with the townes longing thereunto, and Thimna with the townes of the same, Gilgo and the townes thereof, and dwelt there.

19 For the Lorde brought Judah lowe, because of Abaz king of Judah, which made Judah naked, & transgressed soe against the Lorde.

20 And Hithath Phineues king of the Assyrians came upon him, and troubled him rather then stregthened him.

21 For Abaz take away a portion out of the house of the Lorde, and out of the kinges house, and out of the lodes houses, and gave into the king of the Assyrians: and yet it helped him not.

22 And in the very time of his tribulat- ion, did king Abaz trespaue yet more againe the Lorde.

23 For he offered unto the gods of them of Daniaston; which he beat him: and he said, Because the gods of the kings of Syria helpe them, therefore wilt I offer to them, that they may helpe me also: But they were his destruction, and the destruction of all Israel.

24 And Abaz gathered together the vessels of the house of God, the braue them, and shut vp the doores of the house of the Lorde, and made him *altars in every corner of Hierusalem.

25 And in all the cities of Judah he made high places to burne incense into other gods, and angered the Lorde God of his fathers.

26 The rest of his actes, and his booke first and last, behold they are written in the booke of the kings of Judah and Israel.

27 And Abaz slept with his fathers, and they buried him in the cite of Hierusalem: but brought him not into the sepulchres of the kings of Israel: and Hezekaiah his sonne reigned in his stead.
Hezekiah began to reign when he was five and twenty years old, and he reigned nine and twenty years in Jerusalem:

And his mother's name was Abia, the daughter of Zachariah.

And he did that which was right in the sight of the Lord, in all his ways: nor did he turn himself from any thing that David his father did.

He opened the doors of the house of the Lord; and set the priests in their place, and the Levites, and all their instrument of office, for the service of the house of the Lord, as it is written in the law of Moses.

And he brought in the firstfruits of his father's things, and the tithes of all things, from the firstfruits of all the works of his hands, and of the fruit of his kine and sheep, into the house of the Lord:

For our fathers that trespasst and sinned, and committed trespass against the Lord, and turned away their faces, and hardened their necks, from the commandment of the Lord.

And they gathered the brethren together into the firstfruits of corn of every man, and of the increase of the wine year by year:

And they sanctified unto the Lord the firstfruits of corn and wine, and of all the increase of corn in the field, and of all the fowlings of the forest.

And they brought in the firstfruits of their ground unto the Lord, and a tenth of all increase of corn yearly.

And they brought in the firstlings of their flock and of their herd unto the Lord.

And the Children of Levi, the Levites, the sons of Aaron, and the sons of Nadab and Abihu, died because they offered strange fire before the Lord, and cursed the offering of the Lord, which they offered before the Lord: and they were taken of the midst of the camp.

And Moses called them, and spake unto them, saying, Why do ye offer the flesh of your sons and daughters, and the flesh of the bull, the sheep, and the goat, before me? I have given you all the well pasture of Egypt:

And Moses said, When the Lord shall give you the land of Canaan as he sware unto your fathers, and say, Every man of you shall set apart a tithe of all the increase of the herd, and of all the fruit of all good trees, and lay it up in houses of store, to be kept.

And whosoever shall be without, shall bring it from the cities round about, that he may lodge in the house of God which is in the midst of the camp, and there shall they keep the tithe of all corn of the field, and all the increase of the herd, and of the flock.

And they also came and fetched wood, and stones for sacrifices unto the Lord, whose dwelling place is in the midst of the camp.

And Moses gave the Levites the charge of the charge of the offerings of the Lord, which the children of Israel offered in their sacrifices, and in their gifts, and in all their oblations, of all things which were offered for the Lord by the children of Israel.

And they brought in the offerings of the corn, and the new wine, and the oil, and presented every man the tithe of the corn and of the new wine and the oil for the service of the house of the Lord.

And the Levites presented the tithe of the tithe of all the increase of corn of the field, and of all the increase of the herd, unto the place where the Lord had said to Moses he would dwelling:

And Moses brought in the tithe that the Levites had brought, which Moses brought the Levites before the Lord, at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation, to Moses, and the Levites:

And Moses took the tithe of their offering, andยก the tithe at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation, unto Aaron, and unto his sons.

And the Levites, according to all that Moses had commanded, offered a tithe of the flock of all the beasts, which were offered sacrifice of the children of Israel.

And Moses had charged the Levites concerning the offering of the Lord, which Aaron the priest, and his sons, offered of the children of Israel, which the Lord commanded him through Moses.

And the Levites were in charge of every offering of every thing that was consecrated by fire unto the Lord:

And the Levites took also the tithes of the tithes of all the children of Israel, which they presented as an offering, and brought them unto Aaron the priest, and to his sons, as the Lord had commanded Moses.

And he gave them to the children of Aaron, whom he had sanctified, and to his sons, by a statute for ever throughout all their generations, that the children of Israel might give them a tithe, a part of the offerings of firstfruits of corn that passed under the eaves of the house, and all the increase of the herd and of the flock.

3. And they sere the oren, and the priests receaue the blood, and sprinkled it on the aulter: likewise when they had slaine the rammes, they sprinkled the blood upon the aulter: They sere also the theerpe, and they sprinkled the blood upon the aulter.

23 And then they brought forth the bee goats for the fine offering before the king and the congregation, and put their handes upon them.

24 And the priests slue them, and with the blood of them they cleane the aulter, to make satisfaction for all Israel: for the king commaunded that the burnt offering and the fine offering shoule be made for all Israel.

25 And let the Leuites in the house of the Lord with cymbales, plaIteries, and harpes, according to the commandement of David and of God the hynes fear, and Nathan the prophet: For so was the commandement of the Lord through the hande of his prophets.

26 And the Leuites hooed, having the instruments of David: and the priests helde the trumpettes.

27 And Hezekiah commaundement to offer the burnt offering upon the aulter: And when the burnt offering began, the song of the Lord began also, and the trumpettes with the instruments that were ordained by the band of David king of Israel.

28 And all the congregation worshipped, singe a song, and bloodyng with the trumpettes, and all this continued, till the burnt offering was finishe.

29 And when they had made an end of offering, the king and all that were present with him, bowed them selves, and worshipped.

30 And Hezekiah the king and the lords, spake to the Leuites to praise the Lord with the voices of David of Alaph the fear: And they sang praises with gladdene, and the other bowed them selves, and worshipped.

31 And Hezekiah annulbered, and saide: Hold ye have conferret your handes to the Lord: go to therefor, and byng the factiones and thanke offerings into the house of the Lord. And the congregation brought in the factiones, and thank offerings, and burnt offerings, as many as were of a free liberall heart.

32 And the number of the burnt offerings, Which the congregation brought, was therefore and ten oren, an hundred rammes, two hundred sheepe: which were all for the burnt offering of the Lord.

33 And there were dedicated sere hundred oren, and three thousand sheepe.

34 And the priests were to stede to play at the burnt offerings: but their brethren the Leuites did helpe them, till they had ended the work. And until the priests were sanctified: For the Leuites were purer hearted to be sanctified, than the priests.

35 And there were burnt offerings many, with the fat of the peace offerings, and the drink offerings, that belong to the burnt offering: And so the service pertaining to the house of the Lord, was knet.

36 And Hezekiah rejoyned, and all the people, that God had made the folk to read, that the thing was so done done.

proclaimd throughout all Israel from Beer-sheba to Dan, that they should come to the feast of Passover unto the Lord God of Israel at Hierusalem:
for they had not done it of a great season, as it was written.

6 So the priests went with letters of the king and of his loyes throughout all Israel and Judah, and at the commandement of the king they said: He children of Israel, turne againe unto the Lord God of Abraham, Isaac, and Israel, and he will returne to the remaunt that are escaped of you out of the hande of the kings of the Assyrians.

7 And be not ye like your fathers and your brethren, which trespassed against the Lord God of their fathers, which gave them vp to be destroyed, as ye see.

8 And nowe be not ye stiffe necked like as were your fathers: but yeilde your selves unto the Lord, and enter into his holy place where he hath sanctified for ever, and serve the Lord your God, and the seruencye of his wrath shall turne away from you.

9 For ye turne againe unto the Lord, then shall your brethren and your children finde compassion in the presence of them that take them captive, and they shall come againe unto this lande: For the Lord your God is gracious and merciful, and will not turne away his face from you, if ye convert unto hym.

10 And to the priests went from citie to citie in the lande of Ephraim and Manasse, even unto Zabulon: but they laughed them to scorne, and mocked them.

11 Nevertheless, yet bineers of Aser, Manasse, and of Zabulon, submitted them selves, and came to Hierusalem.

12 And the hande of God was in Juda, and he gave them one heart to do the commandement of the king and of the rules, according to the word of the Lord.

13 And there assembled to Hierusalem much people, and there was present a mightie great congregation, to holde the feast of bread seven days, in the second moneth.

14 And they arose, and removed the altar that were in Hierusalem: And all the altars for incense dyed they away, and cast them into the booke Cedon.

15 And they hie Passover the fourteenth day of the second moneth: And the priests and Leuites which were ashamed, sanctified them selves, and brought in the burnt offringes into the house of the Lord.

16 And they hioe in their office after their manner and according to the laude of Hophes the man of God: And the priests sprinkled the blood, which they received of the hande of the Leuites.

17 For there were many in the congregation that were not sanctified, and therefore the Leuites had the charge of the killing of the Passover for every one that was not cleane, to sanctifie him unto the Lord.

18 For many of the people, and very many out of Ephraim, Manasse, Issacar, and Zabulon, were not cleane, and yet dyed eat Pasover against the laude appointed: But Hezekiah prayed for them, saying, The good Lord be mercifull to vnder every one.

19 That prepareth his heart to seeke the Lord God, the God of his fathers: though he be not cleane according to the purification of the sancturie.

20 And the Lord heard Hezekiah, and healed the people.

21 And the children of Israel that were present at Hierusalem, held the feast of bread seven days, with great gladnes: and the Leuites the priests played the Lord day by day, singing with loud instruments into the Lord.

22 And Hezekiah spake comfortably unto all the Leuites that had good knowledge to sing into the Lord; and they dyed cate throughout that feast seven days long, and offered peace offringes, and thanked the Lord God of their fathers.

23 And the whole assembly took counsel to do so other seven days: and they held those seven days with gladness.

24 For: Hezekiah king of Juda, dyd give to the congregation a thousand young oren, and seven thousand shekele: And the lordes gave out to the congregation a thousand oren, and ten thousand shekele, and a great number of the priests were sanctified.

25 And at the congregation of Juda, with the priests and Leuites, and all the congregation that came out of Israel, the strangers that came out of the land of Israel, that dwelt in Juda, rejoiced.

26 And there was great gladnesse in Hierusa;
2. Chronicles.

And when all these things were finished, all they of Israel that were present in the cities of Judah, went out and brake the images, and * cut down the idoli groves, and all to brake the high places and *altars throughout all Judah and Beniamin, in Ephraim also and Manasse, until they had utterly destroyed them all: And all the children of Israel returned every man to his possession, and to their own cities.

And Hezekiah appointed fundry companies of the priests and Levites after the divers of their ministrations, every man according to his office both priests and Levites, for the burnt offering and peace offerings, to minister and to give thankes and praise in the gates of the house of the Lord.

And the kings portion of his substance that he gave, were daily burnt offerings in the morning and evening, and burnt offerings for the Sabbath days, new moons, and solemn feates, according as it is written in the law of the Lord.

And he bade the people that dwelt in Jerusalem, to give a parte to the priests and Levites, that they might substantially apply them selves to the lawe of the Lord.

And as soon as the kings commandment came abroad, the children of Israel brought abundance of such frutes, of cyme, vine, oyle, honey, and of all manner of frutes of the field, & the tythes of all manner of things brought they in plenteously.

And the children of Israel and Juda that dwelt in the cities of Juda, they also brought in the tythes of corn and sheepe, other holy tythes which were conccract unto the Lord, their God, they dyd offer and brought them all by heapes.

7 In the third moneth, they began to lay the heapes in maner of a foundation, and finished them in the eleventh moneth.

8 And when Hezekiah and the loxes came and laid the heapes, they blessed the Lord, and his people Israel.

9 And Hezekiah questioned with the priests and the Levites concerning the heapes.

10 And Azaria the chiefe priest of the house of Zadok, anointed him and sayde: Since the people began to bring the heave offerings into the house of the Lord, (for the Loode hath blessed his people, and this heape is left

11 And Hezekiah bade prepare the cham bers in the house of the Lord: And they did prepare them.

12 And carpyned in the first frutes the tythes, and the dedicate things faithfully: over which Chonaniach the Levite had the rule, and Semai his brother next to hym:

13 And Jehiel, Azariahu, Nahath, Azai, Jechimon, Josabad, Eliel, Jecimai, Hicsai, Nahath, and Banaaihu, were overseers ovedapted by Chonaniach, and Semai his brother was an officer of Hezekiah the king, and Azariahu was the ruler of the house of God.

14 And Core the sonne of Ijuna the C Levite, and porter of the east doore, had the oversight of the things that were offered of a free will unto God, there given in maner generally unto the Lord, and over the things most holy.

15 And under his hande were Eden, Hennam, Josua, Semaiahu, Amariahu, and Sachaniahu in the cities of the priests appointed of their side to give to their brethren their portions, as well
2. Chronicles.

After these deedes were faithfully done, Sennacherib king of the Assyrians came, and Enterdu into Juda, compassed the strong cities, and thought to burne them for him self.

2 And so when Hesekia sawe that Sennacherib was come, and that he was purposed to fight against Jerusalem,

3 He tooke counsel with his lords and men of might, to stop the water of the fountainans without the city: And they byp helpe him.

4 For there gathered many of the people together, and stopp all the welles, and the broke that ran through the midden of the land, saying: why shall the kings of the Assyrians come and finde much water?

5 And Hesekia went to lisply, and built by the wall where it was broken, and made ordinance upon the towdes, and to the other wall without, and repaired Hils in the citie of David, and made many vartes and shielles.

6 And hee captaynes of warre over the people, and gathered them together to him in the large streete of the gate of the citie, and spake gently to them, saying:

7 Plisse by your hearts and be strong: be not afraid nor discouraged for the king of the Assyrians, & for all the multitude that he hath with hym: for there be moe with vs then with hym.

8 With him is an armie of flesh: but with vs is the Lord our God to helpe vs, and to fight our battaylles. And the people tooke a courage through the wordes of Hesekia king of Juda.

9 After this did Sennacherib king of the Assyrians send of his seruantes to Hierusalem (but he him selfe remayned beside Lachis, having all his power with him) unto Hesekia king of Juda, and unto all Juda that were at Hierusalem, saying,

10 Thus saith Sennacherib king of the Assyrians: wherefore do you trust that dwelleth in Hierusalem which is beleched:

11 Doth not Hesekia entice you to give over your selues unto death, hunger, and thirst, saying: The Lord our God shall ryb vs out of the hand of the king of the Assyrians?

12 Hath not the same Hesekia put downe his lyke places and his alters, and contannued Juda and Hierusalem, saying, Pe shall worship before one altar, and burne incense upon the same?

13 Knowe ye not what I and my fathers have done vnto the people of all landes:

The xxxii. Chapter.
14. Which of all the gods of those nations that my fathers destroyed, could deliver his people out of my hands: And shall your God be able to deliver you out of my hands?
15. Wherefore hope let not Hezekiah decease you, nor persuade you of this fiction, not yet believe him: For as no god among all nations and kingdoms, was able to rid his people out of my hand and out of the hand of my fathers: Howe much lesse shall your gods be able to hope you out of my hands:
16. And yet no things did his servants speak against the Lord God, and again his servants of Hezekiah.
17. And Sennacherib also wrote a letter to rale on the Lord God of Israel, and spake against him, saying: As the gods of the nations of other lands have not been able to deliver their people out of my hand: even so shall not the God of Hezeki deliver his people out of my hand.
18. And they cried with a loud voice in the Jews' speech unto the people of Hier salem that were on the wall, to fear them, and to make them faint hearted, and that they might take the city.
19. And they spake against the God of Hier vokses of the hands of men.

20. But Hezekiah the king, and the prophet Ezai the son of Amos[b] prayed against that blaspheme, and cried up to heaven.
21. And the Lord sent an angel, which des

22. And to the Lord faue Hezekia and the inhabitaters of Hierusalem out of the hand of Sennacherib the king of the Ass and mantapned them on every side.

23. And many brought offeringes unto the Lord to Hierusalem, and presents to Hezekia king of Juda: so that he was magnified in the sight of all nations from thence forth.
24. *In those days Hezekiah was sick to the death, and prayed unto the Lord:
which answered him, and helpeb him
a wonderful miracle.
25. But Hezekiah dyd not agast unto God according to that he had helpeb him:
sories, that were brought him, and went unto Juda and Hierus

26. Nevertheless Hezekiah submitted hun self after that his heart was open upon them in the days of Hezekiah.

27. And Hezekiah had exceeding much riches and honour: And he geth trues ures of siluer and gold, precious stones, and spices, shieldes, and of all maner pleauntamt ieldes;
28. And made those houses for the frutes for all maner of beasts, and foldes for

29. And he made him cities, hat of shecpe and ore great abundance: For God given him abundance exceeding much.
30. This same Hezekiah stopped the upper water springs of [Gihon, and brought them downe to the west side of the citie of David: And Hezekia prospered in all his wpokes.
31. And when the princes of Babylon sent that all that was in his heart might be

32. The rest of the decres of Hezekia, and his goodnes, beholde they are written

Juda and Israel.
33. And Hezekia slept with his fathers, and they buried him in the most costly place of the sepulchres of the komes of David, and all Juda and the inhabitaters of Hierusalem dyd him worship at his death: and Manasse his sonne reigned in his steade.
2 Chronicles.

The xxxiii. Chapter.

An ass served twelve years, when he began to reign, and he rained six and five years in Jerusalem:
But by expelling in the sight of the Lord, like unto the abominations of the heathen whom the Lord cast out before the children of Israel.

For he went and builded the high places, and the obeisance, and made images, and worshipped all the heathen that his fathers had worshipped.

And he builded altars in the house of the Lord, where the Lord had appeared to his fathers in the days of David, and Solomon his son, in Jerusalem.

And he burnt his children in fire in the valley of the son of Hinnom: he was a for ever; he regarded not the persons of birds, of beasts, and of creeping things.

And he builded altars in the house of the Lord, as the inhabitants of Jerusalem burned incense, even unto the high places.

And he burnt his children in fire in the valley of the son of Hinnom: he was a for ever; he regarded not the persons of birds, of beasts, and of creeping things.

Neither will I make the footstool of Israel to remove any more out of the land which I have given them for ever, if they observe the persons of my commandments, and keep my judgments.

And so Manasse made Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem to err, and to do after the heathen whom the Lord had carried before them the children of Israel.

And the Lord spake unto Manasseh and to his people: but they would not regard.

Therefore the Lord brought upon them the captains of the host of the king of the Assyrians, which took Manasseh in holde, and bound him with chains, and carried him to Babylon.

And when he was in tribulation, he sought the Lord his God, and humbled himself exceedingly before the God of his fathers, and made intercession to him: and God was entreated of him, and heard his prayer, and brought him again to his kingdom, and delivered him from the hand of the king of the Assyrians.

After this he builded a wall without the city of David on the west side of Zion, in the valley, as they came to the gate, and round about Ophel, and built it up, of a very great height, and put captives of warre in all the strong cities of Judah.

And he took away strange gods and images out of the house of God, and all the altars that he had builded in the mount of the house of God and of Jerusalem, and cast them out of the city.

And he prepared the altar of the Lord, and sacrificed thereon peace offerings and thanksgiving, and offered Judah to serve the Lord God of Israel.

Nevertheless, the people dyed offer [it in the high places], and held not the Lord their God only.

The rest of the acts of Manasseh, and his prayer unto his God, and the words of the tears that spake to him in the name of the Lord God of Israel, behold they are written in the Lamentations of the kings of Israel.

And his prayer, and how that he was heaved, and all his days, and his trespass, and the places where he made high places, and set up groves and images before he was meekened, behold they are written among the laments of the fears.

And Manasseh slept with his fathers, and they buried him in his own house, and Amon his son reigned in his room.
21 Amnon was two and twentie yeares old when he began to reigne, and reigned two yeares in Jerusalam.
22 But he did err in the sight of the Lord, like as did Manasse his father: for Ammon sacrificed to all the carved images which Manasse his father had made, and served them.
23 And submited not him selfe before the Lord, as Manasse his father had meeken him selfe: but Ammon trespassed greatly.
24 And his owne seruantes conspired against him, and slew him in his owne houe.
25 But the people of the lande slue at them that had conspired against king Amnon: and the same people of the lande made Josa his sonne king in his roome.

The xxxiii. Chapter.

1 Josa buildeth the idoles, & restoreth the temple. 14 The booke of the lawe is founde. 2 Be senteth to Hulda the prophetesse for counsel. 27 God heareth his prayer. 3 He maketh a couenaunt with God.

1 Josa was eyght yeares old when he began to reign, and he reigned in Jerusalam thirtie and one yeares.

And he byd that which was right in the sight of the Lord, and walked in the wayes of Daud his father, and bowed himself to the right hand not to the left.

2 And in the eyght yeare of his reign, when he was yet a childe, he began to seke after the God of Daud his father: And in the twelfth yeare he began to purge Judah & Jerusalam from the high places, grooves, carved images, and images of metall.

3 And they brake downe the altars of Haalim even in his presence: and other images that were in greater honour then they, he caused to be destroyed: And the grooves, carved images, and images of metall he brake, and made dust of them, and strewed it upon the graven of them that had offered unto them.

4 And he burnt the bones of the priests upon the altars of them, and entled Juba and Jerusalam;

5 And even so did he in the cities of Haalase, Ephraim, Simeon, and Nepthalli, and in the wilderness of them rounde about,

6 And so he did in the cities of Haalase, Ephraim, Simeon, and Nepthalli, and in the wilderness of them rounde about,

7 So he did also in the cities of Haalase, Ephraim, Simeon, and Nepthalli, and in the wilderness of them rounde about,

8 In the eighteenth yeare of his reign, when he had purged the lande and the temple, he sent Saphan the lome of Azalahu, and Haalas the government of the cite, and Josa the lome of Haalas the recorder, to repair the house of the Lord his God.

9 And when they came to Heleliah the high priest, they delivered the money that was brought into the house of God, which the Levites that kept the enteries had gathered of the hand of Manasse and Ephraim, and of all that yet remained in Israel, and of all Juda and Benjamin, and they returned to Jerusalam.

10 And they put in the handes of the workmen that had the overseers of the house of the Lord, they gave it to the labours which brought in the house of the Lord; to reparie and make good the house.

11 Even to masons and carpenters gave they it, to get heeded stone, timber for couples and top beams of the houses which kings of Juda had destroyed.

12 And the men did the work faithfully: And the overseers of them to courage them forward, were Jahaz and Daidahu Levites of the children of Heman, and Secharia and Peleasin of the children of the Caathites, and other of the Levites, which all could skill of instruments of musick.

13 And over the bearers of burdens, and over all that wrought in whatformer workmanship it were, were these strife Officers, porters of the Levites.

14 And when they brought out the money that was brought into the house of the Lord, Heleliah the priest found the booke of the law of the Lord given by Moses.

15 And
2. Chronicles.

And Helkia answered, and said to Saphan the scribe: I have found the book of the law in the house of the Lord. And Helkia gave the book to Saphan.

And Saphan carried the book to the king, and brought the king word again, saying: All that was committed to thy servants, that do they.

And they have gathered together the money that was found in the house of the Lord, and have delivered it into the hands of the overseers of the work, and to the hands of the workmen. And then Saphan the scribe showed the king, saying, Helkia the priest hath given me a book: and Saphan read in it before the king.

And it came to pass, when the king had heard the words of the law, that he rent his clothes. And the king commanded Helkia and Achican the son of Saphan and Abdon the son of Pitah, and Saphan the scribe, and Ada a scribe of the kings, saying:

Go and enquire of the Lord for me and for them that are left in Israel and Judah, concerning the words of the book that is found: For great is the wrath of the Lord that is fallen upon us, because our fathers have not kept the word of the Lord, to do after all that is written in this book.

And Helkia and they that the king had appointed went to Huldah the prophetess, the wife of Shallum, the son of Hozai, the son of Zechariah, the son of Becher, keeper of the wardrobe (for she dwelt in Jerusalem within the second wall): and they communed with her.

She answered them, thus saith the Lord God of Israel: Tell ye the man that sent you to me, Even thus saith the Lord: Behold, I will bring evil upon this place, and upon the inhabitants thereof, even all the curses that are written in the book whereby they have read before the king of Judah.

Because they have forsaken me, and have offeredunto other gods, to anger me with all manner works of their hands: therefore is my wrath set on fire against this place, and shall not be quenched.

And as for the king of Juda which sent you to enquire of the Lord, so that ye lay unto him: thus saith the Lord God of Israel, concerning the words which thou hast heard,

Because thine heart did trust, and thou didst not hearken to the voice of the Lord thy God, when thou hearest his words against this place, and against the inhabitants thereof, and hast humbled thy soul before me, and hast kept thy clothes, and hast bowed before me; that I have heard also, saith the Lord, I will receive thee.

Behold, I will take thee to thy fathers, and thou shalt be put in thy grave in peace, and thy eyes shall not see all the mischief that I will bring upon this place, and upon the inhabitants of the same. And they brought the king word again.

Then the king sent and gathered together all the elders of Judah and Jerusalem:

And the king went up into the house of the Lord, and all the men of Juda, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem, and the priests and Levites, and all the people great and small, and the king did read in their ears all the words of the book of the covenant that was found in the house of the Lord.

And the king stood at his chamber, and made a covenant before the Lord, to follow the Lord, and to keep his commandments, his statutes, and his judgments, with all his heart, and with all his soul, and to fulfill the words of the appointment written in the law book.

And he set in their room all they that were found in Hierusalem and Beniamin, and the inhabitants of Hierusalem did according to the covenant of the Lord God of their fathers.

And Josiah put away all manner of abominations out of all lands that pertained to the children of Israel, and brought in all that were found in Israel, to worship and to serve the Lord their God: And they turned not aside from the Lord God of their fathers, as long as he lived.

And Josiah hebre the (for of] passour unto the Lord in Hierusalem, (for they fine passour in the forventeenth day of the first moneth.) And he set the priestes in their offices, and aped them in the service of the house of the Lord,

And sayd unto the Leuites that taught all Israel, and were sanctified unto the Lord: Put the holy arke in the house while Solomon the sonne of David king of Israel byd byvide, it shalbe no more a burden upon your shoulders: But now serve the Lord your God, and his people Israel:

And prepare your seules by your ancient householde, and companies, according to the writing of David king of Israell, and the writing of Solomon his sonne:

And stand in the holy place, according to the devision of the ancient householde of your brethren the children of the people, and after the devision of the ancient householde of the Leuites;

And Josiah gaue to the people stocche of sheepe and haddes all for passour, and for all that were present, thire thousande by tale, and thire thousande oren: and these were even of the kings sub-kaunce.

And his lodes gaue willingly both but to the people and to the priestes, and but to the Leuites: heuia also, Zacharia, and Jechiel, rulers of the house of God, gaue into the priestes for passour offeringes two thousande and lir hundred sheepe, and thre hundred oren.

And to the seruice was prepared, and the priestes stode in their places, and the Leuites in their distinct companies, at the kinges commandement:

And they fine passour, and the priestes sprinkled the blood with their hande, and the Leuites pulled of the shunes of the bestes.

And they set away the burnt offerings, to gene them into the people that were denued be ancient houses, and that they shoude offer unto the Lord, like as is written in the booke of Oyples:

And to byd they with the open also.

And they pressed the passour with fire, as the maner was: And the other delicate bestes stode they in porces, caldrons, and pannes, and beund them among all the people.

And afterward they made reby for them seules and for the priestes: for the priestes the children of Aaron were bulled in offering of burnt offerings and the fat but until night: therefore the Leuites prepared for them seules and for the priestes the sonnes of Aaron.

And the singers the children of Asaph stode in their standing, according to the commandement of David, and Asaph, herman, and Jeduthun the kings fear: and the poeteres played at every gate, and might not depart from their seruice: for their brethren the Leuites prepared for them.

And to all the seruice of the Lord was prepared the same day, to offer passour, and to offer burnt offerings upon the milter of the Lord, according to the commandement of king Josia.

And the children of Israel that were present, kept the passour the same time, and the feast of sweet bread seven daies.

And there was no passour like to that kept in Israel from the daies of Samuel the prophete, neither did at the kings of Israel holde such a passour feast as yd Josia, and the priestes and Leuites, and all Juda and Israel that were present, and the inhabites of hierusalem.

This passour was holden in the eighhteene yeare of the raigne of Josia.
2. Chronicles.

xxxi. Chapter.

After Josiah reigned Jehoahaz. 4 After Jehoahaz Jehoiachin. 5 After him Jehoiakim. 6 After him Zedekiah. 14, 17. in whose time all the people were carried a way to Babylon, for concerning the admonitions of the prophets. 2 And were rejoiced againe the seventeenth year after, by king Cyrus.

No the people of the lande took Jehoahaz the sonne of Josiah, and made hym king in his fathers stead in Hierufalem.

And Jehoahaz was twentieth and three yeres old when he began to raigne, and he raigned three yeres in Hierufalem.

And the king of Egypt put him downe at Hierufalem, and merced the lande in an hundred talents of silver, and a talent of golde.

And the king of Egypt made Eliakim his brother king upon Judah and Hierufalem, and turned his name to Jehoiakim, and Necho took Jehoahaz his brother, and carried him to Egypt.

Jehoiakim was twentieth and five yeres old when he began to raigne, he raigned eleven yeres in Hierufalem, and he did evil in the sight of the Lord his God.

And against him came Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon, and bounde hym with two chains, to carry him to Babylon.

The king Nabuchodonosor also caried of the vessels of the house of the Lord to Babylon, and put them in his temple at Babylon.

The rest of the acts of Jehoiachin, and his abominations which he did, are written in the book of the kings of Israel and Judah: And Jehoiachin his name raigne in his stead.

And Jehoiachin was eight yeres old when he began to raigne, and he raigned three yeres and ten dayes in Hierufalem, and dyd evill in the sight of the Lord.

And when the yere was out, king Nabuchodonosor sent and set him to Babylon with the goodly vessels of the house of the Lord, and made Zedekiah his fathers brother king over Judah and Hierufalem.

Zedekiah was one and twentie yeres old when he began the raigne, and raigned eleven yeres in Hierufalem.

And he dyd evill in the sight of the Lord his God, and humbled not him selfe before Jeremias the prophet, at the mouth of the Lord.
The book

And he rebelled against king Nabuchodonosor, which had received an oath of him by God: but he was shrewd, and to hard hearted to turne into the Lord God of Israel.

Moreover, all the chiefe of the priests and the people trespassed wonderfully after all manner of abominations of the heathen, and polluted the house of the Lord which he had halloved in Ierusalem.

*And the Lord God of their fathers sent to them by his messengers, rising by betimes, and sending: for he had compassion on his people, and on his dwelling place.

But they mocked the messengers of God, and despised his words, and mulcted his prophets, until the death of the Lord arose against his people, and till there was no remedic.

And so he brought upon them the king of Chalde, which sue their young men with the sword in their holy temple, and spared neither young man, nor old man, nor him that stooped for age: he gave them all into his band.

And all the vessels of the house of God, both great and small, and the treasures of the house of the Lord, and the treasures of the king, and of his lords: all these carped he to Babylon.

And they burnt the house of God, and brake downe the wall of Ierusalem, and burnt all the palaties thereof with fire, and destroyed all the goodly buildings thereof.

And the rest that had escaped the sword, carried he to Babylon: where they were bondmen to him, and his children, until the time that Persia had the Empire:

To fulfill the worde of the Lord by the mouth of Jerehiah, until the lande had her pleasure of her Sabbathes: so as long as the land desolate, she kept Sabbath, until threescore and ten yeares were fulfilled.

*And the first yere of Cyrus king of Persia (When the word of the Lord spaken by the mouth of Jerehiah was finished) the Lord stirred by the spirit of Cyrus king of Persia, that he made a proclamation throughout all his kingdom, and that by writing, saying:

Thus saith Cyrus king of Persia, All the kingdoms of the earth hath the Lord God of heaven given me, I have charged me to buildke him an house in Ierusalem, that is in Judah: wherfore whosoever is among you of all his people, the Lord his God be with him, and let him go vp.

At the commandement of Darius king of persia after the temple was builded and dedicate, the children of Israel keep the feast of unleavened bread.

1 Then enquired king Darius: 3 and they made searche in the library, eue in the place where they laid up the treasure at Babylon:

2 And there was found in a coffer in the palace that is in the province of the Perses, a volume: and therein was it thus written as a memorial.

3 In the first year of king Cyrus, gave the same king Cyrus commandement concerning the house of God at Hierusalem, that the same house should be builded in the place where they offer the sacrifices, to yeare the daliess together of three score rubies height, and three score rubies breadth.

4 Three rows of rough stones, and one rowe of noble timber: and the expenses shalbe gaven of the kinges house.

and they finished it according to the

and after the commandement of Cyrus and Darius & Artaxerxes, kings of Persia.

15 And this house was finished the third day of the moneth Adar, even in the se-

16 And the children of Israel, the priests, the Levites, and the other children of the captiuitie, heide the dedication of this

6 This Edzias also went vp from Ba-him al that he required, according to the king.

9 For upon the first day of the first on the first day of the fifth moneth came he to Jerusalem, according to the 13 I have commanded that all they of the people of Israel, and of the priests and Levites in my realm, which are numbered of their own good will to go up to Jerusalem, go with thee:

14 And therefore art thou sent of the king and of his seven counsellors, to write Judah and Jerusalem, according to the law of the God, which is in thy hand:

15 And that thou shouldest take with thee silver and gold, wherewith the king and his counsellors' offer of their own good will unto the God of Israel, whole habitation is at Jerusalem:

16 And all the silver and gold that thou canst find in all the country of Babylon, with it that the people offer of their own good will, and the priests give willingly for the house of their God which is at Jerusalem:

17 That thou mayst pre diligently with the same money, oxen, rams, and lambs, with their meat offerings and drink offerings, thou shalt offer them upon the altar of the house of your God which is at Jerusalem:

18 And looke what lyketh thee and thy brethren to do with the remainder of the silver and gold, that do after the will of your God.

19 And the vessels that are given thee for the ministration in the house of thy God, those deliver thou before God at Jerusalem:

20 And whatsoever thing more than be needed for the house of thy God which is necessary to be spent, thou shalt remove the charges out of the king's treasure house.

21 And king Artaxerxes have commanded all the treasures beyond the water, that looke what soever Ezra the priest and scribe in the law of the God of heaven required of you, that ye fulfill the same speedily.

22 Until an hundred talents of silver, and till an hundred quarters of wheate, and till an hundred busses of wine, and till an hundred * busses of oyle, &c. that be your measure.

23 Whosoever also is by the commandement of the God of heaven, let the same be done without any delay for the house of the God of heaven, that he do not wax against the realm, & against the king and his children.

24 And be certifie you, that ye have no anthonie{tie to require taxing and custom and perely rents, upon any of the priests, levites, singers, porters, Neubinims, and ministers in the house of his God.

25 And thou Ezra, after the waste done of thy God that is in thine hand, set judges and arbiters: by unanthonie to judge all the people that is beyond the water, even all such as know the law of thy God: and them that know it not, those see that ye teache.

26 And Whosoever will not fulfill the law of thy God, and the king's tribute, let him have his judgement without delay, whether it be into death, or into rooted out, or to be condemned in goods, or to be put in prison.

27 *Blessed be the Lord God of our fathers, which so had inspired the kings heart, to garnish the house of the Lord that is at Jerusalem:

28 And hath enclued mercie unto me in the presence of the king and his counsellors, and before all the kings high estate: And I was comforted even as the hande of the Lord my God was upon me, and so gathered I the heads of Israel together, that they might go by with me.

The. viii. Chapter.

1 The number of them that returned to Jerusalem with Ezra: 2 He causeth them to fast. 3 He admonitheth the priests of their duties.

2 Of the children of Phinehes, Gersom:

3 Of the children of Zebanah, among the children of Pharo, Zachari's with him were numbered an hundred and fiftie men.

4 Of the children of the captain of Poob, Eligonal Ezra.

Elocham the sonne of Zerahia, & with him two hundred men.

5 Of the children of Zechariah the sonne of Jahatiel, and with him three hundred men.

6 Of the children of Adin, Abed the sonne of Jonatant, and with him sixtene men.

7 Of the children of Elkin, Fat the sonne of Athaliah, and with him seventy men.

8 Of the children of Saphata, Zebadiah the sonne of Michael, and with hym fourscore men.

9 Of the children of Joab, Obabia the sonne of Jethiel, and with him two hundred and eighteene men.

10 Of the children of Selaonith, the sonne of Josephia, and with hym an hundred and threene men.

11 Of the children of Sedalia, Zachari the sonne of Seba, and with hym twentie and eight men.

12 Of the children of Asgad, Joahan the sonne of Yakatan, and with hym an hundred and ten men.

13 Of the children of Domnia that were the last, whose names are these: Eliphlet, Jethiel, and Samaiah, and with them threescore men.

14 Of the children of Biguat, Athai, and Zabud, and with them sixtene men.

15 And I gathered them together by the water that runneth tovadde Aheuah, and there abode we three days: And I asked among the people and the priests, and found there none of the children of Leui.

16 Then sent I to Eliezer, to Ariel, Zemira, Elchanan, Zarchia, Elathan, Zadok, and Reasaph, the rulers, and to Jofia and Elizaphan, which were men of understanding.

17 And to those gave I comman- dement unto Ido the chiefest at Calphia, and I told them what they should say unto Ido to his brethren the Nehumns at Calphia, that they should cause the ministers of the house of our God to come unto vs.

18 And though the good hande of our God vpon vs, they brought vs a very byde man from among the children of Bohol the sonne of Levi, the sonne of Israel, and Sarabia with his soones and his brethren, even eighteene.

19 And Dafabia and with him Am of the children of Perac, with his brethren, and their soones, twentie.

20 And of the Nehumns whom David and the princes gaue to minister vnto the Leuites, two hundred and twentie of Nehumns, which al were named by name.

21 And even there at the water beside Aha- uah I proclaimed a fast, that we might humble our selues before our God, and feke of hym a right way for vs, and for our children, and for all our subtance.

22 For I was ashamed to require of the king souldiers and horsemen, to helpe vs against the enemie in the day: for we had spoken unto the king, saying: The hande of our God is vpon all them that feke him in goodnesse, & his power and wrath is against all them that forsake hym.

23 So we fasted, and besought our God for this, and he was entreated of vs.

24 And I took out twelve of the chiefest priests, Sarabia, and Dafabia, and ten of their brethren with them,

25 And wayed them the siluer and golde, and vessels that were appointed for the house of our God, where the king and his counsellors, and his lordses, and at Israell that were there at hand, had gaven together.

26 And I wayed vnto their hande four hundred and fiftie talents of siluer, and in siluer vessels an hundred talents, and in golde an hundred talents:

27 Twentie basions of gold of a thousand drachmes, and two costly vessels of good basse, as clear as golde.

28 And I wayed vnto them: Pear se-crete into the Lord, like as the vessels are holy also: and the gold and siluer are genuen of a good wil into the Lord God of your fathers.

29 Watch ye, and kepe them: for ye shall way them downe before the chiefest priests and Leuites, and anient fa- thers of Israel at Hierusalem, in the treasuries of the house of the Lord.

30 Then take the priests and Leuites the wayed siluer and golde, and vessels, to bring it to Hierusalem vnto the house of our God.

31 And we brake vp from the water of Ahauna on the twelth day of the first moneth, to go vnto Hierusalem: and the hande of our God was vpon vs, and deliuered vs from the hande of the ene- mies, and of such as layed wayte for vs by the way.
And we came to Jerusalem, and abode there three years.

But on the fourth day was the silver and gold and vessels' money in the house of our God by the hand of Meremoth the son of Uriah the priest, and with him was Eleazar the son of Phinehas, and with them was Hashub the son of Jediael, and Maasad the son of Bennoi the Levites.

According to the number and weight of every one, was the weight all written by at the same time.

The ix. Chapter.

And these things were done, the rulers came to me, and said: The people of Israel, and the priests and Levites, are not separated from the people of the land, as touching their abominations, namely of the Chanaanites, Hebrews, Pherezees, Jebusites, Ammonites, Madianites, Egyptians, and Amorites.

For they have taken the daughters of the same to their wives and to their sons, and the holy seed is mixed with the nations of the land, and the bands of the princes and rulers hath been principal in the treasuries.

And when I heard this, I rent my clothes and my garment, and put the heare of my head, and of my beard, and sat mourning.

And there reproved me all such as feared the words of the God of Israel, because of the transgression of the people of the captivity: And I sat mourning until the evening fasting.

And about the evening sacrifice I arose up from my humiliation, and rent my clothes, and my skin, and fell upon my knees, and spread out my hands unto the Lord my God.

And layde: By God, I am ashamed, and dare not lift up mine eyes unto thee my God: For our wickednesses are gone over our head, and our trespass is waxed great unto the heaven.

Since the time of our fathers have we been in great trespass unto this day,

And the children of the captivity which were come out of captivity, offered burnt offerings unto the God of Israel, twelve bullocks for all Israel, nine and six rams, seven and seven lambs, twelve he goats for time offering. All the burnt offering of the Lord.

And they delivered the king's commission into the king's officers, and to the captains that were beyond the water; And they promoted the people, and the house of God.
And after that all these things are come upon thee because of our evil deeds and great trespasses, saying that thou our God hast stayed thee from beholding these things, and hast given us such deliverance: should we return to break thy commandments, and play in affront with the people of these abominations: wouldst not thou be angry toward them till thou hadst continued vs, so that there should be no remnant, nor any escape:

O Lord God of Israel, thou art righteous, for we remain yet escaped, as it is to see this day: Behold also, in thy presence are we in our trespasses, because of it may we not stand before thee.

11 And Ednas the priest stood up, and said unto them: * Ye have transgressed, & have taken strange wives, to make the trespass of Israel yet more.

12 And all the congregation answered, and said Ednas, and take an oath of the chief priests and Levites, and of all Israel, that they should do according to this word: and they spake.

5 And Ednas rose up from before the house of God, and went into the chamber of Johanan the son of Eliashib: and when he came thither, he was eat no bread, nor drink water, for he mourned, because of the transgression of the people that had been in captivity.

7 And they caused a proclamation to go throughout Judah and Jerusalem, unto all the congregation, that they should gather them selves together unto the house of God, the temple of the captivity, that they should gather them selves together unto the house of God, the temple of the captivity.

15 Then were appointed Jonathan the son of Ahfath, and Jashub the son of Lemuel our this matter: & Pethaiah and Sabathai the Levites helped them.
And the children of the captivity dyed even so: And Esdras the priest, and the ancients heads through the house of their fathers, all men of great name, separated themselves, and set them downe in the first day of the tenth moneth to examine the matter.

And until the first day of the first moneth they were finishing the businesse, with all the men that had taken strange wives.

And among the children of the priests there were men found that had taken strange wives, namely among the children of Jedia, the sonne of Ioseph, and of his brethren, Paasia, and Eliezer, Jair, and Gedalia.

And they gave their hands that they woulde put away their wives: and they that had trespassed, gaine a ramme for their trespass.

The seconde booke of Esdras, otherwise called the booke of Nehemia.

The first Chapter.

Nehemia be wayled the calamity of Hierusalem: He confesseth the sines of the people, and prayed God for them.

Th[e] words of Nehemia the sonne of Hachalia. In the moneth Chesiel, in the twentieth yeare, as I was in the castle at Sathan, Juda: and I asked them howe the Jevves dyed that were delivered and escaped from the captivity, and howe it went at Hierusalem.

And they spake unto me: The renomm that are left of the captivity there in the lande, are in great affliction and trouble: the wall of Hierusalem also is broken downe, and the gates thereof are burnt with fire.

And
4. And when I heard these words, I sat down and wept, and mourned certain days, and fasted and prayed before the God of heaven,
5. And said: O Lord God of heaven, thou great and terrible God, thou that keepest covenant and mercie for them that love thee, and observe thy commandments:
6. Let thyn eares hearken I beseech thee, and let thyn eyes be open, that thou mayest heare the prayer of the servant, which I pray nowe before thee.
7. We have greviously sinned against thee, and have not kept thy commandments, statutes, and judgementes, which thou commandest thy servant Poplees.

4. And the king sayde to me: What is then thy request? I made my prayer also to the God of heaven,
5. And sayde to the king: If it please the king, and if thy servant haue founde favour in thine eies, send me into Juda into the citie of my fathers burialles, that I may build it.
6. And the king sayde to me (the queene his wyfe sitting by him:) How long shall thy journey continue, and when wilt thou come againe? And it pleased the king to send me, and I let him answere.
7. And lade into the king: If it please be the king, let hym give me letters to the captaynes whiche are beyonde the water, that they may convey me ouer, till I come into Iuda.
8. And letters lade into Alisphe the lode of the kinges bode, that he may conceile my letter to make beasts for the gates of the palace which is harde by the house, and for the walles of the citie, and for the house that I shall enter into. And the king gave me according to the hande of my God, which was goge upon me.
9. And when I came to the captaynes beyonde the water, I gave them the kinges letters: And the king had sent captaynes of the armie and hosienien with me.
10. Sandbalatt also the hyronite, and Dodia a servaunt the Ammonite hearde of it, as it greene theye, so that there was come a man which bought the wealth of the children of Israel.
11. And I came to Jerusalem, and was there three yere.
2. Esdras.

12 And I got me vp in the night season, and a seuen men with me, neither tode I any man what God had gaven me in my heart to do at Hierusalem: and there was not one beast with me, saue it that I rode vp on.

13 And I departed in the night by the valley post, before the dragon well, and to the droning post, I considered the walles of Hierusalem: and they were broken downe, and the posts thereof confumed with the fire.

14 And I went ouer vnto the vell post, and to the kings conduit, and there was no roome for the beast that was vnder me to passe.

15 Then went I on in the night by the brooke side, and considered the wall, and turned brake, and came home againe by the valley post.

16 And the rulers knewe not whither I went, what I dyd: neither byd I as yet tel it vnto the Jews, to the priests, to the noble men, to the rulers, and to the other that laboured in the worke.

17 Afterwarde sayde I vnto them: Pease the misterie that we are in, howe Hierusalem lyeth Vall, and howe the gates thereof are burnt with fire: come therfore, and let vs buyle by the wall of Hierusalem, and that we be no more a rebuke.

18 Then I tolde them of the hand of my God that it was grauent over me, and the kings wordes that he had spoken vnto me: And they sayde, Let vs get vp and buyle. And they strengthened their handes to good.

19 But when Sanaballat the Honomte, and Tobia the tennaunt an Ammonite, and Efen the Arabian hearde it, they laughed vs to some, and delphied vs, and sayde: What is this that ye do? Will ye fall away from the king?

20 Then answered I them, and sayde: The God of heauen he it is that hath graunted vs prosperity, and vs his tenauntes will get vp and buyle: As for you, ye haue no power, nor right, nor remembraunce in Hierusalem.

The iii. Chapter.

The iii. Chapter.

The buckling of Jerusalem is hindered. But God breaketh their enterprise. The Jews buckled with one hand, and hold their weapon in the other.

And sayde before his brethren and the soldiers of Samaria: what do these impotent Jews say, that they buckle the wall, he was worth in him selfe, and take great indignation, and marketh the Jews:

And Tobiah the Ammonite was before him.
him, and sayde: Though they build, yet if a sould go by, he shall break downe their stony wall.
4 Hear ye our God, for we are despised, turne their shame upon their owne head, & gue them over into despising in the lande of their captiuitie.
5 Coure not their wickednesse, and let not their scape be put out in thy presence: for they have provoked the buyers.
6 And so builded we the wall, and it was joined whole together unto the halfe heighth thereof: And the people were minded to labour.

7 But when Sanaballat, and Tobiah, and the Arabians, Ammonites, and Adowites, heare that the wallles of Hierusalem were made, & that the breaches began to be stopped, they were very wroth,
8 And conspired all together to come and fight against Hierusalem, and to make an hinderaunce therin.
9 Neverthelesse, we made our paper unto our God, and let watchmen by them day and night, because of them.
10 And Judah sayde: The strength of the bearers is feeble, and there is yet much more mister; and we are not able to build on the wall.
11 And our aduersaries sayde: They shall not knowe, neither fee, till we come in the muddes among them, and slay them, and cause the worke to cease.
12 But when the hebes which dwelt beside them, came, they told vs as good as ten times, that in all places where ye goe unto, they are appoynted to fall upon vs.
13 Therefore let I the people after their knyredes, with their swords, sheares, and bulbes, beneath in the loibe places behinde the wall upon the toppes of the stones.
14 And I spake, and gat me by, and sayde unto the chiefe men, to the rulers, and to the other people, Be not ye afraid of them: but thinke rather upon the great Lord, which ought to be feared, and fight for your brethren, your sones, your daughters, your bulbes, & your houses.
15 Neverthelesse, when our enemies heard that we had gotten worke of it, God brought their counsell to naught: and we turned all againe to the wall, every one unto his labour.
16 And from that time forth, the halfe part of the young men dyd the labour, and the other halfe part of them heide the sheares, shieldes, bulbes, and hesh plates: and the rulers stooode beside all the house of Juda.
17 They which builded on the wall and they that bare burthenes, and those that laden them, with one hande did every one his worke, and with the other heide his weapon.
18 For every one that builded had his sword girded by his thigh, and so builded they: And he that blewde the trumpet was beside me.
2. Esdras.

19 And I said unto the principal men, to the rulers, and to the other people:
The works is great and large, for we are separated upon the wall one farre from another.

20 Therefore I said unto them, Ye have brest the nes of the trumpet, relite ye thereto into us, and our God shall fight for us.

21 And we will be labouring in the works. And the halfe part of them held their speares from the morning rising, till the starrues came sooth.

22 And at the same time said I unto the people: Let every one with his sernaite lodge within Hierusalem, that in the night season we may watch, and labour on the day time.

23 As for me and my brethren, my sernautes, and the men of the watch which folowed me, we put none of our clothes, save only because of the wathching.

The vii. Chapter.

1 The people are oppressed and in necessitie.
2 Nehemia remedies it. 3 He took not the portion of others that had ruled before, lest he should grieve the people.

3 And there arose a great complaint of the people and their voyes against their brethren the Jews.

4 For there were some that said, Our sons and daughters and we are very many; therefore will we take come for them, that we may eate and live.

5 Some also there were that said: Let us set our landes, vineyards, and houses to pledge, and take by come in the dearth.

6 But some there were that said: We have borrowed money for the kinges tribute, and that upon our landes and vineyards.

7 And now our flesh is as the flesh of our brethren, and our children as their children: and loe we bring into subjection our sones and our daughters as seruautes, and some of our daughters are subdued unto bondage already, and no strength is there in our landes to redeem them, and other men have our landes and vineyards.

8 And when I heard their complaint and such yoles, it displeased me sore.

9 And (Nehemia) said, It is not good that ye do: Dought ye not walke in the feare of our God, because of the rebuke of the heathen that are our enemies?

10 I and my brethren, and my sernautes, do lend them money and come: I pray you let us leave of this burden.

11 Therefore this same day I pray you that ye restore them their landes againe, their vineyards, olue gardens, and their houses, and remit the hundred part of the money, of the come, wine, and olpe that ye have exacted of them.

12 Then said they: We will restore them againe, and will require nothing of them, and will do as thou hast spoken. And I called the priests, and tooke an oath of them that they should do so.

13 And I hooke my lappo and said: God shewe out every man after the same maner from his house to labour that maintaineth not this word, even thus be he shaken out, and byode. And all the congregation said, Amen, and praised the Lord: And the people did according to this promise.

14 And from the time foorth that the king committed unto me to be captaine of them that were in the lande of Juda, even from the twentie peres, unto the thirtie peres of king Artaxerxes, that is twelve peres, I with my brethren liued not of such sustinance as was getten to a captaine.

15 For the old captaines that were before me, had been chargeable unto the people, and had taken of them bread & wine.
wine, beside foureteene sheles of siluer, yea and their seruauntes had opprassed the people: But so did not I, and that betane of the scare of God.
16 But I laboured also in the Woxke upon the wall, and we bought no lande:
and all my seruauntes came thither to-gate vnto the Woxke.
17 Moreover, there were at my table an hundred and sixtie of the Jewels and ru-ers, which came vnto me from among the heathen that are about vs.
18 And there was prepared for me daly an ore and fire chosen sheele, and birches were prepared for me: and everone in ten daies wine for all in abundance:
Per required not I the " living of a captayne, for the bondage was greevous unto the people.
19 thinke vpon me my God vnto the best, according to all that I have done for this people.

The vi. Chapter.

He senemia auntreweth with great wydrome and zede to his aduerarie. He is not discouraged by the false prophets,

And when Sanballat, Tobia, and Gelsen
the Arabian, and the other of our enemies, heard that I had builded the wall, and that there were no mo gappes therein (howbeit at the same time had I not hanged the doores vpon the gates),
2 Sanballat and Gelsen sent vnto me, saying: Come that we may meete and take counsel together in the villagges that are in the playne of the cite Ond. Neverthelesse they thought to do me cuill.
3 And I sent messengers vnto them, saying: I have a great business to do, and I can not come downe; why should the Woxke easte, whilest I leaue it and come downe to you?
4 howbeit, they sent vnto me as good as foure times after the same manner: And I gave them the same aunswere.
5 Then sent Sanballat his seruaunt againe vnto me the same tyme, with an open letter in his hande, 6 Wherein was written: It is tolde the heathen, and Gelsen hath saide it, that thou and the Jewels thinke to rebelle: for the which cause thou buildest the wall, that thou mayst be their King, according to these woakes:

7 And halfe odayned the prophets to preache of thee at Hierusalem, and to say, He is king of Juda. And now shall this come to the kinges cares: come now therefore, and let vs take our counsell together.
8 And I sent vnto him, saying: Thee is no such thing done as thou sayest, for thou fainest them out of thyne owne heart.

9 For they were all mused to make vs afraide, saying, They shall withhawe their hands from their Woxke, that it shall not be smitthe: Howde therefore strengthen thou my hande.
10 And I came vnto the house of Semata thelyme of Delaia, the lyme of Be-etabel, as he had shut him selve within, and saide: Let vs come together in the house of God, even unto the middele of the temple, shut the doores of the temple, for they wil come to spie thee, yea euen in the night wil they come to put thee to death.
11 And I saide: shoule any such manas
I see who is, that being as I am, wil go into the temple to saue his life: I wil not go in.
12 And loe, I perceaued that God hath not sent him, but that he pronounced this prophesie against me: For Tobia and Sanballat had hirr him for money.
13 Therefore was he hyed, that through feare I should so do, as since, that they might have an euill report of me to lay to my charge.
14 By God, thinke thou vpon Tobia and Sanballat accorring vnto thes their woakes, and on the prophesie Nodaia, and the other prophesie that would have putt me in feare.
15 And the wall was finished on the twentieth and fiftieth day of the moneth
E-16 And when all our enemies hearde thereof, al the heathen that was about vs were afraide, and their courage fay-ed them: For they perceaued that this woake came of our God.
2. Esdras.

Chapter.

When the wall was built, I hanged on the "dozes also, and the postes, singers, and Levites, were appointed:

And I commanded my brother Hanani, and Hanania, the ruler of the castle at Hierusalem, (for he was a faithful man, and feared God more than did many other)

And saide unto them: Let not the gates of Hierusalem be opened until the sunne be wipen; and while they stand by, let them shut the dozes & barre them. And the appointed certaine citizens of Hierusalem to be wachtmen, aneuy one to kepe his watch, and aneuy one to be our against his house.

As for the citie, it was large of roome, and great, but the people were seide therein, and the houses were not builde.

And God gave me in myne heart that I gathered together the principall men, and the officers, & the people, to number them: and I founde a register of the number of them * which came by before, and founde written therein.

These are the sones of the lande that went by from the captivity that was setten abay, whom Nabuchodonosor, the king of Babylon had brought abay, and came againe to Hierusalem and Juda, euery one unto his citie.

They which came with Zogobabel are these: Jesua, Nehemia, Harshah, Baania, Hahamani, Narbochee, Hel- lan, Perserath, Segua, Nahum, and Baalah. This is the number of the men of the people of Izrael:

The children of Saphatia, three hundred seuentie and two.

Arah, and his sone Jehonathan had the daughter of Pehilam the sone of Barachia.

The vij. Chapter.

And all * the people gatered them selves together as one man, in the streete that was before the water gate, and they saide unto Elzas the scriue, that he should fetch * the booke of the law of Popies, which the Lord commanded to Israel.

And Elzas the priest brought the law before the congregation both of men and women, and all that could understand did hearke unto it upon the first day of the seventh moneth.

And he read therein in the streete that was before the water gate, from the moming untill the noone day, before men and women that did hearke to it:
and the cares of all the people were intimlined unto the booke of the law.

And Elzas the scriue stooide upon a pulfer of wood whiche they had made for the preaching, and before him stooide Jethathia, Sema, Anaiah, Tirah, Helia, Maaseiah, on his right hand: and on his left hand stooide Pedaia, Diclati, Pheltia, Hanum, Salabadana, Zabari, and Nehuallam.

And Elzas opened the booke before all the people; (for he stooide aboue at the people:) and when he opened it, all the people stooide vp.

And Elzas appareld the Lorde the great God: And all the people unfe-red, Amen, Amen, lifting up their handes; and bowed their selves and worshipped the Lord falling downe upon their faces to the grounde.

And Nehu, Sare, Serebath, Jamim, Arub, Sebethai, Podaia, Maaseia, Cipitta, Azariah, Joabadd, Hanan, Petah, and the Leuites cause the people to give heede vnto the law: and the people stooide in their place.

And they read in the booke of the law of God diligently, and gaue the sense, and caused them to understand the reading.

And Nehenia which is Athirathia, and Elzas the priest and scriue, and the Leuites that caule the people to take heede, laid vnto all the people: This day is holy vnto the Lord your God, de not pe for, and weep not: for all the people were when they heard the wordes of the lawe.

And he saide vnto them: * Go your way, and eate the fat, and drinke the sweete, and send part vnto them al that have not prepared for them selues, for this day is holy vnto our Lord: be not pe for therefore, for the top of the Lord is your strength.

And the Leuites shalde all the people, and saide: Holde your peace, for the day is holy, he not sad therefore.

And all the people went their way to eate, and to drinke, * to sende part vnto other: and to make great mirth, because they had understand the wordes that were declared vnto them.

And on the next day were gathered together the chiefe fathers among all the people, and the priests, and leuites vnto Elzas the scriue, that they might understand the wordes of the law.

And they founde written in the lawe
* which the Lord had commanded by Popies, that the children of Israel should dwell in boouthes in the feast of the seventh moneth.

And that they shalde cause it to be declared and proclaimed in all their cities, and thourghout Hierusalem, saying: Go foorth vnto the mount and eere the lype baunches, pure baunches, Myrtel baunches, Palme baunches, baunches of the thicke tree, to make boouthes, as its written.

And so the people went foorth, and set thems
2. Esdras.

1 And the twentieth and fourth day of this month, came the children of Israel together againe, with * fasting, and sackcloth and earth upon them,

2 And they that were of the seed of Israel, were separated from all the straung children, and stooke & knovledged their times, & the wickednes of their fathers:

3 And stooke by in their p[lace], as bed in the booke of the law of the Lord their God sourse times on the day, and they knovledged and worshipped the Lord their God sourse times on the day.

4 Then stooke by upon the sapes of the Leuites, Jezua, Bani, Gahdame, Sabaniah,篮, Serebiah, Bani, and Chanan, and cryed loude unto the Lord their God:

5 And the Leuites, Jezua, and Gabumel, Bani, and Hadasia, Serebiah, and Hodia, Sebana, and Phatadiah, sayde: Stand by, and prayle the Lord your God for ever, and let thanks be geue unto the name of thy glory, which excelth all thankses gowing and praying.

6 Thou art Loode alone, thou hast made heauen and the heauen of heauens with all their hoate, the earth and all things that are therein, the sea and all that is therein, thou preservest them al, & the hoast of heauen worshippit thee.

7 Thou art, O Loode, the God that hast chosen Abaham, and broughtest him out of Ur in Chaldea, and calledst him Abaham:

8 And foundest his heart faithfull before thee, & madest a coovenant with him, to geue unto his seed the lande of

9 And hast considered the miserie of our fathers in Egypt, and heard their complaunt by the red sea:

10 And stelved tokens and wonders by on Pharaoh and all his servauntes, and on all the people of his lande: For thou knowest that they were presumptuous and cruelly against them: and to madest thon telle a name as it is this day.

11 And the red sea diddest thou deuide in sundre before them, so that they went through the midst of the sea dry land: and their preseruents thebest thon into the deepe, as a stone in the mightie waters:

12 And leddest them on the day tyme ona cloudie piller, and on the night seale on a pillar of fyre, to shewe them light in the way that they went.

13 Thou camest downe also upon mount Smaie, and spakest unto them from heauen, and gauest them right judgements, true lawes, good commandemente and statures:

14 And declaredst unto them thy holy Sabbath, and commandementeth them precepts, ordinanceis, and lawes, by the hande of Moses thy servant:

15 And gauest them bread from heauen when they were hungry, and by (wonyttest) forth water for them out of the rocke when they were thirstie, andjompliedst them that they shold go in and take possesion of the lande our which thou haddest lyft by thyne hand; so to geue them.

16 But they and our fathers were proud and and hardne sack.

17 And would not obey, neither were mindful of the wonders that thou didst for them: but hardened their necks, and in their heads to return to their bondage by their rebellion: But thou, O God of mercies, gracious, and full of compassion, of long suffering, and of great mercie, yet forsookest them not.

18 Moreover, when they had made them a mouthen calf, and laide. This is thy God that brought thee out of the land of Egypt, and did blashemies.

19 Yet forsookest thou them not in the wilderness, according to thy great mercies: And the cloudy pillar departed not from them on the day time to lead the the way, neither the pillar of fire in the night season, to shew them light in the way by which they should go.

20 And thou gavest them thy good spirit to ensouren them, and withheldest not thy Panna from their mouth, * and gavest them water when they were thirsty.

21 Fourie yeres long didst thou feede them in the wilderness, so that they lacked nothing: * their clothes waxed not old, and their feet swelled not.

22 And thou gavest them kingdomes and nations, and scatteredst them into comers: so they possessed * the lande of Shebon and the lande of the king of Hebron, and the lande of Og king of Bashan.

23 And their children multipledst thou as the stars of heaven, and broughst them into the lande whereasof thou haddest spoken to their fathers, that they should go into it, and have it in possession.

24 And the children went in, and possessest the lande, * and thou subduedst before them the inhabitantes of the lande, even the Chanaanites, and gavest them into their handes, * with their kings and the people of the lande, that they might do with them what they would.

25 And they name their strong cities, and a fat lande, and toke possession of house that were full of all manner of goodies, welles digged out, vineyards, blue gardens * , many fruitful trees: and they did eate, and were filled, and became fat, and lived in pleasure through thy great goodnesse.

26 Neverthelesse, they were disobedient, and rebelled against thee, and cast thy law behind their backes, * sue their prophets, * which reproved them earnestly that they might bring them againe unto thee, and did great blashemies.

27 Therefore thou gavest them over into the hande of their enemies that beat them: And in the time of their trouble when they cried unto thee thou harsdest them from heaven, and through thy great mercie thou gavest them famours which helped them out of the hande of their enemies.

28 But when they came to rest, they turned backe againe to do evil before thee: therefore lestest thou them in the hande of their enemies, so that they had the dominion over them: And when they converted, * cried unto thee, thou heardest them from heaven, and many times hast thou delivered them according to thy great mercie.

29 And "testified unto them, that thou mightest bring them againe unto thy laide: Notwithstanding, they were proud, and heartened not into thy commandements, but sinned " in thy laides: * Which if a man do, he shall lyue in them; and turned the shoulder away, and were disfenced, and would not heare.

30 Yet many yeres diddest thou forbear them, and " testifiedst unto them through thy spirit, even by the hand of thy prophets, and yet would they not heare: therefore gavest thou them into the hand of the nations of the landes.

31 And for thy great mercies sake, thou hast not utterly consumed them, neither forsaken them: for thou art a gracious and mercifull God.

32 * And therefore our God, thou great God mightest and terrible, thou that keepest covenante and mercie, regard not a little at the tranable that hath comeunto us, and our kinges, our panes, our priests, our prophets, and our fathers, and all the people since the time of the kinges of Ashur unto this day.

33 And truly thou art just in all that thou hast brought upon vs, for thou hast done right: As for vs, we have been dignoble,

34 And our kinges, and our princes, our priests, and our fathers, have not done thy
2. Esdras.

35 And they have not secured thee in their kingdom, and in thy great goodness that thou gavest them, and in the large and plenteous land which thou gavest before them, and have not converted from their wicked works.

36 Behold, we are in bondage this day, and so is the lande that thou gavest before all thy laude, nor regarded thy commandements, and thy earnest exhortations, where with thou hast exhorted them,

37 And great is the increase of it unto the kings whom thou hast set over us because of our fomes, and they have dominion over our bodies and ratacles, even as they buyll them selves: and we are in great trouble.

38 Now because of all this make we a hire councount and write it, and our pricest, leuites, and pricest, scale unto it.

out in the townes of their land dwelt at Rizitha arba, and in the villages therof:
and in Ibdom and in the villages therof, and at Jerabsel and in the villages therof:
26 At Jetha, Moladath, Bethphalet:
27 In the town of Sual, Beereba,
in the villages therof:
28 At Skilag, and Moraiah, and the villages therof:
29 And at En rimom, Zara, Jerumah, 30 Zonaa, Obollam, in their villages, at Lachiis, and in the fields therof: at Mbela, and in the villages therof, and they dwelt from Beerleba unto the valley of Hinnom.
31 The children also of Benjamin from Seba, dwelt at Pathumas, Aia, Bethel, and in their villages,
32 And at Anaathoth, Rob, Ananiah,
33 Hazza, Ramah, Gerham,
34 Hadid, Zevoum, Neballach, 35 Lod, and Ono, in the carpenters valley.
36 And the Leuites had possession both in Juda and in Benjamin.

The xii. Chapter.

1 The priestes and Leuites, which came with Zopobabel into Hierusalem, are num-bred. 27 and the wall is dedicated.

A 1
these are the priestes and Leuites that went up with Zop-babel the sonne of Sarathel: and with Jetha, Saraha, Jeremia, and Edias,

3 Sechana, Kehun, Heremoth, 4 Jdoo, Genthon, Abia,
5 Mianin, Padaha, Belga,

These were the heads among the priestes and their brethren in the daies of Jetha.
8 The Leuites were these: Jetha, Ben-num, Cadniel, Sarebia, Juda, and Ha-thania, which he was over [the office of] thanksgiving, he and his brethren.

9 Baccaura, and Hanno, and their brethren, were about them in the watches.
10 Jetha begat Joakim, Joakim also begat Eliafib, and Eliafib begat Joda.
11 Joda begat Jonathan, and Jonas-than begat Jaddua.
12 In the daies of Joakim were these the chiefe fathers among the priestes:
under Sarala, Haraia: under Jerem, ianuana:
13 Under Eshas, Desullam:under Amarita, Jechoanan:
14 Under Bilico, Jonathan: under Sebania, Joseph:
15 Under Horim, Adna:under Partaioth, Helia:

16 Under 16 Under Judio, Zacharie: under Serathon, Pehullam:

man, and Obadiah, Pillat:

da, Uzzi:
20 Under Selat, Kellai: under Amoh, Eber:
21 Under helchia, Hasabia: under Jada, Nathanael.

22 And in the time of Eliash, Joadah, Jo-hanan, and Jada, were the chief fathers among the Lentes, & the priests written in the cataue of Darius the Persian.

23 The children of Leui the principall fathers, were written in the cronicles, ut-til the time of Jonathan the sonne of Eliash.

24 And these were the chiefes among the Lentes: Hasabia, Serebia, and Jesuia the sonne of Cadmeil, and their brethren their presence, to give panple and thannees, according as David the man of God had obsevned it, one watche overt a gainst another.

25 Nathania, Barbukia, Obadiah, Pehul-lan, Lamon, and Aecrub, were porters the watch at the oathrodes of the gates.

26 There were in the bapes of Josiahan the sonne of Jesuia, the sonne of Jeso-dee, and in the bapes of Nehemian the captaine, of the priest Elcas the scrybe.

27 And in the dedication of the wall at Hierusalem they sought the Lentes out of all their places, that they might be bought to Hierusalem, to kepe the dedication and gladnessse with thanksgininges, singing, with cymbales, plat-teries, and harpes.

28 And the children of the singers gathered them selves together from evers, out of the plane countrye about Hierusalem, and from the villages of Bethphathai,

29 From the house of Gilgal, and out of the countryes of Saba, and Amanetel:
for the singers had builded them villages round about Hierusalem.

30 And the priests and Lentes were puthed, snbsplesed the people, s the gates, and the wall.

31 And I bought the princes of Judia upon the wall, and appoynted two great quyres of men to give thankes, whiche were on the right hande of the wall to-warde the bowne gate.

32 And after them went Hosaia, and halfe of the princes of Judia,

33 And Iasia, Esias, and Pehullam,

34 Judia, Beniamin, Senteia, & Seremi,

35 And certayne of the priests children, with trumpetes, namely Zacharie the sonne of Jonathau, the sonne of Nehemian, the sonne of Mathania, the sonne of Micaia, the sonne of Zacurie, the sonne of Alaph.

36 And his brethren, Senteia, Azaria, Pelalai, Gilalai, Maai, Nathanael, and Juda, and panan, with the musicall instrumentes of David the man of God:
And Esias the scrube went before them.

37 And besides the idel gate, they went by other against them upon the streples of the citie of David at the goinge by of the wall, beyond the house of David, unto the water gate eastwarde.

38 The other quyre of them that gave thannees wente over against them, and in after them, and the halfe part of the people upon the wall beyond the forward gate, until the byde wall,

39 And beyond the post of Ephraim, and beyond the old gate, beyond the inche gate, and the towre of Hananee, the towre of Sela, euen buthe the sheepe gate and they stode stille in the pison gate.

40 And so stode the two quyres of them that gave thankes in the house of God, and at the halfe of the rulers with me.

41 And the priests, namely Elashai, Maasai, Dimafl, Nichaia, Ebonia,
Zachari, & Hanania, with trumpetes:

42 And Maasai, Semria, Cleafer, Edai, Jehohanan, Nachia, Elam, & Ezer:

And the singers sngle londe, having Zeruiafhah for their oversear.

43 And the same day they offered great s sacriifes, and Renjoyed: for God had ge-nered them great gladnesse, to that both the vnes children were joyfull, & the imith of Hierusalem was hearde faire of.

44 At the same time were the men appointed over the treazure houses, where in there the heane offeringes, the se-lings, and the pythes, that they should gather them out of the stelbes about the cities, to distribute them unto the priestes and Lentes according to the lawe: for Judia was glad of the priestes and Lentes that servyd.
And that day dyd they read in the book of Moses in the audience of the people, and there was found written, that the Ammonites, & Bochites should never come into the congregation of God.

2 Because they met not the children of Israel with bread and water; but hired Balaam against them that he should curse them: and our God turned the curse into a blessing.

3 Now when they had hearde the law, they separated from Israel every one that had not bin felle thern.

4 And before this had the priest Elia sh the oversight of the treaurie of the house of our God: and he was hyn man unto Lobia.

5 And had made hym a great chamber, and there had he afoe time laped the offeridges, frankencense, belfets, and the tythes of cume, vine, and oyle according to the commanementes gien to the Leuites, sngers and porters, and the heau offeridges of the priests.

6 But in all this time was not I at Hier usalem: for in the two and thirtie yere of Artaxeres king of Babylon, came I unto the king, s after certaine yares obtained Alence of the king to come to Hierusalem.

7 And I got knowledge of the evil that Elia sh dyd for Lobia: in that he had made hym a chamber in the court of the house of God,

8 And it grieved me sore: therefore I cal
sed forth all the belfets of the house of Lobia out of the chamber:

9 And commaunded them to cleanse the chambers, and thyther bought I among the belfets of the house of God, with the meate offeringe, and the incense, unto God.

10 And I perceived that the portions of the Leuites had not ben gien them, and that every one was fled to his land, even the Leuites and sngers that executed the book.

11 Then reproved I the rulers, and sayd: why is the house of God so taken: And I gathered them together, and set them in their place.

12 Then brought all Juda the tythes of cume, and vine, and oyle, unto the treaurie.

13 And I made treasures over the treaurie, even Selemiah the priest, and Zado
e the scribe, and of the Leuites, Pha dam: and under their hand was Hanan the sone of Zarch, the sone of Batha ma: for they were counted faithful, and their office was to distribufe [the portions] unto their brethren.

14 Thynke upon me 0 my God herein, and wyte not out my mercy that I have thebed on the house of my God, and on the offices thereof.

15 And the same time dyde I in Juda some treading vine presses on the Sab dath, and bringing in sheares, and which laded vasses also with wine, grapes, and figges, and all burthenes, and brought them into Hierusalem upon the Sab dath day: And I rebuke them earne tly the same day that they sode the bi tapes.

16 There dwelleth men of Tyre also there in, which brought fish and all manner of wtre, and olde on the Sabbath into the childe of Juda, even in Hierusalem.

17 Then reproved I the rulers in Juda, sayd unto them: What evry thing is this that ye do, brake the Sabbath day?

18 Dyd not your fathers enueth thus, and our God brought all this plague upon vs, and upon this cite?: And ye make the wretche more yet upon Israel, in that ye brake the Sabbath:

19 And
2. Eiidras.

Then I reproved them, and cursed them, and smote certayne men of them, and made them bare: and took an oath of them by God, That ye shall not give your daughters unto their sons, neither shall ye take their daughters unto your sons, or for your selues.

And when the poore of Hierusalem began to be darke in the evening before the Sabbath, I commanded that they should not be opened till after the Sabbath: and some of the seruantes let me at the gates, that there should be no burthen brought in on the Sabbath day.

Then remayed the chapmen and marshauntes once or thople one night without Hierusalem with all maner of wares.

Then reproved I them there, and layde about them: why tary ye all night about the wall? If ye do it once againe, I will lay hands upon you. From that time forth came they no more on the Sabbath.

And I said unto the Leuites, that they should cleane them selues, and that they should come and kepe the gates, to holde the Sabbath day: Thynke upon mee, O my God concerning this also, and spare me, according to thy great mercie.

And one of the children of Jehoiada the sonne of Eliaha the hye priest, was the sonne in law of Sanaballat the ho- ronite: but I chasse him from me.

And they spake halfe in the speech of Abod, and could not speake in the Jewes language, but according to the language of the one people and of the other people.

And to offer the wood at times appointed, and the first fruite: Think thou upon mee, O my God for the best.

The ende of the seconde booke of Eiidras, otherwise called the booke of Nehemia.
The book of Esther.

The first Chapter.

1 It came to pass that in the days of Ahasuerus, (this is Ahasuerus which reigned from India unto Ethiopia, over an hundred and twenty and seven princes.)

2 Even in those days when the king Ahasuerus sat on his state royall, which was in Soloi the chiefest citie:

3 In the third year of his reigne, he made a feast unto all his princes and servants, and the mighty men of Persia and Media, the captaynes also and rulers of his countreys before him.

4 And he shewed the riches and glory of his kinglydom, and the glorious worship of his greatnesse many daies long, even an hundred and fourescore daies.

5 And when these daies were expired, the king made a feast unto the people that were in Soloi the chiefest citie, both unto great and small, seven daies long, in the court of the garden by the kings palace.

6 Where there hanged white, green, and yellowe clothes, fastened with corves of fine silke and purple, in silver rings, upon pillars of marble stones: The banches also were of golde and silver made upon a parment of green, white, yellowe, and blace marble.

7 And they daide in vessels of gold, and changed vessel after vessel, and royal wine in aboundance, according to the power of the king.

8 And the drinking was by an order, none might compell: for so the king had appointed to all the officers of his house, that they should do according to every mans pleasure.

9 And the queene Vashti made a feast also for the women in the palace of Ahasuerus.

10 And on the seventh day when the king was merry after the wine, he commanded Haman, the haem of Persia, Media, Abagath, Zethar, and Charchas, the tenen chamberlaynes that did seruice in the presence of king Ahasuerus, 11 To fetch the queene Vashti with the crown regall into the kinges presence, that he might shewe the people and princes her fairenesse; for she was beautiful.

12 But the queene Vashti would not come at the kinges worde by his chamberlaynes: Then was the king very wroth, and his indignation kindled in hym.

13 And the king spake to the wise men which knewe the times (for so was the kinges manner towards all that knewe the lawe and the judgements):

14 And the next unto hym were, Carthena, Sebha, Ardenuata, Thersis, Paris, Merdena, and Memuchan, the ten princes of Persia and Media, which halfe the kinges face, and satte the first in the kinglydome.)

15 What shall we do unto the queene Vashti according to the lawe, because the lawe not according to the word of the king Ahasuerus which he communed by his chamberlaynes?

16 And Memuchan answered before the kinges the princes: The queene Vashti hath not only done evil against the king, but also against all the princes, and against all the people that are in all the pounces of king Ahasuerus.

17 For this deed of the queene shall come abroad unto all women, so that they shall desie their husbands before their eyes; and shall say: The king Ahasuerus communed Vashti the queene to be brought in before hym, but she would not come.

18 And
18 And so that the princesses in Persia and Media lay yoked with this day unto all the kings' princes, when they hear of this decree of the queen; thus that there arile to much despitfulness and wrath.

19 If it please the king, let there go a commandment from him, and let it be written according to the ladies of the Persians and Medians, and not to be transgressed, that Vashti come no more before king Ahasuerus, and let the king give her royal estate unto another that is better than she.

20 And when this commandment of the king which shall be made, is published throughout all his empire which is great, all women shall hold their husbands in honour both among great and small.

21 This laying pleased the king and the princes, and the king did according to the word of Haman.

22 For he sent letters forth into all the kings' provinces, into every land according to the writing thereof, and to every people after their language, that every man should be lord in his own house: and this to be published after the language of his people.

The ii. Chapter.

After the queen is put away, certain young maids are bought to the king. 14 Esther pleaseth the king, and is made queen. 22 Haman doth unto the king those that would betray him.

1. Ferre these acts, when the displeasure of king Ahasuerus was not removed, he thought upon Vashti, and what she had done, and what was decreed against her.

2. Then layde the kings' servants that ministered unto him: Let there be faire young virgins sought for the king,

3. And let the king appoynte officers in all the provinces of his empire, that they should bring together all the faire young virgins unto Susan the head citie to the women's building, under the hande of Hegai the kings chamberlaine that kept the women, to give them their apparel:

4. And that the maiden which pleased the king, should be queen in Vashtis stead. And this pleased the king, and he did so.

5. In the citie of Susan there was a certaine Jewe, whose name was Mordeceus, the sonne of Jair, the sonne of Seremi, the sonne of Eis, a man of Hebran,

6. Which was carried away from Jerusalem with the captivity, when Jehonat the king of Judea was led away, whom Nebuchodonosor, the king of Babylon carried thence:

7. And he nourished Hadassa (that is Esther) his birtles daughter: for he had neither father nor mother, and she was a faire and beautifull maiden, whom Mordeceus (when her father & mother were dead) received for his owne daughter.

8. So when the kings commandement and commissioun was published, and many maids were brought together into the citie of Susan under the hande of Hegai, Esther was brought also into the kings house under the hande of Hegai the keper of the women.

9. And the maiden pleased him, and she founde favour in his sight: and he cau-

10. ed ornaments to be gotten her speedily, and such things as belonged to her, and appoynted her seven comely maids out of the kings house, and fau-

11.oured both her and her gentlewomen singularly in the house of the women.

12. But Esther sheived not her people and her kinred: for Mordeceus had charged her that she should not tell it.

13. And Mordeceus walked every day before the court of the womenes house, that he might knowe whom Esther did, and what she should become of her.

14. And when the appoynted time of every maids order, that she should go in to the king Ahasuerus, after that she had had twelve monethes according to the mauer of the women (for so were the dayes of their purification accomplished, sixe monethes with oyle of unire, and sixe monethes with sweete odours, and in the purifying of the women:

15. And thus went the maids into the king) whatsoever he required, that must be gotten her to go with her out of the women's building into the kings palace.
14 In the evening the went, and on the moide she returned into the second house of the women abiding unter the hande of Saalasis, the kings chamber-layne, which kept the concubines: And the came in unto the king no more, except it pleased the king to have her, and that she were called by name.
15 Noble when the course came of Esther the daughter of Abihail, the vulture of Harodocesus (which had receaved her as his obne daughter) that the thoulde come in unto the king, he defired nothing but what Hagar the kings chamberlanye the keper of the women sade:
And Esther found favour in the light of all them that looked upon her.
16 And Esther was taken unto king Ahas-ferus into his house royall, in the tenth moneth (which is the moneth Libeth) in the seuenthe yere of his raigne.
17 And the king loved Esther above all the women, and she found grace and favour in his light more then all the vir-gins, so that he set the crowne of the kingdome upon her head, and made her queen in steede of Vasti.
18 And the king made a great feast unto all his princes and concubines, whose feast was because of Esther, and caused the princes to be in quietnesse, & gave giftes, as became the royaltie of a king.
19 And when the virgins were gathered together the second time, Harodocesus sat in the kinges gate.
20 And as yet had not Esther showed her kinder her people, according as Harodocesus had bidden her: so Esther dyd after the wordes of Harodocesus,like as if she had ben yet under his gouvernance.
21 At the same time (while Harodocesus sat in the kinges gate) two of his kings chamberlaynes, Bithian and Therces, which kept the doore, were death, and sought to lay their handes on the king Ahaserus:
22 Whereof also Harodocesus gave knowledge, "and tolde it unto queene Esther, and Esther certifie the king therof in Harodocesus name.
23 And when inquisition was made, it was founde to , and they were both hanged on tre: and it was written in the Chronicles before the king.

The iii. Chapter.

1 Haman after he was raised, obtained of the king, that all the Jews should be put to death, because Harodocesus had not done him worship as other had.

1 After these actes, dyd king Ahaserus promote Haman the sone of Amadatha the A-gagite, and set hym on pie, and set his seat above all the princes
that he had with hym.
2 And at the kinges concubines that were in the kinges gate, bowed their knees, and reverenced Haman, for the king had to commandeth concerning hym: But Harodocesus bowed not the knee, nether dyd hym reverence.
3 Then the kings concubines which were in the kinges gate, said unto Harodocesus: why transgresseth thou the kings commandement?
4 And though they spake this dapy beto hym, yet would he not heare them, therefore they tolde Haman, that they migh see howe Harodocesus matters would stande, for he had tolde them that he was a Jewe.
5 And when Haman sawe that Har-
The iii. Chapter.

When Mordecai perceived all that was done, he rent his clothes, and put on sackcloth and ashes, and went out into the midst of the city, and cried loud and lamentably.

And came before the king's gate; but he might not enter within the king's gate, because he had sackcloth on.

And in all countries, and places, as far as the king's border commandment extended, there was great lamentation among the Jews, fasting, weeping, and mourning, and many lay in sackcloth and ashes.

So Esther's maidsens and her chamberlains, came and told it her: Then was the queen exceedingly ashamed, and the king sent that Mordecai should put on, and lay the sackcloth from him: But Mordecai would not take them.

Then called Esther Hattach one of the king's chamberlains which stood before her, and gave him a commandment unto Mordecai, to know what it was wherefore he did so.

So Hattach went forth to Mordecai, and the name of king Ahasuerus was it written, and sealed with the king's ring.

And the letters were sent by postes into all the king's provinces, to cause his majesty, and to destroy all Jews both young and old, children and women in one day (namely) upon the thirteenth day of the twelfth month (which is the month Adar), to destroy it as a fast.

This was the summe of the writing, that there should be a commandment sent to all provinces, and published unto all people, that they should be ready against the same day.

And the postes went in all the haste according to the king's commandment, and in Susam the chief citie was the commandment sealed: And the king and Haman sate and drank. When in the mean time the citie of Susam was disquieted.

Mordecai grieved the queene knowledge of the cruel decree of the king against the Jews. She wept that they pray for such a sad fortune.

Then unanswer'd Esther, and said: My petition and desire is, if I have found grace in the sight of the king, and if it please the king to give me my petition, and to fulfil my request, then let the king and Haman come to the banquet that I shall prepare for thee; and I will do to morowe, as the king hath said.

Then went Haman forth the same day joyful and mery in his minde: But when the same Haman said Harodochus in the kinges gate, that he rode not by noisomende for him, he was full of indignation at Harodochus.

Nevertheless, Haman restrained himself, and when he came home he sent and called for his friends and Zares his wife.

And Haman tolde them of the glory of his riches, and the multitude of his children, and all the things whereunto the king had promoted him: and he said, I am come to morowe, because my spirit was great against the king.

There was then set in the king's gate a crible, and in the gate were put ten couches, and in the couches were the king's pricess and maidservantes.

And the king said, What honour and dignity hast thou given to Harodochus therefore? Then said the kinges ser-

Ivantees that numbered unto him: There is nothing at all done for him.

And
4 And the king said: Who is in the court? for Haman was come into the court without before the king's house, that he might speake unto the king to hang Haman on the tree that he had prepared for him.

5 And the kings sernauntes said unto him: Scholte, Haman standeth in the court. And the king said: let him come in.

6 And when Haman came in, the king saide unto him: What shall be done unto the man whom the king would smite. Haman thought in his heart: whom shall I slay the king to bring unto worship more then me?

7 And Haman answered the king: Let the man whom the king pleaseth to bring unto worship, be hough, theer. That he may be arrayd with the royall garments which the king weth to wear, and the hose that the king rudgeth, and that the crown capay may be set upon his head.

8 And let this rayment and hose be delwered under the haide of one of the kings most noble princes, that they may aray the man whchal whom the king is disposed to bring to honour, and carie him upon the horse through the streete of the cite, and proclame before him, Thus shall it be done to the man whom the king pleaseth to bring to honour.

9 And would God that we were soldie to be bondmen and bondwomen, then would I solde my tongue: although the enemy could not recompence the kings losse.

10 And the king said to Haman: Make halfe, and take as thou hast saide the rayment and the hose, and do eueryrunto Hamoncious the Jevve that sereeth before the kinges gate, and let no thing faile of all that thou hast spoken.

11 Then take Haman the rayment and the hose, and arrayd Maroches, and brought him on horsebacke through the streete of the cite, and proclaimed before him, Even this shall it be done unto the man whom the king is disposed to honour.

12 And Pardocheus came againe to the kings gate: but Haman gaat him home in all the halfe mourning, and his head concered.

13 And tolde Zares his wyfe and all his friends every thing that had befallen him. When saide his wife men and Zares his wyfe unto him: If be Pardocheus of the Jevve of the Jevve, before who thou haft begun to fall, thou shalt not preuaine against him, but shalt surely fall before him.

14 And while they were yet talking with him, came the kings chamberlaynes, that caused Haman to make halfe to come unto the banke that Esther had prepared.

The vii. Chapter.

1 And the king and Haman came to banquet with the queen Esther.

2 And the king saide againe unto Esther on the second day at the banquet of wine: What is thy petition queen Esther, that it may be grantee? And what requirest thou if it be grant to the halfe of the empire, it shalbe done.

3 And Esther the queen answered, and saide: If I have found grace in thy sight O king, and if pleache the king, then grant me my plea at my desire, and my people for my petitions sake.

4 For we are soldie and my people to be destroyed, to be slaine, and to perish:

5 The king Ahasuerus aunsuered and saide unto queen Esther: who is he? And where is he, that dare presume in his minde to do after that manner?

6 And Esther saide: The enemy and adversarie is this wicked Haman. Then Haman was exceedingly arrayed before the king and the queen.

7 And the king arose from the banquet and from the wine in his displeasure, and went into the palace garden: and Haman folde up, and besought queen Esther for his lyfe: for he saw that there was a mishap prepared for him of the king.
And when the king came againe out of the palace gardne into the place where they drank wine: Haman had lapsed him upon the bed that Esther sat vp on. Then said the king: Whose is this queene also before me in the house? As soon as that word was out of the kings mouth, they covered Hamans face.

And Harbona one of the chamberlaines that noode before the king, and:

Behold, there standeth yet a galions in hannans house, fiftie cubites he, which he had made for Harrocheus, that spake good for the king. Then the king said, hang him thereon.

So they hanged Haman on the gallous that he had made for Harroche-us: Then was the kings wrath past-led.

11 Then were the kings serues called at the same time, even in the thirde mon-eth (that is the moneth Siuan) on the three and twentie day thereof, and it was written according to all as Harrocheus commanded unto the Jewes, and to the priests, to the duties and captaines in the provinces which are from Indi into Ethiopia, namely an hundred twentie and seuen provinices, unto every provinice according to the writing thereof, and unto every people

after their speach, and to the Jewes actording to their writing and language.

12 And he wrote in the king Ahasuerus name, and sealed it with the kings ring, and by poctes that rode upon horses, and by young Dukes, sent he the writings,

wherin the king commanded the Jewes in what tines souer they were, to gather themselues together, and to stand for their lyfe, and for to rode out, to lay and to destroy all the power of the people and province that would trouble them, both children and women, and to spoyle their goodes:

13 Upon one day in all the provinices of king Ahasuerus, namely upon the thirteenth day of the twelfth moneth, which is the moneth Adar.

14 The summe of the writing was, how there should be a commanndement ge-ten in all and every province, and published among all people, and that the Jewes should be redy against that day, to avenge them slues on their enemies.

14 And so the postes that rode upon the nupt bales and bales, made haste with all speede to execute the kinges word: and the commandement was beuiled in Susan the chiefe cite.
15 And Haman was sett out from the king in royall apparel, of yelow and white; with a great trowne of golde, being arrayd with a garment of blue and purple: and the cite of Susan rejoyced and was glad.
16 And unto the Jews there was contrt light and gladness, joy and worship.
17 In all provinces and cityes into what places soever the kinges word and commandement reached, there was joy and mirth, a feaste and good bapes:
among the Jews: insomuch that many of the people in one lande became Jews; for the fear of the Jews came upon them.

The IX. Chapter.

1 At the commandement of the king, the Jews put their adversaries to death.
14 The tensons of Haman are hanged. 17 The Jews keepe a feast in remembrates of their deliverance.

1 A The twelth moneth (that is the moneth Adar) was the thirteenth day of the same, when the kinges word and commandement due tare to be put in execution, in the day that the enemies of the Jews hoped to have power over the, it turned contrary: for the Jews had rule over them that hated them.
2 For then gathered the Jews together in their cityes within all the provinces of king Agrabates, to lay haide on such as woulde do them evil, and no man could withstand them; for the fear of them was come over all people.
3 And all the rulers in the provinces, and princes, and deputys, and officers of the king, pronounced the Jews: for the fear of Haman was come upon them.
4 For Haman was great in the kinges house, and the reprote of him was noped in all the provinces: for this man Hamans was greater and greater.
5 Thus the Jews smote all their enemies with the broke of the sword, and slaughter, and destruction, and what they would unto their enemies.
6 And at Susan the chiefe cite the Jews, destroyed six hundred men.
7 And slue Pharaonatha, Dalphon, Abbatha,
8 Pharsatta, Malia, Arida, 9 Pharnaatha, Arida, Arida, and Ab-itha,
10 The ten sonses of Haman the some of Hamadas the enemie of the Jews:
but on his goddes they layed no
handes.
11 At the same time was the king cerisced of the number of those that were slaine in the cite of Susan.
12 And the king saide vnto queene Esther: The Jews have slaine and destroyed five hundred men in the cite of Susan, and the tensons of Haman:
what have they done? for the eneter landes of the king? And what is the petition, that it may be known what request thou more to be done:
13 Esther answered: If it please the king, let him suffer the Jews which are in Susan, to morowe also to do according vnto this bapes decre, that they may hang Hamans ten sonses vpon the tree.
14 And the king charged to do so: and the decree was sealed at Susan, and they hanged Hamans ten sonses.
15 For the Jews that were in Susan gathered them selues together, vpon
the fourteenth day of the moneth Adar, and slue three hundred men at Susan:
but in their goddes they layed no
handes.
16 As for the other Jews that were in the kinges provinces, they came to-togehter and hode for their lives, and rest from their enemies, and one of their enemies senette and one thousand; howbeit they layed no handes on their goddes.
17 [This they did] on the thirteenth day of the moneth Adar, on the fourteenth day of the same moneth reched they, which day they held with feastings and gladnesse.
18 But the Jews that were at Susan came
And therefore the Jews that dwelt in the villages and unwalled towns, held the fourteenth day of the month Adar with gladness and feasting, and kept holy day, and every one sent presents unto his neighbour.

And Mordecai wrote these words, and sent letters unto all the Jews that were in all the provinces of king Ahasuerus, both he and his brethren:

That they should make a fast among the Jews, & holde the fourteenth & fifteenth day of the month Adar, perely,

As the days whereof the Jews came to rest from their enemies, and as a month whereof their pain was turned to joy, and their sorrow to a joyful day: and that in those days they should make feaftes and gladness, and one to lend gifts unto another, and to distribute unto the poor.

And the Jews promised to do as they had begun, and as Mordecai had written unto them:

Therefore Haman the sonne of Haman the Agagite all the Jews enemie, had denied against the Jews how he might destroy them, and caused to cast Pur (that is a lot) for to consume them, to bring them to naught.

But when Esther came before the king, he commanded by letters that his wicked decree which he imagined against the Jews, should be turned up on his owne head, and that he and his sonnes should be hanged on the tree.

For the which cause they called these days Purim, because of the name of the lot, and because of all the words of this writing, and what they themselves had seen, what had come unto them:

And the Jews observed, and took it upon them and their seed, and upon all such as joined themselves unto them, that they would not miste but obserue these two days perely, according as they were written and appointed in their season,

And that these days are to be remembred and to be kept of children and children among all hirendes in all landes and cities: In these days of Purim which are not to be omsipt among Jews, and the memory all of them ought not to perish from their seed.

And queen Esther the daughter of Abbad & Mordecai the Jewe wrote With all authentick to conforme this second writing of Purim.

And he sent the letters unto all the Jews, to the hundred twentie and ten provinces of the empire of Ahasuerus, both wode of peace and trueth:

To conforme these days of Purim in their time appoynted, according as Mordecai the Jewe and Esther the queen had appoynted them: and they bound their soule and their seede to fasting and prayer.

And the decere of Esther conformed these wodes of Purim, and was written in the booke.

And the king Ahasuerus layed tribute upon the land, & upon the isles of the sea.

And all the actes of his power and of his might, & the declaration of the dignitie of Mordecai wherewith the king magnified him, be they not written in the bookes of chronicles of the kings of Persia and Persia.

For Mordecai the Jewe, was the second next unto king Ahasuerus, and great among the Jews, and accepted among the multitude of his brethren, as one that seeth the wealth of his people, and speaketh peaceably for all his seed.

The ende of the booke of Esther.
The booke of Job.

The first Chapter.

1 The holiness, riches, and care of Job for his children. 2 Satan hath presently to tempt him. 3 He tempteth him by taking away his subsistence, and his children. 4 His faith and patience.

And he had seven sons and three daughters.

And his sublimate also was seven thousand sheepe, and three thousand camels, five hundred yoke of oxen, and five hundred sheepe asses, and a very great household: so that he was one of the most principal men among all of them of the east [country].

And his sons' bent and banqueted in their houses every one his day, and sent for their sisters to eat and drink with them.

And when the days of their banqueting were gone about, Job sate down, and sanctified them, and got by early and offered for every one a burnt offering: For Job saide, It may be that my sonnes have done some offence, & have ben benvoluntarily thankful to God in their hearts. Thus did Job every day.

And upon a day when the children of God came and trode before the Lord, Satan came also among them.

And the Lord saide unto Satan: Whence comest thou? Satan answered the Lord and said: From compassing the earth to and fro, from walking through it.

And the Lord said unto Satan: Hast thou not considerd my servant Job, how there is none like him in the earth: a perfect and a just man, one that feareth God, and escheweth evil?

Satan answered, and said unto the Lord: Dost thou not consider my servant Job, how there is none like him in the earth: a perfect and a just man, one that feareth God, and escheweth evil?

Satan answered, and said unto the Lord: Dost thou not consider my servant Job, how there is none like him in the earth: a perfect and a just man, one that feareth God, and escheweth evil?

Satan answered, and said unto the Lord: Dost thou not consider my servant Job, how there is none like him in the earth: a perfect and a just man, one that feareth God, and escheweth evil?
And the Lord said unto Satan: {1} all that he hath be in thy power; only upon what he lay, that thou lay not thine hand; And Satan went forth from the presence of the Lord.

And upon a certain day, when his sons and daughters were eating and drinking wine in their eldest brothers house,

There came a messenger unto Job, and said: The oxen were ploughing and the assfeed feedling before them:

And the Sabues came violently, and took them away, they had slayne thy servauntes with the edge of the sword; And I only am escaped alone to tell thee.

While he was yet speaking, there came another, and said: The fire of God is fallen from heaven, and hath rent up thy sheep and servauntes, and confirmed them: And I only am escaped alone to tell thee.

And whyke he was yet speaking, there came another, and said: The Caledes made out their bands, and fell upon the camels; and have carried them away, they and slayne thy servauntes with the sword: And I only am gotten away alone to tell thee.

And whyke he was yet speaking there came an other, and said: Thy sons and thy daughters were eating and drinking wine in their eldest brothers house,

And behold there came an mightie great wind from beyond the land of Egypt, and smote the four corners of the house, which fell upon thy children, and they are dead: And I am gotten away alone to tell thee.

Then Job sadooke by, and shorthis clothes, and shavethis head, and sowedowne upon the ground, and worshipped.

And said: Naked came I out of my mothers wombe, naked shall I returne thyther againe: The Lord gave and the Lord hath takene away, blessed be the name of the Lord.

In all these thinges dyd Job not offended, nor charged God foolishly.
12. So when they lifted up their eyes a space of time, they spied him not: then they cried and wept, and every one of them rent his clothes, and sprinkled dust upon their heads in the ayre.

13. They laid them downe by him also upon the grounde seven daies & seven nightes, and none spake a word unto him: so they lade that his griefe was very great.

The iii. Chapter.

Job complaineth and curseth the day of his birth. 11. He desireth to dye, as though death were the end of all mans miserie.

14. Lyke as the kings and princes of the earth, which have enjoyed them selues of all places.

15. Or as the princes that haue had golde, and their houses full of siluer:

16. Or why was not I hyde, as a thing boone out of time, either as young children whom never sawe the light?

17. Wherefore must the wicked cease from their tyranny, and there shall labour red balauntly be at rest:

18. There the prisoners rest together, they heare no more the boyes of the oppressour:

19. There are small and great, and the servant is free from his master.

20. Wherefore is the light given to him that is in miserie? & lyke unto them that have heavy hearts:

21. Which long for death and finde it not, though they search more for it than for treasures:

22. Which receyve exceedingly, and be glad when they can finde the grave,

23. From whom their ends are hyde, and conseale by God:

24. For my lighes come before I eat, and my coringes are poured out like the water:

25. For the thing that I feared is come upon me, and the thing that I was afraid of is happened unto me,

26. Was I not happy? And not quiet?

The
The iii. Chapter.

Job is reprehended of impatience, 7 and unjustice, 7 and of the presumption of his owne rightouesnes.

A

And Eliphaz the Temanite answered, and said, If we assay to come with thee, wilt thou be discontented? But who can withhold himself from speaking?

3 Behold, thou hast been an instructer of many, and hast strengthened the (b) weary hands:

4 Thy words have set up him that was falling, thou hast refreshed the weak knees.

5 But (c) woe is it come upon thee, and thou art greened ; it toucheth thee, and thou art troubled.

6 Was not thy fear according to thy hope, and the perfection of thy ways according to thy expectation?

7 Consider, I pray thee, who ever perished (d) being an innocent ? or when were the godly destroyed?

8 For as I have proved by experience, they that provoked me are f baked wretchedness, reape the same.

9 With the blast of God they perish, with the breath of his nostrils are they consumed away.

10 The roaring of the lion and the boype of the lion, and the teeth of the lions where are pulled out.

11 The lion perisheth for lack of prey, the lions whelpes are scattered abroad.

12 But whereas a thing was (e) hid from me, yet mine ear had heard a little thereof.

13 In the thoughts and visions of the night when sleep commeth on men, (f) fear came upon me as dead, which made all my bones to shake.

15 The winde passed by before my presence, and made the heroes of my flesh to stand by.

16 He stood thereon and J (h) knew not his face, an image there was before mine eyes, and in the likeness heard I a boype.

17 Shall (h) man be more just then God ? shall a man be pure then his maker?

18 Behold, he found not truth in his servants, and in (i) his angels there was folly:

19 Hobe much more in them that dwell in (j) houes of clay, and whose dust is but dust, which shall be confumed as it were with a moth?

20 They shall be snuffed (k) from the morning into the evening: yea they shall perish for ever, when no man regardeth them.

21 Is not their royalty gone away with them? they shall dye cruelly, and not in (m) blessednes.

The v. Chapter.

1 Ephes the weeb the difference between the children of the wicked and the wicked. The fall of the wicked. 9 God power who destroyeth the wicked, and delivereth his.

Rye (n) I pray thee, if there be any that will aunderthee, take thou upon any of the holy.

2 As for the foolish man, deceitfulness killeth him, and enuie layeth the ignorant.

3 I have seen myself when the (o) foolish was deep rooted, and so to I cursed his habitation.

4 His children were without prosperous, and they were (p) payne in the gate; and there was no man to deliver them.

5 His harvest was eaten of the hungry, and taken from among the thomes, and the (q) plunder, which was also to be done in the house of the cities.

17. Behold, blessed is the man whom God

19. He shall deliver thee in all troubles, meth thou shalt not need to fear.

22. In destruction and death thou shalt beastes of the earth.

23. For the stones of the land shall con-ferde both scree, and the beastes of the field shall be at peace with thee.
24. And thou shalt knowe that thy dwelling place shall rest, and thou shalt

The second Chapter.

For his place in this man's body.

For that as a bone is kept warm in the fire, and that it suffers the burning of the fire, yet is not any more burnt than it was before, so is this man, and I will make thee as the fire, and thy bones as the coal.

And the Lord told me, saying, Thou art the man; yet hast thou not bought the dew of Jacob's land, or the precious oil of Esau's field, whereof I said, Go, buy for me two shekels of silver, and deal for me with the children of Esau, and get thee an army of them, and I will give thee for thy wife, and for thy sons also shall the children of Esau serve thee.

And I will make thee as a city that is built and not destroyed, and a house that is not taken from thee; and I will place thee with the kings, even with the kings of the earth.

And I will make thee a great nation, and I will bless thee, and multiply thee, and make thee an ensign of praise among all nations, in the land which I give to thy children, for an everlasting covenant.

And I will give thee one nation for thine, and all that I have will I give for thy sons, and they shall be called by the name of the children of Israel, and thou shalt be their prince.

And I say unto thee, Thou art not appointed to go out upon the earth; but I will go out upon thee, and I will make thee as the fire, and thy bones as the coal.

The xij. Chapter.

Job accuseth his friends of ignorance. 7 He declareth the might and power of God. 17 And how he chargeth the course of things.

O Job answered, & faide:
Then no doubt are the men (a) alone, and wpblome shall perse (b) with you.
(b) But I have understanding as well as ye, and am not inferior to you: Pea who knoweth not these things?
4 I am as one mocked of his neighbour, who calleth upon God, & he heareth him: (c) The lust & the voyght is laughted to some.
5 Being as alight (d) despiled in the heartes of the riche, and as one reby to fall.
6 The houses (e) of robbers are in wealth and prosperite, and they that maliciously meddle against God dwell without care, in those things that God hath (f) guernishly & wtth his hande.
7 Alas the cattail, (g) and they shall en-sowvre thee: the soules of the axe, and they shall tell thee.
8 Of the increase of the earth, and it shall shew thee: or the fishes of the sea, and they shall certifie thee.
9 What is he but he knoweth that the hande of the Lord made all these?
10 In whole hande is the soule of every living thing, and the breath of all manknde.
11 Have not the cares (g) pleasure in hearening: and the mouth in taking the thing that it eateth.
12 Among (h) old persons there is wp dissead, and in age is understanding.
13 Pea, with [God] is wpblome and strenght,its he that hath counsell and foreknowledge.

14 Wblolde (i) if he breake downfall a thing, who can set it vp againe? if he shut a thing, who wblle open it?
15 Wblolde, if he withholde the waters, they dye vp: yf he letteth them go, they destroy the earth.
16 With him is strength and wpblome; both the becauer and he that is desearued are his.
17 He carieth away the wpblome men as it were a spoyle, and bringeth the jrudges out of their wittes.
18 He taketh away the subjuction of the people from their binges, and gribeth their lynones with a bonde.
19 He leaueth away the great men into captynite, and turneth the mighty by side downfall.
20 He stoppeth the mouth of them that speake truch, & disappoynteth the aged of their reason.
21 He pouereth contempt upon princes, and makeith the strength of the mightie Weake.
22 Loke what lyeth hid in darkeness he declareth it openly, and the very shadoke of death sheweth he to light.
23 He both increaseth the people and destroyeth them, he maketh them to multiply, and diminisheth them.
24 He taketh away the hearte of them that be heads of people of the earth, and causeth them to wander in the wildernesse out of the way.
25 They grope in the darke without light, and he maketh them to lacker like a drunken man.

1 Job comprehendeth his knowledge with the experience of his friends. 16. The prouerbe shall faie, and the hypocrite condemned. 20 He prapeth unto God that he would not handle him rigorously.

16. For, though he slay me, yet shall I trust in him: but I will reprose my none obline beases in his light.

20. He saie my salvation: for there may no (b) hypocrite come before him.

17. Hearz diligently my words, and ponder my sayinges with your ears.

18. Beholde, now have I prepared my judgement, and knowe that I haie found (c) righteous,

19. What is he that will go to labbe with me? if I now holde my (tongue)
I pre.

20. Neuertheless, (m) graunet me thin tings, and then will I not hide my selfe from the.

21. With harde thynge hande from me, and let not the scarrful dreade of thee make me astraue.

22. Then call, and I will answer: or let me speake, and give me then an answer.

23. How many are my misdeeds and lines: let me knowe my transcressions and offences.

24. Wherefore hidest thou thy face, and holdest me? for thine exacnis:

25. Wolde thou breake a leafe buent to and see, and wilt thou pursue the dpe sube?

26. For thou layest sharply to my charge, and punishest me for the lines of my youth.

27. Thou puttest my secte also in the strokes, and lokest narowly into all my pathes, and makest the (m) punit there in the species of my secte.

28. And I as a rotten thing do consume away, as a garment that is motheaten.

The .xiii. Chapter.

10. Job describeth the shortnes and misteres of the lyfe of man. 14. Hope sustained the godly. 21. The condition of man's lyfe.

1. In that is (a) horne of woman, hath but a short time to true, and is full of miserie.

2. He commeth vp, and is cut downe (b) like a flower: He feth as it were a shadow, and never continueth in one state.

3. Dost thou (c) open thynge eyes upon such one, and bringest me into thy judgment:

4. Who can make it cleane that commeth of an uncleane thing: no bodeye.

5. The
of Job. clxxiii.

The sayes of man surely are determined, the number of his moneths are known unly into thee, thou hast appointed him his bonds in which he cannot go beyonde.

Go from him, that he may rest until his day come which he seeketh, lyke as an hireling both.

For if a tree be cut downe, there is none hope yet that it will sproute and shooe forth the baneishings againe.

Though the roots of it be warent olde, and the fooke thereof be dead in the ground:

Yet when it geteth the sence of water, it will budding and bring forth bodes, lyke as a tree that is planted.

But as for man, when he is dead, perisheth, and continued away, what becommeth of him?

As the waters passe from the sea, and as the flood decreath and dryeth vp:

So man after he is asleeplyeth not, he shall not wake vp the heavens be no more, nor rise out of his sleepe.

O that thou wouldst hide me in the grave, keepe me secret untill thy wrath were past, and to appoint me a time wherein thou mightest remember me.

14. Hath a dead man yitne againe: All the sayes of my lyke will I wstrate still, till my changing shall come.

15. Thou shalt (1) call (me) and I shall answer thee, despite not thou the works of thyne owne handes.

16. For now thou (2) numberest all my goinges, and guest no delay unto my time.

17. Thyne iniquities is sealed by as it were in a bagge, and thou addest punishment] unto my wickednesse.

18. The mountaines cal away at the last, the rocks are removed out of their place.

19. The waters passe through the very stones by little little, the floodes vashe away the grauell and earth: so shalt thou destroy the hope of man.

20. Thou presiyest still against him, so that he passeth aby, thou changest his estate and puttest him from thee.

21. And whether his children come to worship vpno, he can not tell: And if they be men of soasse degree, he knoweth not.

22. But while his life is upon him, it must have tynode: and his soule shall moune within him.

The xv. Chapter.

1 Eliphaz reprehended Job, because he ascribed wydome and utrenes to him selfe. He described the curse that fallith on the wicked, reconnying Job to be one of that number.
yea, the very heaven are not cleane in his sight: 16. bold much more then an abominable and bylie man, which drunketh Wicked-ness like water. 17. I will set thee, hear, me, and I will shew thee that I have scene: 18. Which boyle men have tode, and have not hid that which they receaued from those fathers: 19. Unto whom alone the land was geue, and no stranger went among them. 20. The (b) visgetti solveth all the daies of his lyfe as it were a Woman with childe, and the (b) number of a tarauntes yeeres is unknowen. 21. A fearful sounde is [sure] in his cures, and when he is in peace, the destroyer shall come upon hime. 22. He belenceth never to be delouer[ed] (c) out of darkness, for the swords is alwayes before his eyes. 23. He wandeth abode for bread where it is, knowing that the (b) day of darkness is redye at his hande. 24. Trouble and anguish will make him afraid, and compass him about, as is a king in the midst of an amene. 25. For he hath stretched out his hande against God, and armed him selfe against the almighty. 26. He runneth proude upon him, yea with a fierce-necked sighteth he against him. 27. Where as he (c) couereth his face with fatteesse, and makedeth his body verlyly-king. 28. Therefore shall his dwelling be (m) in debellon cities, and in houles which no man inhabiteth, but are become heapes of stones. 29. He (n) shall not be rich, neither shall his substance continue, neither that the prosperous thereof be prolonged upon earth. 30. He shall never depart out of darkness, the flame (o) shall lyse by his branches, with the blast of mouth (o) of God shall he be taken away. 31. He belenceth not that he errith in batemie, and yet batemie halbe his recompence. 32. He shall perish afore his time be home out, and his (p) branches shall not be greene. 33. He halbe plucked of as an untimely grape from the vine, and shall let his flower fall as the olive doth. 34. For the congregation of hyprorites shall be donellate, and the fire shall continue the houles of such as are greedie to receave giftes. 35. He conceaueh transalle, and beareth batemie, and their body ghetoth thereof discepe.

Thebooke. Chapter. 1 Job moved by the importunacie of his friendes, 2 counteth in what ceremontie he is, 3 and taketh God witnesses of his innocencie.

Job answered, & said: I have oftentimes heard such things, that vaile and vaile of covertie are ye all the sort of you. Shall not baine woodes come yet to an ende? 2 What maketh thee bold to asmuckle? 3 I could speake as ye do also; but would God that your (b) soule were in my soules stead, then could I frame woodes for you, and make my head at you: 4 I should comfort you with my mouth; & release your paine with the talking of my lippes. 5 For all my woodes my hazowe will not ceasse: And (o) though I holdre my tongue, what am I eased? 6 But now that God hath sent me another, thou hast troubled at all thy congregatiation. 7 And that thou (a) hast filled me with wretches my soule is covertie, and my leancenesses ryseth by against me and beareth witness thereof in my face. 8 His wrath hath come (m) he hateth me, gnatheth upon me with his teeth; myne enimie biteketh fiercely upon me with his eyes. 9 They have opened their mouthes wide upon me, and (b) finneth me upon the cheeck dispitefully, they gather the selues together against me. 10 They have opened their mouthes wide upon me, and (b) finneth me upon the cheek dispitefully, they gather the selues together against me. 11 God hath shut me up with the visgetti, and delivered me (a) into the handes of the Wicked.
I was in wealth, but he hath brought me to nothing: he hath taken me by the hand, he hath all to shake me, and let me as a mark for his pleasure.

His arrows compass me round about, I woundeth my raines, and doth not spare, my bowels hath he pourest upon the ground.

I am a worm, and no man; and am a jest of men, and am a sport to them.

Of thy exaltation, and of the height of thy enmity against me: I am a gibe to them: and am a gibe to them.

I have loved a fackcloth upon my skinne, and wallowed my head in the dust.

My face is withered with weeping, in my eyes is the shadowe of death.

Doubtless there is no (1) wickedness in my handes, but (2) my paper is clean.

Dearth covereth not thi blood, and let (3) my crying finde no room.

For lo, (4) my bitterness is in heaven, and he that knoweth me is in the height.

My friends gane me many bowdes to stoone, and my eye pourest out tears unto God.

That a body might please with God, as one man both with another.

Yet the number of my persecutions, and the way that I must go at hand, from whence I shall not turn again.

The seventh Chapter.

Job saith that he continueth a way, and yet doth patiently abide it. He exhorteth his friends to repentance, is the wing that he looked but for death.

Breath is corrupt, my dayes are shortened, I am hard at deathes doore.

Froward men are with me, and myne eye must continue in the bitterness of them.

Deluer me, and (5) take out one to be my successe in the light: what is he that knoweth who shall promis for me.

For thou hast withholden their hearts from understanding, therefore that thou not set (them) by on he.

He that speaketh flatterie to his friend, the eyes of his children shall faille.

He hath made me a bywoode of the people, where as afore I was their top.

My eye is dimme for very heavitene, and all my strength is lyk a shadowe.

Virtuous men therefore shall well consider this, and the innocent shall take part against the hypocrite.

The righteous also will he (6) keep his way, and he that hath clean handes, will ye stronger and stronger.

As foral you, turne you and get you hence (7) I pray you seeing I cannot finde one lyke man among you.

My dayes are past, and my countenaunces, and thoughts of my heart are hauing away.

Changing the night into day, and the light apporcing into darkness.

Though I cry to much, yet the grace is my house, I have made my bed in the darke.

I fade to corruption, thou art my father, and to the houmes, you are my mother, and my sister.

Where is now then my hope? or who hath considered the thing? that I take for: These shall go downe with me into the pit, and dye with me in the buff.

The eighteenth Chapter.

Wisdome rehearseth the paines of the unfaithfull and wicked:

When wisdom ye make an ende (8) of your yodes, Marke well, and then we will speake.

Wherefore are we counted as beastes, and reputed to byle in your light.

He destroyeth him with his anger: Shall the earth be fastened, or any stone removed out of his place?

Pea, the light of the bygodes shall put out, and the sparrow of his face shall not shine.

The light shall be darke in his bedling, and his candle shall be put out with

The xix. Chapter.

I Job reproueth his friends; and recollect his miseries and grievous paines;
1 He assureth him selfe of the general resurrection.

Oh amounder, and faide:
How long wilt ye bere my soule, and trouble me with woes?
Lo, ten times haue ye reprochid me, and are not ashamed, but haue laughed me to scorne.
Be it that I have ered in deede, myne error then remaineth with my selfe.
But if ye will advance your furies against me, and rebuke me for the shame that is come vpon me.
Know this then, that it is God which hath overthrown me, and hath compassed me with his net.
If I complaine of the violence that is done vnto me, I cannot be heard: and if I cry, there is no sentence gwen with me.
He hath hedged up by my way that (a) I can not passe, and he hath set barnecke in my pathes.
He hath spoyled me (b) of myne honour, and taken the crowne alway from my head.
He hath destroied me on euery side

17 His remembrance (b) shall persiue from the earth, and he shall have no name in the street.
18 They shall drive him from the (c) light into darkness, and chaffe him cleane out of the world.
19 He shall neither haue children, nor kinfolkes among his people, nor any posteritie in his dwellings.
20 They that come after him, halfe a soned at (b) his day, and they that go before halfe afoayde.
21 Such are now the dwellings of the wicked, and this is the place of him that knoweth not God.

(a) That is, haue set barnecke in his way. For the number of them, see the number of consumption of kindlings.
(b) As though he would say, what have you to do with that, the fault is mine, and not yours.
(c) That is, from the heaven, my affection.
(d) Thou art a man of warre and of warlike estate, and a heersman, and a notabele; and haft overthrown me, and had compassed me with thy selfe.
(e) That is, I cannot be heard: and if I cry, there is no sentence gwen with me.
(f) He hath hedged up by my way that (a) I can not passe, and he hath set barnecke in my pathes.

(l) Such are now the dwellings of the wicked, and this is the place of him that knoweth not God.

He hath spoyled me (b) of myne honour, and taken the crowne alway from my head.
He hath destroied me on euery side and I am gone: my hope hath he taken alway as a tree placid by the roote.
His wrath is kindled against me, he taketh me as though I were his enemie.
His men of warre come together, which made their way over me, and belied my dwelling rounde about.
He hath put my brethren farre alway from me, and myne acquaintance are also become straungers vnto me.
Myne owne kinfolke have forsaken me, and my best acquaintance have forgotten me.
"The servants and maybens of myne owne house toke me for a straunger, and I am become as an abant in their sight.
I called my servaunt, and he gave me no answers: no though I prayed him with my mouth.
Myne owne lyke might not abyde my breath, though I prayed her for the children sake of myne owne body.

14 The head that he did eat, is turned to the poison of serpents within his body.

16 He shall surke the gall of serpents, and the adders tongue shall lapp him:

17 So that he shall no more see the eyes and booke of horn and butter.

18 The thing he hath laboured for, shall he restore, and not eate of it: great trouble shall he make for riches, but he shall not enjoy them.

19 And why, he hath oppressed the poor, and not helped them: houses hath he spotted, and not hid them.

20 Because he could not percease when his belly was well, through his greedie desire he shall not escape.

21 There shall none of his masters be left, therefore shall no man looke for his goddes.

22 When he had plenteousnesse of every thing, yet was he poore, though he was helped on every side.

23 And it shall come to passe, that whereas with he purposeth to fill his belly, God shall poure the faturie of his wealth over, and shall cause his indignation to raigne upon him, and upon his meat.

24 He shall see from the iron weapon, and the bose of steale shall strike him through.

The xx. Chapter.

Let my redeemer continue with me, and let the lord ransom me out of the hand of mine enemy.

And though after my skin men destroy this body, yet shall I see God in mine habitation:

Whom I my selfe shall see, and my eye shall behold, and others shall see, though my names are continued within me.

But ye saide, why is he presented? and there was a deep matter in me.

And behoore of the sword: for the sword wylde averted of bloodedness, and be sure that there is a judgement.

The xx. Chapter.

1 Sopher saith, that the wicked and the couteous shall have a most ende, though for a time they close.
though the gall of him: so scarce shall come upon him.
26. All darkness shall be hid in their secret places, (m) an unkindled fire that consume him: and loke what remaineth in his house, it shall be destroyed.
27. The heaven shall declare his wickedness, and the earth shall take part against him.

28. The substance that he hath in his house, halbe taken away and perish in the day of the Lordes wrath.
29. This is the portion that the wicked man hath of God, and the heritage that he may take for of God, because of his words.

The xxii. Chapter.

I Job declareth how the prosperity of the wicked maketh them pride, (v) into much that they blaspheme God. 15. Their destruction is at hand. 16. None ought to be judged wicked for affliction, neither good for prosperity.

1. Ob answered, and said:
2. O heare diligently my words, and that halbe in seede of your consolations.
3. Suffer me that I may speake, and when I have spoken mothe on.
4. Is it for a (m) mans sake that I make this disputatios? Which it beare to, should not my spirte then be in sore trouble?
5. Mark me (well) and be abashed, and (b) lay your hande upon your mouth.
6. For when I consider (my tale) I am atayde, and my steele is shudden with scare.
7. Wherefore do wicked men live, come to their olde age, and increase in riches?
8. Their children shine in their light, and the generation before their eyes. 9. Their houses are safe from all scare, and the end of God is not upon them. 10. Their bullocke gendeth and that not out of time, the roll be calmeth and is not unfruitfull.
11. They sende forth their children by stokes, and their bonnes (lead) the dannere.
12. They bear with their tabrets and harpess, and rejoice in the sounde of the organs.
13. They spend their days in wealthines, but (b) fainely they go downe to the grave.
14. They lay also unto God: (b) Go from vs, we desire not the knowledge of thy vaypes.
15. Who is the almighty that we should serve him? And what profite should we have if we should pay unto him?
16. Lo, there is utterly no goodnesse in their hande, therefore whyl I not have to do with the counsale of the vugody.
17. How off shall the (c) candle of the wicked be put out, and their destruction come upon them? 18. But that substance God gave them for their part in his wrath?
19. Pea, they halbe even as hay before the wind, and as chaffe that the home carrieth away.
20. God will lay up the substance of the father to his children: 21. For what careth he for his house after his death, when the number of his monethes is cut short?
22. Seeing God hath the highest power of all, who can teache him any knowledge?
23. (b) One dyeth in his full strength, being in all case and prosperitie.
24. His breake is full of muke, and his bones cunning full of marrow.
25. Another dyeth in the (c) bitterness of his soule, and never eateith with pleasure.
26. They shall sleepe both alike in the earth, and the worses shall coue them.
27. Behorde, (b) I know what ye think yea and the subtletie that ye imagine against me.
28. For ye say (b) Where is the prince of pater and where is the dwelling of the vugody?
29. Have ye not asked them that go by the way: Doubtlesse ye cannot bene their tokens.
30. That the wicked is kept unto the day of destruction, and the vugody halbe brought forth to the day of wrath.
31 Who [a] dare declare his way to his face: who will recompense him for that he doeth? 32 Ye shall be brought to his grave, and ye shall go down to the pit. 33 Then shall the [b] Leuine valley be sweet unto him, all men also must solide him, as there are innumerable gone before him. 34 Howe bene then is the comfort that ye gave me, lying falsehood rempeathy in all your aumnders.

The xxii. Chapter.

2 Eliphaz affirmed that Job is punished for his sines. 3 He accuseth him of unmercifulness, and that he denied god's providence. 4 He exhorted him to repentance.

1 Eliphaz the Temanite gaue answere, and said:
2 Say a man be profitable unto God, as he that is wise may be profitable unto himself: 3 Is it any advantage to the almightie that thou art righteous? or shall it profite him that thou maakes thy wayes perfect? 4 Is he afraid to reproue thee, and to thy south with thee into judgement? 5 Is not thy wickednesse great, and thy bragatious deeds innumerable? 6 For tho hast taken the pledge from thy brother for naught, and robbed the naked of their clothing.

7 Thou hast as werry, hast thou gaven no water to drinke, hast with baken bread from the hunger: 8 But the mightie man had the earth, and he that was in autocitie didt in it. 9 Thou hast sent thy doyles away empty, and the armes of the fathercleece were broken. 10 Therefore art thou compassed about with snares, & sordely vexed with fear. 11 Shouldst thou then see no darkness? shouldest not the water bubble over thee? 12 Is not God on high in the heauen behinde the height of the snares how he they are. 13 Wilt thou therefore say, Looke, bowe should God know? can he judge through the darke cloudes?

14 Looke, the cloudes cover him that he may not see, and he walketh on the top of heauen. 15 Hast thou marked the way of the world, wherein wicked men have walked? 16 Whose were cut downe out of time, and whose foundation was as an overseedng ruer. 17 Whose lapd uno God, God from be: and asked what the almighty could do for them? 18 He filled their houses with good things: but the counsel of the vagodly be forre from me. 19 The righteous luste it and were glad, and the innocent laughed them to some. 20 Is our labouer heiden done vne: As for the remaunt of them [b] the fire hath consumed.

21 Therefore [b] reconcile thee unto God, and be at peace: so shall all thinges prosper with thee right well. 22 Because I pay thee the latde at his mouth, and lay up his boders in thy heart.

23 For if thou wilt turne to the almighty, thou shalt be buied up, and put all unrighteousnes from thy dwelling. 24 Thou shalt lap up golde [as plentiful] as the dust, and the golde of Ophir as the stones of the rutes.

25 He almightie God his owne selfe shall be thy defence, and thou shalt have plentie of officer.

26 Then shalt thou have thy delte in the almighty, and lift up thy face unto God. 27 Then shalt thou make thy waye bare to him, and he shall heare thee, and thou shalt keep thy promises.

28 Thou shalt also decree a thing, and he shall establishe it unto thee, and the light shall shine in thy wayes. 29 When the wicked be cast downe, thou shalt say, I am lifted vp: and God shall save the humble person.

30 The innocent shall deluer the lande: & be preferrd by the pureness of thyne handes.
The xxiii. Chapter.

Job answered, and said: Though my tale be this day in bitterness, and my plague greater then my growing,

O that I (b) might know him, and finde him, and that I might come before his scate:

I would pleade my cause before hym, and full my mouth with arguments:

I would know what answer he would give me, and understand what he would say unto me.

Will he pleade against me with his great power? No, but he will make me the stronger.

There the righteous might dispute with hym, to shoude I be delivered far ever from my judge.

Behold, though I go norwarde I finde him not: If I go backwarde, I can get no knowledge of hym:

If I go on the left side where he doth his worde, I can not attayne into hym: Again, if I go on the right side, he hyde him selfe that I can not see hym.

But as for my way, he knoweth it, and repeth me, that as the god I may come forth.

My (c) stoope both kepe his path, his he way have I holde, and will not go out of it.

I will not for sake the commandement of his lippes, I have esteemed the words of his mouth more then my appointed foode.

He is still at one poynet, and who can turne hym: He doth as hym listeth, and bringeth to passe what he will.

He (d) perfunneth the thing that is appointed for me, and many such things doth he.

This is the cause that I thinke at his presence, so that when I consider him, I am afraid of hym.

For God maketh my heart (e) stoe, and the almightie puyteeth me in scare.

Because I am not (f) out of before the darkness, neither hath he covered the (g) cloude from my face.

The xxiii. Chapter.

Job describeth the wickednesse of men, and how what can he be belongeth to the wicked. 12 How all things are governed by gods prouidence, and the destruction of the wicked.

10. They reape the cornes fieldes that is not their owne, and let the vineyarde of the ingodly alone.

11. They cause the naked to lodge without garment, and without covering in the cobe.

12. They are set with the hooves of the mountayne, and embauche the rokke for want of covering.

15. They plucke the fatherlest from the brest, and take the pledge from the poore.

16. They let hym go naked without cloathing, and have taken away the breas of the hungry.
The poore are fayne to labour in their own myles, and to treads in their vine press; yet to suffer thieke.

2 Ben out of the eitte eyre unto the Lord with sighing, the louies of the poore also so crye out, yet God regardeth not their complaigne. Where as they are constante among them that adhore the light, they knod not his way, not continue in his pathes.

4 The murtherer ryseth early and tylleth the poore and needy, and in the night is as a thiefe.

5 The eite of the adulterer waytetth for the darkenesse, & saith, There shall no eyre me and disfigure his face.

6 In the darke they digge through houles, which they marked for them stines in the day baye: they knod not the light.

7 The morning is to them even as the shadow of death: if one know them, they are in the terrors of the shadowe of death.

8 [The ungodly] is atyst upon the water: their portion halfe curled in the earth, and he shall not behold the way of the vineyards.

9 As thee grounde and haete con sume the knodye waters: so shall the graue the simmers.

10 The pitfull man shal forget hym, he shall sweete to the worms, he halfe no more remembred, & his wickednesse halfe beenke a tree.

11 He hath oppressed the barren which can not beare, and upothes wydow hath he done no good.

12 He (5) doubt the mightie after hym with his power, and when he was gotten by no man was sure of lyfe.

13 And though they came him to be infa tye, yet his eyes are upon their wyifes.

14 They are exalted for a little, but (shortly) are gone, brought to pouertie, and taken out of the way, peo and utterly pluckt of, as the cares of come.

15 Is it not so: who will then reproue me as alere, and say that my wydes are nothing worthy:

The xxv. Chapter.

Bilbad prooveth that no man is clean: nor without some before God.

1 Then answered Bilbad the Shuite, and sayde:

2 Is there (power and peace) with him above, that maketh peace sitting in his higheenesse?

3 Is there any number of his armies, and upon whom that his light ariseth?

4 But how may a man compared unto God, be justified of how can he be cleane that is borne of a woman?

5 Behold, the moonnes (sightly) nothing in comparison to him, and the stars are vrece in his light.

6 Holde much more then man that is but corruption, and the some of man which is but a woman:

The xxvi. Chapter.

Job the wise, that man can not help God, and proveth it by his miracles.

1 Obainswerted, and sayde: (who hast thou helped him that is without strength:) sauest thou the armes that hath no strenght:

2 Where is the counsaille that thou shouldest have him which hath no widome? hast thou showed the way of right living?

3 To whom hast thou spoken these Wodes: who made the breath to come out of his mouth?

4 But how may a man compared unto God, be justified: or how can he be cleane that is borne of a woman?

5 Behold, the moonnes (sightly) nothing in comparison to him, and the stars are vrece in his light.

6 He is naked before him, and the bery destruction itselfe cannot be hys out of his light.

7 He stretteth out the nooth over the emiptie place, and hangeth the earth upon nothing.
8 He bade the water in his cloudes,
9 He set the face of his throne,
10 He hath compassed the waters with certayne boundes,
11 The very pillars of heaven tremble and quake at his reproofs.
12 He filleth the sea with his power, and through his wisdom sympathy he the strength thereof.

13 His spurre hath garnished the heavens, his hand hath made the crooked serpent.
14 Lo, this is now a most summe of his waies: but howe little a portion heare he of hym: who can understand the thunder of his power?

The reward of the wicked

The constancie and perconstantie of Job;

Job proceded and went forth in his parable, saying,

As God layeth which hath taken away my judgiment, and the almighty that hathbered my munde:

Where my heart is mine, and the bold that God hath gearn me is in my nostrils,

By lippes shall taketh of no banite, and my tongue shall speake no discerte.

God foysth that I should graunt your cause to be right: As for me, until ye end come Will: I never goe prone innocent.

My righteounse dealing kepe I fast, which I will not for sake: my heart shal not reproue of my days.

Therefore myne enemie saith founde as the slugbye, and he that taketh part against me, as the brondight.

For what hope hath the hypocrite thought he have great good, if God take away his soule:

Will God heare his eare, when trouble commeth upon him?

Hath he such pleasure and delite in the almightie, that he dare alwayr call upon God?

I will reache you in the name of God, and the thing of the almightie will I not kepe from you.

The xxxvii. Chapter.

And Job proceded and went forth in his parable, saying, of Job.

The xxxviii. Chapter.

1. Job saith that the wisdom of God is unsearchable.

2. There is a place where silver is brought out of, and where gold is tried, where iron is digged out of the ground, and stones resolved to metal.

3. The darkness shall be as the morning, and fast as the midnight.

4. He calleth the daddles to break out against the inhabitant, and the waters forgotten of the foot, being higher than man, are gone away.

5. Out of the same earth commeth bread, and under it as it were fire is turned up.

6. The stones of it are a place of Sapphires, and the dust of it is gold.

7. There is a way that the birds know not; that no vultures eye hath seen:

8. Where the lions whelpeth walk not, and where the lion cometh not.

9. [There] [Butcher] he his hands upon the sonic rocks, and overthieveth the mountains by the roots.

10. River floweth out of the rocks, it like what is pleasant, his eye seeth it.

11. He bendeth the daddles that they do not overflow, and the thing that is hid bringeth he to light.

12. Where they is Wysdom soundeth, and where the place of understanding:

13. Whereby no man can tell how [it] worthi a thing is, neither is the found in the land of them that pasture.

14. It is not in man, the least part to search, or to declare the works thereof.

15. It is not in the power of man to declare it, neither can he search the counsel of God.

16. Nor Wedges of gold of Ophir, nor precious stones, no Sapphires may be valued with her.

17. Nor neither the gold nor the stone shall be equal unto it, nor her exchange shall be for the price of fine gold.

18. Nor mention shall be made of Ophir, nor of the mountains, nor of the merchants.

19. The Topsas of Ethiopia shall not be equal unto it, neither shall it be valued with the Wedge of pure gold.

20. Wherefore then commeth Wisdom: and Where is the place of understanding?

21. She is hid from the eyes of men looking, peals from the stones of the deep.

22. Destruction and death say, We have heard the same thing; with our ears.

23. But God seeth her way, and knoweth her place.

24. For he beholdeth the ends of the earth, and lieth upon all that is under heaven.

25. When he spread the winds and measured the waters:

26. When he made a decree for the rain, and a way for the lightnings of the thunder.

27. Then dyd he see her, then declared he her, prepared her, and kneve her.

28. And unto man he said: To fear the Loade is Wysdom, and to forsake evil is understanding.

The xxxix. Chapter.

1. Job complained of the prosperity of the time past.

2. His austerity, his fasting and equity.

3. Job proceeded and went forth in his parable, saying:

4. O that I were as I was in the mornethes by past, and in the daies when God preferred me:

5. When his light shined upon my head, when I went after the same light and shining, even through the darkness:

6. As it stood with me when I was young, when God prospered my house:

7. When the alightness was yet with me, when my children stood about me:

8. When my horses ran more with, and when the stony rocks gave me rivers of oil:

9. When I went out to the gate, even to the judgment seat, and when I prepared my seat in the streete:

(1) Ophir is the region by Canges the river of India, so called of Ophir in the Book of Keben, who collected the same with his children.

(2) Wedges of gold of Ophir, are precious stones.

(3) Topsas of Ethiopia is an island in the Red Sea.
8 The young men saw me and hid them in a passage, and the aged arose, and stood up.
9 The princes left of their talking, and laid their hands to their mouth:
10 The mightiest kept still their voice, and their tongue cleaved to the roof of their mouth.
11 When the ear heard me, it blessed me;
when the eye saw me, it gave witness to me:
12 For I delivered the poor, when he cried, and the fatherless, and him that had none to help him.
13 The blessing of him that was crooked was re[]{y to thi me, and I caused the widow to sing fest in joy.
14 And why? I put upon me righteousness, which covered me as a garment, and equity was my robe.
15 I was an eye to the blind, and a foot to the lame.
16 I was a father to the poor, and when I knew not the way, I taught it diligently.
17 I took the sword of the mighty, and plucked the spoils out of his tooth.
18 Then I layed, I shall die in my nest:
and I shall multiply my days as the sand.
19 For my root was spread out by the waterside: and the reed lay upon my stem.
20 My honour increased more and more, and my soul wars ever the stronger in my hands.
21 Unto me men gave care; me they regarded, and with silence they taried for my counsel.
22 After my Woodes they replied not,
and my talk stopped upon them.
23 They were amazed for me as for the same: and gaped upon me, as the ground doth to receive the latter shower.
24 When I laughed, they believed it not,
the light of my countenance would they not put out.
25 When I agreed unto their way, I was the wise, and fate as a king with his armes about him: and when they were in heimfulness, I was their con-foator.

The xxx. Chapter.

Job complaineth that he is contemned of the most contemptible, 11.11 because of his adversity and affliction. Death is the house of all flesh.

6 Their dwelling was in the delights of hooles, yea in the caves and dens of the earth.
7 Among the bulles went they about crying, and under the thomes they gathered them selues together.
8 They were the children of fooles and byilanes, which are more vile then the earth.
9 How am I then long, can become their pelting flocke.
10 They abhorre me, and see faire from me, and layne my face with filth.
11 Because God hath looked on my floods and humbled me, they have looked on the hiddle before me.
12 Upon my right hand rs the young men against me, they have hurt my feete, treading upon me as upon the wastes of their destruction.
Chapter xxxi.

Job reciteth the innocencie of his suffering, and number of his turstes, which declaseth what ought to be the peace of the righteous.

I made a covenant with mine eyes: why then should I looke upon a madman? For he holdth great possessions: and what inheritnase from the almeightie on high? Is it not destruction to the wicked, and reaunge of punishment to the workers of iniquitie? Dost not he see my wavies, and tell all my voyages? If I have walked in vanitie, or if my feare haue coma to deceale: Let me be wave in an even balannace, that God may be myne innocencie. If my stephe hath turned out of the way, if myne heart walked after myne eyes, and if any blot haue cleaned to my handes: Then shall I lode, and another eate:

yea my posteritie shalle cleane rooted out.

9 If my heart haue ben decealed by a woman, or if I have layde wapte at my neighbours doose: Then let my wife grinde unto another man, and let other men lye with her. For this is a wickednesse, and some that is wretchedly to be punished: Ye a flee that fleeting should consume and roote out all my inerace.

If I ever thought come to do righte unto my seruantes and maidens, when they had any matter against me: When God will be indigent, what shall I do? When he will bilte me, what shall I do with mine innocent? He that fastened me in mine mothers wombe, made he not him also where he not birthed a litle in our mothers bodies: very sore fall.

23 Sure I am that thou wilt byng me into deare, even to the lodging that is due unto all men living.

24 Notwithstanding, thou wilt not stretch out thynge hand against him that is in the generall: saue men riste out against him that is in destruction:

25 Dy not I wepe with hym that was in trouble: Had not my soule compassion upon the poore:

26 Yet nevertheless, where as I loked for good, cruel came unto me: Where I haped for light, there came darke:

27 By dovels keepe in me without rest, for the wavies of my trouble are come upon me.

28 I went mourning without heart, I stode up in the congregation, continued with them.

29 But nowe I am a brother of dragons, and a fellode of elleschies.

30 Who shalyme upon me, is turned to blacke, and my voyes are bent with heare.

13 By harpe is turned to mourning, and my organs into the voye of them that wepe.

The xxxi. Chapter.
16 If I denied the poore of their desire, 22 If I made the hungry of my hand, so that my word went nought:
27 I have been like a very small child, so as not to be afraid of any thing:
28 That were a wickednesse worthy to be punished: for then shoulde I have dened the God that is aboe, 34 Though I coude have made afeard a great multitude, yet the most contemptible of the families dyd see me:
39 If I have eaten of the fruits therof unpaped fo, yea if I have greeced the fruits of the masters therof:
40 Then let thylykes grove in neede of my Whicke, and corre for my batire.

Here end the wordes of Job.

The. xxxii. Chapter.

1 Eliph repoueth them of folks. 2 Agemaketh not a man wise, but the spirte of God.

The three men calesed to aun Chrere Job, because he held him selfe a righteous man. But Eliph the sonne of Barachel the Buzite, of the auineer of Ram, was very sore displeased at Job, because he called hym selfe unt before God.

3 And with Jobs three friends he was angry all, because they had founde no reasonable aunvire, and yet condempned Job.

4 Polye taliel Eliph, till they had ended their commincation With Job: for why? they were elder then he.

5 So when Eliph saide that these three men were not able to make Job aumiere, he was miscontent.
Therefore Eliahu the son of Barachiel the Buzite anointed, and said: Considering that I am young, and ye be men of age, I was a small child, and spake not the voice of my mouth.

7 I thought therefore within my self: If I were to speak, and the aged to teach the young.

8 Every man that hath a haughti ness, and is a man of understanding, is the inspiration of the Almighty that giveth understanding.

9 Great men are not always wise, neither doth every aged man understand that thing that is lawful.

10 Therefore I say, hear me, and I will shew you also my understanding.

11 When I had waited till ye made an end of your talking, and heard ye your word, what arguments ye made in your communication.

12 And when I had diligently pondered what ye said, I found not one of you that made any good argument against Job, that truly could make him unwise unto his words.

13 Let ye therefore say: We have found our wisdom, (c) God shall call him down, and no man.

14 He hath not spoken unto me, and I will not answer him as ye have done.

15 For they were sober minded, that they could not make him unwise, nor speak one word.

16 When I had waited (for they spake not, but spoke still and answered no more;)

17 Then answered I in my turn, and I shewed my opinion.

18 For I am full of matter, and the spirit within me compasseth me.

19 Behold, my belly is as the wine, which hath no vent, like the new vessels that burst.

20 (Therefore) will I speak, that I may have a bent: I will open my lips, and make amends.

21 I will (c) regard no manner of person, no man will I judge.

22 For if I would go about to (d) please men, I know not what my maker would take me away.

The xxxiii. Chapter.

(c) Eliahu answered Job of ignominy. (d) He spake these words: (e) He addressed man and said: (f) He shewed his man, and said: (g) I am clean without any fault, I am innocent:

9 I am clean without any fault, I am innocent, and there is no wickedness in me.

10 But lo, he hath pined a quarrel against me, and taketh me for his enemy.

11 He hath put my foot in the stocks, and looked nardobyle unto all my paths.

12 Behold, in this hast thou not done right, I will make amends unto thee, that God is greater than man.

13 And why dost thou then strive against him: for he shall not give the account of all his works.

14 For God speaketh once by wise, and yet man understandeth it not.

15 In dreams and visions of the night,

16 Where morning commeth upon them that they fall asleep in their beds.

17 That he may withdraw man from crypt enterprizes, and deliver him from (c) pride.

18 And hepse his soul from the grave, and his life from the livode.
19 He chasteneth him with sickness, and with pain destroyeth him from before his face.

20 So that his life may be spent in sorrow, and his days be consumed in pain.

21 In so much that his soul is consumed by sorrow, and his days are shortened.

22 His soul is wasted unto the grave, and his life is spent in destruction.

23 Job said: If there be a messenger among a thousand, sent to speak unto man, and to show him the right way:

24 Then the Lord may be merciful unto him, and may have compassion upon him, and may deliver him:

25 Then shall his heart be as fresh as a child's, and his days as the days of his youth.

26 He shall pray unto God, and he shall be favorable unto him, and shall see his face with joy, for he shall render unto man his rightousness.
In the twinkling of an eye shall they die, and at midnight when the people are waking, then shall they perish, as a taken away without hands.

For his eyes look upon the teares of man, and he seeth all his goings.

There is no darkness nor shadow of death that can hide the wicked doers from him.

For God will not lay upon man more than he hath sinned, that he should enter into judgment with him.

He shall destroy the wicked without seeking, and shall let other in their stead.

Therefore shall he declare their works: he shall turn the night, and they shall be destroyed.

The hungry souls he punisheth openly, because they turn back from him, and would not consider all his ways.

Iniquity that they have caused the vore of the pestle to come upon him, and now he heareth the complaint of such as are in trouble.

When he giveth quietness, Who make trouble: and when he hideth his face, who can behold him: whether it be upon nations, or upon one man only.

Because the hypocrite both raigneth, because the people are scattered.

Surely of God only it can be said, I have pardoned, I will not destroy.

If I have gone amiss, ensoure thou me: If I have done wrong, I will leave of.

Will he performe the thing through thee: for thou hast repented his judgement, thou also hast spied out mine, and not I: But speake on what thou knowest.

Let men of understanding tell me, and let a wise man hearken unto me.

Job hath not spoken of knowledge, neither were his words according to wisdom.

O my father, let Job be well tried, because he hath affumede for wicked men:

Plea about his name he doth wickedly, triumpheth among us, and multiplyth his words against God.

Neither both godslines profite, or beguilesines hurt God, but man. 15 The wicked crye into God, and are not heard.

Job spake moreover and said:

Thinkest thou it right that thou seest, I am more righteous than God:

For thou seest what advantage will it be unto thee, and what profit shall I have of my yoke?

Therefore will I acquie and were but to thee, and thy companions with thee.

Looke into the heaven and behold it, consider the clouds which are higher then thou.

If thou hast sinned, what hast thou done against him? If thine offence be many, what hast thou done against him?

If thou be righteous, what guesso thou him? or what will he receave of thine hand?

The wickedness (may hurt) a man as thou art, and thy righteousness (may profite) the sinned of man.

They which are oppressed crye out by:

the multitude, peal they crye out for the power of the night:

But none sayeth, where is God that made me? and that geryth: "As occasion to praise him in the night:

Which reacheth vs more the threat of the earth, and guesth vs more vs done then the soules of heaven.

If any such complaint, no man guessteth, and that because of the wickednesse of poule turmanes.

For God will not heare vamiite, neither will the almightie regard it:

Although thou seest (to God) thou will not regard it: yet judgemen is before him, rent thou in them.

But now because his anger be not (hurt), neither called men to accompt with great extremite:

Therefore both Job open his mouth but in vami, he makes many words without knowledge.
1. Else the power of God, and his justice: and wherefore he pun

3. Ibrahim: it the property of the wicked.

4. Let them also proceed, and abide: hold thee still a little, I shall shew thee what I have yet to speak on gods behalfe.

5. I will open unto thee yet further higher knowledge, and will disclose right

6. And truly my words shall not be

7. Behold, the great God castseth away

9. But if they be lade in chains, or bound with the bonds of trouble,

10. Then will he shew them their work, and their times which have overcome them.

11. He will punishing and nurturing of them, roundest them in the cares, varnished them to leave of from their wickedness, and to amend.

12. If they now will take heed and serve him, they shall wear out their dapes in prosperity, and their pres in pleasure.

13. But if they will not hearken, they shall go through the work, and perish or they be abate.

14. As for the hypocrites in heart, they shall heape up wrath (for them fultis) for they call not upon him, though they be his paupers.

15. Thus that their soul perish in detachments, and their life amongst the somnates.

16. Even so would he take thee out of the strait place, into a bade place: in which there is no straitnesse: ye shall make thy table quiet replenished with sat

17. Nevertheless, thou hast commende the judgment of the vngodly, and even such a judgement's sentence shall thou suffer.

18. And seeing there is a wrath with God, beware lest he take thee away in thy wealth, and all that thou hast to redeem, thou canst not deliver thee.

19. Thinkest thou that he will regard thy riches: he shall not care for goldes, nor for all them that excell in strength.

20. Spend not the night in carreful thoughts, how he destroyeth some, and hungeth other in their place.

21. But beware that thou turne not aside to wickedness and sinne, which hurth

22. Behold, (1) God is of mighty his power: where is there such a guide and lawe guer as he:

23. Who will requite him of his wayes, who will lay into him, Thou hast done wrong:

24. Remember that thou do magnify his worke which men do praise,

25. Al men see it, ye men do behold it, face of.

26. Behold, so great & God that he passeth our knowledge, neither can the number of his peres be searched out.

27. Sometimes he retracheth the rayne, and again he sendeth rayne by his cloudes:

28. Which rayne the cloudes do droppe, and let fall abundantly upon men.

29. Who can confider the preadings out of his cloudes, the coverings of his tabernacle:

30. Who is he that stretcheth his light upon it, and couereth the bottome of the sea.

31. For by these governeth he his people, and geyth them abundance of meat.

32. With the cloudes he hybether the light, and at his commandement he breaketh out:

33. Which dashing upon the next cloudes, they tokens of wrath.
Then answered the Lord unto Job out of the whirlwind, and said:

1. Whether it be for punishment, or for his land, or to do good to them that seek him.

2. Hearken unto this: Job stood still, and consider the wonders of God.

3. Didst thou know that God disposed them? He caused the light of his clouds to shine:

4. Haste thou known the variety of the clouds, and the wonders of the works of God which is perfect in knowledge:

5. And how thy clothes are warme, when the lande is fit through the south winde:

6. Haste thou helped him to spreade out the heavens which are strong and might as a loving galle:

7. Teach we what we shall hope unto him: for we are vaine to frame our talee because of darkness.

8. Shall it be told him what I saye: Shall man speake when he shalll be destroyed:

9. For men see not the light that shineth in the cloudes: but the wunde paseth and stealeth them.

10. The faire weather commeth out of the north, the vappe thereof is to God Who is terrible:

11. It is the almighty, we cannot finde him out: he is excellent in power and judgement, and aboundeth in justice:

12. Let men therefore fear him: for there shall no man see him that is wise in his owne conceit.
7 where wast thou when the morning spices payed me together, and all the children of God recovered triumphantly:
8 who shut the sea with doores, when it brake forth as out of the Womb?
9 When I made the clouds [to be] a covering for it, and [it] swaddled it with the dark:
10 when I gave it my commandment, making doores and barres for it,
11 Saying, Hitherto shalt thou come, but no further: and here shalt thou make downe the pride and haues, 12 hast thou gien the morning his charge, since thy days, and shewed the day spring his place, 13 That it might take hold of the corners of the earth, and that the vungobly might be shaken out of it.
14 They are fashioned as is the clay, with the scale, and all stand up as a garment.
15 The vungobly shall be disappointed of their light, and the arme of the proude maybe broken.
16 [Canst thou] enter into the [grounde] of the sea, or walkest in the lowe corners of the depe?
17 Have the gates of death ben opened un to thee: or hast thou feene the doores of the shadowe of death?
18 hast thou also perceaved how brode the earth is: If thou hast knowledge of all this:
19 Then shewe me the waye where light dwelleth, wher is the place of darknesse:
20 That thou shoudest receaue it in the bounds thereof, and know the pathes to their houses.
21 Knowest thou aforo thou hast borne how one thou shouldst be;
22 Knowest thou aforo thou hast entered into the treasures of the snow, or hast thou seen the secretes of the haile,
23 which I have prepared against the time of trouble, against the time of battale and warce:
24 By what waie is the light parted: and into what land breakest the east wonder:
25 Who delibeth the waters into chanels: or why makest a way for the teunting and thunder, 26 To cause it to rayne on the earth where no man is, and in the Wilderness where none inhabited.
27 To teake the doleate and waile gronde, and to cause the budde of the hearbe to spring forth.
28 who is the father of the rayne: who hath begotten the droppes of the dewe.
29 Out of whose Womb came the sea, who hath girded the colbustel of the ayre:
30 That the waters are hidde as with a stone, and lye congealed above the depe.
31 Canst thou hinder the sweate influencnes of the euens starres: or loose the bandes of Oion?
32 Knowest thou the course of heauen, that thou mayest set vp the odour thereof upon the earth:
33 Moreover, canst thou lift up thy boype to the cloude, that they may poyle downe a great rayne upon the:
34 Canst thou send the lightnings also, that they may go their waye, and be obiect doun to thee, saying, Lo here are we:
35 Who hath put wyldome in the repynes: who hath given the heart understand:
36 Who nameth the cloudes by wyldome: who stilleth the vehement waters of the heauen:
37 Who numbereth the cloudes in wyldome: who stilleth the behemen wa ters of the heauen:
38 To cause the earth to growe into hardnesse, the clotes to cleare fall together:
39 Who spitteth the rayne for the lion: or filleth the appete of the hons whelps:
40 When they couche in their places, and dancie in the court to lye in wyde:
41 Who poudbeth meat for the raven, when his young ones crye into God, and see about for lacke of meat?
The bountie and pouerfulness of God, which extendeth even to beasts, giveth man full occasion to put his confidence in God.

The xxxix. Chapter.

I knowest thou the time when the wyde goates bring forth their young among the stony rocks? Or layest thou wapre when the hunde die to caue?

2 Canst thou number the moneths that they go with young? Or knowest thou the time when they bring foorth?

3 They he downe, they caue their young ones, and they are delivered of their travaille and paine;

4 Yet their young ones grow vp, and spare frite though good feeding with come: They go foorth, and returne not againe into them,

5 Who leafteth the wyde ass to go freewe, or who looseth the bondes of the wyde mule?

6 Canst I which have given the wyde ass to be their house, and the bulled land to be their dwellings?

7 They are not for the multitude of people in the eie, neither regard the crying of the buire:

8 But selle their pasture about the mountains, and knowe the greene grasse.

9 Will the ass outcome doe thee service, or abide full by the cribbe?

10 Canst thou binde the boke about the outcome in the foldow, to make him plowe after thee in the valleys?

11 Pals thou trust him because he is strong, or commit thy labour among him?

12 Pals thou believe him that he will bring home thy come, or carry any thing into thy barme?

13 Canst thou the fette winges into the proches, or winges and feathers into the cruche?

14 For he sauceth her eggs in the earth, and heaueth them in the dun.

15 She remembreth not that they might be rodded with fette, or broken with some wode baiftle.

16 So hartis the unto her young ones as though they were not her, and laboreth in baime without any fare.

17 And that because God hath taken wyldone from her, hath not govern her understanding.

18 When her time is that the fette by ou the, the carreth neither for the baile nor the ryder.

19 Canst thou give the baile his strength, or learned him to nee cogiously?

20 Canst thou make him alaya as a grasshopper: Where as the baile moring, that he maketh it fairefull.

21 He breaketh the grounde with the hooves of his feete, he reproacht cherfully in his strength, and runneth to meete the harest men.

22 He layeth aside all farse, his stomack is not abated, neither farte he backe for any fownde.

23 Though the quiers rattle upon hym, though the speare and fide be glister:

24 Yet rutheth he in fiercely beating the grounde, he thinketh it not the noyle of the trumpettes:

25 But when the trumpettes make most noyle, he lateth, and the fanetely the battale a farce of, the noyle of the captaines and the shouting.

26 Comynth it though the wyldone that the Godhaunte feth toward the south.

27 Both the Egle mounte up, and make his neft on hpe by the comandemente:

28 He abydereth in stony roches, and dwelteth upon the hpe toppes of mountains:

29 From whence he seeketh his pane, and lovethe farce about with his eyes,

30 His young ones also siche by blood: And where any dead body lyeth, there is he.

(C) The Cright, when the hale bateth her egges, burreeth them in the baime, and by the bareth of the hame the young are brought fofty, but the fetheth the egges so carriage, for the place where he put them, and he bathe them. (D) The natural toward her nature. (E) That is, in all creatures, the glory of Godt mantle is declared.
Dread the Lord spake unto Job, and said:
1. Shall he whom the Almighty upset, contend with him? Should not he which disputeth with God, gene him an answer?
2. Then Job answered the Lord, saying:
3. Behold, I am vile, what shall I answer thee, therefore I will not speak before God.
4. But he said, Do you not know that I am but dust, and mankind is but dust.
5. And the Lord said unto Job, Where was you when I laid the foundations of the earth? Who has marked the measure thereof?
6. When the morning stars sang together, and all the sons of God shouted for joy?
7. Or who shut up the sea with doors, when it reached over the mountains of old?
8. Or that I made the wild beasts of the earth, and all the birds of the heavens.
9. If I had not appointed them in their place, or numbered all the animals of the earth.
10. If I caused the wilderness to bring forth grass, or if I gave the wild beasts their food.
11. If I made the wild beasts my servant, and overcame all my animals, and strove with the wicked.
12. If I were as strong as the most mighty, or if I were as strong as the mighty.
13. If I were as strong as the mighty, or if I were as strong as the mighty.
14. If I were as strong as the mighty, or if I were as strong as the mighty.
15. If I were as strong as the mighty, or if I were as strong as the mighty.
16. If I were as strong as the mighty, or if I were as strong as the mighty.
17. When I lay, he spreadeth out his tent like a cedar tree, all his sinews are midst.
18. His bones are like pipes of brass; yes, his bones are like fanes of iron.
19. He is the chiefe of the Wastes of God, he that made him Wp make his word to appoche unto him.
20. Surely the mountaines bring him forth grasse, where all the beasts of the field take their pasture.
21. He refeth him in the shade, in the covert of the reede and fennes.
22. The trees rouce him with their handes, and the yplowes of the booke compaft him about.
23. Behold, he unheth by whole rivers and seareth not, he thinketh that he can diavle by Joabane into his mouth.
24. He taketh fift with his eyes, and yet the hunter putteth a bade into his nose.
25. Cant thou diavle out? Can thou put a hooke, or bind his tongue with a cande.
26. Cant thou put a hook in the nose of him, or boze his face though with a naule.
27. Wy! he make many faire wordes with thee (thhinketh thou) or state other.
28. Wy! he make a covenanted with thee, or wilt thou take him for a leuantant for ever.
29. Wy! thou take thy pastime with him as with a brde, Wilt thou bend him for thy maydens.
30. That thy companions may make refecfion of him: or shall he be parted among the marchantes.
31. Canst thou sit the balaste with his Khan, or the fishe panier with his head?
32. Laye thyne hande upon him, remember the battaule, and do no more.
33. Behold his hope is in bater; for shall not one perdie even at the sight of him:
The . xli. Chapter.

1 By the greatnesse of this moner Leulathan, God sheweth his greatnesse and his power, which nothing can resist.

2 O (a) man is so fierce that dare there him by; who is able to stand before me:
   Or who hath given me any thing above hande, that I may reward him againe? All things under heaven are mine.
3 I will not keep secrete his great strength, his power, nor his constem proportion.
4 Who can discover the face of his garment, or who shall come to him with a double bryde:
5 Who (b) shall open the doores of his face: for he hath horrible teeth round about.
6 His scales are as it were strong shields, so fastened together as if they were sealed:
7 One is so joyned to another, that no axe can come in:
8 Sea, one hangeth so upon another, & sticker so together, that they can not be numbered.
9 His (c) nesiinges make a glistening like sive, and his eyes like the morning shine.
10 Out of his mouth goe torches, and sparkes of fire leau out.
11 And out of his nostrils there goeth a smoke, lyke as out of an horse feething pot,viz talion.
12 His breath makest the coles burnde, and the flame goeth out of his mouth.
13 In his (d) necke ther remaineth strength, and nothing is to laboures for him.
14 The members of his body are jointed (so fraile one to another,) and cleaue to fast together, that he cannot be moved.
15 His (e) heart is as hard as a stone, and as fast as the lythic that the sliefer fineth upon.
16 When he goeth the strongt are afraide, and faire troubleth them.
17 If any man break out a fiddle at him, it shall not hurt him: there may neither speare, fauling, no breathplate abide him.
18 He setteth asinmich by iron as by a straide, and asinmich by haaste as by a rotten stike.
19 He starteth not away from him that bendeth the bowe: as for flying stones he eares as much for trouble as for the.
20 He counteth the darte no better then a straide, he laugheth him to leuome that maketh the speare.
21 (d) Sharpe stones are under his lyke posthearde, and he lyeth upon sharpe things as upon the soft myre.
22 He maketh the (a) deewe to boyle lyke a pot, and shirreth the sea together lyke an opintment.
23 He maketh the (b) path to be seene after him, and he maketh the deewe to seene all hoarie.
24 Upon earth there is no power lyke into his: for he is to made that he searcheth not.
25 He beholdeth all the lye things, He is a king over all the children of pride.

The . xli. Chapter.

His repentance of Job. He prayeth for his friends, and his goddes are reduced double unto him.

When Job admired the Lord, and said:
   I (a) know that thou hast power over all things, and that there is no thought hid unto thee.

3 For who can keep his owne comaste to secrete but it shall be known? Therefore have I spoken that I understood not, even the things that are to wonderfull for me, and passe myne understanding.
4 O (b) hearken thou unto me also, and let me speake: amndbee unto the thing that I lypl after thee.

Job.
5 I have heard of thee by the hearing of the ear, but rodely my eye seeth thee.

6 Wherefore I gave my heart to seethe the blame, and take repentance in the dust and ashes.

7 And when the Lord had spoken these words unto Job, it came to passe that the Lord said to Eliphaz the Temanite: I am displeased with thee, and with thy two friends: for ye have not spoken of me the thing that is right, lyke as my servant Job hath done.

8 Therefore take thou now seven oxen, and seven rams, and go to my servant Job, and offer up for him thy selves a burnt offering, and my servant Job shall pray for you: him whil I accept, and not deal with you after your foolishnesse, in that ye have not spoken of me the thing which is right, lyke as my servant Job hath done.

9 So Eliphaz the Temanite, and Bildad the Shuhite, and Sophar the Naamathite, went and did according as the Lord commanded them: the Lord also accepted the person of Job.

10 And the Lord turned the captivity of Job when he prayed for his friends: Pea the Lord gave Job twice as much as he had afore.

11 And then came there into him all his brethren, and all his sisters, and all they that had ben of his acquaintance, and did eate bread with him in his house, and had compassion on him, and comforted him over all trouble that the Lord had brought upon him: every man also gave him a certain summe of money, and a certain meadow of gowde.

12 So the Lord blessed the last days of Job more than the first: for he had fourteen thousand sheepe, and seven thousand camels, a thousand yoke of oxen, and a thousand sheepe and asses.

13 He had seven sons also, and three daughters.

14 The first daughter called he Jemima, the second Keziah, and the third Keren hapuressed.

15 In all the land were no women found so fair as the daughters of Job: and their father gave them inheritance among their brethren.

16 After this lived Job an hundred and fourtie yeares: so that he lived, his children and his childrens children into the fourth generation.

17 And Job dyed, being old, and a perfect age.

The argument of the first psalm.

The first psalm seemeth to be a preface unto the residue. It declareth that the true man only hath the true solace in this world. whose delight is wholly in practicing the lawe of God. As for the vngodly man. although he seeme to; a tyde to prosper and to singe. yet his ende is very miserable and wretched.

Lest he be the man that walketh not in the counsel of the vngodly: nor standeth in the way of sinners. nor lieth in the seat of the scornfull.

But his delight [is] in the lawe of God: and in [God] his lawe exerciseth him selfe day and night.

And he shallbe like a tree planted by the waters. that bringeth forth her fruit in due season. and whose leafes by them not. for whatsoever he doth [it] shall prosper. [As for] the vngodly [it is] not so. with them: but they are. as the chaffe which the wind scattereth aboue.

Therefore the vngodly shall not be able to. [stande in the judgement; neither the sinners in the congregation of the righteous.]

For God [hath] knowen the way of the righteous. and the way of the vngodly shall perishe.

The argument of the. ij. psalme.

All conspiracies of the Gentiles. Jews. princes. Magistrates. and Kings. against Christ; be but altogether vayne. for God hath marueylously appointed him Lord. and king over all people. to the breer confusion of his adversaries. In exhortation to Kings and Judges to. to be learned. for to serve God. and so to receive his sonne Chist: For happy are they. that trust in hym.

Why do the heathen so furiously rage together: and why do the people imagine a vayne thing:

The kynges of the earth stande by: and the rulers take counsell together against God. and against his annointed.

Let his brake [say they] their bondes amunder: and cast away their todes froms. He that dulleth in heauen will laugh them to sorne: the Lorde will have them in derision. Then will he speake unto them in his wrath: and he will assome them with feare in his sorne displeasure.

Then will he speake unto them in his wrath: and he will assome them with feare in his sorne displeasure. [Saying] [b] even I have annointed [him] my kyng: upon my holy kyng of Sion. I will declare the decree. God sayde
